Mekong Divisions Disbanded

Viet Cong Declares Conquest Completed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Viet Cong said today it had completed the conquest of South Vietnam by seizing four hold-out provinces in the Mekong Delta and disbanding four divisions of the South Vietnamese army.

A Viet Cong broadcast said the forces of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) had taken over the rest of the ring-growing delta and dismantled the headquarters of the 4th, 7th, 9th and 21st divisions at the mouth of Mekong River.

There was no mention of any fighting.

Another Viet Cong broadcast Wednesday night said eight provinces south and west of Saigon were "not yet liberated," but it too, said nothing about fighting in those areas.

North Vietnam demanded today that United States Navy ships immediately cease "the forcible evacuation of the population of 'South Vietnam' and withdraw from areas near the South Vietnamese coast.

A foreign ministry statement broadcast from Hanoi cited a Pentagon announcement Wednesday that the navy rescue fleet in the South China Sea had picked up about 18,000 South Vietnamese who escaped in sampans, rafts and other small craft.

A Pentagon spokesman said some of the ships would remain more than three miles off the coast for perhaps a day to pick up any more South Vietnamese who sail out to them.

The North Vietnamese statement said the evacuation and the presence of the ships constituted interference in the affairs of South Vietnam.

Broadcast by the government radio station in Saigon today, another decree promised severe punishment to anyone creating a disturbance in Saigon, spying, carrying arms for the purpose of rioting, plotting to destroy the revolutionary government, spreading propaganda and rumors, creating disunity or disobeying orders.

"From now on, everyone is forbidden to burn down public buildings, use explosives, kidnap, rape, loot or create any incident that endangers the life and property of the public and of the revolutionary government," another decree said.

Troops Moved As Police Strike Feared

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations between municipal police and the city aimed at averting a possible strike adjourned at dawn today and a membership meeting of the Montreal Police-men's Brotherhood was called to study the latest proposals.

A brotherhood spokesman said more progress was made during the all-night session than in the last several months.

Meanwhile, a military spokesman confirmed that 300 troops had moved during the night to the Canadian Forces Base at nearby St. Hubert from their base at Valcartier near Quebec City, but he denied the move was in connection with a possible police strike.

All police stations on Montreal Island reported the men were reporting to work and it had not expected the meeting to hear the latest proposal from the Montreal Urban Community (MUC) would be attended by 2,000 members of the 4,200-man force.

Macdonald Opposes Gas Price Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government hopes to reach an agreement with Alberta "within a matter of weeks" on a new domestic price for natural gas, heading off a doubling of well-head prices under a provincial regulation board ruling.

The board ruled Tuesday that TransCanada PipeLines, sole supplier of gas to eastern markets, must pay $1.15 a thousand cubic feet effective Nov. 1 for gas purchased in Alberta from Gulf Oil Canada Ltd.

But Energy Minister Donald Macdonald told the Commons he "we want a price to Canadians to be very much closer the $1.15 price."

Negotiations with Alberta on a new domestic gas price are continuing and he personally expects to hold meetings with Provincial Energy Minister Don Getty around the middle of next week.

The province said during the recent national energy conference it is willing to negotiate a new price, but if no agreement is reached the arbitration price will go into effect Nov. 1.

Silent Majority Okays Pay Increase for MPs

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of Parliament voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to double their own pay rates by one third to a taxable equivalent of $848 a week from the present $625.

The pay legislation, which requires Senate approval and formal royal assent to become law, also provides for a retroactive raise, dating from the July 8 election, that will provide a lump sum of about $7,000 in back pay for most MPs, Cabinet ministers and other parliamentary officers will get more.

The bill approved Wednesday by a vote of 175 to 35 includes an annual cost-of-living escalator expected to hoist the ordinary MP's pay to a taxable equivalent of more than $1,000 a week in three years.

The vote ended a four-month controversy inside and outside the House that saw the government reduce an initial 50-per-cent pay proposal to 33 1-3 per cent but add the living-cost escalator.

The bill provides an increase to $31,000 from $18,000 on the basic annual salary and a raise to $10,600 from $8,000 on tax-free allowances.

On a taxable basis, the new totals equal about $44,000 annually, or $848 weekly. The fully-taxable equivalent of the current salary is $32,500, or $625 a week.

Debate on the bill is expected to begin Tuesday in the Senate, with no major opposition likely from the senators, who stand to receive a similar percentage increase. A government spokesman said the timing might allow MPs to start collecting their retroactive pay by the middle of this month.

Voting against the increase, the first since 1970, were 13 Conservatives, nine New Democrats, two Liberals and independent Leonard Jones of Moncton.

All parties but the NDP officially supported the bill, but two New Democrats, John Gilbert (Toronto Broadview) and Derek Blackburn (Brant), broke ranks to back the increase.

On the other side of the Commons, Conservative spokesman Robert Stanbury and Charles Caccia, Conservative deputy whip, split from the Liberal line.

Former prime-minister John Diefenbaker denounced the increase, combined with a scathing attack against Robert Stanfield, his successor as Conservative leader.

"The Liberals have been controlled," Mr. Diefenbaker declared, referring to Mr. Stanfield, who sat quietly through the 50-minute speech.

"Go across this country," Mr. Diefenbaker challenged MPs. "Speak to the average Canadian . . . There's a loss, a loss of confidence in our society."

"Public opinion is grounded as I've never known it to be."

He said he would have supported a raise equal to cost-of-living increases since the last pay increase in 1970, but he could not back a bill that could "only add to the fires of inflation."

Stanley Knowles, the NDP House leader who quarterbacked his party's opposition to the bill throughout the debate, said the cost-of-living escalator will mean a total increase of 83 per cent by the next election, expected in 1979.

Ed Broadbent, NDP parliamentary leader, said liberal silence during third-reading speeches had demonstrated that "surely it's an ultimate admission of shame . . . that it (the government) does not reply."

Petition for Death

Conservative MP John Reynolds stands in a corridor of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa Wednesday before presenting 200,000-name petition to the federal cabinet from people favoring capital punishment for premeditated murder. Welfare Recipients Must Look for Jobs

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

No employable persons receive welfare assistance unless they comply with job-search regulations laid down by legislation, Reg Tucker, Hastings County social services director, said Wednesday.

He told county council there are processes to ensure such persons seek work. These include registration with Canada Manpower.

If they refuse jobs that pay as much as general welfare rates, "they are cut off," he had seen people known to be on welfare loafing around his said.

He was replying to a complaint from Reeve George Lyons of Deseronto. The reeve said he municipality's main street, drinking beer.

Metro Teachers Ask 73 Per Cent Salary Boost

TORONTO (CP) — The 8,300 high school teachers in Metropolitan Toronto have asked the Metro board of education for pay raises ranging from 30 to 73 per cent over a three-year period, officials say.

They would bring 1975-1976 starting salaries to $13,500 from the present $10,400 and maximum salaries to $27,500 from $18,000.

Chairman Gordon Cressy of the Toronto board of education said Wednesday night he was "stunned" by the proposals.

Education Minister Thomas Wells said today "those kind of increases are out of all reason."

"I expect and hope that they are just the beginning of their bargaining proposal," he added.

Timbrell Disgusted

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell said he was disgusted at the prospect of a 50 per cent increase in consumer gas bills next November. An arbitration board ruled Tuesday that the price of a large portion of natural gas supplied to Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd. should be raised to $1.15 a thousand cubic feet. Nov. 1. The present wellhead price for the gas involved is 60 cents a thousand cubic feet.

Mail Still Paralyzed

MONTREAL (CP) — Most mail delivery in the Montreal area was paralyzed for the second consecutive Wednesday with no indication from striking letter-carriers of a return to work today. Most of the city's 59 postal branches were without mail delivery and pickup services.

Refugee Aid Vote Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives probably will get a chance today to vote on whether the United States should spend $327 million on Indochinese refugees.

Too Early

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen said Wednesday it is much too early for Ottawa to decide whether to recognize the new regime in South Vietnam. The minister said he did not have to date information on the number of Canadians still in South Vietnam. However, any Canadians there probably were not in danger.

Quebec Opposes Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial welfare ministers will try to resolve their differences today over how to finance and control proposed guaranteed annual incomes to unemployables and income supplements to the working poor. Ottawa and Quebec are at odds over ways to implement the new welfare measures. Quebec Social Services Minister Denise Leblanc opposed the federal proposals as "ill defined, vague . . . and imprecise."

Reds Control Labor

LISBON (Reuter) — The Communists gained official control over the labor movement today with the help of Portugal's military rulers in a move that challenged the non-Communists' election victory last week. The military council made the communist-dominated Intersindical Trade Union Confederation, effectively making it the only representative body of Portuguese workers.

Unions Notified

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Otto Lang said Wednesday that notice has been given to five local unions, representing 2,500 Quebec longshoremen, that the government intends to take legal action because the workers have not obeyed back to work legislation. The notice is the first step in an application by the Quebec Superior Court for an injunction to end the month long dispute. If an injunction is not obeyed, the unions and union leaders could be subject to fines or jail terms.

PM Balks At Racist Refugees

KINGSTON Jamaica (CP)— The Commonwealth conference switches its attention today to the world economic crisis with a major British initiative to stabilize prices of food and raw materials.

Key Commonwealth leaders moved Wednesday to recognize the new rulers of South Vietnam, with most expecting all Southeast Asia to become a region of Communist-dominated neutrality.

And the Commonwealth leaders considered the southern African problem.

Bishop Abel Muzorewa gave the conference a stark message on behalf of Rhodesia 's African National Council — Rhodesia's five million blacks will fight to achieve majority rule if they cannot peacefully come to terms with the 250,000 whites who run their lives.

Trudeau, commenting on Muzorewa's speech, in which he mentioned emigration as a means of assisting to change white minority rule in Rhodesia, said Canada has an interest in throwing open its doors to white racists fleeing a newly liberated black-ruled Rhodesia.

"We're not panting to have this immigration take place," and he added that Canada's normal immigration pr ocedures would apply.

Quinte Truckers Demonstrate Against Use of Tender System

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter
Belleville and district truckers held demonstrations in Belleville and Trenton this morning protesting municipal councils' use of tenders for contracts.

Gord Cole, president of the Belleville chapter of the Greater Ottawa Truckers Association, told The Intelligencer Wednesday night, the association is the association, want to put an end to all tenders."

The normal — and in some cases mandatory — way for governments to award contracts is by first calling tenders. Councils invite estimates from the industry and generally accept the lowest bids.

Mr. Cole said in place of tenders his association wants local councils to adopt the minimum pay scale, as prescribed by the province's ministry of transportation and communication. The rate is $12.50 an hour for single axle vehicles and $18 an hour for tandems.

Mr. Cole said Trenton has contracts for $5.75 and $8 an hour for the two varieties.

The City of Belleville standard rate is $15.

While politicians answer they are looking for the best price to save tax dollars, Mr. Cole says "we can't afford to work for money like that."

The prices he quotes include maintenance and supply of a driver for the truck.

"It's the truckers' fault that tenders have been submitted as low — but that's what we've got an association for — to set standard rates," said Mr. Cole.

Two weeks ago, the truckers met in Belleville and formed a standard rates card. Rates were slightly higher than the ministry rates and since have been altered to match, said Mr. Cole.

The first demonstration began in Trenton "because that is where the pay is really low," said Mr. Cole. By mid-morning the demonstration came to Belleville where truckers lined the parking meters on Front street to give attention to the tender affair.

"We just have to have a peaceful demonstration," said Mr. Cole.

Truckers Protest Tenders

Members of the Greater Ottawa Truckers' Association demonstrated in downtown Trenton today, protesting the municipal calling of tenders in the award of trucking contracts. Gord Cole (left) says his association is demanding rates as prescribed by the province. He talks here with association vice-president Ben Defosse. Mr. Cole says municipal tenders in Trenton can be as much as $10. an hour less than the ministry of transport and communications prescribed rates.

Boaters Must Now Pay For Docking Privileges

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Fees for docking at the federal government wharf in Trenton will be levied for the first time this year as the environment ministry begins to enforce fee structures that have existed in Canada for about 20 years.

In Trenton, pleasure boat owners will be charged two cents a foot per 12-hour day for use of the government dock. Additional charges will be levied for owners who hook their boats into electric power, water, or sewage pump-out facilities.

The federal government intention to levy fees for dock use was confirmed in an interview Wednesday with an Ontario region official in the small boat harbours branch of the environment ministry.

Official confirmation comes amid confusion over the rates that would be charged at the docks.

The push for clarification was spurred by Chamber of Commerce manager Jack Wilson who said this week he feared potential non-uniform docking fees at federal wharfs across Ontario would drive tourists from Trenton.

If fees were higher here than in other provincial municipalities, the boater dollar would not return to Trenton, he complained.

But precisely when and how the new charges will be levied is still unknown.

Bert Libling, wharfinger responsible for the collection, said Wednesday he plans to resign his position for health reasons after acting as wharfinger for the last 19 years.

He said he was told by the environment ministry in June fees in 1974, but refused because the town refused to install washroom facilities on the dock. In previous years, he charged dockage fees, but made frequent courtesy visits to the docks.

Mr. Libling said the federal ministry plans to post the wharf with signs to indicate fees and available services.

The fee structure is further clouded by the town's involvement in management of the dock. Agreements have been made by the town with the federal government for parking privileges on the wharf and town provision of sewage pump-out facilities.

A town official said Wednesday a search of town files failed to turn up a master agreement that gives Trenton the authority to operate the federal dock and levy a docking fee.

The Heave Ho

Work at lock one on the Trent Canal continues Wednesday as A.N. Shaw and Son Ltd crews have shovelfuls of sand into a machine that mixes sand, and cement. Once the ingredients are mixed water is added, and the result is spray on deteriorated walls at the lock. Restoration work has been under way since February and expected to be complete within two weeks.

Red Carpet Completes Renovated Chancel

PICTON — Students of museum technology from Algonquin College, Donna Midwinter and Charles Baird Wednesday rolled out the red carpet at the Prince Edward County Museum, beginning a 15-week summer job there.

The rug examined by the student team is a duplicate of the original floor covering at the Old Church of St. Mary Magdalene and was originally woven in England. It arrived recently at the museum and, when laid, will complete the renovated chancel area.

Miss Midwinter and Mr. Baird will assist museum curator James Gooding this summer through a grant from the National Museum Corporation to Algonquin College. This year marks the first time such grants have been available.

Both students have completed their first year in museum technology and will specialize during the next two years.

When their studies are completed they will have received a detailed knowledge in all aspects of museum operations.

Miss Midwinter says she plans to specialize in conservation or the repair and preservation of antique pieces.

She added a series of conservation days will be organized this summer at the county museum, starting July 8 and continuing each Tuesday afterwards.

Miss Midwinter and Mr. Baird will demonstrate the restoration of antiques and old prints for all interested persons.

Museum curator James Gooding explained the function of the program that sends students to museums for summer jobs.

"The objective is to train museum people and the museums get the benefit of their skills," he said.

He observed no other museums in he Quinte area and possibly in this part of Ontario will have student assistance such as the Prince Edward County museum will enjoy.

The idea is to throw students into the museum milieu so that they get the knocks and bumps of museum life," he noted.

Red Carpet

Driver Charged After Chase

PICTON — A Picton district man apprehended Wednesday night in a police chase on Highway 62 has been charged with impaired driving.

Charged is Michael Code, 20, of RR3, Picton.

Police said the car struck two marker signs and crashed through a private fence behind the headquarters for Triad Truckways Ltd.

Mr. Code was treated at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

In another incident, 26-year-old Ronald Brooks of 4 London Ave., Picton, was charged with careless driving after striking a hydro pole on County Rd. One, half a mile east of Highway 14.

Ride Nets $847

TRENTON — Air Maintenance Detachment Unit (AMDU) commander Col. Glenn Dompe recently presented Trenton Memorial hospital bike-a-thon co-ordinators with $847, money pledged for the colonel's ride in the annual fund-raising event April 26. The total is about $200 more than Col. Dompe had originally anticipated his bicycle ride would raise.

Flea Market Planned

SPRINGBROOK — The Ontario region of the Antique Automobile Club of America will hold a two-day flea market here Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4. Auto parts will be the main attraction in the Springbrook Bowling Lanes building, north of Stirling on Highway 14. Admission for all is 25 cents, children under 12 years with adult free.

Book Shop Opens

PICTON — The County Book N' Craft Shop will hold its grand opening May 1 and 2 at its location in the Argosy Mall.

Picton's only bookstore features adult, juvenile and children's books in addition to craft kits for all age groups.

Russian Night Planned

PICTON — Club Kolocola, an ethnic group of the Picton Presbyterian Church this Sunday will present A Night in Russia.

A beef dinner will be followed by films depicting life in Russia and the country's customs.

End and a Beginning

It was near dawn and, in the traumatable way of nature, there was blessing in the trees.

Across the street, what was left of St. Thomas' Church lay in ruin. The birds and the trees were symbols of a new season, but a kind of death — and yet the promise also of a new beginning, when or where as yet undetermined — marked the last hours of the historic Anglican Church opposite.

As the flames that had raged virtually out of control for two hours, subsided, the walls still standing took on, through the swirling smoke, the look of many a historic pile familiar to travellers.

More than 150 years of Christian tradition, in Belleville, the endeavors of succeeding generations, and symbols such as regimental flags, passed in imagery before the eyes.

Canon Peter Tett, with two of his children, looked on sadly from the lawn of his rectory. A parishioner who had driven to the scene with her husband reminisced over the irreplaceable: the craftsmanship especially.

A church in this place, and at this point of time, has been destroyed, but it was the outward symbol of a Christian tradition that has survived 2,000 years of travail and opposition. The birds still sing, and as ever hope springs eternal.

Mayor's Busy Schedule

Mayor Robin Jeffrey might envy former Cambridge Mayor Claudette Millar these days.

"I'm really a much more relaxed person today," Mrs. Millar has been quoted as saying. "I'm only going in one direction most of the time."

Meanwhile a typical Monday just past for Mrs. Jeffrey included a Council meeting, following earlier attendance at Rotary when the young participants in the Mayor of the Week program summed up their impressions.

Actually the luncheon likely was a relaxing break that in the ordinary way might have been filled with the routine work schedule. It would also have provided Mrs. Jeffrey with some of those little insights into the municipal scene that are gained only on the outside.

For instance, after hurrying from the lunch to her car, and finding herself caught in one of those long traffic lineups extending from the railway overpass to the upper bridge, Mrs. Jeffrey decided, as many do, to by-pass it along Earl Street at the Pentecostal Church, and along Coleman.

Had she taken a roundabout route to the Sun Valley along Sidney Street Mayor Jeffrey would also have been reacquainted with the assault course that is Sidney between College and Bell Boulevard.

The detours have been dispensed with, in connection with work going on there, but there was a letter from a reader concerning them; he noted that he would be "most interested in learning the jurisdiction affecting construction companies engaged in repairing city roadways and their obligations toward the users of such roadways."

He complained of "minimal warning signs and an inept flagman" doubly hampered by having to direct traffic from both directions. And he said FUC men complicated things further by erecting a solitary detour sign.

In short, the writer suggests a better job could have been done as to signs and the direction of traffic. All in all, it's the kind of situation that is plaguing Belleville these days, with so much required to be done on the roads and with other major road and bridge construction in the offing.

Doggy in a Backyard

Another symbol of municipal controversy: in the shape of a dirty little terrier dog on the leash at the rear of a house at the corner of Moira and Coleman.

A spirited and apparently well-cared for animal, it nevertheless symbolized the fate of many a dog in this country. Being tied and therefore unable to wander at will, the dog's situation was at least within the law. But in so many instances our canines are just left like this for a good part of their existence, and are afforded no exercise.

A radio talk-show dialogue in recent days, according to one who was listening in, reflected the general attitude toward the dog population — one of concern on the one hand or hostility on the other. There was talk for instance of pellet guns being used to scare them off, if not kill, and weapons of stronger calibre to dispose of them without further ado, if the spirit moved.

A Belleville-area woman summed it up well when she said: "I feel pets are being run out of society . . . you want pets because you like them, surely, but in these days with everyone on the go, you have not the time to enjoy them."

Youth and Government

All the young people who have participated in successive Mayor of the Week programs agree on one thing: the full-time Mayor works extremely hard, as do members of Council and the municipal staff.

For most it is a real eye-opener, a positive introduction to the political scene and to the running of a municipality. The young folk also agree that the more students who can be introduced to such a program the better.

One thing though which it has not developed fully, perhaps from a mood of deference to their elders, or understandable difficulty in unveiling anything debatable in such a short time, is the critical faculty.

None of this year's crop of students had much to say of a critical nature — in contrast to at least one of the earlier groups, following its 1968-69 start, which spoke out on a number of topical subjects from the need of parental support to drugs.

Nobody wants to see the young people breaking out in a rash of radicalism — although it might not hurt to shake up a lot of people — but there is more room for the young people to express themselves on whatever concerns them, rather than the tendency to suggest everything in the municipal garden is lovely.

The more a program such as Rotary's can sharpen the young people's awareness and their critical faculties, the better.

Meanwhile, the club can take satisfaction in the knowledge that the program is now firmly established. It was the brainchild of then youth committee chairman Don Thrush, during the presidency of Ken Wormald and the mayoralty of Dr. J. Russell Scott. Today, the program, believed unique in Canada, is carried on under youth committee chairman Rev. Ray Leslie Dean and president Bob Graham.

Tradeau Policies Questioned

Ottawa Rejected PC Motion to Censure Red Atrocities

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It is there for all to read in Parliament's Hansard.

First, led by former External Affairs Minister and now Conservative House Leader Michael Sharp, the slambang rush to have Parliament condemn the United States for the Vietnam debacle — as it was termed — bombing of the docks and oil storage depots of Haiphong, North Communist North Viet Nam.

And now, less than last few days, the equally astonishing refusal, again led by Mitchell Sharp as House Leader, to have Parliament censure the Communists for the merciless massacres in Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

It was Toronto Conservative MP Otto Jelinek who proposed the motion "to instruct the External Affairs Minister (Allan MacEachen to condemn (in the name of Canadians and their government) the tragic and inhumane attacks on the helpless populace of Cambodia and South Viet Nam and the continuing spread of Communist war crimes."

Was it agreed? asked Mr. Speaker.

"No," thundered the government benches or Mr. Sharp's and

"Yes," shouted the opposition.

But since there are more MPs on the government than on the opposition side of the House, Parliament, which had spent hours condemning attacks on the Communists, took only seconds in refusing to condemn attacks by Communists.

Mr. Jelinek, says Otto Jelinek, is clear: the federal government is sympathetic to Communism.

In agreement is Nova Scotia Conservative MP Lloyd Crouse.

Ordinarily, a man extremely slow to be once excited, Mr. Crouse arrived back from the Geneva Conference on the Law of the Sea in a state of agitation.

He says the French, British and other Western European countries are "disgusted" and loud just where Canada stands in relation to the United States and the Soviet Union.

They expressed envy, he said, of Canada's proximity to the United States market.

And so they were all the more amazed, he reported, that only recently Prime Minister Trudeau had been in Britain, and that he continued "demanding, as they put it," your best friend, the United States."

The Western Europeans, found Mr. Crouse, simply couldn't understand the Canadian government's attitude.

But Mr. Crouse thinks he does.

Putting it bluntly, he says that Prime Minister Trudeau to office seems more receptive to the Russians than the Americans.

In recent days he and other Conservatives have been pressing on Mr. Trudeau the importance of America, and the summit conference in this time of setbacks for the United States, conferences now held four years ago in Moscow.

Speaking of Canada's NATO and NORAD membership, Mr. Trudeau is quoted by his own office as having told the Russians:

"We have increasingly found it important to diversify channels of communication because of the overpowering presence of the U.S. — and it is rather odd in this growing consciousness among Canadians of the danger in dependence on the U.S. that cultural, economic and perhaps even military ties of ours."

What echoes Mr. Crouse in astonishing candidness? Is the Prime Minister suggesting to the Russians that the Americans are going so nearch in over us?

And now, four years later, back from Europe, Mr. Crouse is further disturbed by astonished comments of the Western Europeans about Mr. Trudeau's recent denunciation of his trip over the U. of Americans and their government.

Expenses of Leadership Contests

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thurston News Service

TORONTO — National PC leader Robert Stanfield has come forward with a suggestion which this observer, at least, has been waiting for for some time from some prominent Tory.

The suggestion was that there should be a ceiling on the expenditures of candidates in the coming Conservative leadership contest.

And it is a suggestion that in many ways makes good sense.

Also his further proposal that there should be guidelines as to the type and expense of convention decorations together with disclosure of campaign contributions.

The essence of his argument is that leadership contests would be more fair and meaningful and that candidates would influence delegates strictly on merit rather than on entertainment.

There would probably be not too many who would disagree with this in principle.

The essence of his argument is that leadership contests would be more fair and meaningful and that candidates would influence delegates strictly on merit rather than on entertainment.

There would probably be not too many who would disagree with this in principle.

Spending on party leaderships has got out of hand.

Even in our last year's provincial leadership, certainly not a major contest, candidates were putting out 100,000 and more. That is too much and puts an automatic fence before any potential, but well-endowed, candidate.

But also it is hard to see how the practice of high-spending, once established as it now is, can be done away with.

The positive aspects of leadership spending are hard, perhaps impossible, to assess.

Just how many votes do the bands, badges, demonstrations and free-load rooms mean to any one candidate?

Who can say?

But there is little doubt of the negative aspects.

Any candidate who doesn't put on a good "show" is going to suffer.

He will automatically go to the bottom of the ranks.

But probably the biggest opposition to doing away with the hoopla would come from the parties themselves.

The leadership have come to be regarded as prestige build-ups.

Since the advent of wide television coverage parties have attempted to put on the best show possible.

A cut in candidate spending could reduce the impact and attendance at conventions to be favored by the professional leadership.

French Savoir-faire Shows As Vietnam Conflict Ends

By JOHN D. HACKSON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thurston News Service

Have the French a national style, a "cool" which has escaped the rest of us? Is such a style coming to the surface in South Vietnam?

The French are not rushing to leave that beleaguered and probably doomed country. There are no airlifts of the estimated 8,000 French in the country, nor a closing down of the French Embassy.

For the French who built the first European colonial empire in Indochina, the 1954 in a bitter colonial war, the relations with the Viet Cong and the People's Republic of North Vietnam are not those of a people to keep it that way.

France officially and in other ways supports the American cause as long as 10 years ago when they recalled the war in Vietnam, that in the end they would lose.

And in a way, the French influence here in the Americans are going, is the foreign which will remain after all. The tough communist leaders of the north as did the late Ho Chi Minh all graduated French as indeed does strong, anti-Communist ex-President Thieu of South Vietnam who fled to Taiwan last week.

Remember it was in Paris where the Viet Cong set up their headquarters and where also it was in Paris where the very long negotiations between the North Vietnamese, ultimately the Viet Cong and the Americans took place.

And for many who still remember Belleville before the Communists took over in 1954, including myself now, who had been there for the south, that city still has a French element lingering in it.

With the British, Canada, the French are the only foreign embassies now closed in Saigon and the French are continuing to do so, the French will play the major role of any outside diplomatic state in the reconstruction phase.

This must come after the fighting and negotiations or struggle for Saigon (which also remains in many ways a French city in style and language).

This role will be easier for the French in play than anyone else. It was France under the late General de Gaulle which first recognized The People's Republic of China among the major European powers in 1964. (with the exception of Britain who did so in 1950).

The long French acceptance of Peking, one of the major backers of the Hanoi regime, meant French ease at working with the Communist Vietnamese who will also have a role in the future economic redevelopment of the south.

In all this, there is tremendous dramatic irony for the Americans who realize that treasure and expertise in trying to re-arrange South Vietnamese society, failed miserably to do so.

The French know that such American-imposed schemes as the so-called "Vietnamization" would not work, resulting in the mass movement of country people to the cities which helps with unemployed beggars and orphans.

Like the British when they pulled out of India in 1947, the French as colonial administrators left well and have co-operated with local rulers rather than telling them how to alter their ancient and sophisticated societies.

And finally, we should not forget it was France for both Communists and anti-Communists, who was cultural mother to so many of them.

Ho Chi Minh was educated in France. And now it is reported the French priests and missionaries who stayed behind in most recently Communist-occupied provinces in the north of South Vietnam are free to go.

It is a curious yet positive role for the former colonial power.

LETTERS

A Night to Remember

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

The 1958-59 Belleville Mc-Farlands wish to thank the Belleville area people who supported Fiut Gorgan Memorial Night at the Arena on April 13. A special thanks to the many guests and contributed advertising, printing, funds, and a little luck this night such a success.

Many people spent so many hours working with us in the years that followed and some of their names should be mentioned, but as is the case with this special type of person they have asked that their names remain unmentioned here.

For the members of the McFarlands, it was a night we won't forget. Happy to see our old buddies, but sad that it should take the loss of one of our teammates to bring us back together. Thanks also to the Ontario Hockey Association for the memories and honor their former coach and friend.

We hope the Belleville fans enjoyed the game and your support enabled us to give the Gorgan family and Billie Hall financial support from which they in turn made a sizeable contribution to the Heart Fund.

Thank you Belleville area sports fans. We have a lot to remember and be proud of, not the least of which this special friendship but a helpful community and to the many friends in the country.

As far back as 1921, Lenin made a speech which was later reported in a Canadian publication.

I cut out this clipping and although it has since been mislaid, Lenin's words, as I recollect, were: "No matter how long it takes, we will use every means in our power, including the use of subversion, set and fan the flames of racial and greedy democracies to destroy each other."

"For a nation so determined, it would be well worth while to invest a great deal of money in these fields."

Dolls Galore

A breathtaking array of 1,000 dolls is on display at the Freina Doll House at Maple Leaf, 20, miles north of Bancroft on Highway 62. Mrs. Pearl Crawford owns and operates the doll house and delights in showing her collection to little visitors.

Maple Leaf Woman Has 1,000 Dolls on Display

MAPLE LEAF — A plan sure to delight parents and to make the eyes of children widen in amazement is the Freina Doll House located in this small village 20 miles north of Bancroft on Highway 62.

The Freina Doll House is owned and operated by Pearl Crawford who has more that 1,000 dolls on exhibit in the 15 by 20 foot display house, which will open to the public again on May 17.

Dolls in national dress from 100 different countries are also in Mrs. Crawford's collection.

Two Mexican senioritas with smoldering eyes date from the early 1920s and are still dressed in the original costumes.

Mrs. Crawford started her collection in 1962 and has received most of the dolls from family and friends who have kept the friends of childhood carefully for many years.

With the help of her husband, sons and brother, Mrs. Crawford has constructed Old Mother Hubbard's Cupboard, Noah's Ark and a miniature log cabin as well as a number of other pieces of doll paraphernalia.

"Many people who go travelling abroad really know what to bring me as souvenirs," said Mrs. Crawford. "I've visited a Beefeater doll for years and a friend brought me one last year."

Many present mothers are delighted to spot a Barbara Ann Scott doll in the collection.

"It was very hard to get that doll," said Mrs. Crawford." I have also been trying to find the original Shirley Temple, Jeanette Durbin, Betty Grable and Sonja Heine dolls."

The oldest doll in the collection dates from the turn of the century and Mrs. Crawford thinks is about "71 years old."

A group of old-fashioned baby dolls adorns one of the shelves in the collection.

"The Reliable Doll Company started to make dolls with composition heads in 1921," said Mrs. Crawford." The dolls were made of sawdust and then dipped in glue and varnished. The last one was made in 1967."

Not only old dolls are in Mrs. Crawford's collection — modern children will find friends like Thumbelina, Mrs. Beasley and the Flintsone Family on display.

Once you're in the right vicinity for the doll house you can't miss it because a six-foot Winnie the Pooh and a five-foot Humpty Dumpty adorn the front lawn along with a pumpkin belonging to Peter Pumpkin Eater.

According to Mrs. Crawford, motorists passing the doll house will "wave back at the doll who is waving at them and at the pumpkin. I guess they think that it's a child."

Fascinated Visitor

Neighbor children are regular visitors to the Freina Doll House at Maple Leaf, owned and operated by Mrs. Pearl Crawford. During the summer months, however, passersby on Highway 62 a e welcome to drop in and see Mrs. Crawford's collection of 1,000 antique and contemporary dolls and discuss them with their collector.

Bancroft Fire Chief Stricken

BANCROFT — An alarm raised for a small grass fire here Wednesday afternoon resulted in an unexpected local tragedy.

Answering the alarm, Bancroft Fire Chief Wayne Walker, 43, suffered a fatal heart attack in the town fire station.

Mr. Walker married with two children, had been with the local volunteer fire department for more than 20 years and was chief since 1971. He was actively involved with annual fire aid programs in North Hastings.

Mr. Walker was an employee of the provincial ministry of the environment.

Tweed Police Chief Resigns

TWEED — Robert Gagne, police chief here since January, 1974, has resigned effective April 30.

He will become a constable with the Nepean Township force near Ottawa, where, he says, his bilingual family can grow up in a bilingual atmosphere.

Two constables remain on the Tweed force, which Mr. Gagne says could be abolished if town council decided to opt for OPP police service.

Countdown

With ScienceScope '75 opening in Bancroft Friday for two days, William Weiser of the Ontario Science Centre, Toronto, has been visiting area schools drumming up interest. He is helped by a wary Chris Sinkle in this demonstration at North Hastings Senior Elementary School Wednesday. ScienceScope '75 is a project of the Bancroft Lions Club.

May 21 Date Set For PC Meeting

Progressive Conservatives in Peterborough-Hastings will hold a nomination convention in Madoc May 21 — and Charles Rollins MPP Hastings Wednesday re-affirmed he will seek the party ticket.

But he still has no predictions about an election date.

The convention date was made known by Reeve Ken Smith, Madoc, and Grimsthorpe Township — and president of the Conservative riding association — in an interview after Mr. Rollins spoke to Hastings County council.

Then new riding — to be approved by the legislature — joins 16 townships from Peterborough riding to the Hastings constituency.

To avoid delays in forming a new association, Mr. Smith said party representatives from both ridings had agreed to appoint three vice-presidents for the current Hastings organization executive. The convention will be conducted under rules of the Hastings association constitution.

Speaking to county council, Mr. Rollins discussed regional government, hoped county council would retain its historic form of local government.

"It would be very discouraging for me to have a county council take an approach to an alternative system of municipal government," he said.

Mr. Rollins said such an event would cause him to rethink his position as MPP.

Guest speaker at the Madoc convention will be Eric Winkler, Chairman of the government Board of Management and government house leader.

Area Seeks Telephones

A small area of Hastings County cottage country is without telephone service.

The district is Diamond Lake in Herschel Township which is a thriving tourist area with about six tourist operators, its reeve, James Haddow told county council Wednesday.

Mr. Haddow was council support for a plea to Bell Canada for phone service.

He said he was meeting next week with a representative from Bell, which is "efficient in many places but this is one place they have forgotten about."

Effective today the minimum wage goes up.

And it now includes agricultural workers.

Everyone in Ontario who's covered by the Minimum Wage Act—and that now includes agricultural workers—will be entitled to an increase beginning May 1.

The new basic rate will be $2.40 an hour.

All agricultural workers engaged in the harvesting of fruit, field vegetables and tobacco will be entitled to the new rate.

People employed by agencies as domestics and people working as funeral directors or embalmers must be paid not less than $2.40 an hour. Learners in general industry must be paid at least $2.30 an hour during their first month of employment, and the full rate after that.

Those employed in construction work or as construction site guards are now entitled to at least $2.65 an hour. There is no learner's rate in the construction industry. Ambulance drivers, helpers and first-aid attendants must now receive at least $115.20 a week or, if they work less than 48 hours in a week, at the regular rate of $2.40 an hour. Students under 18 who work 28 hours a week or less, or during school holidays, must receive at least $2.00 an hour.

When employees occupy a room or eat meals supplied by their employer, $10.00 per week for the room and $1.05 for each meal or $22.00 per week for meals may be included when calculating the minimum wage.

Employers of agricultural workers who are entitled to minimum wage will be limited in the maximum deductions they can make from minimum wage, for room and board to $32.00 per week; for the provision of a fully serviced house to $40.00 per week; and provision of an unserviced house to $30.00 per week.

Ann Landers

Extreme Age Difference Doesn't Rule Out Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: I am 28 years old. Joe is 62. Recently we've run across letters about couples with extreme age differences. If the man's younger, once happens to be a younger woman. It is immediately assumed that it's an egg for him or a search to regain his lost youth. The woman who is interested in an older man is a schemer, after his money, or both.

I have yet to see one article defending such relationships. It is too remote a possibility to consider that perhaps such elements as dependability, wisdom, compatability, maturity and even love might be the basis for some of these May-December and December-May marriages.

I've been out with dozens of men in my so-called "age group." They were immature, boring and exploitative. I feel very secure with my "older man." I wish you'd print this letter to help bolster them in the same boat.—He's Right For Me

Dear Right: Here's your letter. Consider yourself bolstered. According to recent statistics, marriages in which the age gap is 10 years or more are as many exceptions, however, that I would never forebode a relationship because of the difference in age.

Dear Ann Landers: I travel a lot and watch your shows on several different papers. I have seen at least a dozen different pictures of you and can't figure out why you look so good in some towns and so lousy in others. The towns where you look the lousiest are where they run those terrible drawings by a local artist. Los Angeles is the worst.

The Kansas City paper, Atlanta Journal and Washington Post don't print any pictures. Are they crazy? If it's space you're short of why don't they drop a few sentences and run the picture? Your column is a lot easier to find when a person can see your face. Before the Cincinnati paper began to use your photo, people thought you were a man.

The Chicago Sun-Times runs at least five different pictures of you a week and they are all good. At least they look like they are of the same person. The New York Daily News runs only one picture but it is excellent.

Please answer some questions? (a) How old are you? (b) Do you wear a wig? (c) Are your teeth your own? (d) Why don't you send all the papers a new picture the way you look NOW? I've seen you on TV and you look fabulous.—In Transit

Dear In Transit: (a) I will be 57 years old on July 4th. (b) I don't own a wig. (c) My teeth are my own. (d) A few months ago I sent a new picture to every one of my 810 client newspapers. If they prefer the old picture I'm sorry. I won't go back! (e) I can't do anything about it. I work for THEM, they don't work for me.

Dear Ann Landers: It's roffen the way designers have gotten into cahoots with manufacturers and lengthened women's skirts so everything we own looks like last year's and we must buy new clothes or look out of date.

Long skirts are ugly. They make us look old and hide our attractive legs. Please tell your readers NOT to buy them.—Mad

Dear Mad: Don't worry, dear. They won't buy them. The main reasons are: (a) Financial: (b) Women like to show a little more leg, and (c) Men don't like long skirts.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 23-year-old divorced woman with a young son. The man who wants to marry me is brilliant attractive, successful, kind, considerate and he has a marvelous disposition. So what's the problem? The man doesn't stop talking.

From the moment we meet he launches into a detailed account of what he did during the day. He goes from one subject to another. If I try to interrupt he keeps right on talking. When he asks me a question and answers it himself, I'm tells me he'd like an opinion, he keeps talking and gives me one.

When we are with friends or his family, I never say boo. People must think he's imbecile or that I was born without vocal cords. Any advice?—Mute Maude

Dear Mr. M.: This man is a compulsive talker and you can't do a blooming' thing about it. Do I lie? Writers compensate for what they lack. Maybe you can't turn out to be a nerve-shredding conference? This I can tell you—if his non-stop talking bothers you now, it will drive you bonkers after you are married.

Dear Ann Landers: I am expecting my second child in about six weeks and I want to make sure I don't have a third. When I told my doctor I didn't think my nerves could take another pregnancy, he suggested that I have my tubes tied immediately after the delivery.

Before I make up my mind for sure I need to know a little more about it. We hear a lot about vasectomies, but very little about tubal ligations. Are there any physchological side effects?

I guess what really bothers me is if this baby died in infancy or early childhood I would never be able to have an older child. I don't want three children, but I'd hate to have only one. What do you suggest? Please don't tell me to discuss it with my husband. He says it's up to me.—An Expectant Mom

Dear Mom: This decision must be yours and yours alone. As for the psychological side effects of a tubal ligation, I can't answer that question either because I know nothing about your level of emotional stability. Some women can go to pieces over a hangnail. Others can sail through an amputation with nary a complaint.

It is imperative that you get some outside counsel from someone who knows you personally. I suggest your clergyman or your physician.

Doris Clark

Happy in the Old Folks Home

Dear Doris; I would like to get the name and address of that old lady, 94, who seems to be so distressed about how nobody understands her.

It can really be lovely in an old folks' home. My mother fought the idea for 15 years. Now she is 85. For the last 10 years she has been a mental patient and also has a very weak heart.

We had a hard time with her and it drove all of us almost crazy, but it finally gave in. She has been in a nursing home now since the beginning of March. She is happy there and she loves it. She is only sorry that she didn't go sooner.—Mrs. A.P.P.

Dear Mrs. A.P.P.: Thank you. I cannot give you the address of the old lady, 94, who told us how she felt being both old and confused. That story was written by the woman's daughter and it appeared first in the American Journal of Nursing. Doubtless she and her daughter live somewhere in the United States.

However, I am printing your letter because of what you said about your mother. It will encourage others, when they need to turn to the treatment of a kindly nursing home as the best place to look after a confused elder person.

Dear Doris: I am a first year student and am thinking of a summer job. I would really be interested in doing some social type work or outdoor work.

University Student

Dear Student: If you haven't started asking by now, better get busy. The Canada Manpower office in your area has some ideas for you — and a lot of students to place, too.

Then there are day camps and government recreation programs carried on in various city parks. Your own city hall can tell you about these.

For summer resort work, look in the yellow pages of your telephone directory under Resorts.

Then write to them — quickly. Tell about any experience in your past, paid or unpaid, that would make you a good resort worker, be it waiting, babysitting, kitchen maid or chambermaid. And place an ad in your nearest metropolitan newspaper yourself, asking for what you want or can do. Good luck!

Books By And About Women

THE SUMMER OF THE GREAT - GRANDMOTHER by Madeleine L'Engle

How does one handle the dilemma of an aging, senile parent who has been promised she will never go into a nursing home? In this absorbing non-fiction book, Madeleine L'Engle deals poignantly and realistically with this problem out of her own moving experience.

To better understand this particular summer, she unfolds other summers from her own childhood and her relationship with her immediately demonstrative mother who set unusually high standards for her daughter. With such recall, we also become acquainted with the whole character of the mother before her illness from atherosclerosis — a witty and imperious Southern lady.

Interwoven with these backgrounds are the daily and other present household's activities at "Crosswicks" with four generations of family making a lively clan. Also, there is a "bouquet of girls" who take turns administering to the old lady. Happy contributions from the smallest great-grandchild to the adults sustain the author during this period.

In spite of the serious issues of senility and death, there is more normalcy than morbidity, more daily frustrations; there is a positive quality and perhaps some directive here for anyone facing this problem. Her book also is a need to reach out and say "This how it is for me; how is it for you?"

This book is available in the Corby Public Library, as well as her autobiographical book "A Circle of Quiet"?

Bidding Goodbye to Beulah: Family and Dog Part Ways

We've had a sad time at our house recently. I suspect many of you have been through this too. Let me tell you about it, and if you've had a similar experience, perhaps you'll write and make me feel better — or worse!

We got rid of our dog.

No, we didn't have her "put to sleep", although we feel as bad as if we had.

We gave her away.

Oh, I can see your faces out there now, recoiling in horror and shock. "Have your dog away! How awful! How heartless! You brute."

Well, wait now. Listen to our side.

We got the dog — her name is Beulah — when she was a few weeks old, about a year and a half ago. Her mother was a Saint Bernard, the kind of dog we had in mind: Placid, easy to train to pad around after us like a big furry buddy. But her father was another story. A tough little mongrel with a good deal more mischievous energy than a flea circus.

We built her a dog house (double-walled construction, with wall-to-wall carpet, no kidding) and a 6-foot dog fence-in run, so that she didn't need to be tied.

(We feel quite strongly that ties in urban and suburban communities it is wrong to let a dog run free. Not only is it unfair to neighbors who may not be good-natured about dogs' doings on their lawns, but it is cruel to expose a dog to the dangers of traffic, tormenting children and dog catchers.)

Because Beulah is big and extremely lively, we kept her as an "outside dog", and when she did come in the house it was rough-and-ready loopy-love applications. She had so much energy that although we took her for daily walks in the nearby fields, she was wound up like a top and went round in circles for the first half hour, inside or outside.

We loved her dearly, badly-trained and stray though she was, but as months passed and she went on being a leaving her "silly puppy phase" we grew a little fatigued by her rowdiness. We send her to dog school, and although she didn't exactly fail, she didn't remember her lessons for long.

When we'd come home from work in the evening, there she'd be, sailing at the corner of her pen, wailing soporific her big brown eyes liquid with love and devotion.(And her big muddy paws ready to leave their prints and rips all over us.)

We'd let her out to play, and then spend most of the time scoldin her. No fun for anyone, right?

Enough is enough, we finally said. That poor dog is too lonely. Seeing us once a day isn't sufficient. We can all afford another dog to keep her company. We can't inflict her on... friends by selling her in the home. Bits isn't the kind of dog we need, and we're not the sort of people she needs.

As luck would have it, we have a friend who has a big farm with lots of rugged wooded land, a menagerie of children, horses, geese, dogs and cats. He agreed to take Beulah, and on Sunday we drove her — heavily sedated, I should add — to her new home.

She's a brave big thing, really. Didn't shed a tear. And so considerate of our feelings that she actually made it quite clear that she preferred the wide open spaces to her old pen, so that we wouldn't feel too bad about deserting her.

But now I'm hardened, part.

All those involuntary economic leaping for her at the fence when we drive up the road . . . walking out the door in the morning, starting to say, "Off, Bead . . .

I'm just not sure we did the right thing.

Springtime Theme At Minerva Tea

Minerva Chapter, Number 238 of the Order of the Eastern Star held a Springtime Tea and sale of home baking at the Masonic Temple on Foster Avenue Wednesday afternoon.

The tea was convened by Margaret McQuoid, Past Matron. The room was tastefully decorated in a spring-like way, with paper butterflies, made by the OES members, suspended from the ceiling.

Shirley Bongard was ticket convener and Joyce Reynolds was in the room convener. The men's table, where pussy willows were on sale, was looked after by several of the men in the chapter.

Rhoda Gray, Frances Marser and Jane Cummins were in charge of the kitchen. Pouring tea were Marjorie Morgan, Associate Grand Conductress, Eva Heath, Alberta Ireland, Hazel Dafoe, Pearl Kerr, Beasy McMullin, Edna Dobbs and Gladys Ketchesen.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton are happy to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary-Lou, to Mr. James Bancroft, son of Mary Bancroft, and the late John Bancroft. The marriage will take place on May 17, at 3 p.m. in St. John's United Church, Tweed.

Marries Old Beau

HULL, England (CP) — Hilda Hamilton was 14 when she fell in love with Bernard Jacobs, 18, but her mother stopped them meeting. That was in 1931 and later Hilda entered a convent, where she stayed eight years. Recently they met by chance and when Bernard, 62, proposed "I said yes straight away," said Hilda after the wedding.

MARMORA CWL

Senior citizens of the area were guests of the Marmora Catholic Women's League at a card party on Thursday evening, April 24, in Sacred Heart Parish Hall.

The party was held to celebrate "The Feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel", patroness of the CWL.

The event was convened by Mrs. March, Ann Hilton and Marilyn Maloney.

SPRING TEND' PARTY

Spring is the theme of the wine and cheese dance and party being sponsored by the Belleville branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada. The occasion, to which the public is invited will be held at Tobes Gardens on Friday, May 2, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $7.50 per person.

The annual party has been held for several years in order to give financial support to ballet instruction in the Quinte area. For the past three years the guild has concentrated its efforts on providing a school for the classical choreshiti method, the Quinte Dance Centre.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mail call is a time of sheer delight for Tommy Tumpkins, British Columbia's roving ambassador of the wilderness.

While Tommy is on the road, showing his nature films of B.C., the Yukon and the Northwest Territories to schoolchildren and other audiences all over the province, the letters pile up.

By the time he gets back to his Vancouver headquarters, there is generally five to 10 pounds of mail waiting, most of it from children who have watched his action movies.

"The letters from the youngsters really brighten my day," said Tommy, a former Vancouver city police detective who became a full-time outdoorsman and motion picture photographer 13 years ago. His activities now are sponsored by MacMillan Bloedel.

"The kids pepper me with ideas and questions and crayon pictures of myself, themselves and wild animals. They tell me about their own camping experiences, the animals they've seen, the pets they own and even where they are having dinner that night.

"I only wish I had the time to answer each letter personally."

Tommy's all-time hit with the younger set in a film entitled Nahanni, documenting his life with timber wolves in the Nahanni River country of the Northwest Territories.

It was during this expedition that he rescued a whimpering wolf pup he named Nahanni. He raised it into a beautiful full-grown wolf and eventually donated the animal to the Walt Disney game farm near Los Angeles.

The letters about Nahanni are always interesting and usually fractionally funny, intentionally or unintentionally, as the children, aged 6 to 12, put pen, pencil and crayon to paper.

The selection from a typical day's mail follows, the unique grammatical style, spelling and punctuation unaltered:

"Dear Mr. Tumpkins:

"Thankss for coming. I like your shoe.. Your wolf is cute. I'm going to Disneyland and see him. Can you tell me where his cage is?

"From Jackie."

A letter from one of Jackie's classmates:

"Thank you for coming to the school to show us what wolf's do to live. Is it good for a wolf to have about 300 pounds of food a day?

"Rianne."

Tommy advises that, so, wolves shouldn't eat 300 pounds of food a day, and neither should a little girl.

David Warfield used up most of his letter space by drawing pictures.

"This is a footprint," David advised in the picture captions.

"This is your wolf, this is a nice coyote, this is a mountain goat, and this is a pair of weird glasses."

David also brought Tommy up to date on the state of the animals around his own home: "I have a girl dog and it had babies on my bed. I wish I had a wulf like Nahanni."

A lot of the letters show evidences of concern about the state of Nahanni's health.

"The show you gave us was very interesting. I hope your wolf does not have a heart attack . . .

"Thankyou, Shawnee Phelan."

Doubtful, says Tommy, as Nahanni is thriving at the game farm, getting fat and acting job on television and in the movies.

Everything from Tackle to Trailers

"It's the largest show of it's kind between Montreal and Toronto", says Fred Jones, sponsor of the first Quinte Recreational Sports Show.

The show, which is to take place at Memorial Arena here, on the weekend, is expected to be a bit with all ages attend.

According to Jones, this show is strictly for the outdoorsman. All items are sports oriented. They range from fishing tackle and rods, to special attractions like yachts, trailers and motorcycles. A 45 ft. mobile home will be a special feature.

It is the first show of this type in Belleville. It's purpose is to display items of interest to everyone.

There will be no duplication of exhibits, promises Jones. A large weather balloon will be inflated with helium, and released early Friday morning, and is to remain aloft above the Memorial Arena during the show.

Newfoundland's Mineral Output Increases 15 Times

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The value of Newfoundland's mineral production has increased from less than $30 million in 1949, the year Newfoundland joined Canada, to about $453 million last year, according to figures released by the provincial mines department.

At Confederation, about 3,500 persons were employed in the mining industry here and the average annual income of miners was about $4,000.

Increased surveys and exploration since then have brought more mines and mineral production, and last year the industry had 7,300 permanent workers with an annual payroll exceeding $90 million.

At least one new mine goes into production this year—a zinc mine near Daniel's Harbour, a fishing settlement on the Great Northern Peninsula. It is expected to start operations at the end of April.

The project, started last year by Newfoundland Zinc Mines Ltd., has sufficient reserves for a nine-year operation and will employ 150 men, most of them local residents.

Mines Minister Leo Barry says, however, that "the potential for finding additional deposits are good and it is reasonable to look forward to a much longer operation than nine years."

He says the company found a high-grade mass of zinc ore while excavating in the area and about 500 tons of the ore has already been stockpiled for mill use.

Mr. Barry said additional geochemical surveys conducted in the area have turned up some interesting findings.

Meanwhile, other operators are plumbing the earth on the Baie Verte Peninsula, on Notre Dame Bay, for quartz.

A mines department spokesman said a diamond-drilling program to assess the size and grade of a quartz deposit at LaScie has been completed and there, is a definite potential in the deposit.

The spokesman noted that while there are hundreds of quartz deposits of high quality in the province, estimated tonnage is relatively small and the deposits do not warrant commercial production.

Detoxification Centres Kept Busy

TORONTO (CP) — It's often tough enough finding a room in Toronto, but if you happen to be a rank then it's even worse.

Metropolitan Toronto's three detoxification centres are busy and the 60 rooms available are often filled by noon. After the police have little choice but to let anyone they find drunk on the street.

Although three more centres are scheduled to open before the end of the year, the Ontario government has already been asked to establish two more.

Drinking in Ontario has become to the point where the government has announced a $4-million, three-year education program to help control it.

Whether a person finds himself in one of the city's detoxification centres it is entirely up to him how long he stays or, whether he wants to proceed into a rehabilitation program.

Winnie Fraser, director of one of the centres, said the atmosphere created at the centres makes them more conducive to drying out a drunk than a hospital.

"One of the reasons we get mild withdrawals here is that we treat each patient as a unique person . . . the establishment get the false idea that drunks are all violent. You get that in a hospital, where it's authoritarian. You're a patient, a number.

"And the medical staff isn't used to handling them. When they project their fears, the drunks start playing games to get attention. If they don't get what they want it's a chaotic mess."

The detox centres try to give the alcoholics love and understanding without condoning their drinking. Violence is not standing except when they get too demanding.

The centres try to create a home atmosphere. Thanks to Winnie Fraser, the walls in the rooms have been changed from cold white to cheery yellows, blues and pinks. There are flowered spreads on the beds and there is a television lounge, all under-ways with a coffe urn.

Ecologists Delay Scheldt Sea Dams

MIDDELBURG, Netherlands (Reuter) — Wild-life protection groups have forced a long halt in the completion of the world's biggest system of sea dams, designed to prevent disastrous floods, in southwest Holland.

Vociferous ecologists and environmentalist groups want to preserve oyster and mussel beds as well as breeding grounds for fish in the eastern Scheldt estuary. Even though this means danger from the treacherous North Sea for more than 100,000 people.

The preservationists raised such an outcry that the government was forced to abandon the original scheme and produce new plans likely to cost the country an additional 2.1 billion guilders (about $605 million).

The government had planned to dam off the arm of the sea ever since a spring tide, whipped up by a raging gale, overwhelmed the dikes in this delta region in 1953 and inundated huge areas lying below sea level.

At least 1,835 people lost their lives when the sea surged through the breaches, engulfing most of the bleak islands with their small farms and market towns.

All the other sea arms and inlets, except the eastern Scheldt, now have been dammed. But the environmentalists have sprung into action to prevent the final closure which would turn the tidal reaches into a vast inland fresh-water lake and destroy marine life.

The government's experts on water control now are almost at a loss for an engineering solution which can safeguard both the people and the fish.

The government's experts on water control now are almost at a loss for an engineering solution which can safeguard both the people and the fish.

"The fearsome problem, above all, is how to build an enormous sluice, each weighing some 150,000 tons or more, across the mouth," Mr. Fischer said.

"Each of those blocks would be as heavy as a laden oil supertanker. This has never been done before and nobody knows how the sand below would react in the long run to the weight and the vibrations from current."

Holland, much of which lies below sea level, is protected from the sea and rivers by 1,125 miles of dunes and dikes.

Without them, the country would either disappear into the water or become uninhabitable.

The first massive protection and land reclamation scheme was completed in 1932 when a dyke 19 miles long closed the Zuyder Zee in northern Holland off from the sea, allowing more than 550,000 acres of land to be reclaimed.

The Consumer Price Index rose to 178.9 in March, a rise of .3 from the 178.9 of February, Statistics Canada reported the rise was due mainly to increased prices for petroleum products, clothing and automobiles. (CP Newsmap)

North Sea Oil Keeps 46,000 Busy

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP) — Even though the landing of the first production oil from the British sector of the North Sea still is two months away, the industry that has sprung up around the discoveries off the harbour coast already involves more than 46,000 people—with another 8,000 jobs in prospect.

More than 20,000 of these people are in all-related jobs in Scotland; another 9,000 work in northeast England. In addition, a further 18,000 are indirectly involved in the huge task of providing supplies and services for up to 40 drilling rigs at work in the North Sea.

The size of the industry that has been newly created in Britain is indicative of the rewards that are at stake. Latest estimates show that the offshore supplies and services market in the United Kingdom now is worth well over 300 million (1.34 billion) a year.

Diving bells now on trial are designed to take men down to 1,000 feet and efforts are being made by designers to provide more comfort for underwater workers who otherwise face the prospect of spending days in tiny decompression chambers.

In the case of new production platforms, 11 of the 12 now being built or on order for the U.K. sector of the North Sea are being put together in Britain. Two years ago the comparable figure was three.

It is the same story with the giant structures that sit on top of the platform to provide accommodation, storerooms, helicopter landing pad and communications centre for the rig. Whereas only two of these structures were being made in Britain in the second half of 1972 the number rose in the second half of last year to 152.

Another area of major expansion on the oil scene is the concentration of divers in the North Sea. The 300 now working there are said to be the largest group ever seen in one area. Britain has many divers of her own but is planning to increase her representation with a new diving training centre being established in Scotland.

British Petroleum chairman Sir Eric Drake recently predicted that within the next 10 years or so four times the amount of oil so far found offshore will be discovered.

Meanwhile, as the British government prepares to introduce a petroleum bill that will enable it to participate in the successful North Sea oilfields, BP a.. a R -will start drilling production wells in its Forties field in A.. When three of the wells a.. completed oil will start to flow along the pipeline that links the field with the coast of Scotland. It will take more than a month for the pipeline to fill up because it will have a capacity of 1.4 million barrels.

Texan Rescues Old Airplanes

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Happy Jack Roper is a curious blend of good ole boy, captain of the clouds and slightly paunchy Terry without the Pirates.

The 53-year-old Texan says he had a licence to fly when he was 15 and his love affair with airplanes has been unflagging ever since.

The planes often are old, ugly and rusting hulks, long forgotten and rotting on jungle floors, but Roper finds 'em, loves 'em and flies 'em.

The older and rustier the better, he said. "If you poke around the Pentagon, you'll find out where they are. I've always been a fortunate old boy."

Roper hit Saginaw in January after the BCM Co. of Dallas heard there was an old Grumman HU-16B Albatross that might be worth his special skills.

The lumbering seaplane sat for three years at the Michigan Military and Air Museum, but the museum went bankrupt and the old plane seemed headed for the scrap heap.

"That plane is going out of here fully licensed," Roper said as he strode purposefully through a service hangar at Tri-Cities Airport. "They didn't believe it when I got here, but they're believing it now."

His firm bought the Albatross for $,000 and Roper has spent 30,000 and two months fixing it up. He said the firm already has been offered 120,000 for it.

The plane, built by the government in 1953 for about $80,000, can fly for 30 hours, land on earth, sea or snow and carry 10,000 pounds of cargo and 17 passengers.

"It's just perfect for oil exploration," Roper said, unable to suppress a grin and wink. "It'll sell for a ton."

Roper makes no bones about loving his rusting old airplanes.

In the 1930s his search took him to South Africa where he fixed up 31 planes, working five months a year for three years. In Vulcan, Alta., he once rescued 117 planes, taking just two engines.

"I'd fly one down to San Antonio, take the engines off, truck 'em back to Canada, put 'em on another plane and keep doing it."

Roper has flown just about everything with wings. He piloted spotter planes for the Army Air Corps in the Second World War, returned to military duty during the Korean War and has flown crop dusters from Nova Scotia to Nicaragua.

Lately, he has travelled the world in search of decrepit planes. And everywhere he goes, the stories get told.

"Silliest thing in the world was flying my spotter plane in the Second World War," he said. "I'd take my spotter up

Work Begins on Pipeline

After six years of litigation, work has finally begun on the Alaska pipeline, the largest private construction project in United States history. More than 18,000 workers have started carving out the route for the 48-inch conduit which will cost more than $6 billion. It is hoped to complete the project within three years and start benefiting crude oil from the Prudhoe Bay field in the Arctic tundra 789 miles to the ice-free port of Valdez. Fleets of tankers will pick up the oil cargo at the port and carry it to refineries in the U.S. Work crews have already laid a 366-foot section of pipe near Valdez for test purposes. Work is also going ahead on welding pipe and building roads, pump stations, construction camps and tanker terminals. During the coming months, crews will lay more than 100,000 sections of pipe above and below ground, across Alska, swamps and rivers and over mountain passes where the pipe sections must rise almost vertically.

Greenhouse Uses Wasted Hot Water

EDMONTON (CP) — Waste hot water from a power generating station has been used with some success in an experimental greenhouse at Lake Wahanum, 40 miles west of Edmonton.

R. M. Trimmer, provincial horticulturist and the project's supervisor, said the 2,000-square-foot greenhouse is one of the first in Canada attempting to salvage waste energy for agricultural purposes.

He said the greenhouse, which opened a year ago, using water from the generating station as its only heat source, produced excellent produce in summer and lettuce and chives in winter. But initial findings indicate cucumber growth and vegetable height can be pushed.

Mr. Trimmer said the cucumber effect is summer, cooling the water in the closed, glass-fibre structure.

Mr. Trimmer said the first year's experiments showed a much longer summer growing season can be achieved under ideal conditions but that the temperature was not high enough for good results in winter vegetable growth.

Mr. Trimmer said one more year of experimental work is needed before any final evaluation is possible. A wide variety was being planted early this spring, emphasis on quick growth crops that could be harvested and replanted to determine production, growing periods and the possibility of continuous harvesting.

The Wahanum site is only one of several generating plants in Alberta that provide waste hot water and if the experiment shows promise the other sites may be considered for use.

Mr. Trimmer said experiments are being conducted in Saskatoon in which hot air trapped from power plant smokestacks is used.

"Soon we've got a good season under our belts, we can work out the economics of the whole thing," he said.

Hydro Loses Customer

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Elizabeth Oliver learned how to get along without electricity after British Columbia Hydro cut off her power.

And she has found it's not difficult to survive, especially for someone in the coal business.

Mrs. Oliver runs a store which specializes in dehydrated survival food for outdoorsmen in this community about 30 miles north of Vancouver.

"We are surviving nicely with a gasoline lantern and will install a gasoline heater this fall to get through winter," she said.

The problem with Hydro began when she applied for a hookup for her new home. She was told there would be no charge for several months while Hydro assessed how much electricity she would use.

A couple of weeks later, Mrs. Oliver received a letter from the utility asking for a $300 deposit.

"They had told us earlier that they didn't want a deposit so I didn't pay too much attention to the letter.

"Then a Hydro representative showed up demanding the $300. He said they would hold the money for me for two years as security against us going back unpaid.

"I made a little noise and let him know I was not capable of looking after my own money."

He threatened to cut . . . electricity and I told him to cut it off."

Mrs. Oliver said the gasoline lantern gives "a real survival atmosphere to the store."

Central B.C. Residents Show Concern About Environment

VANCOUVER (CP) — Within alien on profits and income a decade, British Columbia's forest industry will not be a net producer of revenue for the provincial government, says B.C.'s chief forester.

W. E. L. Young said there will continue to be charges for using the province's timber but expenditures for roads and environmental protection will probably offset direct revenue to the government.

"The real revenue from the forest industry comes from tax- on timber utilization and there is a long way to go yet. Now we are starting to take steps on environmental protection.

"These environmental steps will mean higher costs because we are going to have to build more roads—that's the biggest single item."

Mr. Young said the people of the province also want better access to forest areas.

The forest service sets high standards for what are called main haul roads, often used by logging companies as well as the public during or after logging operations, he said.

In the budget for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1975, the government estimated that revenue from the forest industry would be $258.1 million in the form of stumpage and royalty charges. Stumpage is the fee paid by the companies for each tree cut.

A decline in housing starts in Canada and the United States and problems in the Japanese economy have created a drop in the lumber market and a sharp downturn in stumpage.

The forest service was scheduled to spend $43.3 million in the 1974-75 year, Mr. Young said there now is more co-operation with other government departments such as fish and wildlife and a resultant increase in over-all government costs.

Indians Abused

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's native people are discriminated against and suffer physical abuse at the hands of whites in the Kenora area, Peter Kelly of the Keeper Indian reserve said Wednesday.

He was speaking at a meeting held by the Department of Indian and northern affairs in a downtown hotel, concerning the problems of Indian and Inuit peoples.

"Physical abuse is prevalent, and cannot be tolerated," Mr. Kelly said.

Peter Lesaux, assistant deputy minister of the department of Indian and northern affairs, said steps are being taken to solve the problem but "it can't be corrected overnight."

Take No Stand

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — A special meeting of town council has decided to take no formal position on the book, Bended Elbow, an account of Indian drunkenness and misbehavior written by a local resident.

A citizens' committee had asked town council to disassociate itself formally from the book, but councillors attending the Tuesday night special meeting decided against making any such declaration.

Prices Will Rise

DETROIT (AP) — The vice-chairman of General Motors said Wednesday that United States price increases on 1976 model cars are inevitable because of continued cost pressures facing the company.

"We can't avoid an increase," said Oscar Lundin, who refused to say how much GM car prices might go up.

More Layoffs

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. announced Wednesday it will lay off another 800 workers for one or two weeks starting Monday.

Tax Deadline

OTTAWA (CP) — The deadline for Quebec residents to file federal income tax returns was extended to May 19 because of postal disruptions, but the April 30 deadline remained unchanged for all other provinces, Revenue Minister Ron Basford said Wednesday.

Plane Crashes

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Two men and a woman are missing following the crash of a single-engine aircraft into Lake St. Clair north of Belle River Wednesday night.

A spokesman for the United States Coast Guard said a survivor of the crash was picked up off the water 30 minutes after the crash which witnesses said occurred after the plane had been performing stunts.

The spokesman said the survivor identified herself as Michelle Smith, 20, and told the coast guard she was in the aircraft with her sister Jennifer, 17, and two men whom she did not identify.

Go to Moscow

OTTAWA (CP) — Five Royal Canadian Legion officials left Wednesday for a 10-day visit to the Soviet Union at the invitation of the Soviet Veterans Association to participate in ceremonies marking the 30th anniversary of VE Day. Included in the group are Robert McCheane, Kirkland Lake, Ont., national president; Doug McDonald, Brantford, Ont., first vice president; Ed Coler, Calgary, vice-president; Ray Tuddin, Toronto, vice-president; and Jean Lamy, Ottawa, national secretary.

Hockey Player Is Charged With Assault During Game

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Provincial Court Judge Norman Edmondson reserved judgment Wednesday for three weeks in the case of an Ajax, Ont., bantam hockey player charged with assault causing bodily harm.

Judge Edmondson, who cited the "somewhat novel" nature of the case and its "far-reaching" implications, will deliver his verdict May 21 in nearby Oshawa provincial court.

Defence witnesses were called Wednesday and the judge heard summations from lawyers in the second day of the trial of Robert Watson, 15.

Watson, a defenceman with the Ajax juvenile all-stars, is charged with assaulting David Lundrigan, 15, a forward with the Bay Ridges juvenile all-stars during a Lakeshore Minor Hockey League game here last Nov. 1.

Lundrigan allegedly was choked unconscious during the incident.

Witnesses testified that the two players were jostling in the area in front of the Ajax net shortly before the incident.

Watson claimed he was slashed by Lundrigan. He said he then dropped his gloves and stick and chased Lundrigan, reaching him near the Ajax blueline, where he grappled him to the ice in a headlock.

Watson told the court Lundrigan had dropped his stick and gloves as he approached. He said he assumed Lundrigan was prepared to fight at that point.

Watson, given a six-game suspension following the incident because he incurred numerous penalties, said he did not intend to hurt the Bay Ridges player.

Mr. Howell said that "this is not a fight."

"It is an attack. This is no more a fight than a situation where a person who's mugged on the street and protects himself can be said to be in a fight."

Mr. Howell said while contestants in a hockey match consent to a degree to violence and bodily contact, retaliation often violence beyond acceptable levels.

Defence lawyer T. V. Kelly said Watson reacted "impulsively" to what he called a "vicious blow."

Mr. Kelly argued that by providing minimal sanctions against violence hockey is the only sport to tolerate fighting.

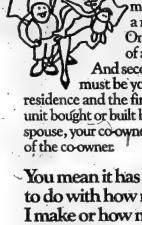
The 10 most asked questions about the new $1,500 Ontario Home Buyers Grant.



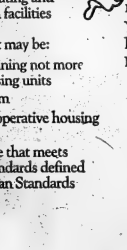
What does it take to be eligible for this new Grant?

Very simply, you must first be a resident of Ontario, 18 years of age or older.

And second, the home must be your principal residence and the first housing unit bought or built by you, your spouse, your co-owner or the spouse of the co-owner.

You mean it has nothing to do with how much I make or how much the house costs?

That's right. There are no income restrictions, nor are there any restrictions on the price of the housing unit, as long as the purchase price is equal to the fair market value. As well, the grant applies to new and older homes alike.



What do you mean by "housing unit"?

A housing unit is defined as a unit suitable for permanent habitation that provides living, sleeping, eating and food preparation facilities for one family.

The housing unit may be:

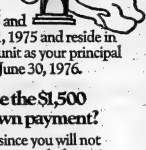
a) a house containing not more than two housing units

b) a condominium

c) a unit of a co-operative housing corporation

d) a mobile home that meets prescribed standards defined by the Canadian Standards Association.

I've been thinking of buying a home but I haven't done anything definite yet. Is there any time limit?



Yes. You must complete the purchase of the housing unit between April 8, 1975 and December 31, 1975 and reside in this housing unit as your principal residence by June 30, 1976.

Can we use the $1,500 for our down payment?

Not directly, since you will not receive the grant until after you own and reside in your housing unit.

How do I apply for the $1,500 Grant?

To apply, you must file an application with the Ministry of Revenue. You will be mailed the initial $1,000 cheque after your application is approved. If you continue to live in the house you will receive, upon reapplication, an additional cheque for $250 in each of the next two years on the anniversary date of your qualification for the initial grant. In all $1,500.

When should I file my application?

You should file it after you own the housing unit and reside in it as your principal residence.

Ontario

William Davis
Premier

W. Darcy McKeough
Treasurer of Ontario

Arthur Meen
Minister of Revenue

If we qualify for the Ontario Home Buyers Grant, will we still be eligible for other housing grants?

Yes. This is a new grant from the Province of Ontario and does not affect participation in other programs.

How do I get the application form?

You can get applications by writing:
Ministry of Revenue
Ontario Home Buyers Grant
Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario M7A 2C9
Also application forms have been made available through many realty offices and trust companies.

Just one more thing—how can I get more information about all of this, if I need it?

You can phone us, free of charge, by dialing "0" and asking the operator for Zenith 8-2000. Residents within Metro Toronto local calling area should dial 965-8470. Phone lines are open from 8:30 8 weekdays, and from noon until 5 on Saturday.

Ontario understands how important it is to have a home of your own. And we'd like to help out with a grant of $1,500 towards your first home. It's part of an overall plan to make more homes available in Ontario. And stimulate our economy. So it's good for all of us.

Services Big Budget Item

By HARRY HULHALL
Staff Reporter

Social services will consume more than half the gross funds needed to operate Hastings County in 1975.

The cost of such services ranging from welfare to family aid and homes for the aged — accounts for $4,108,800 of the $7,988,000 budget approved by council Tuesday.

The budget also brings a 41-per-cent increase in the county levy — the actual charge to local taxpayers after all revenues are in — including costs shared by Belleville and Trenton.

It was the most dramatically-demanding budget in county history, ending the happy time for county levy payers — who have gone without an increase since 1971.

In fact, that was one consolation suggested by Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator, as councillors accepted what seemed inevitable: If viewed over a five-year span, the budget bulge "becomes much more acceptable."

The total budget was up 22 per cent from 1974's expenditures of $5.9 million.

Hefty provincial road subsidies demanding local spending was a major budget booster.

And contributing to the increased levy was a $128,000 department error in road estimates.

The levy is the amount required by county government after senior governments' grants and other revenue — needed to balance the budget. It's collected by varying tax charges on the county's 37 townships and villages.

The levy this year is up to $1,422,000 — an increase of $415,400.

Carl Bateman, county clerk-administrator said the mistake happened in the office of Frank Finder, county engineer. It was caused by staff shortage due to illness and the fact several account vouchers had not been processed when the roads department was computing how much it had left to work with in late 1974.

The county, shows its auditor's report, finished the year with a deficit of $23,000.

The deficit is offset on audit

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 36-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today.

Wednesday, April 30, 19:10 a.m. — fire in back seat of car at Bob's Body Shop at 151 Cedar St., started during welding. Estimated loss: $100.

Wednesday, April 30, 4:19 p.m. — fire in pile of paper in box outside shed at St. Catharine St., cause unknown, no damage.

Thurlow Only Township To Escape Budget Hike

Thurlow Township is the only one of Hastings County's 37 municipalities that pays less in the 1975 county levy — and for a negative reason.

Thurlow has lost a major slice of assessment.

The levy is the amount needed by county government to finance its operations after all major government grants and expenditures are received.

The levy this year is $1,422,000, up $415,400, and is charged in varying amounts against the ability of member municipalities to pay.

This year Thurlow's share is $203,278 — down $1,214.

But the saving represents a loss of $1 million in assessment to the township by the shutdown of the Canada Cement —Lafarge plant at Point Anne, said Reeve Horace Casey.

Next year even more assessment will be lost when the company's building are totally demolished, he said.

The reeve said he'd sooner have the big assessment than the marginal amount saved on the county levy.

Changes to other municipalities — following Wednesday's approval of the $7.98 million county budget — with increases in brackets are:

Township, Sidney, $380,986 ($125,779); Tyendinaga, $66,186 ($28,702); Tudor-Cashel, $7,200 ($1,105); Wellesley, $7,521 ($881); Bangor-Wicklow - McClure, $14,525 ($2,702); Carlow, $4,402 ($858); Dungannon, $7,277 ($998); Elzivir-Grimesthorpe, $18,743 ($6,088); Faraday, $14,218 ($3,618); Herschel, $10,005 ($859); Hungerford, $19,450 ($23,194); Huntingdon, $40,300 ($18,698); Limerick, $7,000 ($498); Madoc, $42,102 ($12,757); Marmora-Lake, $53,147 ($20,360); Mayo, $3,700 ($493); Monteagle, $8,453 ($1,178); Rawdon, $20,208 ($24,363); Towns and Villages — Deseronto, $61,341 ($22,813); Bancroft, $39,434 ($7,363); Tweed, $4,864 ($4,041); Frankford, $46,575 ($13,815); Madoc, $47,187 ($19,558); Marmora, $28,838 ($26,618); Stirling, $30,884 ($4,813); Trenton, $48,800 ($27,755).

Keeping Pace

County educator Dave Smith keeps the momentum going in the Wednesday night opening of the Belleville Theatre Guild's presentation of the Music Man. Staged in Belleville Collegiate, the play sports a cast of 44 . . . the majority of which are children. The musical comedy continues Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings with curtain at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Author Corrects Some Loyalist Inaccuracies

Mary Fryer of Toronto, author of The Loyalist Spy and other books, corrected several inaccuracy impressions that many people have about the United Empire Loyalists before a recent gathering of the Hastings County Historical Society at the Hastings County Museum.

She emphasized not all Loyalists left the United States after the end of the American Revolution. She pointed out many of them had been living in Canada for as many as seven years during the war.

Mrs. Fryer said these people had been living in the Mohawk area — the women and children residing in refugee camps while their menfolk served in various provincial regiments, which were given the auxiliary work to do and were often scorned by the British regulars.

She said one of their jobs was espionage, which involved the carrying of secret messages, the kidnapping of prominent rebels, etc.

She stressed the work being done by such men as James Sherwood, who rescued a great many Loyalists from the hands of the rebels, Joseph Bettsy, who bribed himself out of a number of situations until he was finally hanged and John W. Meyers, later regarded as a founder of Belleville.

Kiwanians Gather

Fellowship was the name of the game and it was played by close to 200 Kiwanis Club members at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 99 hall here Wednesday as Belleville and Picton Kiwanians were hosts for an annual celebration in honor of D.K. — Canada Goodwill Week.

A total of 24 clubs were represented — 13 from Eastern Ontario and 11 from New York State. It was the first time Belleville has hosted the annual event which rotates alternates on either side of the border each year.

Ontario was represented by three Peterborough clubs, two from Oshawa, Belleville, Kingston, Madoc, Picton, Tweed, Trenton, Cobourg and Cornwall.

From New York were Baldwinsville, Solvay-Geddes, Auburn (the Auburnian Noon Club), Oswego, Fulton, Black River, Syracuse, North Syracuse, Hannibal, Lake Delta and Watertown.

Speaking for the city of Belleville, Ald. Brian Knudsen commended the Kiwanis Club comprised "the greatest community-minded group on both sides of the border".

Energy Expert Stresses Need for Home Insulation

A director of Ontario Hydro's crown corporation has called for "mandatory" requirements in the National Building Code" in the area of increased insulation and installation of heat pumps in new buildings as one means to solving the energy crisis.

Dr. R. H. Hay, a member of Kingston's public utilities commission, told an international gathering of Kiwanis Club members here Wednesday: "We must improve by the utmost the efficiency of the use . . . and conversion of energy."

"We have to learn to make do with what we have," commented Dr. Hay, a former member of the provincial advisory committee which studied Ontario's energy situation.

He pointed out an improvement in efficiency of electrical appliances by just five per cent would greatly reduce the rapid consumption of energy now being witnessed — a demand he noted is compounded by growing world needs.

Weale is also evident in the use of imported fuel oil boilers in the thermo-generation of nuclear energy, said Dr. Hay, when natural gas and crude oil instead of residual oil.

"This low grade use of high grade fuel has got to be stopped," he commented.

The pinch on gas is here right now" said Dr. Hay. He related that two years ago, Kingston was forced to buy an extra load of natural gas to meet its needs and then last year, Trans-Canada Pipeline officials told that only its supply would have to be cut by one-quarter.

Dr. Hay also said that within 12 months, the provincial government will pass legislation regulating the thermal efficiency of up to 20 different classes of consumers.

Board Budget Released Friday

The Hastings County Board of Educat ion will make public the details of its new 1975 budget Friday. It is expected that the budget will top the $30 million this year.

The board has set the budget date has set the time its priorities. Last year budget was struck at $26.5 million.

Nuclear Power Canada's Saving Grace: Official

Nuclear energy is the present salvation of the energy crisis in view of the rising cost of natural gas and oil and society will have to cope with the ever-rising environmental hazards, says Dr. R. H. Hay, of the public utilities commission in Kingston.

Speaking to an international meeting of Kiwanis Club members here Wednesday at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 99 hall, Dr. Hay said that technological environmental problems are associated with the use of nuclear energy.

But he emphasized the problems can be cleared with "foresight, good compression and trade-offs".

Dr. Hay, a director of Ontario Hydro's crown corporation, said there should be strict protection of uranium and thorium resources in Canada.

He pointed out by 1980, 69 percent of the energy generated in Ontario will be nuclear energy.

Rowboat Immigrant

Car Wash Saturday

A Grade 12 class at Quinte Secondary School will be holding a car wash Saturday, May 3 in the rear parking lot of the high school. The proceeds of the car wash will be used to help finance a trip for the students to New York City May 9, 10 and 11.

Celsius Change Drives Some to U.S. Radio

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Some are still rejecting it. Some are still ignoring it. But by and large most Quinte area residents are beginning to warm up to the Fahrenheit to Celsius change a month ago today.

Dave Sovereign, news director for Radio CJBQ, said the number of complaints from listeners protesting the change has substantially decreased He said during the first two weeks of April the radio station received many calls unfavorable to the broadcasting of the temperatures in Celsius reading.

Mr. Sovereign also said he heard reports that many of Belleville's senior citizens listened to American radio stations during the first week of April to get Fahrenheit readings. He said this took place despite the fact that temperatures on each side of Lake Ontario can vary. Radio CJBQ has been broadcasting temperatures entirely in Celsius since April 1.

Spokesmen from several hardware stores in Belleville said the demand for celsius thermometers is still high but that delivery from the manufacturers has been slow. Some said they expect a good supply of Celsius thermometers soon.

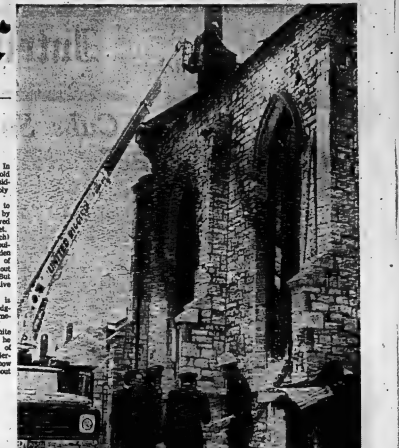
A spokesman from the Hastings County Board of Education said there has been difficulty for the students in adapting to the new scale because students had already been exposed to Celsius readings in their curriculum.

He also said schools throughout Hastings County are sponsoring workshops for teachers on the metric system which also includes work in the Celsius temperature scale.

The spokesman said the response has been good to date.

When asked about the change a young Belleville resident replied "who cares now that the warm weather is here — it's nice in either scale."

City Council Monday night rejected a bid by Alderman Stu Meeks to take a "grass-roots stand" against the county regional government plan. The vote was 9 to 5 against a move to protest the conversion plan.



Inspecting Damage

Fire officials focused their attention on an outside basement door leading into St. Thomas' Anglican Church which was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning while a United Rigging workman inspected the walls for safety (above). From left, in uniform, are Paul Stevenson and Reg Christopher, Belleville fire department inspectors and Paul McKerracher of the Ontario Fire Marshall's office.

Age Takes Its Toll

The cost of running an organization like the Hightlands of Hastings Tourist Association could climb as age takes its toll of volunteer workers, Hastings County council was told Wednesday.

The caution came from Vern McMurray, Grimsby fire-fighter vice-president of the association. Mr. McMurray a voluntary worker, said administration now eats only 20 per cent of the group's revenues.

In other areas where there are full or part-time workers of tourist associations, administration runs as high as 60 per cent.

The inevitable effect he said, will be less funds available for the association's prime function — promotion, on which it spent $15,000 last year.

Investigation of Church Fire Still Continuing

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Officials investigating the cause of a fire which destroyed the 108-year-old St. Thomas Anglican Church here early Wednesday morning expect the worst, a Belleville insurance adjuster said today.

Gerry Brennan of Brennan and McBride Insurance Adjusters Ltd. said in an interview, "we do expect the worst. But at the moment we can't confirm the worst. Let us say it is an unusual fire."

Mr. Brennan said it will be impossible to use any of the stone, structure on which to build a new church.

"The walls are not safe to build upon," he said. "The report of our engineer is: down she comes."

Mr. Brennan emphasized the walls and towers are in danger of collapse. A snow fence was installed around the shaky structure Wednesday.

He said if the walls come down, they will not fall to the perimeter of the fence and the tower, because of its lean, will fall eastward into the gutted church.

However, "we're going to have to do something about the tower," he added.

Mr. Brennan said Dr. Richard Potter, MPP Quinte, had pointed out "there are grants available to rebuild."

St. Thomas Anglican Church was erected on the site of its predecessor which was partially destroyed by fire on Feb. 26, 1876, according to church records.

The existing church was rebuilt using the remaining walls of that first church. But history will not repeat itself, remarked Mr. Brennan.

Cancer Worker Honored At Special Dinner

At a special dinner at the Four Seasons Hotel Wednesday, Chris Logan, longtime volunteer worker with the Canadian Cancer Society in the Quinte area, was honored on her retirement as Service to Patients chairman.

Mrs. Logan had been active with the Cancer Society since it was established in the city more than 30 years ago and for the last 13 years was chairman of the group that looked after patients' needs.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Helen Collins of Kawartha Lakes, Ontario Division activity program chairman. Special guest was Margaret Shirff, Toronto, chairman of service to patients for the province.

Mrs. Logan was presented with a gift from the society by Shirley Woodcox, president of the Belleville district branch of the Canadian Cancer Society.

New Gym Sought

BLOOMFIELD — Ratepayers of South Marysburg Township have requested the Prince Edward County Board of Education to consider enlargement of the gymnasium at South Marysburg School.

Trustees Monday heard a letter from Diane Walker, secretary of the Parents' School Association, explaining the need for a bigger gym.

The Big Budget

Hastings County Warden William McCrum and Reeve James Pollock, of Rawdon Township, county finance chairman ponder 1975 budget that had jarring news for county council Wednesday. After four years without major hikes, the budget spiralled from $5.6 million to $7.56 million.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton pitched a six-hitter for his first National League baseball win of the season while Dave Cash cored one run and drove in the other Wednesday night to help the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 win over Montreal Expos.

Carlton, 1-0, struck out seven, walked three and lost his shutout when Barry Foote led off the eighth inning with his first home run of the season.

Cash, who had four singles, led off the first with a hit to right, Steve Rogers, 0-1, hit Mike Schmidt with a pitch and Greg Luzinski fined a run-scoring single to left.

The Phillies made it 2-0 in the seventh when Mike Anderson walked, took second on a single by Carlton and scored on Cash's fourth hit.

The Phillies got a one-out single from Cash in the third but he was forced by Luzinski and Schmidt flied out. In the fourth, Jay Johnstone doubled to right with two out and Bob Boone walked. Rogers, however, fanned Anderson to end the threat.

Meanwhile, Montreal was having its problems with Carlton. Pepe Mangual walked to open the game but was erased in a double play. Ron Hunt walked to start the second, stole second and continued to third when Boone threw the ball into centre field. He never moved as Carlton retired the next three batters.

Cash reaped his third single to start the Phillies' fifth but again was forced by Boone. Schmidt flied out to end the inning.

Cubs Snap Mets' Streak at 7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — After Lee Cardenal broke his favorite bat, he said by bat the crying.

But that didn't stop Cardenal from hitting singles, leading Chicago Cubs to a 7-4 victory over New York and ending the Mets' seven-game winning streak.

Cardenal started a five-run first inning with a bad first and three singles. Then after losing his bat in the process, Cardenal got a new one and knocked out pitcher Jon Matlack with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

In the other National League games, Cincinnati Reds beat San Francisco Giants 5-1, Philadelphia Phillies beat Montreal Expos 2-1, Pittsburgh Pirates defeated St. Louis Cardinals 5-3, San Diego Padres beat Houston Astros 4-3 and Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Atlanta Braves 2-1.

Chicago starter Ray Burris, 2-0, was the beneficiary of the Cub assault on Matlack, 3-2, but had to leave the game after five innings when he was hit on his pitching hand by a batted ball. Rick Monday's three-run shot in the season followed Cardenal's single, and Jose Cardenal and Manny Trillo's double chased two more runs across the plate. Burris singled in the final run of the first inning.

JOSE CARDENAL

Cardenal's two-run single in the fourth not only knocked Matlack out of the game but provided the Cubs with their final runs.

The Mets scored in the first on a double by Joe Torre and a single by Rusty Staub and Felix Millan, who scored when John Stearns hit his first major league home run. They added another in the fifth on a single by Harrelson, a walk and a run-scoring single by Felix Millan, and got their final run in the seventh on Staub's RBI single.

Ken Griffey hit a two-run triple and Tony Perez added a two-run homer, leading Cincinnati over San Francisco. John Bench's leadoff walk and Cesar Geronimo's one-out single preceded Griffey's triple, giving the Reds a 2-0 lead in the second off loser Jim Barr, 1-3.

Home runs by Willie Stargell and Richie Zisk backed five-hit pitching by Jerry Reuss and led Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Losing pitcher Bob Gibson fell to a 3-3 with the loss, the seventh in eight games for the spiraling Cardinals.

Two-out doubles by John Grubb and Dave Winfield in the fifth inning produced three runs and led San Diego to a come-from-behind victory over Houston. Winner Randy Siebert walked, Enos Hernandez singled and Bobby Tolan drove in Siebert to tie the game at 1-1. Then Grubb doubled Tomlin in from starter Larry Dierker.

Lee Lacy hit three singles and drove in a pair of runs, leading a 10-hit Los Angeles attack, as the Dodgers defeated Atlanta for their seventh straight victory. Doug Rau went the distance for the Dodgers, scattering seven hits for his third victory in four decisions.

Strikeouts Are Okay But Perry Enjoys Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Going from 18th to 14th place on baseball's all-time strikeout list didn't really thrill Cleveland's Gaylord Perry. Winning made him happier was going from 3-2 to 4-2.

"Strikeouts are nice when you need them, but the big thing is winning," Perry said Wednesday after posting his fourth victory in six decisions in the Indians' 8-1 win over Boston Red Sox.

He struck out nine Boston batters. That gave him 2,337 career strikeouts and moved him past early Wynn's 2,334.

In other American League baseball action, New York Yankees beat Baltimore Orioles 5-4, Texas Rangers defeated Chicago White Sox 8-2, Milwaukee Brewers beat Detroit Tigers 6-2 and California Angels beat Kansas City Royals 5-4.

Perry, notching the 302nd victory of his career, go t help from Boog Powell with a two-run homer in the fifth inning and two more with his fourth

Mr. Bowling 24 Years Old

SLICES — Bill Bateman, proprietor of Belleville Bowl-O-Drome, describes the annual Mr. Bowling Tournament at his establishment as the "widest, continuous five-pin bowling tournament in Canada".

The 24th edition goes at the Front St. lanes, Sunday.

And it appears the event will attract an all-time high for entries. Already, the entry list has topped the 98 mark.

"I expect we'll have well over 98 bowlers taking part in the two-shift competition," advises Bateman.

First shift bowlers hit the lanes at 10 a.m. with the second section expected to start at 4 p.m.

By Mrs. Richard Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Mrs. Richard Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Use Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

Habs Need Action Not Just Words

MONTREAL (CP) — There is an old saying that talk is cheap and Montreal Canadiens have been doing a lot of talking since returning from Buffalo where they dropped the first two games of their Stanley Cup best-of-seven semi-final against the Sabres.

Most of what has been said since Montreal dropped a 4-1 decision in Tuesday's second game concerns the Habs' lack of ability to play better in the series. And coach Scotty Bowman is confident the club will come forth with a solid effort in tonight's third game.

"Our edge has got to come from people like (Steve) Shutt, Yvon Cournoyer and Peter Mahovlich.

"I think the youngsters (Doug Jarbrough and Mario Tremblay) will continue to work. We've got to get a better edge, I think we will."

Most of the Montreal players are certain they can come up with a good effort on their home ice against the Sabres, whom they have not lost in five seven games, including playoffs, this season.

Team captain Henri Richard, who returned to action last Sunday in the series opener, noted the Canadiens have come back in past Stanley Cup series.

"I can remember when we lost the first two games of a final against Detroit in Montreal and then won the next four games. We are going to find it tough, but no matter what happens we are going to have to win in Buffalo. I think we can."

But if Montreal is going to win, they are going to have to be careful.

Two of Buffalo's goals Tuesday night came with the scorers left alone in front of Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden. The other resulted from a Montreal defenceman leaving the puck to a Buffalo forechecker behind the net.

Bowman plans to go with the same lines he used in Tuesday's game, which means Jacques Lemaire will play with Larry Lucier and Bob Gainey and Mahovlich will be alongside Shutt and Cournoyer.

Bowman plans to go with six defencemen, which means John Roberts will see some action.

Bowman plans to have the Lemaire line check the French Connection trio of Richard Martin, Rene Robert and Gerry Percreault. But the Montreal coach said his use is a quandary as to which line he would use to check Don Luce, Craig Ramsay and Don Gare, who scored three of Buffalo's four goals Tuesday.

"It doesn't matter who plays against them. They're going to have to work like hell, because they have the best (Jim Lorentz) are going to work like hell.

"Nobody's hanging their heads, there's nothing to make them feel that way. We came up with a solid performance."

Buffalo team captain Jim Schoenfeld said the Buffalo Sabres would have a tougher time winning here.

"If we can do it(AGOOD I, the Sabres think they could duplicate their quarter-final effort against Chicago by winning two of the next three and returning home with a 3-1 lead in the series.

"If we can do that, I'll be really happy."

Tonight's game will be carried on the CBC television network starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

anything except the sixth game," said Neale. "Quebec can think about Sunday night if they want to...we can't."

Quebec coach Jean-Guy Gendron, happy with the Nordiques' 6-3 fifth-game victory Tuesday, remains cautious about a possible letdown.

"We still have one to win," said Gendron. "We have to keep playing well."

If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played Sunday night in Quebec.

Neale says he's not worried about Quebec getting the so-called home ice advantage in that game. "For all the difference home ice makes," said Neale, "the seventh game could be played on the highway."

"The home ice won't mean much in a game that big," he said.

The Quebec-Minnesota winner will meet either Houston or San Diego in the final.

Houston holds a 3-0 advantage over San Diego with the fourth and possibly final game scheduled for tonight in Houston.

Doesn't Believe In Fighting

Shero Depends on System

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was a strange statement for the coach of the toughest club in hockey, but then Fred Shero rarely says the expected.

"I don't believe in fighting," said Shero, coach of Philadelphia Flyers, sometimes referred to as the Broad Street Bullies.

Shero's Flyers took 1,989 penalty minutes during the regular season, a National Hockey League record.

Shero dropped the remark when a reporter suggested that New York Islanders were looking for a fight at the end of their 4-0 loss to the Flyers in Tuesday night's first game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

"Yeh, it looked that way," Shero said.

"Do you ever send a guy out with instructions to fight?" Shero was asked.

"I don't believe in that," Shero began. "If it doesn't come as a natural consequence of the game, it's not right."

Shero paused, then added:: "You know, that's how I lost my job in the big leagues (as a player). I wouldn't fight."

"When a team is spoiling for a fight, what do you do?" Shero was asked.

"We send out the right individuals," the coach said. "But I don't tell them to fight."

Talk hockey with Shero and you talk about the system. He has instructions on what he wants them to do, and believes if they execute the system properly they'll win, or at least give a good account of themselves.

Shero isn't dismissing the Islanders, even though Philadelphia won with all-star goalie Bernie Parent watching with a bandage lightly wrapped around his right knee. Wayne Stephenson replaced Parent and stopped 21 shots for a shutout.

"Anybody is a threat, especially if we get complacent in our system," Shero said. "The way they played against Pittsburgh, with discipline and determination, they can not only beat us, but Montreal or Buffalo. Our players have to remember that sometimes to win in series you have to take a punch in the mouth and not retaliate."

The Flyers again will go with Stephenson in tonight's crucial game. Parent rested Wednesday and started Dempsey today, team physician Dr. John Weiskopf said. Wolf said that Parent can stretch the knee, which would indicate there was no tendon damage. The doctor thinks it's a severe bone bruise on the inside of the right knee.

Islanders' coach Al Arbour feels his team has to score the first goal if it hopes to stay with the Flyers. The Islanders don't have the big scorers, so are at a disadvantage in games where they have to come from behind.

"If we're going to win we're going to have to play our very best game in every phase," Arbour said. "We're playing the best team in hockey."

Marlies Capture Robertson Cup

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros, with an all-out team effort, won the Robertson Cup, symbolic of Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A supremacy, defeating Hamilton Fincups 4-3 Wednesday before 4,361 fans.

Toronto won the eight-point final series 4-2.

Lynn Jorgenson led the Marlboros with two goals. Mike Kitchen, Mike McEwen, Mark Murphy, Bernie Johnston, Ken Wilson and John Sneyka got single goals.

Hamilton never got untracked as the Marlboros constantly forechecked, causing Hamilton forwards to cough up the puck in their own end.

When the Fincups did break away, a tight Marlboros defence, playing its best game of the series, was on hand to retrieve the puck and clear it to the attackers.

Gary Carr was outstanding in the nets for Toronto, even though Hamilton was outshot 40-26. With help from his defence, Hamilton outshooter Greg Redquist might have been able to keep the game closer. But he was called upon too many times to stand alone.

All seven games of the series were rough and this was no exception as Hamilton drew nine of the 16 penalties, including a 5-minute major to Ron Reecce at 7:18 of the second period.

He got it for a fight which led to a brawl in the penalty box with some spectators, causing the Hamilton bench to clear with a few players climbing the boards and glass to help their team-mates.

Toronto will represent the OHA in the Memorial Cup round-robin playoffs starting Saturday in Kitchener.

Swig Makes Pitch

CHICAGO (AP) — San Francisco businessman Melvin Swig made an offer Wednesday to purchase California Seals of the National Hockey League.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said that Swig "made a very impressive presentation and that I personally feel we will not need more than 30 days to finalize the purchase agreement."

The league took over the financially-troubled Seals from Charles Finley, owner of Oakland A's of baseball's American League, and operated the club for the 1974-75 season.

Swig made his offer with the understanding that conditions regarding the sale will be met not later than May 30. No terms regarding the sale were announced.

Swig said that he "and the group representing all of the Bay City area, made the offer in good faith and we believe that the Bay area will support the club."

Swig was at one time president and part owner of San Francisco Seals in the old Western League, and operated the club from 1946-50.

Beavers Bring Big Shooters To Cup Final

MONTREAL (CP) — Sherbrooke Beavers, carrying eight players who reached the 20-goal level in Quebec Major Junior Hockey League action this season, leave for Kitchener, Ont., today and Saturday's opening game of the national junior championship—the Memorial Cup.

But before the opposition gets the idea the Beavers are a one-way hockey club, general manager George Gelinault hastened to point out in a telephone interview Wednesday from Sherbrooke that the club also has the league's top goaltender in Nick Sanza and what he considers the top defence corps in the circuit.

Guilbault said if Sherbrooke plays as well against the Western Canada Hockey League champions and the Ontario Hockey Association titlists as it did in the Quebec playoffs, it will give a good account of itself in the three-way national playoff.

"It's going to be a tough series, but if they play the way they did against the Russians and all through the playoffs, they'll be all right," Guilbault said.

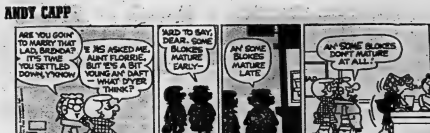
The general manager was referring to the fact the Beavers shut out the Soviet Union's national junior team 7-0 in an exhibition game at Sherbrooke earlier this season, then rolled over Hull Festivals and Chicoutimi Sagueneens in the quarter-final and semi-final series of league playoffs, handling each in four straight games.

The Beavers' only loss in the playoffs came in the final series, when they dropped the fourth game of the best-of-seven set 11-10 to Laval Nationals but rebounded to win the title with an 8-6 win in the fifth game.

During 72 regular-season games the Beavers won 51, lost 14 and tied seven to win the over-all title in the two-division QMJHL. Of 36 at-home games at home, the Beavers lost only two.

During the interview Guilbault still did not know who the Western and Ontario representatives would be at Kitchener. But he said this did not prevent his club from making preparations.

ANDY CAPP



It's a First for Thunder Bay Twins

THUNDER BAY (CP) — For the first time in four attempts, Thunder Bay Twins open the best-of-seven Allan Cup hockey final Friday against the defending champion Barrie Flyers.

The Twins have tried to make the national senior final on three other occasions but each case, they had to compete in the Eastern playoffs and lost.

This season they were thrown into the Western playoffs where they finally qualified for the final series.

The Twins made the national final this year by defeating St. Boniface Mohawks in four games in a best-of-five series, then polished off Kamloops Elks in straight games in the best-of-five Western final.

The Twins lost in straight games to the Ontario Hockey Association champion Barrie club in the Eastern final last year, but they don't go down easily. Two games of the best-of-five series were decided by 2-1 scores and one of those was in overtime.

Dave Siciliano, a playing coach, has replaced former National Hockey League player Lee Popolin at the helm of the Twins. His opinion is that this year's club is stronger defensively and as strong, or perhaps a shade stronger, in goal.

The Twins are, basically the same on the forward lines with one key addition. He is Russ Elliott, a big right winger who has led the scoring in playoff action.

Elliott, a six-foot, 190-pounder, played for the CIAU champion University of Waterloo Warriors last year - and spent the first half of this season with Fort Huron of the International Hockey League.

He lines up with centre Brian Depiero and left winger Dave Bragnalo to form what has been Thunder Bay's most effective line. Depiero was the top scorer in regular season play with 31 goals and 61 assists in 48 games. Bragnalo had 73 points in 61 games.

Elliott played only 11 league games and scored 11 goals and 17 assists. He has since continued his pace of at least a goal a game.

Jack Byerley centres Chuck Kelner and Barry Hogan on another line while Tom Deacon has wingers Murray McLeod and Gary Lissaint on a third. Billy McDonald and Siciliano, who plays only when needed, are extra forwards.

Leading the defensive unit is Murray Wing who played last year with London Lions after professional action with Boston Braves of the American Hockey League and San Diego Gulls of the Western League.

Brian Vanch has rejoined the Twins after an absence of three years while playing in the east and Jack Davies is up from junior ranks and spent ten days last fall at Toronto Toros' training camp.

Barry Vaillant has been dropped back off left wing and has probably been the steadiest blueliner to date in the playoffs. Veteran Jack Overbar is the fifth defenceman.

The Twins goalie is Ricky Menard, 21, who played the last three seasons with Gloucester Mavericks of the Central Junior Hockey League.

Broadway Joe – A Free Agent

Now the Bidding War Can Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath officially became a free agent today, opening the door to a bidding war for his services.

The World Football League is backstopping him with a $4-million offer, providing long-range secret city benefits. New York Jets, the National Football League team he helped into a $16 million franchise over a five-year period, is playing it close to the vest.

If Namath jumps to the new circuit, it will be because he is attached. He is not anxious to undertake new responsibilities in a new league and i s now suspending—no matter how much the money.

Broadway Joe is ready to talk with the Jets if they make an offer commensurate with what he regards as his value to the team and the established NFL.

Some say the Jets are offering him the same $250,000 a year rebut collected for the last three years.

In Memphis, Chris Ellenstein, president of the WFL, said he planned to confer with Walsh this weekend on a proposal that would give Namath a $500,000 bonus, $500,000 a year for three years and an annuity of $100,000 a y ear for 20 years.

Under the contract, Namath would go to the Chicago franchise for the first year and move to New York in 1976 with the re-opening of Yankee Stadium and a New York entry in the WFL.

Bullets' Hayes Destroys Celtics

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball is a game of inspect, and Boston Celtics apparently are thinking too much—mostly about how to stop Elvin Hayes of Washington Bullets.

But Hayes goes right on scoring. Boston's defending National Basketball Association champions got more confused, and the Bullets have moved ahead 3-0 in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference finals.

Hayes scored 29 points Wednesday night, giving him 63 for the two games, rolled down 18 rebounds and blocked five shots while leading the Bullets to a surprising 117-92 runaway.

The series resumes Saturday afternoon in Boston, with the eventual winner advancing to the NBA title round against either Golden State Warriors or Chicago Bullets. The Western Conference finalists are tied 1-1 following Chicago's 98-88 victory Wednesday night.

In the American Basketball Association, Denver beat Indiana 104-98 to tie their Western Division series 3-3.

"He's just shooting over our guys," Boston coach Tom Heinsohn said of Hayes. "It's difficult covering him. We've tried doubling him, but that takes us out of our normal defense."

"We're thinking too much about our defense instead of just doing our thing," said Boston's John Havlicek, who scored only 11 points while hitting but four of 14 field goal attempts.

With their successful break effectively shut off, partly because of Washington's 59 per cent shooting average, the Celtics hit only 37 per cent from the floor.

"We played well defensively," said Washington coach K.C. Jones. "But when the Celtics shoot 37 per cent, you've got to be happy."

The Bullets opened up a 31-30 lead in the quarter and led by at least seven points the rest of the way. Phil Chenier, who played only 37 minutes before fouling out, had 25 points for Washington and Wes Unseld grabbed 16 rebounds.

The Bulls called time out and, after a quick out-of-bounds pass, Norm Van Lier passed to Boerwinkle under the basket for his easy layup.

Until the dramatic finish, the Warriors seemed to be in control of a game in which the lead changed 12 times and the score was tied 12 times.

The Bulls, led by Chet Walker's game-high 27 points, were in front at halftime 45-40 but never re ahead after Golden State went in front at 63-61 late in the third quarter until Boerwinkle's game decid- ing layup.

Contracts Not Signed Says King's Spokesman

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (CP) — Muhammad Ali, the globe-girdling world heavyweight champion, and Joe Bugner, the European and British champion, have signed for a title fight at Merdeka Stadium here June 30, a Malaysian official says.

The scheduled 15-round bout, for which Ali would reco ive $2.5 million and Bugner $500,000, was announced Wednesday by Harun Idris, Selangor's state chief minister and president of the youth wing of the ruling United Malays National Organization.

However, Andy Smith, Bugner's manager, and a spokesman for promoter Dan Ring denied that contracts had been signed.

"This is just not true," Smith said in London. "There are many possibilities. We are at the talking about the fight.

Smith said it was pointless to make final arrangements until after Ali defended his title against Ron Lyle on May 16 in Las Vegas.

In New York, a spokesman for Don King Productions, which promotes Ali's fights, said the bout was still in the negotiating stage.

Harun, however, said at a news conference that Ali had signed the contract in Miami last Friday and Bugner had signed it in London on Sunday. Harun said the fight would be held between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. local time to accommodate possible viewing and listening audiences in the United States and Europe. Should the fight begin within that hour, it would be between 5 p.m.-6 p.m. EDT in the United States and between 11 p.m. and midnight in Europe.

He said arrangements were being made for the fight to be telecast live abroad through the Global TV network.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ralph Hoplavouri, a defenseman who, started the season with Indianapolis Racers of the World Hockey Association, was in hospital Wednesday after doctors removed torn cartilage from his right knee. Hoplavouri suffered the injury in a mid-season collision while playing for the Racers. A team spokesman said he will go to his home in Kitchener, Ont., Sunday and return in about six weeks to begin therapy to strengthen the knee.

JONES JOINS METS

CHICAGO (AP) — New York Mets announced Wednesday that outfielder Cleon Jones will join the National League baseball team Monday at West Point for an exhibition game against Army. Jones, a 10-year veteran with a .301 lifetime average, has been at St. Petersburg, Fla., undergoing a rehabilitation program. His underwent knee surgery last winter and wasn't fully recovered at the start of the season.

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's proposed Election Finances Reform Act has one more obstacle to clear before escaping the procedural gauntlet at Queen's Park.

Opposition members say they'll take "one more kick at the cat" in an attempt to strengthen the province's radical new approach to limiting campaign contributions and expenditures.

Donald Deacon (PC—Wentworth North), chairman of the legislature's administration of justice committee, admits there are loopholes in the election financing bill but says the only way to test it is to give it a try and hope for the best.

"We're really going (3 days) to experience the act in a campaign and take it from there."

The bill was introduced Feb. 13 by Premier William Davis as "the most progressive and enlightened and toughest legislation of its kind in Canada."

Mr. Davis has said the bill must become law before he sets an election date this year.

After an unexpected delay in the legislature this week, the act joins the important riding redistribution bill as a major stumbling block in the way of a spring election.

Liberal and New Democrats accepted the principle of the proposed act, which received second reading March 13 following lengthy debate, and was sent to the administration of justice committee.

Mr. Deacon reported back to the legislature on Tuesday and the measure had it for third and final reading. No major changes had been made.

Bills normally go to third reading without further debate in the legislature.

Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) had a different idea.

"I think there is time for one more kick at the cat," he explained.

He blocked smooth passage by tabling that committee of the whole house debate be bill.

Mr. Singer denied the Liberals intend to stall the reform act bill in frustrate the government.

In an interview, he said there should be an overall limit on campaign expenditures and full disclosure of sources of all monies in fundations created by political parties.

"We believe the bill is imperfect," he explained. "We've been sitting for for a long time. There are defects in it but it is a big step forward.

"It isn't going to go through as free mittens. It will be left to the horse for a while. Some of us (Liberals) feel strongly there has to be a top limit on expenditures. I'm not convinced that would be impossible to implement and administer as Mr. White says.

John White, minister without portfolio, is guiding the bill through the legislature.

"We're just going to hear the same arguments all over again," he said of Mr. Singer's intervention.

Mr. White said he believes the new measures will reduce expenditures in the next provincial election.

By limiting contributions, it will force candidates to cut expenditures. And limits on the amount of money spent on advertising will cut back on invisible television and newspaper ad campaigns, he said.

Michael Cassidy (NDP—Ottawa Centre) said Wednesday that he expects to propose two amendments to the act during committee of the whole house.

The first will be similar to Tory proposals—that limits be placed on total campaign expenditures.

The second deals with the NDP-trade union relationship. The NDP claims it could lose $60,000 this year if the bill is not changed to delete a clause restricting trade union financial backing of the party.

The bill defines monthly union political affiliation dues as contributions to a political party. The NDP position is that the checkoff is not a contribution but a means of buying membership in the party.

Revisions in committee give the commission which will implement the new rules has discretionary powers and Mr. White says it is free to decide the union checkoff is not a contribution.

Mr. Cassidy and the NDP are still not satisfied.

"If every dollar given the Tories by members of the boards of directors of companies counted against donations from the companies, I think they'd understand our position," he said.

The proposed act will restrict campaign contributions by individuals, corporations or trade unions to $1,000 to each registered party and $300 to any registered constituency association in any year and equal additional amounts during a campaign period.

Parties and candidates each can spend a maximum of 25 cents voter on advertising and advertising will be restricted to the 21 days immediately prior to election date.

A record of contributors given more than $100 must be kept but disclosure of the names is not mandatory until two months after an election.

The regulations were derived from recommendations of a commission on the legislature which reported last September.

Four Indian Groups Seek Mechanism for Discussions

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of four Indian groups met with Premier William Davis and the Ontario cabinet Wednesday to seek a mechanism for continuing discussions with the provincial government.

In three briefs to cabinet, the groups said Indians in Ontario are not included in the constitutional framework of the province but policies of the government do affect them.

The four, the Union of Ontario Indians, Grand Council Treaties 3 and 9, and the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians, asked that the province set up a joint committee at the ministerial level "as a vehicle for on-going dialogue on specific areas that remain unclear between federal-provincial-Indian areas."

The Indians said in their brief they are seeking confirmation from the government that the "important source of Indian food and income" would not be affected by other groups.

Peter Kelly, spokesman for Grand Council Treaty 9 was less optimistic about the outcome of the session with cabinet.

He said "time will tell" whether the Indians' briefs will be accepted.

Included in the structure of the joint committee would be the office of a co-ordinator for the associations, established in Toronto at an estimated cost of $138,000.

Mr. Kichard, spokesman for Grand Council Treaty 4, said following the two-hour meeting that the main proposals were met with favorable response and promises from the government to get back to the leaders in two to three weeks.

Premier William Davis said in an interview the spokesmen presented a number of problems which might not be solved "unless we sit down and talk."

Among them were land issues, fishing and hunting rights, pollution and conservation and the harvest of wild rice in the Lake of the Woods area.

The premier said the latter problem had been hived over to Natural Resources Minister

Mladen Lukanovich (NDP—Ottawa Centre) said Wednesday that he expects to propose two amendments to the act during committee of the whole house.

The first will be similar to Tory proposals—that limits be placed on total campaign expenditures.

The second deals with the NDP-trade union relationship. The NDP claims it could lose $60,000 this year if the bill is not changed to delete a clause restricting trade union financial backing of the party.

Cleans Up Painting

LONDON (CP) — The National Gallery has cleaned up its biggest painting by Titian, the Vendramin Family, which dates from the 1540s. The job took 18 months and the picture now is on show again.

Free Speech

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP) — Now that postage for local mail has gone up to seven pence (17 cents) in Britain, the Cambridge Evening News has hit on an idea to save customers money. Shops selling the paper have also been provided with posters reading: "We welcome your opinions. Hand in your letters to the editor here."

Arctic Experience

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP) — The fifth annual Arctic summer activities, a two-week total-immersion course on the North, will be held in late June. Participants pay $1,330 for the course which includes lectures, workshops, seminars and field trips.

Not The Olympics

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — A Durban businessman told a court that a movie he rented on the 1972 Olympic Games turned out to be a sex comedy entitled The Games Lovers Play.

Tap Dancing Back

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — "Tap dancing is more popular now that it has been any time since the 1940s," says Rose Ann Tyler who has been teaching in this area for 29 years. "We have had 40 new tap students in the last two weeks," she said.

Music Overwhelming

LONDON (CP) — Frank Zappa and the Mothers of Invention, a pop group, sought damages when their planned Albert Hall concert was cancelled on grounds their top recording, the Motels, was obscene. Recently the judge listened to the record in court and then adjourned proceedings indefinitely, because he couldn't hear the words for the music.

Moms Has Kept Them Rolling In the Aisles for 60 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Rubber-faced comedienne Moms Mabley never has doubted her ability to make audiences laugh. For 60 years, they've been rolling in the aisles.

But the 77-year-od black circle and television star had never done a film.

"I knew all the time I could do it but I never was given the opportunity," she said. "I wanted to do something to make my children and great-grandchildren proud of me. Him all makes do."

Moms, of the sagging and baggy eyes, raspy voice and throaty laugh, is still on the circuit, playing clubs and appearing on occasional television show.

She is also starring in the new film Amazing Grace. She plays the role of Grace Twosocks Grimes, whose obscenity brings down a corrupt city government. She sings, dresses in black, dances a little and inspires a rally of college students to campaign for a black presidential candidate.

Moms started entertaining at church to help raise money. She always got the parts.

Born Loretta Aiken in Brevard, N.C., she began her professional career at 15. Something about the way she adopted the name of a well-known young man, Jack Mabley, and later it evolved to Moms.

She did the black vaudeville circuit operated by the Theatre Owners Booking Association, of which her, remember are not happy.

"Once you get off you didn't want to go back there no more, believe me," she said. "There were some horrible things done to me and I've been done by better and I hate to think of them. I've played every state in the union — except Minnesota. I've been there. They ain't ready."

Moms came into her own in the heyday of standup comedy—the 1930s. She loitered onto the stage, pulling her stockings up and her battered hat down, telling the children what was going on in the world. Moms has never been shy about expressing her opinions.

"I'm a God-fearing woman. I love to do right. If they'd put a man in Miss who'd do right and straighten this country up, I'd quit my business to campaign for him. People's brains have been washed until they're bleached. It's just horrible."

But just as she does in her new film, Moms relies on the future.

"It's the children who have got to save the country."

In the middle of making her film, Moms had a pacemaker implanted after a first heart attack. The film stopped until she was well enough to continue.

Moms now would like to do a true-story movie, "one that I saw live, that nobody don't know but me." But she worries that someone might steal her idea, and she won't describe it.

"Every comedian has stolen from me but Jack Benny. He was an original.

"Any time a man can walk on stage, look at the audience and make 'em laugh, that's funny. The name for Field Foxx. He's a born comedian. The children today don't even know how to walk on stage."

Moms always knew. When she went into vaudeville at the urging of an actress she met in a boarding house, she tossed her clothes over the fence, ran away from the family she'd been living with and was on stage in Pittsburgh the next evening.

She entertained with big bands like Count Basie's and Charlie Barnet's—and what was the name of that fella who laughed so hard he couldn't play his horn?"

"In 15 minutes on stage, I can keep laughter in a certain range, building higher and higher when I tell that bad joke, they're all laughing like mad.

"My baby brother, Eddie Parton, he and I write the material," she said.

Moms has adopted many people into her family and claims a number of children and grandchildren. But daughter Bonnie, who lives with her in Hartsdale, N.Y., "she's been with me all her life." A son is a psychiatrist, and there are great-grandchildren.

"But I'm not a sittin' grandma," she said. "The children had 'em. Let them raise 'em. That's what kills so many elderly women - raising grandchildren.

Still not strong, Moms said she will use a chair for club dates for a while, but she has no thought of retirement.

"I don't have no trouble no more. I go. Everybody loves Moms."

Projectionist Also Movie Fan

TORONTO (CP)—Ernie Owen, 69, smiles as he recalls the times he watched the movie classic Gone with The Wind 364 times from a small, concrete room.

Mr. Owen, a romantic and a movie projectionist, said in an interview he viewed the movie repeatedly during his duties because he wanted to, not because he had to.

"I never got tired of Gone With The Wind," Mr. Owen says. "I watched it right through in the last time. I could have played every role by then."

The concrete room, located over the seats at the rear of the cinema, has two small windows facing the screen. If Mr. Owen likes the movie, he sits by the window and watches it.

Mr. Owen, one of 250 projectionists in Metropolitan Toronto and longest in the business, started as an apprentice in Trenton, Ont., when he was 18. He plans to retire in August. He says he got a push-button world of the projectionist much of a shock because he remembers when running a projector was hard, physical work. The tables had not been invented and the projectionist had only one manually-operated projector to run the film.

The projectionist cranked the final reel of film for 10 minutes to run it through. Then, he ordered a girl announcing that the reel was going to be changed.

After cranking a second reel, the projectionist went home with a sore arm.

These days, there are two projectors for, each movie and changing the reel is so quick and smooth, the audience does not notice.

Mr. Owen, a sentimentalist, prefers musicals and happy endings. His remembers with pleasure Dr. Zhivago and his all-time favorite, The Sound of Music.

When he shows what he considers a "dirty movie," he retires around the booth instead of watching the film.

Mr. Owen says projectionist work is seven-day, 35-hour week, which involves a considerable amount of night work. He said that the hours can play havoc with family life.

"I've seen a lot of shows in my time," he says. "But I love my work. After 37 years, I still love my work."

Circus Veteran Ontario Native

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — The man who took the circus off the railroads and put it on motor vehicles spent his boyhood here.

Andrew Downie, as he was known in the show world, tried his first circus venture at 12 when he and a partner launched the one-ring Downie and Austin Parlor Circus. Two years later he went back to performing.

Late in 1899 he joined a man from Greenville, Mich., to form the Rich and Downie Circus. During 1900 Downie married Christina Hewer, known professionally as Millie La Vera, at Carleton, Ont.

In 1901 Downie bought out Rich's share and renamed the show Andrew Downie's Dog and Pony Circus. He played all the towns along the Erie Canal, moving the show by boat.

In 1904 he was a partner in the Downie and Gallagher Wagon Show and for several years he held executive posts on the Great Walkee Show, operating out of Peru, Ind.

In the off-season of 1908-9, Downie organized a repertory company and took it from Vancouver to the Pacific Coast, complete with scenery, wardrobe and portable blanchers that could be set up in vacant stores, warehouses or barns and, for two nights, in the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Big Red Dean.

Reaching Vancouver, the company played a week in sell-out audiences in the old Lyric Opera House and returned to spend the summer in Eastern Canada, finally ending up in St. Catharine's, N.Y.

Downie wagon show closed in 1914 and there is no record of further activity until 1916, when the Downie and Wheeler Show began a two that lasted until the end of the touring season in 1913.

Next season he was out on his own with a 16-car railroad show called the La Tena Wild Animal Circus. He enlarged it to 15 cars and toured central Canada in 1916.

Downie leased the Waller L. Main Circus from the veteran showman and ran it for seven years, engaging the celebrated Mae Wirth equestrian troupe as a centering feature at the then fabulous salary of $1,500 a week.

The great experiment came in the spring of 1926 with the launching of the Downie Brothers Motorized Circus—Andrew was the only "brother" behind the title—which became the first successful road-based outdoor show.

The show thrived until the end of the 1930 season although Downie sold the rights and title to Charles Sparks in the spring of 1929 and retired to his home in Medina, N.Y., where he died the following December at the age of 67.

Showbiz Shorts

LONDON (AP) — Maggie Smith, the Oscar-winning British actress, was granted a divorce Monday from her actor husband Robert Stephens because of adultery with an unnamed woman.

The London divorce court accepted sworn statements from Miss Smith, 40, who is in New York starring on Broadway in Noel Coward's Private Lives, that her married had broken down.

Stephens, 41, did not contest the case.

The couple was married in 1967 and appeared together in the film The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie, which won Miss Smith her Academy Award in 1967.

LONDON (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor left London on Monday at the end of a two-week visit by her sixth husband, inventor Jack Ryan, from a disappointing shopping spree.

The wonderful clothes you could buy here used to be the best—but not any longer," said Zsa Zsa. "One big store where I always shop was a great disappointment. The standards seem to have dropped. Today American clothes are the best value for money."

It wasn't a total loss though. Her husband decided to buy her a $40,000 Rolls Royce—her third.

Your Horoscope

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Friday, May 2

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll feel very sociable today and enjoy being with friends. However let some of your pals share the cost.

TAURUS (April 20-May 5:) Conditions now are very favorable where your work or career is concerned. If you don't trip over your own feet. Let things progress naturally.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't harbor lingering self-doubts about present plans. Try them first—they'll work if you have enough confidence in yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This can be a prosperous day for your business dealings. Just remember to keep those old ego-deflaters out of the act not directly involved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be lucky today in getting others to co-operate. This will help compensate for your difficulties in getting through to higher authorities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Seize the initiative. Do things without the boss having to remind you. Taking the ball by the horns now will later fatten your wallet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't dismiss lightly your creative ideas over the next few days. Somewhere you'll find a market for your brainchild.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your plans for the family may not find total acceptance from your mate at this time. Later, he'll sheepishly admit you were right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be able to clear up a business problem bogging you. If you take them involved out of the office into more congenial surroundings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Your financial affairs are in good aspect during this period. You'll profit if you handle your finances along conventional lines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19:) You're going to be receiving some good news shortly. It will be of more benefit for you than for others in your family.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be very alert in your financial dealings. A profit could come from a source not evident, previously—especially today and tomorrow.

Pessimistic Pete looked over the dummy and counted losers. Some people count winners. Pete always counted losers.

He counted one spade, one diamond and two clubs. An optimist could count just one club, but Pete was sure that West would hold the club ace.

Pete saw some chance to discard a club on dummy's fourth diamond. He decided to start preparing for operation jettison. He let West hold the first spade. East played the three, but West continued with the queen so that Pete knew where the jack was and won up. He won and promptly led dummy's deuce of diamonds. His plan was to play the nine, but East foiled this by producing the jack. Pete covered with the king and led out the queen and jack of trumps, followed by a diamond to dummy's ace. Then came the key play.

He led dummy's 10 of spades and discarded his nine of diamonds!

West had his choice of ways to let Pete make his contract. He could lead a diamond and set up dummy's fourth diamond; he could lay down his ace of clubs and set up Pete's king; or he could lead a spade for a ruff and a club discard.

The bidding has been:

Pass	1 N.T.	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	7
Pass	Pass	Pass

What do you do now?

A — Bid three spades. Your hand looks quite good.

Pleurisy Comes In Two Types

By G. C. THORSTENSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thorlensen: I was rushed to the hospital for X-rays and tests for severe chest and upper back pains and was told I was suffering from a combination of pleurisy and shingles.

The pain subsequently subsided with medication. However, every now and then it has returned. Would you please discuss it, its treatment and prevention?—F.A.K.

Dear Dr. Thorlensen: I have chronic discomfort and often get very pain in the upper left chest and the back. The only conclusion seems to be that this is evidence of a dampness trapped in the lining of the lung, which could be causing pleurisy. How is this caused, what are the treatments.—L.

It seems that with all of the antibiotics available according could be done to help me with this condition become more serious?—L.

The pleura is the close-fitting membrane which encases each lung, and its inner surface touches the lung and an outer layer lining the chest wall. The space between the two layers (the pleural cavity) is filled with moist, thin permitting free movement of the lungs in breathing.

When these membranes become inflamed, the condition is called pleurisy, and there are several types and causes. The primary causes are pneumonia and tuberculosis. Generally, most doctors distinguish between "wet" and "dry" pleurisy.

In the wet type, the volume of undesirable liquid in the cavity increases abnormally, placing pressure on the lung tissues and interfering with normal breathing, and causing the sharp, stabbing pains along the nerve trunks. When pus collects in the cavity the condition is called "empyema," a more unusual and serious condition.

In dry pleurisy, the pleural membranes become inflamed and can rub against each other with the pain and loss of use of the lungs. The characteristic chafing produces a different type of pain, readily recognizable "friction rub" heard through the stethoscope, a classic symptom of this type of pleurisy.

Any disorder of the pleura pronounced "PLOO-ra") can cause sharp, stabbing pains, although this is less pronounced in wet pleurisy because the fluid chafing is not as much a factor.

It is important to learn the source of the infection, which usually responds to appropriate antibiotic. In F.A.K.'s situation, the shingles, if proven, could easily mimic the pain of pleurisy, but shingles would be obvious because of the rash and blisters that accompany it. Shingles can leave a lingering, inconsistent pain for many months after the onset.

The cause of dry pleurisy would reveal any serious lung disorder or any inflammation of the pleura, but it cannot detect shingles.

Beyond antibiotics, pleurisy requires rest. Heat will help ease the pains somewhat, but if your case is severe you may require a chest strap to immobilize chest movement. Pleurisy can produce pain in either or both sides of the body depending on whether it is "single" or "single—that is, whether one or both lungs are affected.

NOTE TO MRS. C.R.—The sounds like Peyronie's disease. The problem is in a fatty connective tissue of the fibrous tissue causing distortion of the penis upon erection. The condition may disappear in about a year or so without treatment. Since it is not known what causes it and can function normally, I continued with the operation to straighten it. Yes, X-ray, although many injections of the old drugs have been tried, it's had indifferent success. The best approach is simply wait it out.

Dear Dr. Thorlensen: Is bronchitis contagious?—N.A.

No, when it is caused by a bacterial infection. But bronchitis caused by irritants such as tobacco smoke or other fumes is, of course, not.

African Fears West Intrusion

YAMOUSSOUKRO, IVORY COAST (CP) — President Felix Houphouet-Boigny says the whites of southern Africa are not the true Africans as the blacks of the continent or the Arabs of the north.

In a television during a recent visit by External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen, the head of this former French colony in West Africa placed himself squarely among the most moderate of black African politicians on the subject of white minority rule in southern Africa.

But he suggested that the reason for the long delay in the black-white war in Africa and causing it into a world war, the West has strayed on the side of white Africans.

Acknowledging the racist nature of the regimes of Ian Smith in Rhodesia and John Vorster in South Africa, the Ivorian head president never theless said he favors a negotiated settlement in the issue between those governments and the black African states which say war is the only final solution.

"If there were a war between us and the whites, knowing myself as I do, I know that they would not provide us with any support," the president said.

He noted the lack of support by West European and North American governments, including Canada, during the long struggle by guerrillas against white Portuguese rulers in Angola, Mozambique.

That taught black Africans that while Western countries would do nothing to assist their fellow whites in Africa, Houphouet-Boigny said.

Instead, he said, a war between blacks and whites in Africa likely would draw the non-African world into the contest, importing the struggle to other continents, countries and the United States and its allies.

"When Russian MIGs fill the skies of Africa ," he said, American Phantoms and French Mirages will also be there."

In its moderate attitude towards white southern Africans, the Ivory Coast regime is in a minority in the black French Federation of African Unity, where only Senegal, Malawi and Liberia support a similar line.

Boosting Education

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Chamber of Commerce has launched a series of conferences across the province aimed at encouraging businessmen to become more involved in education. The idea is to give students the benefit of their experience.

To Work in Parks

CALGARY (CP) — Parks Canada will hire 40 students in Grade 11 in Alberta and British Columbia this summer to work in national parks in those provinces. Their duties will include building primitive campsites, maintaining trails, fire-tower duty and first-aid training.

Strange Mating

LONDON (CP) — The Canadian newspaper recently described the resignation of cabinet minister Eric Heffer, because of the government's refusal to let him air his anti-Common Market views in the House, as "taking the ball by the horns." A reader quickly pointed out that this was an way for "heifers to approach bulls."

Letter Of The Law

BRISTOL, England (CP) — Because of soaring postal costs, with local delivery now costing 7½ pence (17 cents), the Bristol Law Society is organizing a businessmen's postal service. Post boxes will be placed in businessmen's clubs and participants may drop in to pick up and deliver mail free. So far 39 firms have joined.

Value of Manual Labor Is Stressed

BOMBAY (CP) — An 80-year-old former college principal is fighting an uphill battle to overcome the aversion of educated Indians to manual labor.

Vishnu Malkani, who came to India from Pakistan when the sub-continent was partitioned in 1947, said his campaign "may seem funny to people in the West."

"But India's future lies in realizing the dignity of labor. Every year, tens of thousands of high school students enter college simply because they are not willing to become technicians."

Among other things, the backelor educational trend is persuaded students in hostels to wash their own plates, clean their bathrooms and iron their clothes.

A recent strike by office boys at the Federal Reserve Bank in Bombay virtually paralyzed business activities in the city for a week.

With the boys, known as chaprasis, demanding higher pay, thousands of clerks walked out because their tables had not been cleaned and they refused to do it themselves. Chapses piled up in the clearing house and businessmen had to postpone trips abroad because they were unable to get foreign exchange.

Bombay newspapers commented that the clerks' refusal was rooted in class prejudice. Although the caste system was officially abolished shortly after India became independent more than 25 years ago, the office boys come from the lower castes and clerks regard their work as "demeaning."

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi expressed amusement that there could be a strike on such an issue.

"When my chaprasi does not turn up, I clean my own table," she said.

"If that is so, why are there so many chaprasis to clean the tables of ministers?" retorted a member of the clerks' union. "Will the prime minister dispense with their services?"

It May Be Marginalidad But It Tastes Like Hunger

CARACAS (Reuter) — Poverty is widespread in Venezuela, Latin America's richest republic, despite its sudden oil wealth. "marginalidad" remains a pressing domestic problem.

Marginalidad is officialdom's euphemism for extreme poverty. It means roughly "living on the edge of society," and officials say it affects 40 per cent of Venezuela's 12 million inhabitants.

After one year in office there are signs that the anti-poverty projects of President Carlos Andres Perez are beginning to get under way.

In Venezuela, as in all South American countries, the symptoms of marginalidad are the shanty huts which ring every city, spawning social problems from child crime, drug addiction, alcoholism and malnutrition to lack of sewage, running water and electric power.

An estimated one million people—4 per cent of the population of Caracas—live in shanty huts, or "ranchos," and slums in and around the capital.

In some cities up to 75 per cent of the population live in ranchos. In Maracaibo, capital of western Zulia state which produces the bulk of Venezuela's oil, 63 per cent of the inhabitants are shanty-dwellers.

In addition, Venezuela has an estimated two million youths and children abandoned by their parents—most of them in ranchos and slums.

Pedro Castillo, secretary-general of the child council, said child abandonment springs partly from the "machismo" complex of the South American male. "This orients the conduct of many males towards polygamy and the procreation of numerous illegitimate children."

The man chiefly responsible for waging the government's campaign against marginalidad is Carlos Acedo Mendoza, sociologist and one-time advertising executive, who is president of Fundacomun, the state-operated "foundation for the development of the community."

One of Perez's first acts after his inauguration in March, 1974, was to sign a decree marshalling the resources of the state for a "program to put in order the areas occupied by the poor of the nation's cities."

It gave Fundacomun overall direction and co-ordination of the anti-poverty activities of six government ministries, seven state institutes and several provincial institutions for community development.

Mendoza said this meant that for the first time in Venezuela a practical campaign has been started against marginalidad.

"There is no charity handout, no philanthropy. It's a matter of trying to do justice to the rights of every individual in a democratic society."

He expressed concern that extremes of poverty survive in a country where the oil boom has, at least statistically, raised the average annual income from $1,250 to $3,000 within a year.

Fundacomun and its related agencies still are at the data-gathering, problem-analysing stage.

The main information-gathering task is in the hands of community development offices established in every municipal district of Venezuela's 20 states and two federal territories.

Twin committees have been set up in different parts of the country to oversee the work, concentrating respectively on the physical problems of poverty—such things as housing and sanitation—and the social problems—crime, child care, drunkenness.

Eventually they will co-ordinate the actual work and make sure plans are carried out on time.

Mendoza said the general plan will be as follows:

"Each social unit will have a centre installed containing the basic services for the community like public order, food supplies, health service, education, sanitation, recreation and sports."

After that, new jobs will be created and new skills learned under the workers' training institute and the state industrial corporation which has earmarked $2.2 million for training rancho dwellers.

When rancho dwellers have to be moved, they will be shifted to small communities where they are considered to have the best chance of integrating, Mendoza said.

"Then we will get the rancho lands expropriated for conversion into parts so that the ranchos do not reappear."

In the past, rancho dwellers have usually returned to rebuild shortly after being moved off their land.

Mendoza plans include child-care units in each community under visiting social welfare workers and women will be given money and food for safe up to five children each.

At present, said Castillo, Caracas and other cities are haunted increasingly by "children who don't know what a family is, nor a school, much less a home and regular meals."

Mendoza said much depends on efforts to make agriculture a major industry in Venezuela, ending the continual tide of impoverished peasants into the cities to swell the ranks of the rancho dwellers.

Air Canada After Role In Agency

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal travel agent said Wednesday he received a controversial $100,000 payment from Air Canada after months of negotiations about how the airline could get into the travel agency business.

R. Y. McGregor, president of McGregor Travel Co. Ltd., told the opening session of the Air Canada inquiry that the government-owned airline certainly gave him the money last November to show it was serious about owning part of a proposed country-wide travel agency.

The documents promising the money said only that it was for his services as a consultant to influence provincial, Middle Eastern and Latin American governments for Air Canada's benefit.

Mr. McGregor said he was told the payment had to be made that way because the money was coming from the airline's promotional budget.

The Air Canada Act does not permit the Crown corporation to own a travel agency.

The federal inquiry, headed by Mr. Justice Willard Estey of the Supreme Court of Ontario, is looking into the payment by Mr. McGregor and financial control and management of Air Canada.

Mr. Justice Estey indicated the hearings may extend into June and might move to other cities, if necessary.

Hydro Contract Accepted

TORONTO (CP) — A new Ontario Hydro contract was accepted Wednesda y by 98.33 per cent of the 13,000 members of Local 1908, Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE).

Under the contract, tentatively agreed upon on April 1, linemen will receive $7.75 an hour retroactive to April 1. Salaries will rise to $8.01 an hour Oct. 1 and $8.69 April 1, 1976.

Among the lower-paid groups, clerk-typists go to $196.56 weekly from $186.36, retroactive to April 1, $202.48 Oct. 1 and $218.67 April 1, 1976.

Saltsman Says Northern Misled Federal Regime

OTTAWA (CP) — Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo) raised the issue of Microsystems International Ltd. in the Commons Wednesday, after earlier calling for a parliamentary inquiry into the collapse of the Ottawa-based company that received more than $27 million of government grants and loans.

In a brief released outside the Commons, he claimed the government was misled by Microsystems' parent, Northern Electric Co. Ltd., about technology and markets for semi-conductors Microsystems was to make.

Microsystems' failure shows the government's incompetence in dealing with business firms and its failure to protect public funds, the NDP finance critic charged.

The government will lose all $30 million of the grants & gave Microsystems, Industry Minister Alastair Gillespie has stated. Northern Electric is expected to pay the $6.7 million of loans.

Nova Scotia's Censorship Challenged by Editor

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal attorney general's department said Wednesday that if a lawyer Dartmouth, N.S., newspaper editor had not challenged the Nova Scotia censorship laws, they probably would have gone unchallenged for at least another 10 years.

T. B. Smith told a Supreme Court of Canada hearing the $3 licensed film exchanges and a hout of theatre owners had taken no exception to the censorship laws since they were enacted by the provincial legislature in 1954.

The federal lawyer said a challenge from those directly regulated by these laws was not likely because of the penalties imposed for infractions, including possible loss of licence.

This meant that if the constitutional issue whether Nova Scotia had the power to pass such laws were to go before the courts, it would have to be taken by a member of the general public, argued Mr. Smith.

The court reserved decision on an appeal by the Nova Scotia government which is disputing the right of newspaperman Gerard McNeil, as a private citizen, to contest the validity of the censorship laws.

Mr. McNeil contends that the censorship laws, because they create off ences and penalties, are i n reality criminal laws and therefore only Parliament can enact such laws.

Nova Scotia, backed by Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan, is arguing that the act establishing the Regulation Board of Nova Scotia, formerly known as the N.S. Board of Censors, regulates those in the film industry in the province and only those directly affected can challenge these laws.

School Budget Set

Hastings Education Rates Rise 12 Pct.

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education has applied for 1975 budget at $31.37 million — a 19.8 per cent increase over last year. However, the average mill rate increase across the county will be only 12.3 per cent.

County taxpayers will be paying more for education, this year due to increased provincial spending ceilings in March they will be paying less than earlier expected. In setting its 1795 budget the board will be able to stay within government ceilings, thus avoiding possible penalties for over-expenditure.

In banding down the budget Monday, director of education J. Rousseau said that, while the maximum spending figure has been set, the board must still allocate funds with the budgetary scheme. He said there are still several figures, including salaries and curriculum programs, that have not been set. Salary negotiations between the board and the secondary and elementary teachers are still continuing.

The board set the budget figure in closed session Monday night but Mr. Rousseau said the allocations of funds would be dealt with in open meetings. It is expected final salary negotiations will affect allocations of funds.

The board agreed to adopt a total budget, even though priorities have not yet been established, because the municipalities wanted to proceed with mill rate calculations. "It is apparent at this points that all planned programs (curriculum) will not fit into the dollar amount," said Mr. Rousseau.

Board business superintendent Ken Wormald said today the average mill rate increase of only 12.3 per cent is due to a general increase in local assessment as well as increased provincial ceilings of $96 per student. In 1974 local taxation accounted for 74 per cent of the total budget while this year it will account for only 23.7 per cent because of increased provincial grants.

Mr. Rousseau said a reduction in the budget of $298.80 would be required to effectively reduce taxes by one per cent. An increase in the budget of $80,000 would increase the tax requirement by one per cent.

Board chairman Jean Hutchison said "in the next few weeks the board will be discussing priorities in an effort to determine those programs that must be eliminated from the overall plan to stay within the established limit." She said the board is trying to stay within the ministry of education's ceiling.

Average Belleville Taxpayer Pays $25 More for Schools

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Belleville residents with average assessments of $11,000 will have to dig $25 more into their pockets this year to pay for education.

The Hastings County Board of Education budget will result in an average mill increase across the county of 12.3 per cent — close to the consumer price index increase.

Trenton residents with an average assessment of $4,720 will have to dig $22 more this year, while Bancroft residents with an average assessment of $3,250 will also pay about $22 more in 1975. Residents in the village of Madoc with an average assessment of $20,000 will pay $25 more this year.

The communities and townships across the county, the board says, are balanced with the average assessment followed by the tax increase in the second dollar:

Tyendinaga; ($4,208; 121) Marmora ($4,194 — 123); Stirling ($20,200 — 123); Tweed ($4,400 — 120); Sidney ($25,088 — $27), and Wollaston ($1,023 — $27).

Board officials say the low increase in mill rates as compared to the 19.8 per cent increase in the board's expenditures is due to increased assessment values as well as increases in the grants from the province. Local taxation throughout the county will account for only 23.7 per cent of the budget this year, whereas last year it was 34.5 per cent.

The board agreed to adopt a total budget, even though priorities have not yet been established, because the municipalities wanted to proceed with mill rate calculations. "It is apparent at this points that all planned programs (curriculum) will not fit into the dollar amount," said Mr. Rousseau.

Missing Convoy Located

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (Reuter) — A convoy of about 825 French refugees driving from the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh to 30 miles from this Thai border town, Khmer Rouge soldiers said today.

News of the convoy was given in a special convoy of French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing. It was the first official word about the refugees, who are believed to be 315 French nationals and 118 persons from 30 other countries.

They spent nearly two weeks in the French Embassy in Phnom Penh after the city was taken 15 days ago by the Khmer Rouge.

Marc Bonnefous, sent from Paris by Giscard d'Estaing to supervise the evacuation, crossed to the barbed-wire border barrier across a rickety bridge to talk to the Khmer Rouge, a makeshift flag fluttered nearby.

He said the soldiers told him that a convoy of his "compatriots" was 31 miles away.

He said he will seek further word at another meeting with the Khmer Rouge scheduled for Saturday.

Viet Cong Victory Celebrated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Workers in South Vietnam celebrated their first May Day under the new government by jaking over and running factories, water works and electric power stations, the government radio station in Saigon reported Thursday.

Workers of other nations, both Communist and non-Communist, used the occasion to demonstrate their support for the victorious Viet Cong.

Vietnam Regime Demands Return of All Planes, Gold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new government of South Vietnam has demanded that all property taken out of the country by fleeing Vietnamese including combat planes, and gold, be returned.

A radio broadcast from Hanoi said the foreign ministry of the Provisional Revolutionary Government in Saigon charges that "dozens of warships, freighters, huge amounts of cargo and combat planes" were taken away.

The broadcast said the Americans the defeated South Vietnamese government had also taken millions of Vietnam belongs to the Vietnamese people and is at the disposal of the new government. The statement stated that this property is the common international law on property herited.

More than 12 South Vietnamese air force planes and helicopters are in Thailand. They were flown there by fleeing air force officers, and the Thai government at first said they would be returned to Vietnam. But later, after pressure from the United States, Thai Defence Minister Praman Adireksarn said disposal of the aircrft wa Washington's responsibility.

Defence Secretary James Schlesinger said Thursday: "We have made it quite clear to all aircraft that have been flown to Thailand that they are ours."

The Pentagon estimated gone condition, and the Commerce Department said there were more than $3 billion worth of weapons, equipment and facilities that have been supplied to the South Vietnamese forces. Pentagon officials said the $3 billion figure represented original shipment costs rather than replacement value.

Amid the crush of what was left behind was unusable or in poor condition, but Pentagon officials said most could not adapt it for their use.

The Hanoi broadcast from Hanoi said the new Saigon government had ordered persons at South Vietnam's diplomatic missions to stay at their posts and await new orders. It called on them to "protect the property and files and documents" of the previous government and said that "those who render disciplined service in this connection will be commended or rewarded."

The broadcast continued to reporters in Saigon. Three Associated Press correspondents in Saigon were reported able to move about freely, but they were not allowed to contact the patches.

The Pentagon said the number of Vietnamese evacuated by the U.S. totals nearly 86,000. A spokesman said U.S. ships had picked up about 32,000 from refugee boats and other craft off the South Vietnamese coast by this morning.

State department spokesman Robert Anderson said efforts to rescue any more refugees by sea were able to make their way beyond South Vietnam's territorial waters would continue despite North Vietnam's demand Thursday that all U.S. ships leave the waters of the Vietnamese coast.

"Our ships are on the high seas, and as long as there are Vietnamese who come out in distress, we will pick them up," Anderson said.

Injunction Request Is Coming

OTTAWA (CP) — An injunction may be sought Monday to force Quebec longshoremen back to work, Labor Minister John Munro said Thursday.

Justice department officials are in advance gathering evidence to file for the injunction, Mr. Munro said in the Commons.

The 2,200 striking longshoremen were ordered back to work by Parliament last week but so far they have not returned. The government served notice earlier this week on unions representing the workers, saying it intended to take legal action.

Notice is the first step in an application to the Quebec Superior Court for an injunction. If an injunction is not obeyed, union members and leaders could be subject to fines or jail terms.

The men, on strike at Montreal, Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City, were ordered back to work because their pickets prevented truckers from loading grain at waterfront elevators. Lack of regular deliveries threatened the life of Quebec livestock.

Mr. Munro said no interference with grain movement has occurred since the back-to-work legislation.

U.S. Congress Will Renew Study of Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders expect to begin work next week on a new bill that will approve aid to Vietnamese refugees but omit any authorization for using U.S. troops in refugee evacuations.

The resolve to start anew follows the House vote Thursday rejecting a bill for $327 million in refugee aid and authority for President Ford to use troops in the evacuation, which already is completed. The bill was voted down 246 to 162.

Economic Proposals Face Study

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — Commonwealth leaders are expected to pick a committee to start through conflicting proposals for changes in the world economic order to see if a consensus is possible.

Suggestion for the committees was made to the Commonwealth conference here Thursday by Prime Minister Forbes Burnham of Guyana and, supported by Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau, among others.

Burnham made his suggestion during a speech on the Third World demand for a new economic order—a radical change in the economic, financial and monetary system to give poor countries a chance to catch up.

This speech, and its call for such things as commodity cartels that would wave a big stick over the heads of consumers to stabilize prices, came after a speech by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson which called for a general world agreement on commodities.

Third World leaders found little acceptable in Wilson's remarks and even Canada found his proposals a bit self-serving.

The committee idea was expected to be discussed again today and to receive approval from the 21 prime ministers and presidents before the end of the conference next week.

They will consider proposals by Wilson, Burnham and others. Trudeau said it also should consider such things as industrial co-operation.

Da Nang Prisoners Freed to Go Home

DA NANG (AP) — A spokesman for South Vietnam's new government says 105,000 enlisted men and non-commissioned officers who were taken prisoner in the Da Nang area in March have been released to return to their homes.

The spokesman for the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) said 8,000 officers, ranging from captains and majors to the major-general commanding the Army of the Republic of Vietnam's (ARVN) 4th Corps, are still being held "for re-education.

The new government allowed The Associated Press and a CBS television crew to visit one of the "re-education centers" for the officers at Dien Ban, about 20 miles south of here.

The camp consisted of a group of ramshackle army barracks surrounded by a dilapidated barbed wire fence.

The camps commander said about 500 former ARVN officers were in the camp and their re-education course would start the next day.

The prisoners were wearing civilian clothes. Some lounged in their bunkrooms or outside while others cooked a meal of mess kits.

In the middle of a dusty, tiled courtyard in front of the camp stood a shed where wives with children would wait for their husbands to walk out of the camp and visit them.

The camp commander insisted that the duration of the re-education program was still to be determined.

He was asked if prisoners completing the course might resume their military careers with the new government's army.

"They must have the aspiration to serve before they could be accepted," he said.

He said a number of question-and-answer sessions with the officers in the presence of camp officials, all seemed to have a desire to return home and take up civilian life.

Ontario Heritage Foundation May Aid Restore St. Thomas' Anglican Church

"Henry, I think it's time we had a little talk!"

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The 100-year-old St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by an early Wednesday morning fire, may be brought back to life if the Ontario Heritage Foundation decides to come to the rescue.

Canon Peter Tett, church rector, and Gerry Brennan of Brennan and McBride Insurance Adjusters Ltd., told the Intelligencer Thursday Dr. Richard Potter, Quinte MPP, has approached Robert Welch, provincial minister of culture and recreation, regarding an application to the foundation for grants to restore the church as an historical site.

Mr. Welch's ministry is responsible for the foundation.

Dr. Potter has asked Canon Tett to draw up a brief history of the church for presentation with the application.

If successful, and if sufficient funds are available, it will probably mean the remaining gutted structure will be demolished, stone by stone and rebuilt in its former style.

In other new developments following Wednesday's fire, police have uncovered a number of thefts from the church vestry. Story on first page, second section.

New Picton Book Store

The County Book and Craft Shop owned by a mother-daughter team, Ada Wilkinson and Beverley Skidmore, opened Thursday in the Armory Mall. Picton's first book shop in many years, the reading centre has a special section for books by Prince Edward County authors.

CFB Trenton to Direct Air Training Command

OTTAWA — The defence department Training Command will be directed from Trenton in a realignment of the air force system announced Thursday.

The command, hitherto based in Winnipeg now has been renamed the Canadian Forces Training System.

In effect this will bring little outward change to CFB Trenton, a forces spokesman at the base said.

Up to now, Trenton has been the headquarters of Transport Command. Under the new system, transport missions will operate as a group under the over-all Air Command.

The new command will see establishment of a new headquarters group at Trenton. But the numbers of personnel involved is not yet known, said the spokesman.

The training of pilots and navigators will become the responsibility of Air Command with headquarters at Winnipeg headed by Lt.-Gen. William K. Carr, the current deputy chief of the defence staff.

"Such training will operate from their present bases, but be directed from Trenton, said the official.

Announcement of the new Air Command headquarters came as Defence Minister James Richardson announced a major change in the North American Air Defence Command agreement. Ilkwill bring Canadian air space under Canadian control for the first time since the NORAD agreement was signed in 1958.

Until now, regional air defence sectors have straddled the Canada-U.S. border. The only NORAD region based in Canada was at North Bay. Under the new system, there will be two NORAD regions in Canada: The one at North Bay and a new one to be built near Edmonton costing $25-million.

The North Bay region covered air space over Eastern Canada. The Edmonton headquarters will now aid Western Canada air space previously covered from a base in the U.S.

As aids to Mr. Richardson said the agreement to change the NORAD boundaries is not part of the renegotiation of the agreement which expires this year.

District at a Glance

Trail Ride Sunday

PICTON — The Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club will hold a trail ride Sunday, May 4, leaving from the Way Stock Farms, Milford.

Box lunches will be auctioned to raise money for the riding club.

New Executive Named

PICTON — A new executive has been elected for the Picton club following its annual meeting at Benson Hall.

President for 1975 is Stephen Walmsley and vice-president Mike Bond. Secretary is Earl Bond and directors Leo Finnegan, Vi Dimo, and Joey Gembal.

Well Contaminated

MILFORD — "Old Salts" of the Prince Edward Marine Society received more salt than they bargained for at their recent meeting in Milford Hall. A coffee party at the close of the meeting scratched of the turkey when marine society members took first sips from their cups.

Unfortunately the well serving the hall is close to a stock pile of calcium and salt used by the roads department.

Bus Tour Planned

PICTON — The Prince Edward Historical Society will sponsor a bus tour from Picton to Tweedmans on Sunday, June 1.

Informatin is available from Beverley Skidmore, secretary of the historical society or Jack Weisman, president of the group.

McGibbon Visits Base

TRENTON — Lt.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon will be greeted by the Canadian Armed Forces first all woman guard of honor today when she arrives at CFB Trenton, as guest of honor for an all women mess dinner tonight.

The 30-woman honor guard is the first in Canadian military history and was formed less than two months ago in conjunction with International Women's Year activities. Normally, the men in the armed forces compose the guard of honor that greets visiting dignatories.

The 30 trainees have been undergoing drills three mornings a week for the past month and a half in preparation for the visit of Ontario's Lieutenant Governor.

Taxes Come In

Tax collector Allan Weaver and assistant Aileen Lahey are shown here in Trenton taxpayers Thursday when payment of the second instalment of 1975 taxes came due. Taxpayers crested a steady work load for town hall tax department staff Thursday and will do so again later this year when the 1975 mill rate is set.

Cobourg Gets $150,000 Grant To Restore Victoria Hall

COBOURG — Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner presented Cobourg Mayor John Keenan with a $150,000 cheque today as part of $1.3-million in funds that will be used to fully restore Cobourg's 119-year-old Victoria Hall.

The grant is part of a $400,000 federal government contribution in 1975 and comes on top of $250,000 granted Cobourg for restoration work last year.

Federal money will be matched equally by Cobourg and the provincial government, which, in 1974, also contributed $250,000 in restoration funds.

In making the presentatin, Mr. Faulkner said Victoria Hall is "representative of the finer public buildings of mid-nineteenth century Canada. It is one of the most impressive town halls in Ontario and reflects the economic optimism of the 1850s."

The hall was built in 1858 for $110,000. It was judged of historical importance in 1959 and subsequently was posted as a National Historic Site.

Restoration work began in 1975 by the Society for the Restoration of Victoria Hall, but lack of sufficient funds forced the group to appeal to government for money.

The grant presented by Mr. Faulkner was made on behalf of Indian and Northern Affairs minister Judd Buchanan and is a result of the society's appeal for additional funding.

It was made within the confines of a Parks Canada program in which the federal government shares costs with the province and the municipality for purchase and repair of buildings of historic or architectural importance.

Restoration of the town hall said Mr. Faulkner "is important for all Canadians as part of our national heritage".

They work will also employ about 30 skilled and semi-skilled tradesmen over the next year, he said.

A text of Mr. Falkner's address was released in advance of delivery.

SOUTH MARYSBURG — Prince Edward County's Mariners' Museum will open May 24 for the 1975 season says Phil Daddo, president of the marine society.

Plans have been made to hire a Rail — time curator to keep the museum open each day except Monday. The outdoor park is open at all times but a small building housing marine artifacts must be closed when there is no attendant on duty.

It was decided during a recent meeting of the marine society that plans for an addition to the present museum building should be delayed until possible grants have been investigated fully.

Red Shield Blitz Set for Sunday

PICTON — The Red Shield campaign will stage a blitz in Picton on May 4 with canvassers calling at every door as Salvation Army supporters work toward their 1975 goal of $5,000.

Throughout the month of May the fund drive will continue in the east of Prince Edward County.

A Salvation Army spokesman, Ken Carruthers this week noted that in 1974 in Prince Edward the Salvation Army packed Christmas hampers, held a Christmas party for underprivileged youngsters and organized a new girls' club.

In early 1975, food vouchers totalling $200 were distributed and plans made to send 40 children to the Salvation Army summer camp at Roslin Lake.

The major portion of funds raised in Prince Edward through the Red Shield Campaign will remain in the county. Some money will be sent to Toronto to provide services there which are available to county residents.

"There are many good people involved in the Salvation Army who are dedicated to assisting those who despair and are distressed," said Mr. Carruthers.

"They have been quite effective in elevating men and women in need and body and in caring for those unable to care for themselves."

UFO Really Damaged Weather Balloon

GILMOUR — A mysterious flying object that glided to earth shortly after noon Thursday near Stan Robbins' store at Gilmour has been identified as an atmospheric test or weather balloon at CFB Trenton.

When the object was spotted, Madoc OPP officers were called to the scene. Cpl. Don Mitchell and Constable Walter Brown described the object as two or three feet in diameter, pink in color and made of a stretchy, rubbery material. It appeared to be ruptured.

"When we touched it we got a tingling sensation in our fingers," Constable Brown said, "and it shriveled down to about a foot in diameter."

The balloon was tested for radioactivity by a team from CFB Trenton and the result was negative.

Early today Capt. Bob Burke, CFB Trenton information officer, said the object had been indentified as a weather balloon, "probably from the Toronto area, possibly from Winnipeg.

"It is definitely not radioactive," he said "and there is no danger."

Capt. Burke said the tingling sensation experienced by the OPP officers was caused by helium gas with which the balloon was inflated. "It's like touching a piece of dry ice," he said.

There is no identification on the balloon, Capt. Burke said, "If no one claims it, we'll simply throw it away."

Aid to Vietnam, Albeit for Good Purpose, Expropriated $400,000 in Tax Money

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The passing of the annual income-tax deadline stirs uneasy thoughts in most of us about the way the government spends our hard-earned tax money.

The smeekest of all Canadian taxpayers, however, may well be Maxwell Henderson.

Mr. Henderson, from 1969 to 1973, was Canada's auditor-general. For 13 years, he had to report publicly each year on what the federal government was doing with public money.

He also had the unenviable job called a watchdog—an unflattering cliche, perhaps, but one that helps the public to understand the responsibility that an auditor-general bears.

Each year, Mr. Henderson uncovered some new examples of egregious waste of the taxpayers' money. When the reports were made public, people would shake their heads in disbelief—then forget all about it for another year, while bureaucratic waste on squandering more millions.

Today, in retirement, Mr. Henderson still is keeping a watch—although from a distance—and alerting his fellow-taxpayers to the abuses he finds.

Lately, Mr. Henderson has been speaking to a number of Canadian clubs around the country, and highlighting such examples as these:

—The Canadian International Development Agency agreed to spend $15,000 to build a 23-bed addition to a hospital in South Vietnam, without obtaining treasury board approval as the law requires. Final cost was $429,000, but CIDA could not produce proper vouchers, Mr. Henderson said.

—An unneeded spur line was built at Palmetto-by-the-Sea, Que., for $401,000. Only four rail cars ever used the line.

—At Gros Cacouna, Que., $8.8 million of public money was spent to develop a port in the way—assumption that a grain company might use it. In the end, there was no prospective user.

In these and other ways, the federal government has misplaced its spending rate—from $5.7 billion in 1965,* to the announced figure of $28.2 billion for the current fiscal year.

(The latter figure, Mr. Henderson notes, will reach $35 billion when loans, advances and other so-called non-budgetary expenditures are take into account.)

"For a population of only 22 million, Canada must surely be one of the most grossly overgoverned countries in the world," Mr. Henderson says.

"We should have a lot less government and bureaucracy in this country, instead of sitting by and allowing our politicians to go on talking it up, tier upon tier, at our expense."

One example of bureaucracy building, not mentioned by Mr. Henderson, is the recent federal decision to reduce the sales tax on building materials to five per cent from 11 and 12 per cent, and to make a $500 grant to first-time home-buyers.

If the sales tax had been eliminated altogether, it would have cancelled out the amount of the new grants.

Instead, the government has managed to retain the sales-tax bureaucracy and to create a new group of them to hand out the grants to home-buyers.

A while ago, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau spoke optimistically of "reducing the growth of the growth of government spending." So far, there hasn't been much evidence of restraint—much like the cut in the spending government apparatus that common sense demands.

Reds Control Vietnam

It is all over in Vietnam. Ten years since the United States began sending in military advisors, then troops in strength. Thirty years since nationalist forces under Communist leader Ho Chi Minh began their long struggle for control of the country.

Western-style democracy shaky as it often was in the state that was South Vietnam, and which opposed the Red advance, has been eclipsed. What then of the future in Southeast Asia, where Cambodia has suffered a similar fate? Statements of the former deposed Cambodian leader Prince Sihanouk are a clear confirmation of Communism's ongoing objectives of domination.

In an interview with the French newspaper, Le Monde, Sihanouk is reported to have said that the United States will not be able "to keep Taiwan or South Korea indefinitely.

"In Laos too, the reactionaries must go. In Thailand also, the people will move," Sihanouk indicated that as far as Cambodia was concerned he would be merely a figurehead, signing the decisions of the Khmer Rouge insurgents who now control the country.

"I shall go and bother the United States at international conferences in the service of our African and Palestinian friends, among others."

For a man who said he is not really a Communist, Sihanouk is going through all the motions. What he reveals is as clear a warning yet for the West of what to expect of Communist strategy on the world scene in the immediate future.

Ottawa's Fickle Policy

Remember the coup that toppled the Marxist government of Salvador Allende in Chile?

Remember too the advertisements that appeared in The Globe and Mail, under the hand of every left-leaning organization in sight, including the Communist Party of Canada, plus a whole slew of prominent individuals, including academics and religious leaders. Strange bedfellows indeed.

These ads put pressure on the federal government to permit the entry into Canada of refugees from the Allende regime. Not only were these people brought in, Ottawa sent an aircraft to pick them up and fly them here.

Compare this with Ottawa's performance in aiding the South Vietnamese. It claims to have done all it could, that the South Vietnamese were not granting exit visas, that sort of thing. Yet, set against the alacrity with which we rushed to the aid of the Chileans, the Canadian effort vis-a-vis South Vietnam was balky to say the least. Of course our own people got out in fine style enough and all, leaving the embassy and telling the South Vietnamese to come back the next day.

It's a common knowledge now that those who went back to the embassy found it shuttered and locked, and there is also the sorry tale to consider of South Vietnamese employees of the embassy for whom we found no room in the plane — no room at the inn.

What a performance!

Work and Make-work

Life is winning and losing and some aspects of this are apparent in Quinte-area activities these Spring days.

There is the unfortunate suspension for instance of the Belleville waste paper program. This is a blow to pollution-control and conservation ideals but there is hope nonetheless in the prospect of a return to better market demand again in the fall.

Word meanwhile of 16 Opportunities for Youth projects in the Belleville-Bancroft areas affords promise of employment for some.

If it were not for this Government-funded program, much of it youth-oriented, the job situation would be a lot worse than it is.

It should remain a goal in this province nevertheless of schools and colleges, of industry and government — to place graduates in gainful and permanent employment. The OYP programs are a useful stopgap, but no more than that. Meanwhile as has been pointed out in this space of late, there are many young people who are having a discouraging time trying to find work.

A significant reminder of assistance in this sphere has come from Rotary Club president Bob Graham. Rotary, he says, has members who are available to counsel young people with regard to a variety of professional skills.

Let's not forget either, in this regard, the Small Business Consulting Assistance Program conducted by Queen's University.

Youthful Maturity

The young today are said to be more knowledgeable and more mature.

It's a premise that may be arguable in some contexts, but we came upon an example of real maturity when viewing a television program about distribution of a Belleville couple's food program in Bangladesh.

A body called World Vision has undertaken the responsibility for distribution of the food. One of the people working for it, a young man who spoke eloquently of the problems of the people of Bangladesh, was said to be just 17.

What an experience it would be for all teenagers, if it were possible to channel them into aid programs such as this.

Legislature on TV by Next Year

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — By this time next year there almost certainly will be some televising of the proceedings of the house here.

It is fully expected that the Camp commission on the legislature, whose report is being prepared now, will recommend that television be accepted now.

And the principle has already had committee endorsement for the House of Commons.

So that it appears to be only a matter of time before cameras are recording and broadcasting the proceedings.

The premise can foster all kinds of legislation.

There are and will be those who will say that the only fitting title of a program on the legislature would be "The Bore Show."

Those people have to realize the normally dull proceedings of the house and envisage them putting the audience to sleep, as from time to time they can some members.

Then others can see it as a show-off exercise.

They believe that more public-conscious members of the house will be constantly pulling off stunts to try and get before the camera, and that TV news editors, always on the look-out for something out of the ordinary will cater to them.

Initially there probably will be elements of both if, as and when the TV cameras start operating.

However, eventually the kinks should be ironed out.

At least that seems to be the experience elsewhere.

In other jurisdictions where TV has been used in parliaments the initial excitement seems to have worn off fairly soon and a fairly steady programming has evolved.

There will still remain the question of what form the programming might take.

There is no question that large segments of the house and committee proceedings will never be shown, except on special occasions such as the budget.

The goings-on in the legislature hardly can be expected to be as lively and exciting as probably won't want to carry much of it.

The most likely consequence is that there will be shots in news shows and then perhaps nightly or weekly wrap-ups.

On balance, however, even this probably will be good, for a first-hand look at its legislature in action could arouse more interest in the public.

A network of four independent radio stations in the St. Lawrence seaway valley are bandying together, under the title of "7-Way-4", to provide more efficient coverage and service to the area and to compete with Toronto and—Montreal. Stations taking part are CJBQ Belleville, CKLC Kingston, CFJR in Brockville, and CKSF Cornwall. The four stations serve an area containing 150,000 radio homes in four major population centers and the district between Toronto and Montreal. Purpose of the alliance is to interchange community news, regional news and to study the possibility of producing other types of centrally-package programs. The stations are also searching for way and means to provide a co-operative broadcasting service to advertisers.

A hymn written by George Allen Kingston in honor of the Silver Jubilee celebration of the reign of King George who Queen Mary has been received with much approval by critics. It has been sung following the first verse of the National Anthem in response to the Toast to the King at many banquets in Toronto and will be sung in many churches throughout the province next Sunday as one of the popular services in connection with the Jubilee celebration. Archbishop Owen, Anglican Archbishop of Toronto, primate of all Canada, has endorsed the use of the hymn and said that he considered it to be excellent. George Allen Kingston is originally from Rawdon, and has attended high school there and then became a law student in Belleville also. He spent two years in Judge Gates' office. His hymn will be sung this Sunday at Bridge St. United Church where he was once a member of the congregation.

When the Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary and W.H. The province has no institution to care for such children who are now being looked after by various Children Aid Societies. It was stated at a recent meeting of the Board of Education here, when St. Agnes was being discussed, a probable site for the new Collegiate Institute, that the property could not be obtained for less than $30,000.

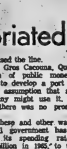
'Tunes of Glory' in India Amid Corruption, Hunger

By JOHN D. HARRISON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service



Given the devastation and mounting tragedy of the war in South Vietnam, there might be little point in recalling that India has again annexed territory chosen to her, this time gifted it a legalistic nature which makes the move look innocent and democratic.

The tiny Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, land of yaks, like other two being Nepal and Bhutan), voted "overwhelmingly" last week to join India and become that country's 22nd state.

The act was accomplished through a newly-arranged referendum by the Indians in which the people of Sikkim voted 40 per cent to join India. This means the ousting of the Sikkim ruler called "the chogyal" in a palace which was already under Indian guard, by an official a president-like minister, who already had power to act over the chogyal's cabinet.

It all sounds like something to fasten a cat-call: "The Wizard of Oz except that it is sad, very sad to see India involved in this travesty of a small place apparently succeeding to pick the large neighbor.

The reason for this columnist's chagrin is that India more than any other nation in the Third World once preached the gospel of neutralism and the Mahatma Gandhi was its inheritance.

That was a long time ago in the 50s and yet the Indians officially still claim totally moral reasons for making these moves and for their demands elsewhere in the regions. In 1961, it was the Indian military annexation of the Portuguese colony of Goa. It was India that in 1971 intervened, being a tiny colonial enclave on the vast body politic of the Indian land mass.

But why did India have to make such a big deal out of a military occupation against which there would be no resistance? And besides a distinct Goan Indian identity, Portugal only had been established going back to the original Portuguese settlement of 430 years earlier.

Since her preachings to the world against fighting wars, conventional and otherwise, India has emerged as one of the most warlike nations in the world. She has fought three bitter ones with Pakistan, the war to carve out the two nations in 1947-49, again in 1965 and the latest and second best, and yet again in 1971-72, when she smashed the Pakistani armies and brought about the severing of that country's 22nd state, the last-case nation of Bangladesh.

Though she pulled out of the former peacekeeping International Control Commission for Vietnam in the 1960s, she was able to fire a nuclear device using a training nuclear reactor given to her by Canada in 1955 when everyone assumed India was more than other nations would never use it for warlike purposes.

Work now is launched on the building of a major military establishment. The base is there with both Western and Soviet military technology. Yet you know India has had Russian-built conventional submarines in her navy for about 15 years?

And now she wants modern U.S. jet fighters, presumably to protect her against alleged Communist Chinese aggression on her Himalayan borders or a resurgent Pakistan.

India pays tones of glycerine lard for her to do with all that British tradition of spit and polish called "beating the retreat" as her pukka sahib armed forces—and Canada's neighbor—did in her big city streets, corruption revealed and uncovered is rampant in the ruling party and among provincial leaders with Prime Minister Gandhi playing the role of mother and great Asian leader.

It's a great shame that a mighty country like this which once both preached and practised peace and could claim some kind of role for itself as the conscience of Vietnam, is acting just like another imperialist power after all.

LETTERS

Ratepayers Are Concerned

The following is the text of a letter to the editor received by Kenneth E. Brooks, president of Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association.

We have just been in contact with the Town Engineer, Mr. Purcell and from this conversation have learned that the commencement of the installation of the trunk sewer line will result in the loss of production of the sewers for the Hillcrest area. This will probably not begin until late Fall. The engineer has met with the certain property requirements from approximately Pearl Street East.

A question comes to mind: Why was this property work not done prior to this late date? The planning for this project has years to be very poorly done at all. Any declared over price, etc., would have been completed under the supervision of the City Engineer's work, so we would have been in a position to call tenders and the weeks later, work commence on this project.

The property owners, we understand, live in a hospital and is expected to be there, or at least within the vicinity of the work, for another two weeks. Is there a possibility of the contractor to handle his job? Does all work in this department work on what can't there?

We have waited long enough and have been handed empty promises for seven years in by both the council, present and past. Why must our people suffer for the inefficiency and inability to plan ahead and act accordingly. Do you not feel the sanitary sewers in an area which has NEVER HAD sewers is of priority? Are they not of first priorities?

We agree other areas need replacement sewers, however, we also feel some effort must adjust your thinking along the lines of servicing everyone and then make whatever repairs necessary to the older sections of the city.

We have been told the Hillcrest area is considered adequate for at least another thinking in City Hall is considered, and in fact was declared these rumors as utter nonsense. However, with the excuses we have been handed ever since we have personally made a request and the ones we are now inclined to agree with the rumors to be true.

You want us to pay our taxes on the 15th of December, let us see some work done for the citizens we do pay.

Ladies and gentlemen, we ask you to rouse yourselves from your apparent inertia and do anything concerning the Hillcrest area and be the responsible and ACTIVE council members and leaders we elected to elect!

ACTIVELY FOR HILLCREST TOO!!!

Hoping to hear in detail we are not being critical of anyone. We simply cannot understand why after so many years, yes as intelligent and humane people as adults cannot understand the plight of our area and cut through whatever red tape for completion of the sewer work in the Hillcrest area, from becoming a reality.

KENNETH E. BROOKS,
PRESIDENT,
Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association.

Identity of Predators Puzzles Councillors

The identity of predators killing off livestock in Hastings county and subsequent compensation still is puzzling local councillors.

The puzzlement was given some airing this week as county councillors told they were 140 claims for killed livestock during the year.

The province refunded the municipalities on only 10 of the claims since they were attributed to wolves.

But, reported council's ARDA chief Tourism Coordinator, 37 of the kills were blamed on wolves, 121 on dogs.

Reeve Frank Graham of Wollaston, a frequent critic of provincial government policy on wolves and compensation, said he is concerned because municipalities have been paying for losses that rightly should have brought compensation from the province.

Municipalities up to now have recovered corresponding payments for wolf kills. Local governments pay for losses to dogs.

The reeve said he believes in some cases kills were being blamed on dogs since people found it easier to get money from municipalities.

Kills are assessed by a municipal evaluator and resources ministry official.

Under new legislation, reported Carl Saleman, county treasurer-administrator, municipalities will be reimbursed 100 per cent for wolf kills and about 50 per cent for predation by dogs.

Society Outlines Priorities In Fight Against Arthritis

Ted Kelly, chairman of the Belleville branch of the Arthritis Society, and E. Reed of the Knights of Columbus were among over 400 delegates from across Ontario to attend the weekend convention of volunteer workers for the society in Toronto.

The two-day meeting focused on the programs made by the society in the last five years and set general goals for the next 10 years.

Robert Goodman, Ontario president, pointed out the main objectives of the past five years — the doubling of funds raised for research and education — had been meet and the next 10 years were crucial.

He said goals for these next 10 years include doubling the number of specialists in the rheumatic diseases, making certain every medical student works with patients with arthritis (only about 30 per cent of students receive bedside instruction in arthritis) and emphasizing research to find the key to the causes of the disease.

Dr. Phillip Bennett, chairman of the medical advisory committee, told the meeting: "Important and exciting research is under way here and in many parts of the world, directed towards the problems of arthritis."

Dr. Rosen continued in 1975 the society will have achieved one of its most important goals, the establishment of a rheumatic disease unit at every medical school in Canada. Ontario achieved its share of that objective in 1974 with the establishment of a rheumatic disease unit at the University of Ottawa.

At the annual business meeting, Arthur Fowler was chosen to succeed retiring Ontario president Goodman.

Mr. Fowler told the delegates Canada's program for arthritis control is second to none in the world and that efforts in raising funds for society projects was an important factor in reaching that position.

Queen's Students Plan Area Consulting Service

Owners of small businesses in the Gananoque area will use the expertise of Queen's University students in their operations during the last part of the summer - long Small Business Consulting Assistance Program conducted by the university's school of business.

Don Sutton, secretary-manager for the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, said most each chamber member a business assistance program. It also includes a form to be filled out and mailed to the university for those persons who wish to participate in the program.

The venture will be available to any manufacturing, retail or service business which is locally owned and preferably owner operated. It will be staffed by 12 students who have completed the first year of the master of business administration program at Queen's.

The student will be in a position to offer assistance and advice in all areas of interest to the small businessman including cash management and planning, inventory control, systems, production scheduling and inventory control, marketing planning, promotional problem solving, accounting systems and evaluation of computer service needs and costs.

Convocations Set

MADOC — Loyalist College Board of Governors further set plans for its double convocation this year during its meeting held at Moira Secondary School near here Thursday. Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, described the layout and proceedings for the two events, May 24 and June 21. James Auld, MPP Leeds and minister of colleges and universities will attend the first one and Joan McDonald, executive secretary of the Canadian Hotel Motor Association of Ontario will be guest speaker for the second session.

Parent Input Sought

Belleville trustee Eloise Burr says the Hastings County Board of Education is not hearing enough from the students and their parents.

Mrs. Burr told her fellow trustees this week the board should devise methods by which the students and their parents can have more input into the educational process. She called for more public debate on some current controversial issues.

Just Add Money

MADOC — Barbara Allen, reeve of Tweed, posed this rhetorical question Thursday when he tried to attract secondary school students to post-secondary technology courses: "How do you make a thrill power attractive?" Ernst Kneisel, director of the school of business and technology at Loyalist College, replied, "By putting dollar bills on it." The remarks were made during a dinner at Mother's Restaurant near here for centre and nort Hastings Country educators and municipal officials hosted by the college board of governors.

Promotional Effort

MADOC — The Loyalist College Board of Governors promoted two college films during their dinner meeting at Mother's Restaurant near here Thursday before educators and municipal officials from centre and north Hastings County. One was Moods of the Moira, produced by the college school of communications for the Moira River Conservation Authority and narrated by the late graduate Brian Dobbin, a Radio CJBQ broadcaster who has been seen on area television stations. The other was an outline of what the college has to offer, narrated by communications instructor Bryan Olney, a former Radio CKWS announcer in Kingston.

Surveying the Problem

The prospect of a soapbox derby in Bancroft has spurred a number of young mechanics and carpenters to undreamed heights in construction of their vehicles, Peter Hartin and Scott Hayton only have one problem — how do you put on the wheels?

Board Outlines Policy On Teacher Development

The Hastings County Board of Education this week set its 1975-76 school holiday schedule as down the opportunity to clear up any misunderstanding about professional development activity days.

The clarification on professional development and activity days was requested by Mrs. Evelyn Wills from Deloro Thrush who said the public and press tend to be critical of these designated days for teache s.

The board's vice - chairman Miriam Graham came to the rescue and explained that professional activity days can be used for a "variety of reasons." She said teachers usually use these days for assessing student or curriculum progress as well as marking and evaluating a year' work by the student.

She said the professional development days are used for "enhancing the qualifications — not necessarily for salaries — of teachers which will help them in the classroom." Teachers no longer use the term professional development (PD) days.

The board approved 12 activity days for both the elementary and secondary school teachers. Secondary school teachers use 10 of these days in June to mark papers and evaluate a student's year.

The elementary school teachers will use a portion of one activity day as the first day of school. Mrs. Graham admitedly said this was to keep elementary school teachers from going home on the first day of school students normally only attend a half-day.

The ministry of education requires the board to provide a minimum of 185 instructional days for the students.

The board approved the week of March 22 to 26 as the winter break time and that Nov. 11 and April 19 would be school holidays falling on Remembrance Day and Easter. Monday.

Loyalist To Get Counsellor

MADOC — Loyalist College has shifted funds internally in order to create a new student counselor position in the student services division, Dean Fried Bellstead, member of the college board of governors, said.

Mr. Bellstead, chairman of the board's building and finance committee, said the counselor would be in guidance capacity. The position was financed by the student administrative council, he added.

"We are one of the few colleges who have a student counsellor," Mr.

Twa Interm Fire Chief

BANCROFT — The Bancroft Volunteer Firemen's Association has established an assistance fund for the family who was stricken with a fatal heart attack on Wednesday while answering the call to a small local fire.

Mr. Walker was married with two children, and was an employee of the provincial ministry of the environment.

The local fire association has started the fund off with a $500 donation.

Bancroft Reeve Russ Hawley said donations to the fund can be made through either of the Bancroft banks".

Deputy Fire Chief Dale Tea has been appointed to act as interim chief of the fire department.

Dental Course Depends On Ministry Support

MADOC — Budget restrictions prevent the instatement of a dental hygiene course at Loyalist College, says Will Wilkinson, chairman of the college board of governors.

He said a group of centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials here Thursday "knew we have been in many funds. If we start one course, we have to stop others."

Terming this manoeuvre a trade-off, Mr. Wilkinson continued: "The board has to decide where can it make the trades, and where does it fall within the budget?"

Here in Belleville college president pointed out area hospitals have been clamoring for dental staff. He said the crux of the matter is getting the provincial ministry of health to transfer funds to the provincial ministry of colleges and universities which would then provide them to Loyalist.

Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, noted there is a "huge capital investment required" for starting the course.

He said Durham College has such a course and has sent information to the Bellville and Peterborough area stressing a good deal of preference will be given to potential course students here as well as the Toronto and Oshawa area it serves.

"That's in the mill now and they're ready to go," said Mr. King.

Bancroft Youngsters Preparing for Derby

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — North Hastings Parents should realize that if there is the furious sound of hammering in the garage and the air is dull and the wheels are missing and the kitchen table the boatrailer, chances are pretty good that a youngster in the family is getting ready to take part in the Bancroft Mayfest Soap Box Derby.

The derby is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and other service groups and is designed to give local and visiting kids a lot of old fashioned fun and to raise funds for the Local ARC Industries Workshop.

All manner of strange vehicles are being constructed in the area by the kids and their older advisors.

The organizing committee has decided to insist upon several safety musts for the race route and the competitors.

The race will be run in two divisions for 13-year-olds and those who are 13-16 and all racers must wear snowmobile or motorcycle helmets.

Only one "kidpower" per vehicle will be allowed in the race.

The final route for this grand jyts of the soapbox circuit has not been decided yet but by race day all the wrinkles will have been ironed out.

Since a portion of the purpose of the race is to raise money for the local ARC Industries Workshop, each youngster entering must have at least one sponsor who will pay on the basis of each yard travelled by the soapbox car.

Entry forms will be available at the Chamber of Commerce tourist information booth in Bancroft and at some of the area schools.

Included in the entry will be a waiver which must be signed by the racer's parents.

Races start at 2 p.m. on Sunday May 18, however all registrations must be completed by 1 p.m. that day.

Any soap box creations that are in Bancroft and operable are invited by the Bancroft Lions Club to participate in the parade to be held Saturday, May 17.

Andras Plans Quick Action To Move 3,000 Refugees

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Robert Andras said Thursday the government will move quickly to bring 3,000 South Vietnamese refugees to Canada.

He told the Commons that Canada will take 1,500 of the refugees evacuated from Saigon by the United States and an additional 1,000 who left the South-east Asian country on their own.

Outside the House, Mr. Andras said the provinces are being consulted on where the refugees will settle.

Normal immigration procedures would be waived for those who could satisfy the government that they "found persecution if they were to return to South Vietnam."

Mr. Andras said the cabinet has not decided whether to recognize the new regime in South Vietnam.

Saigon surrendered Tuesday to the Communists ending five years of war. The Viet Cong, backed Provisional Revolutionary Government has taken over control of the country.

Before the country surrendered, 122 war orphans were flown to Canada and Mr. Andras announced priority on landed immigrant status to 14,000 South Vietnamese who have relatives in Canada. He predicted that no more than 1,000 of those persons will make it to Canada.

Mr. Andras said the cabinet's decision Thursday to take 3,000 refugees does not mean Canadians was partially due to a United States appeal.

He did not say whether Canada will take more people if the United Nations declares a mass refugee situation.

In the Commons Wednesday, he said refugees applying for landed immigrant status would be dealt with on an individual basis because the UN had not declared a mass refugee situation.

However, he described the government's decision Thursday to accept 3,000 persons as "an initial response."

Bill Studied

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation to establish the long-promised federal human rights commission is under study by cabinet, Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said Thursday. The commission would act to uphold all aspects of civil rights, including women's rights and discrimination on the basis of sex.

Mr. Sharp gave no indication when it will be introduced but said in the Commons the government wants to proceed. He described the proposed legislation as extremely complex.

Ontario Plans Loans To Aid Young Farmers

TORONTO (CP) — Agriculture Minister William Stewart announced Thursday a $25-million loan program for young farmers in Ontario.

He told the legislature, the government will guarantee bank loans at the prime interest rate plus one per cent to help farmers aged 18 to 35 establish themselves.

Under terms of the Ontario Young Farmers Credit Program, payments in the first two years of the 10-year loan would be made on interest only, he said.

The minister said about 30 per cent of diploma graduates and 40 per cent of degree holders of agriculture courses are returning to farm land.

He said the province wants to encourage and aid young people returning to the land.

Mr. Stewart said applications for the program to be administered by agricultural representatives will be available as soon as possible.

Mr. Stewart also announced a doubling to $40 of special grants to farmers if Northern Ontario.

He said the province last year spent $60 million in direct grants to farmers through tax rebates, administration of loans and the milk production incentive program.

Eric Winkler, management board of cabinet, told the legislature, the minister was presenting his ministry esti-

Arabs Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Arab countries are doing more than their share in financing aid for developing countries, the leader of a Kuwaiti delegation to Ottawa for talks with the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) said Thursday.

The Arab members of the Organization for Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) contributed about $17.4 billion of development aid in 1974. This compares with about $11 billion in aid by the member countries of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), said Abdulaziz Al-Hamad, director-general of the Kuwait fund for Arab economic development.

mates for the 16th time in that time.

"This will not be his last time," he predicted.

There has been speculation Mr. Stewart would not seek re-election as he lost his riding of Middlesex North in redistribution of seats.

Mr. Stewart has not announced his intention.

Chief Is Critical Of Province's Stand

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Resources Secretary Allan Grossman and Jack Stokes (NDP-Thunder Bay) exchanged angry words Thursday over statements by the chief of White Dog reserve about the province's solution to mercury-polluted fish.

Mr. Stokes told the legislature that Chief Roy McDonald had accused the government of an "election gimmick and window dressing" in announcements earlier this week that a solution had been found to the problem.

Ministers Will Study Details of Income Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Welfare ministers agreed Thursday to move into a new phase of their overhaul of social security programs by investigating the cost, levels of assistance and other details of a proposed guaranteed income system.

The agreement came near the end of a two-day federal-provincial conference of ministers which at one point seemed ready to fall apart over a basic divergence of views between Quebec and some other provinces on one hand and the federal government.

On Wednesday, Mr. Lalonde had proposed one income program for persons unable to work and another for the working poor.

Ottawa would pay about 70 per cent of the estimated $1 billion more than current costs that was required to bring the program to fruition, Mr. Lalonde offered.

As the meeting—the sixth since the overhaul was announced two years ago—concluded, the ministers said they had unanimously agreed to look at the two-section program.

Mr. Lalonde stressed later that this did not mean all provinces felt it was the best possible plan but that the various governments were all willing to go along with it.

Mr. Lalonde said the implementation of the income support plan on his proposed target of April 1, 1976, would depend upon the work done by fall

Opposition Urges Opinions Of Farmers Get Attention

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition agricultural critics urged the government Thursday to listen more closely to farmers before drafting farm legislation.

The debate came as the Commons resumed debate on a bill to stabilize incomes of grain farmers by setting up a fund for poor crop years.

Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party spokesmen said the bill, introduced in December, falls short of what farmers need.

Joe Clarke (PC—Rocky Mountain) urged the government to "put back itself in a room in Ottawa." It should go into the country, hold public meetings and obtain direct advice from farmers.

This could be done when the bill, awaiting second reading, goes to committee for detailed study, he said. MPs on the committee should tour the country and meet farmers face to face.

The same advice was offered by Lorne Nystrom (NDP—Yorkton-Melville) who said first hand recommendations from the farms are paramount if the government wants meaningful legislation.

But Otis Lang, minister responsible for the wheat board, said in-depth talks already have taken place. Introduction of the bill was delayed to allow full consultation with farm groups, he said.

The proposed legislation is a redrafted version of a bill originally introduced in 1970. It was withdrawn in the face of heated criticism.

The new proposal would give farmers the option of paying two per cent of their gross cash receipts up to $25,000 into a stabilization fund.' Maximum yearly contributions would be $500. The government would contribute $2 for every 1 put in by farmers.

The plan would apply to farmers in the wheat board's designated area—the Prairie by Mr. Lang.

"WHERE YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE"

You preach it. Now read why you should practice it. Every day.
"Drink your milk." If you think this applies just to growing children, you are wrong. Nobody ever stops needing the good nutrients in milk.
YOU ARE CERTAINLY AWARE of your children's daily need for milk.
But did you know that you need it too? Every day, just as they do?
Well, you do. Milk is just as important to adults as it is to children. It contains more nutrients needed by all ages than any other food that Nature provides.
All by itself, milk is an excellent source of no less than five nutrients of major importance to adult health. Here they are:—
Calcium. Calcium is a factor in the maintenance, and repair, of bones and teeth. Milk is rated "excellent" as a source of this important mineral.
Protein. You think "meat"? Think "milk". Because milk is an excellent source of the same quality protein found in meat. (Bet you didn't know that!)
Riboflavin. One of the B Vitamins, Riboflavin is a factor in keeping you healthy. And what is an excellent, readily-available and economical source of it? Milk.
Vitamin A. Another basic factor in maintaining health in adults and children. Whole milk is an excellent source of this vitamin.
Phosphorus—of which milk is also an excellent source—works with calcium to maintain good bone condition throughout the whole of one's adulthood.
Wait. There's more to the story: milk is also considered a good source of Thiamine, another needed health factor. And, in Ontario, Vitamin D is almost always added as well.
In short, it's the deficiencies in milk that are hard to find! Just about the only important nutrients it cannot supply are iron and Vitamin C, both of which it has, but only in small amounts.
Now you know how much benefit milk can be for you, an adult. And, you will remember, you once drank it every single day ...through all of your childhood.
Maybe the time has come to start again.
"Every day is what it takes."
To get the most out of milk, make it a daily habit. Just the way you brush your teeth.
Fortunately, nothing could be much easier to make a habit of than milk. You don't have to mix, stir, cook. Just pour...and drink.
You don't have to revise your food habits, either. You can make room for milk in your daily meals simply by adding a glass to breakfast, lunch or dinner. If you have coffee breaks during your day, you can do yourself a real favour by making one a milk break instead.
Noonday soups can often be made with milk instead of water. Extra creamy as well as extra good!
And if you're counting calories, make your calories count—by drinking milk every day. It contains more nutrition per calorie than any other readily obtainable food!
Another benefit from milk.
There is one other aspect of your re-instating yourself as a daily milk drinker which deserves your very serious consideration.
It is this: if your children grow up seeing you, an adult, accepting milk as a fundamental part of your daily food intake, it will be a lot harder for them to get talked out of milk by their contemporaries who condemn it as "kid stuff." You're the daily proof that it isn't.
In this day of the junk-food explosion, that's a service that can be important.
And all the time you are setting an example for your children, you are doing a great big nutritional favour for yourself.
Two things to feel good about—with every glass of milk you drink!
Thank goodness for milk.
Over and above all its nutritional values—and no other single food outranks it—there's something uniquely satisfying about milk.
Perhaps this is because milk is such a basic food, so abundantly surrounded with associations of purity, wholesomeness, naturalness.
And, if you are like most Canadian women, you have already been away from milk for far too long.
Make friends with milk again. Every day. Starting now.
It isn't hard. And you won't regret it.

CP News Roundup

Minimum Pay Raise In Effect

TORONTO (CP) — The new minimum wage in Ontario of $2.40 an hour for employees in general industry, announced Jan. 22 by Labor Minister John MacBeth, went into effect Thursday.

The previous increase to $2.25 an hour went into effect last Oct. 1.

Mr. MacBeth said the new increase was "necessary to keep pace with the increased cost of living."

The rate for construction workers rises Thursday to $2.85 an hour from $2.50.

Rates Will Rise

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment rates will go higher this year and there is little prospect of significant improvement next year, Andrew Raynauld, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said here today.

Mr. Raynauld said a return to economic growth is expected late this year or early next year and that will stabilize the unemployment rate.

New Route

TORONTO (CP) — A new route for Highway 7 between Kitchener and Guelph was announced today by Ontario Minister of transportation and communications Lorne Maeck.

Jews Mistreated

OTTAWA (CP) — Anti-semitism in the Soviet Union is official policy and Canada should not find expression among Russian immigrants, Mrs. Victor Singer, an immigrant Russian physician, said Thursday.

Dr. Pulsky was given permission to emigrate to Israel by Soviet authorities last November, following a two-day trial in her private home which he said officials tried to use to send him to jail.

Demonstrators in front of the Soviet embassy here urged him be getting out of the Soviet Union, he said.

Extend Service

TORONTO (CP) — John Rhodes, Ontario ministers of transportation and communications, said Thursday that specialized, privately-operated social aid service, will aid the community of Adelaide in the Port Frances-Thunder Bay route.

Mr. Rhodes said in a statement to the legislature that the date the service will come into effect will depend on when construction of the new airport at Atikokan is completed.

Want Strike Right

TORONTO (CP) — The Public Service Coalition, an organization which claims to represent all Ontario public sector employees groups, appealed Thursday to the government to amend the Hospitals Arbitration Act, which prohibits hospital workers from going on strike.

In a news release the coalition protests a suit by Norfolk General Hospital against the union representing the hospital employees for calling an illegal strike two years ago.

Arts Praised

OTTAWA (CP) — The arts held the key to humanizing the world at a time when developments both at home and abroad give cause to question priorities and reassert priorities, Robert Welch, minister of culture and recreation, said Thursday.

In a speech to the Canadian Conference of the Arts, Mr. Welch said the arts, more than anything else, "allow us as individuals to grasp the essence of things rather than their appearance, and build from the inside out rather than from the outside in."

The ministry of culture and recreation has budgeted $45 million for support of the arts.

A text of Mr. Welch's remarks was released in advance.

Pleads Guilty

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — John Trombley, 26, of Windsor was sentenced Thursday to life imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to the shooting death last Dec. 17 of Gordon Tiger at a community Thursday night.

Trombley changed his plea to guilty from not guilty on the second day of his trial on a charge of murder punishable by life imprisonment.

Defence lawyer Don Tait said Renaud, who had $1,300, attempted to purchase marijuana from Trombley.

Mr. Tait said Renaud was shot when Trombley attempted to rob him of the money, a struggle developed and Trombley's gun discharged.

Open Drive

TORONTO (CP) — New Democrats have begun a major drive across Ontario to generate interest in the next provincial election, Ontario NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said Thursday.

Would Limit Fees

TORONTO (CP) — A private member's bill designed to prevent doctors from charging certain patients medical fees above those paid by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Albert Roy (L—Ottawa East).

Those exempted would be persons over 65 and those receiving public assistance.

"This is a free and democratic country and if doctors want to opt out of the provincial health plan, they are certainly free to do so," Mr. Roy declared. "Nevertheless, OHIP is intended to be a universal plan and the universality must be preserved.

"People on fixed and limited incomes may experience serious financial difficulties if their physicians and practitioners are accepted directly, not the fees in question are higher than the rate which OHIP is prepared to reimburse."

About 13 per cent of Ontario's medical practitioners bill general practitioners bill do not participate in the OHIP program.

Bonds Defended

TORONTO (CP) — Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell defended Thursday an issue of Ontario Hydro bonds which opposition members say is having a disastrous effect on interest rates.

He told the legislature that the $100-million issue was placed on the market in consultation with Hydro, the provincial treasury and advisers in the private sector.

Three Bodies Found

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three bodies pulled from the wreckage of a light plane in Lake St. Clair Thursday have been identified by police.

The dead are Charles Clevers, 32, a restaurant owner in Smithfield, Mich., Frederick Charbeneau, 39, of Madison Heights, Mich., and Jennifer Smith, 17, a student from Centerville, Mich., sister of the lone survivor of the Wednesday night crash.

Peterson Honored

OTTAWA (CP) — Jail pianist Oscar Peterson was one of six persons presented with diplomas of merit from the Canadian Conference of the Arts by Gov.-Gen. John Lyon at a ceremony Thursday night.

The awards have been presented since 1964 to honor contributions to the arts in Canada. The ceremony coincided with conference's annual meeting.

Final Reading Is Given To Pre-election Bills

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature gave final reading Thursday to five bills dealing with election financing reform and redistribution of ridings, clearing the way for a possible spring election.

Both bills now await only royal assent to become law.

The Redistribution Act, bill 22, first introduced last year and long debated, adds eight seats to the 117-member legislature.

Michael Cassidy (NDP—Ottawa Centre) made a final plea Thursday that the independent commission which drew the new boundaries reconsider the city of Toronto's 10 ridings. His amendment was defeated without a standing vote.

Bud Germa (NDP—Sudbury) also repeated his opposition to the bill, contending creation of eight new seats was costly and unnecessary.

Three of the new seats will be in metropolitan Toronto, one in Hamilton Region, two in Peel Region, one in the Kitchener-Waterloo area and one in Niagara Region.

The election financing bill, heralded by the government as the most progressive and extensive of its kind in Canada, also came in for some flak from opposition members.

Liberals unsuccessfully attempted to have a ceiling placed on total campaign spending, and candidates' personal debts after campaigns, require disclosure of funds already accumulated by parties and give the legislature the right to subpoint the books of the committees which will enforce the legislation.

The New Democratic Party also fought unsuccessfully for amendments to eliminate contributions from affiliate trade unions and party contributions and to make public funds and assets now held by all parties.

Teachers' Working Demands May Mean More Hirings

TORONTO (CP) — Requests for improved working conditions may force school boards to hire extra teachers, William Ross, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto School Board, said Thursday.

He said in an interview that these requests were at least as important as salary increases and expressed disappointment that teachers are bargaining with an "unrealistic" proposal.

The Ontario Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) is seeking a 25.5-per-cent salary increase for teachers in the next school year.

Mr. Ross cited the caution, Mr. Ross, chief negotiator for the Toronto board, is seeking for a guarantee of two 40-minute periods a day without a work assignment, excluding lunch break.

The teachers have also said they should not have to work more than two hours without a break or be required to supervise students in halls, washrooms and cafeterias, he said.

"It will take us considerable time to analyze the ramifications of these requests," said Mr. Ross.

The Metro negotiating team of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) submitted its proposal yesterday. Tuesday, calling for salaries of $17,250 to $27,250 as of Sept. 1.

The teachers are earning $8,300 to $20,000 this year, including a $400 cost-of-living allowance for all and incentive pay for those with six years or more of teaching experience.

The board says the average salary of a Metro high school teacher was $18,984 last Sept. 30.

The OSSTF also wants lump sum payments of $1,200 in each OSSTF member in Metro in compensation for recent alleged losses in purchasing power, and full cost-of-living allowance (COLA) equal to percentage change in the Metro component price index of Statistics Canada.

Principals would earn $42,675 to $44,125 next year under the OSSTF proposal, which includes the COLA might produce Canadian salaries range from $24,250 to $27,500, including a $500 COLA provision, as well as a

Maple Leaf Pipeline Proposed

CALGARY (CP) — The sponsors of an all-Canadian natural gas pipeline from Mackenzie Delta, known as the Maple Leaf Project, completed application to Ottawa Thursday by filing 22 volumes of supporting documents.

The sponsors—Alberta Gas Trunk Line (Canada) Ltd. of Calgary, Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, and Pacific Pipe Lines Ltd. of Calgary—filed the documents with the National Energy Board and the department of Indian affairs and northern development.

The Foothills group is seeking permission to build a pipeline system from the delta to connect with existing pipelines operated by Westcoast in B.C. and by AGTL in Alberta.

Total cost of the project is $3.5 billion, including $1.8 billion for 817 miles of pipeline needed to be laid from the delta to meet the joining of borders of the Northwest Territories B.C. and Alberta.

Explaining the documents at a news conference in Calgary, AGTL representatives said the proposal has several advantages over the Canadian Arctic Gas Study group's pipeline proposal.

Arctic Gas, a consortium of U.S. and Canadian companies, proposed a pipeline 2,500 miles of 48-inch pipelines to transport Alaskan and Mackenzie Delta gas, at a cost of about $7 billion.

Feeding Legislators Costs Ontario $116,172

TORONTO (CP) — The dining room in the legislative building at Queen's Park cost the taxpayers of Ontario $116,172 during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1975, a legislative committee has been told.

Robert Fleming, director of the building's administrative staff, told the standing committee on public accounts Thursday that $82,172 was spent to keep the dining room operating on a day-to-day basis and $34,000 was paid to the caterer for his services.

The dining room opened in March, 1974. J. J. Stanley Ltd. was hired by the caterer.

Bud Germa (NDP—Sudbury) said he was surprised by the total figure.

"I find it objectionable that the members' meals are being subsidized at this rate," he told committee chairman Pat Reid (L—Lake Nipissing).

The dining room serves breakfast, lunch and dinner while the legislature is in session. Only lunch is served when the legislature is adjourned.

Mr. Fleming said the dining room is open to members of the legislature, civil servants and members of the press.

A quorum in the 117-seat legislature is 20.

"I can't stop," said Frank Centro) said. "I think we should be headed for the legislature to answer a quorum call."

"Nobody's going to be able to say I wasn't in my seat to day."

An unofficial count Thursday showed 34 of the 78 progressive Conservatives, including 20 ministers, 20 of the 36 and 10 of 23 Liberals in the house.

Help Students

OTTAWA (CP) — The time has come to place less emphasis on second-language training for federal civil servants and more on helping high school students to become fluent in both official languages, Keith Cunningham, commissioner of official languages, said Thursday.

'New Money' Required For Share in Agency

MONTREAL (CP) — A $100-million payment to a Montreal travel agency would give the airline a toe-hold on a proposed nationwide travel agency, the Air Canada inquiry was told Thursday.

R. W. McGregor, president of McGregor Travel Co. Ltd. of Montreal, told the inquiry he received was simply to show Air Canada was seriously interested in a national string of travel agencies.

The government-owned airline would have to come up with "new money" to acquire a share in the country-wide agency. The new firm was to include McGregor Travel, a Montreal Canadian travel agency, and Air Canada its partners.

The deal with Air Canada last November also gave the Crown corporation an option on 30 per cent of the shares in McGregor Travel which it could exercise by spending one more dollar, he said.

Mr. McGregor said the proposal to create the new national agency is still alive. However, he has told me that the negotiations for amalgamation have stopped."

But Richard Holden, counsel for Mr. McGregor, told reporters that Air Canada can acquire 30 per cent of the shares in McGregor Travel which it could exercise by spending one more dollar, he said.

Who Cares About Problem Kids

Larry MacDonald's manner becomes increasingly serious as he talks about the problems facing his child care department within the Family and Children's Services.

He's not only worried about possible budget cuts and the nearly impossible task of stretching what funds he has now.

He's worried about not having a sufficient number of places to send older children who come into his care.

"We're really very near the end of our rope," he says. "The foster homes that take teen-agers are full. We have 19 spare homes at the moment, but they all accept children under nine years old.

"If it weren't for our group homes I don't know what we'd do."

Mr. MacDonald explains that one of the reasons there are more teen-agers in care now is that the provincial courts are sending fewer to training schools, and keeping more within their own communities.

When a teen-ager comes before the court, the judge decides whether he should be sent to training school, kept at home in his parents' care, or made a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

In some cases, he'll recommend that the teen-ager be sent to a treatment centre, although the waiting list is very long for centres subsidized places like Brownsdale ($139 a day per child). If he feels a teen-ager needs a private treatment centre, then the Children's Aid Society is responsible for the cost, which ranges between $50 and $57 a day.

"We pay $2 a day now for each child who is kept in one of our group homes, for less that the $30-a-day cost for each teen-ager in training school," says Mr. MacDonald.

"If the courts would just pay us that $20 when they assign a child to one of our group homes, we could do so much.

"That money could be used for therapeutic work within that child's family and it would accomplish so much more."

This family-centred approach is typical of the way Larry MacDonald and his child care workers deal with problem teen-agers.

"The troubled kid is a light-bulb for a troubled family," he says. "A skilled family therapist can come in and help to change the situation that brought the teen-ager to court attention.

"There's untold strength within a family unit. Not everything the parents have done is wrong, thing understanding and corrective techniques by the family unit can help the parents to see that they do have power. They feel more confidence in the way they deal with their children's Aid Society.

"But hiring skilled professionals is not the kind of work costs money. And we just don't have it.

"I have 126 children in my department's care," he adds. "My annual budget have to live on is the $7 I had in Vancouver for the care of 32 children."

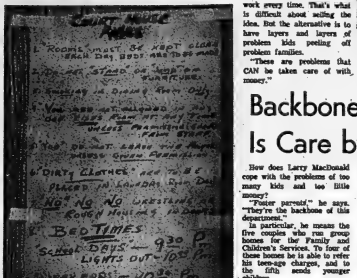
Taxpayers object to being asked to pay more toward the CAS budget, Mr. MacDonald says, but he is not sympathetic to their complaints. He feels that a community has the responsibility to correct the behavior and improve the living conditions of those children who become "problems."

"These children are the community's problem," he says. "Even though they may not be your direct concern, ultimately you will be touched. Social workers have to convince the public that money spent is helping these kids is an investment for the future. The earlier we start, the more we can do.

"Unfortunately, we can't promise that treatment will work every time. That's what is difficult about selling the idea. But the alternative is to have layers and layers of problem kids feeding off problem families.

"There are problems that CAN be taken care of with money."

"Brad" and Rose Budynski, foster parents for the Children's Aid Society group and court home near Queensboro, stand at the open door of their rambling old house in a characteristically welcoming pose. They are one of four couples who run homes to which troubled teen-agers are sent to live for several weeks or months at a time.



Backbone of Current System Is Care by Foster Parents

How does Larry MacDonald cope with the problems of too many kids and too little money?

"Foster parents," he says, "They're the backbone of this department."

In particular, he means the five couples who run group homes for the Family and Children's Services. To four of these homes he is able to refer his teen-age charges, and to the fifth send younger children.

One group home, run by Orvil (Brad) and Rose Budynski near Queensboro, is also the court house, to which teen-agers who have come before the juvenile court are sent instead of to a training institution.

In charge of the residence program in Mr. MacDonald's department is Ian MacLeod, who supervises the management and treatment of the teen-agers in the homes.

What Larry MacDonald and his staff look forward to is growth in this group-treatment field.

"I'd like to see more group homes, with professional, trained foster parents," he says.

"Our group homes now get good results. But we have teen-agers in them that might be better off in treatment centres.

"I think the community colleges could turn out graduates who are trained to work as professional 'parents'. Any time you put kids together in a group home you have to have treatment available, and a planned approach.

"These kids need to learn that there are rules they can't ignore if they're going to get along in society."

One of the ways that Mr. MacDonald would like to help troubled teen-agers adjust is by the creation of hostels, or boarding houses, under the management of the Children's Aid Society.

Until he has sufficient funds to do the kind of in-family care he regards as ideal, Mr. MacDonald sees the hostel as a flexible and useful alternative, in order to foster both independence and social conformity.

"But I don't know if that's popular or not," he says. "Would Belleville tolerate a hostel situation for these kids?"

MARMORA IODE

A film about activities at Marmora elementary schools and Centre Hastings Secondary School was shown to the members of Marmora Chapter IODE recently, at the Dekro Public Library.

Alan Sutt, principal of Earl Prentice School, was in charge of the film and answered questions from members on various aspects of education.

Helen Meiklejohn reported that a large number of posts have consented to take part in the Craft and Hobby Show which the Marmora IODE is sponsoring at the Marmora Town Hall on May 24.

Correspondence consisted of a letter from Robert Earich, principal of Sacred Heart School, thanking the members on behalf of the ten students who visited the Ontario Science Centre on April 11 as a guest of Marmora Chapter.

A letter of resignation from Regent Alice Ayler was received with regret. Mrs. Ayler reported that she and her husband would be leaving the area soon.

Services committee chairmas, Vi Parks, reported that a bale valued at $367.00 had been forwarded to IODE headquarters.

IS YOUR DIET BEING SABOTAGED?

Many people deliberately or unconciously sabotage the dieting of someone they supposedly love. Physicians specializing in weight control say "sabotaging spouses" constitute one of the profession's most serious problems. Have you dreamed of losing those unwanted pounds and finally started dieting—only to have your slender spouse bring home pastries for dessert? Read how dieting can be opposed by jealous husbands, possessive mothers, sefishness of a loved one or mistaken fear for a dieter's health. Dawn-to-Midnight Labor — Maids Get $46 Monthly

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — When a white family moves into a new house in South Africa, their first visitor is often an African, asking to become their servant.

In Johannesburg alone, official figures show that two households a week have an African woman domestic.

Most of the maids live in one of the outbuildings at the bottom of the garden, coming to the house to do chores from dawn after-changing to cooking the dinner.

Their duties begin with preparing the family breakfast and often end at midnight, watching children until their parents return from an evening out.

On average the resident maids work a six-day week, a 18-hour day and receive about $46 a month.

Sam Olivier, a member of the South African Institute of Race Relations, believes most of the maids are being exploited and has launched a campaign to get them a better deal.

She wants a minimum wage of about $70 a month, an eight-hour day and a five-day week.

It is doubtful whether the "new deal" will be quickly implemented. Many middle and top-class whites probably could not afford to pay much more than they do now for what which includes food and all utilities.

There is no shortage of labor. The 1961 census showed that a family does not have a servant. Yet, neighbors get might call and say: "I have a maid, madam. Can she work for you?"

The obvious affection usually exists between the maids and the white children they care for, often while the mother works. The division of spare-time field comes later.

But the problem has led Mrs. Gordon to set up what she calls centres of contact, where maids meet on their traditional Thursday afternoon off.

The aim of the centres, usually private homes or with women, is to help handle the maids' boredom and loneliness.

Many maids speak three languages — their own, the one laid up that day" or the maids would make a mess," Mrs. Gordon said.

Only the Temple Emmanuel, a synagogue in Johannesburg, has allowed maids in the social activities.

The centres cannot solve the maids' problem of sexual loneliness, caused by a law which states that their husbands or boy-friends cannot live with them.

His vital domestics sometimes work part-time, leaving their townships on the edge of the cities at dawn to arrive in time to cook the family breakfast.

After a morning of washing, ironing and cleaning, the part-timers make their way home when they have prepared the lunch-time dishes.

Some maids supplement their young children strapped in blankets on their backs as they go about their chores.

Although the majority of white families give clothes, food and advice, the African children are, under law, "illegal" residents.

The children's proper place is in the township, where they can be registered with the local authorities and then get a place in school.

But the mothers usually prefer to keep their children, rather than farm them out to relatives or friends in the townships.

So the children grow up reluctantly by schools and potential employers because still, daily they do not exist without a government pass showing their place of birth and right to enter certain areas.

"The situation is desperate," Mrs. Gordon said. "The children become drifters in adolescence and turn to what they see as their only option, crime."

'Women Workers Losing Ground'

OTTAWA (CP)—"The lot of women in the Canadian labor force is getting worse, in spite of all the posters, buttons, slogans and so-called advertisements," says Madeline Parent, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian textile and Chemical Workers Union.

Speaking at a Women and Society lecture series, Ms. Parent said she is disappointed with International Women's Year.

"The gap is widening between male and female pay and women are being channelled contingent to job ghettos," she said.

She accused the federal and provincial governments of not strictly refusing to see that women get equal pay for equal work.

Ms. Parent, 56, who has spent 25 years as a trade union organizer, said Canadian women are paid 7 billion annually less than men in identical jobs, 2.5 billion more than in 1967.

Government statistics showed women in office jobs in the Ottawa area earned $3.50 more a week less than men doing the same work, despite equal experience and advertising we hear every day about International Women's Year.

The increased tendency was to shuttle women into low-paying, low-security jobs. The number in clerical jobs has increased from 62 per cent in 1962 to 70 per cent in 1972, she said.

Equal-pay legislation had been of little benefit to women, she said. Many government investigators sided openly with employers during the investigation of complaints.

Ms. Parent said international unions have done little because of their American affiliation and sympathetic to the plight of Canadian women.

In the textile trade, where 75 per cent of the 80,000 workers are women, international unions tolerated a situation where men earn 1.11 a week and women 2.11 for identical jobs.

She urged women to concentrate on a battle for better equal-pay legislation and more responsive trade unions.

"Let's study our rights and set our priorities. We don't want pottery or buttons, we want equal pay."

Ann Landers

She's an Office Worker Part-time Stripper, Too

Doris Clark

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a hospital [illegible] Working with me is a girl I'll call Betsy.

Betsy supports her handicapped mother and I admire her for that. But I recently found out she has another job. She's a stripper at a downtown theatre.

Since I learned about Betsy's other "career" I've been quite distant and she has noticed it. So have others. She's popular in this office and I've been talking some heat since I've cooled toward her. Should I tell them about Betsy's line of business? I'd hate for people to think I'm a snob.—Sadet (So Far)

Dear Q. S. F.: Unless Betsy's performs with a sack over her head neocon is sure to learn of her other "career." Be glad you do. As for your coolness, that's your business. But I'll bet several others have noticed it and wouldn't trust her differently if they knew.

Dear Ann Landers: Hey, you with all the good advice. I need help. I've been trying to "forget about" my ex-husband for whenever I run into him, that old pain starts gnawing at me again.

Forgetting is easier said than done. What do you suggest?—Remembering

Dear R: You're remembering the wrong things, honey. Instead of reliving the tender moments you had with the handsome devil, think of the other two-timing bridgework—the nights you waited the floor wondering where he was, and what's in Recall exactly what it was that made you decide to "throw the bum out." Then you get your head REALLY straightened out, that old pain will be gone.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I invited some out-of-town friends to visit us for the weekend. We have an extra bedroom and told them we'd prepare it for them.

I couldn't think of the name of the motel I called for directory assistance and told the operator my problem. She said it's very clear a motel isn't scary but it is impossible for me to give you the number if you don't have the name of the place.

I told her I'd recognize the name if I heard it, and asked her please read off the list of motels. Her reply was, "Why don't you look in the telephone book?"

I didn't need HER to tell me THAT. I thought the telephone company was supposed to p-r-o-t-e-c-t me.

We pay our phone bills every month and it wouldn't kill them to help a subscriber out. We're putting themselves on a little—TV not to be dangled.

Dear T'D: Do you have any idea how many motels there are in Birmingham? Information operators should not be expected to read off lists. Your request was unreasonable.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been in the service and my mother saved every one of your columns. I'm home now and I'm a big fan.

I just got into the letter from the weirdo doctor who suggested that the wife of the man in the letter be "fixed" with a fly swatter.

How can a person get a sight's sleep if he has to worry about being afflicted for doing a normal thing like snoring? I couldn't believe my eyes.

My grandpa used to snore and it was a very comforting sound. He was a wonderful person and I miss him. I'll be up there made on all fast sale. So here's a message to the snorers of the world: Don't quit. Not everyone hates you. Seems as if love prevails.—L.D.

Dear J.D.: Speak for yourself, Buddy.

Be Sure the Fight Is Worth It

Whatever situation you meet in life, consider first whether it is really worth fighting for.

Try to keep your mind constantly on the positive aspects of life and on actions which can improve your situation. Try to forget everything that is ugly or unpleasant but inevitable. This is perhaps the most efficient way of achieving what you have called voluntary mental diversion or distraction.

When faced with a task which is very painful, yet indispensable to achieve your ends, don't procrastinate; call right into it and eliminate the pain, instead of gently easing the nerves.

Dr. Selye

From "Stress Without Distress"

by Hans Selye, M.D.

Dr. Selye points out in his book that we all have our limits and that even though we want to reach out in love, there is no sense wasting our time "trying to befriend a mad dog". But he does give us the nerve to stand up to agressive tasks with courage.

Dear Doris: Please help me find a young gentleman friend has just informed me he is "gay". He has asked me to please understand.

Books from the library tell about it but not how the rest of us can best deal with that situation or how "gay" people really feel inside.—Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: The dictionary word is homosexual. This means that your gentleman friend does not have the normal sexual impulses toward the opposite sex, but rather towards his own sex.

This difficulty may have originated in early childhood; but [illegible] with his mother, making him turn for affection and devotion to the father, or for one of several other reasons. The result is understood for the person who cannot adjust in normal society, and experiences compelling urges, physical ones, toward his own sex.

You are fortunate that your friend was honest with you about this. There have been homosexuals who have gone to great lengths in order to conceal the fact of their condition, and who have made for unhappiness for any partner.

There is help to be had for homosexuals, and many who went it badly enough. Your friend is a human being, needing love and understanding, but not your love. I am sending you a booklet that you will find helpful in helping your friend.

Dear Doris: Tell "Silk Flagging" of this save way of getting rid of those pesky smoke:

Get in bed and sweat it out — for two days. Borrow hot water bottles and wool blankets. Drink several cups of very warm water. When you sweat, keep covered.

After the third day feel gets wet with sweat, move your clothes and go to sleep if you can.

Your sheets will actually drip with the nicotine expelled with the sweat. You may feel weak but strength will come back, and with it the knowledge that you will be gone. The important thing is that you've overrun and treat yourself like a fat patient, until it's over.

— A Sympathizer.

Dear Sympathizer: I discussed your letter with my expert on quitting the smoker — Bob Lashley. He says there is no nicotine in the body to sweat out, and that if you smoked hard enough to have a perceptible nicotine [illegible] your works, you'd be well preserved and classed as a Nicotic mummy — but certainly not alive.

However, my technician Bill went with some. The [illegible] have been revealing and they inspection for a less time. There is nothing to it. won't work for someone who's [illegible] your breath works for many, actually. But [illegible] should get air conditioned reflexes to drop away all of a sudden; and don't give up-to-the-second warning is very real.

Mother's Day Help

A week from Sunday is the day of the year when we honor the amazing women of our universe — Mothers. And we usually declare our appreciation with a small gift. But this year, as another less usual, should be chosen with care and thought. Why not give Mom a gift that will help her around the house? Like a Wringer Washer from Dowsley's, 257 Front St. The ads, that's been added in handsome white and pastel colors and a wide choice of custom laundry, lay cases, blankets and clothes in between. Mom will appreciate the ease of Dowsley's service. You'll appreciate the economical service and so will your mother!

There're All There

I've told you a few times that Sidney Inn is not just a place for evenings and gifts, but it's also a Garden Centre for you. Besides all the extras and neat notebox I've mentioned before, Sidney Inn now has terrariums and rose bushes, also the accessories to make your terrarium a unique piece in the job you prefer. And there's that neat old Sidney Inn convenience. Many a gardener doesn't get a chance to shop for his or her supplies during the normal working hours. Sidney Inn knows this and you can shop every night at the Sidney Inn until 11 pm. So now, when someone ask you how your garden grows, you can reply: "The Sidney Inn way."

Busy Cameron Weekend

When I called Donnah Cameron this week, she was in the midst of the preparations for her show at the Knights of Columbus Hall tonight and tomorrow night in Trenton. This art show is in aid of the Cancer Society and Donnah Cameron's paintings and of Donnah's paintings will be shown as a prize. There are still tickets available for the show at $2.50 each and Donnah will be there as well. Sounds like a feast of entertainment in support of a good cause — two good causes actually: arthritis assistance and art's. Remember that in the lower gallery of the Corby Galley scene too. So you can see that Donnah has been busy and will be, but never too busy to show you the latest in Corby Gallery, its ashes west of Bedesworths on the Rednersville Rd.

The All-Size Shop

That sounds as if I'm talking about some kind of shop which expands and contracts at will. Well, Sheila 321 at 321 Front St. doesn't do that, but it is certainly accommodative to its clothing needs of Belleville and area women. Sheila 321 now carries shoes, from 5 to 9½. Owner Connie Mitchell tells me that she's received some very nice comments from women dressed in past suits, in a variety of colors. But no matter what your shoe size, colour, width, or height, you're going to find exactly what you're looking for at Sheila 321. And you can get a new wig and some new jewellery at the same time. And don't forget that Sheila 321 is also the place to get your Mother's Day corsage or a sweater for maybe a pant-suit . . . or maybe . . . or maybe.

Tire Time

My friends at Vader's Car Sales, on College St., at North Front St. tell me that the time of reckoning is upon us for owners of radial tires; those radials, which, we're told, are more serious and more so with the warmer weather. Vader's not only have the tires, but they also have the most modern equipment for balancing wheels, and for aligning them. With Vader's new computer centre, they didn't feel around in getting the new equipment to match the new premises. Another reminder from Vaders: You need your radials balanced every 5,000 miles or at the time of winter. And for those of you who missed my warning of last week's report on Vader's, it's DATSUNS AT THOSE GREAT '74 PRICES, LEFT AT VADERS.

Not Just For TVs

For almost four months now, I've been talking about the great service of Superior TV, 198 Canniffon Rd. but usually within the context of television service only. I have been remiss! Superior also provides a full line of stereo and record players including car tape players. You have to admit, that that is a fantastic claim to service. And Superior will apply its same conscientious and prompt service to this area when it does to television. The same goes for radios, home or car or portable, and for the new line of "Stereo entertainment centre". And I guess that's what you'd call it alright.

Lovely Sundays

Hopefully, we are now, official on daylight, Fahrenheit or Celsius, into the 'Lovely Sunday' season. This means that the driving will be pleasant, the weather will be nice, that the changing and abundance of green and the temperature will ensure. And there is no more celebration to a Sunday drive than to The Coney Inn Chicken Shack at 1½ Mile Creek Between Picton, which overlooks the Picton harbor. The day has been born for The Inn. The Bay surroundings can match the day. And the food is always up to Sunday Dinner standards. So a Sunday — and a occasion — that you appreciate them. Visit the Inn On The Bay for Sunday lunch or dinner.

Seeing Your Way

Mike, if you've done your raking, as I have (sweat, heart,) your lawn is a masterpiece of greenness. Now, the leaves every and the flower beds now know why they are there again. But there's a way you could make everybody be aware of your work. Perhaps you help make a lot more easily that getting outside and walking around — which you can't do all the time. And that's to have Bellview Glass and Mirror, 1 Bellview Ave., install a picture door at your house. Not only could you get outside more easily, but also, the outside could get in too. Visit Bellview Glass or call them at 968-2725.

For A Large Family

A common complaint today amongst larger families is that everyone is thinking 'small family', including home builders. Carey Builders, 222 North Front St. has just the property — and it's a new one too — to suit the needs of a large family or for two families. It's a double house on Macdonald Ave. And it's not like a duplex. It's a true double house in appearance and construction. The property is only six months old and is of brick construction with three bedrooms, so you know you don't have a problem with noise. There is a large lot with it so large families will have lots of running and playing space. To get more details and a look, just call Carey Builders Real Estate at 968-6471.

Air-conditioning Answers

Metro-Schuster, the people who not only heat your home and provide you with Aquaflow Water Softners, are also experts on installing air-conditioning systems, both central and room units. According to Metro-Schuster, with an independent window type of installation, the average three-bedroom bungalow should have three units for maximum effect, and of course, these must be removed in the fall. The split system which is installed in the duct work of your furnace needs no removal and the compressor is left outside all year round. The latter system is considered to be the better, but doesn't have the portability of the windows. Al Bates at Metro-Schuster will be glad to answer any questions on either system. Just call him at 962-6241.

EMO Votes to Disband After Withdrawal of Govt. Support

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The Quinte Emergency Measures Organization (EMO) — the body responsible for emergency planning co-ordination of disaster recovery operations — is being disbanded, it was learned Thursday.

The executive committee of the EMO, including representatives from each of the municipalities served, met in Ben Bleecker Auditorium Thursday afternoon in panic a resolution dissolving the organization effective Aug 1.

The only vote to disband the EMO follows a year of financial uncertainty for the local chapter and similar organizations across the province.

The final word came a month ago when the provincial government announced it would no longer subsidize 20 per cent of the operating budget.

A letter received more recently directed EMOs to disband by the end of July or the province would not assume responsibility of paying job termination benefits to staff — a bill which totals more than $7,700 locally for holiday and sick time accumulation by director Angus Duffy and his secretary.

"This latest word really brings us right down to the crunch," said Belleville Mayor Robin Jeffrey, executive committee chairman.

Though it was apparent at the meeting that local municipal governments would not be prepared to assume full financial responsibility for the EMO, some members expressed optimism that other forms of funding could be obtained.

Mayor Jeffrey pointed out that the federal government had been approached earlier and that the answer had been no. Further, she said most councils had also declined their budgets or else they just couldn't afford to increase their financial share.

City Alderman Stu Meeks said he had "several organizations in mind that he would like to approach."

In the meantime, EMO staff have been asked to take inventory of communications equipment and supplies in preparation for July liquidation.

"We just have no alternative," said Mayor Jeffrey.

In the mean time, Disaster plans written by the EMO will be given to each municipality to be executed by municipal staff.

"We have to have something to act with in the event of an emergency," said Mayor Jeffrey.

In recent times, the EMO has played major roles in the windstorm that shook Brighton two years ago and Tweed last summer.

The EMO runs emergency drills in conjunction with Belleville General Hospital staff and makes its communications facilities and staff available for safety area events each year.

The organization had a budget of approximately $23,000 in 1974 and expected a budget of about $25,000 this year.

St. Thomas Looted Prior To Early-morning Blaze

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Officials investigating the early Wednesday morning fire which gutted St. Thomas' Anglican Church here have determined an unknown thief or thieves broke into the church vestry and stole a quantity of silverware some time before the fire began.

Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said Thursday the church was entered "we believe" by the rear door to the vestry-office on the north side of the church near the east end".

He said investigators removed debris from the vestry but could not find certain items made of silver which he said are believed stolen.

Chief Crosbie said no evidence has been discovered to link the intruders with the fire but, emphasized the investigation is continuing "to get other evidence" soon or it will "get cold".

He noted, however, quantity of liquid was found in a stairwell from an outside set of stairs leading into the basement.

He said samples have been sent to the Attorney-General's centre of forensic science in Toronto "to see if it's a petroleum by-product of any description".

Chief Crosbie said no witnesses have turned up who might have seen any suspicious persons near the church prior to the fire but Fire Marshal Services of the Ontario Fire Marshal's office in Toronto, Sam Morgan of city police are still conducting interviews.

Canon Peter Tett, the church rector, told The Intelligencer Thursday the missing articles were two silver chalices, one silver cup(a pated (brass) plate), two silver (gold wash and wine), a brass box and a chorburn that sits atop which holds bread).

He said parts of a silver tray and a silver flagon were discovered in the ash pile and is believed to be melted silver. In addition, part of a candle was found outside the east end of the church.

About the only items recovered which might be remains were a few brass dividers which are used to hold candles, he added.

Broken beer bottles were discovered under a tree at the front of the church, but Canon Tett dismissed their significance saying youths frequent the church to drink and smoke on the east grounds near the old gravestones.

Wiring, Furnace Not Fire Cause Suspects

Canon Peter Tett, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church which was gutted by fire of an unknown cause early Wednesday morning, says he does not believe the building's wiring or furnace could have started the fire in the church.

He told The Intelligencer Thursday the church was rewired a few years ago and a new furnace installed in 1970 and no problems have ever been encountered with either one.

Canon Tett pointed out the church furnace was enclosed in a fireproof room with asbestos. He explained a door to the room was always left ajar but had been closed which would automatically shut and lock should the heat somehow reached a certain level.

He said in addition there were no lights on in the church at the time and with the warm weather, the furnace would have been firing infrequently.

Montreal Security Firm First To Locate Office in City

Metro Security Services Ltd. of Montreal announced the opening of a Belleville branch at a civic reception Thursday.

The announcement means the first such company dealing in industry and commercial security service to locate an office in the city. Two other firms operate in the area but have no offices here.

Mike Agar of the Montreal reading a newspaper while he is supposed to be guarding a plant at night is gone," said Don Barnes, a principal of the company.

He said his company staff are trained in a broad range of security service including fire and first aid areas.

"We try to offer the industry a well-rounded package and tailor the package to the individual's needs, said Mr. Barnes.

The company was formed by Charles Barnes in Montreal in 1968. Since then, his sons Don and John Barnes have taken over — expanding the service in 19 centres ranging from Montreal to Vancouver.

"The business is concentrated in Ontario," said Mr. Barnes.

Roger Fisher, formerly a from public relations officer in the Toronto branch, has been named manager in Belleville.

"We will be hiring on staff (generally men retired military ranks) as business begins to grow," said Don Barnes.

The company is wholly family-owned and Canadian owned with no shareholders.

Mr. Barnes said the company chose Belleville as a central eastern Ontario site because of the city's growth potential.

The company took three locations in Belleville in recent years and spokesmen said each survey looked more encouraging as industry and a market grew steadily in and around Belleville.

He said all staff will be hired from the local labor force.

Space Now Available For More Tech Students

MADOC — Loyalist College still has sufficient room to accommodate about 400 extra students, Herb Thomas, college president, said here Thursday.

He told centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials in the schools of technology and business, "we do have excess facilities".

Will Wilkinson, board chairman, said the board initially invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in technology equipment and then found the students were lacking.

He said in some courses there were "costly equipment and costly instructors and very few students". However, last year there was "a significant increase in technology students," he noted.

But Loyalist can still accommodate more, said Mr. Wilkinson. "If still think students felt they had to go to the colleges in the big cities," he commented.

Loyalist Controls Tightens

MADOC — James Auld, provincial minister of colleges and universities, has told Loyalist College officials to "tighten their belts a little more".

Will Wilkinson, chairman of the college board of governors, told a board meeting at Mother's Restaurant near here Thursday he and Herb Young, college president, met with Mr. Auld April 2 at a session of provincial college presidents and heard the message in Toronto.

He said Mr. Auld advised to make the best use of funds available but left it to each board on how best to use those funds.

Garden Plots Proposed

MADOC — That 25.5 acres of land Loyalist College purchased recently for the north of its campus for road access and future expansion purposes may turn into garden plots for apartment dwelling in time.

Fried Bellstedt told the college board of governors here Thursday the proposition will be an expansion of a planned city program on other land in the area.

Zoning Bylaw Draft Expected Next Week

Belleville should get a look at the first draft of the zoning bylaws to accompany its official plan within a week, it was learned at a meeting of the Quinte Planning Board Thursday.

While the official plan — a set of maps with little written text — has been in the hands of the province for several weeks, the consultants are only just putting the finishing touches on the written portions.

Responding to a question by Belleville Mayor Robin Jeffrey, deputy planning director Frank Stokmans said he expected the bylaws would arrive by next week.

The bylaws are often referred to as the "teeth" or the formal enforcement of the official plan.

The plan — though it is designed to be a document of continual modification and revision — is expected to be adopted sometime within the city's boundaries.

Congregation to Decide Reconstruction Format

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The congregation of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by an early Wednesday morning fire, will make the final decision on the form of reconstruction to take place, says Canon Peter Tett, church rector.

He told The Intelligencer Thursday the decision will hinge on the board-by-narrow decision of the Synod of the Ontario Heritage Foundation for funds which will help restore the church as an historical site and the remaining structure.

Barring that, the congregation will have to investigate construction of a new, modern church on the existing location at the corner of Church and East Bridge streets, said Tett.

He related a past suggestion which, if taken would mean the sale of church property on the south side of East Bridge St. which includes the rectory and parish hall. These facilities would become part of a new and larger church across the street.

The schedule of the vestry will hold a meeting Wednesday in the parish hall at 7:30 p.m., Tett said.

This body of about 24 people is composed of members, lay delegates to synod, various heads of organizations and other key people in the parish appointed by the incumbent to committee each year.

The schedule decision has to be made by the vestry of the church, Tett commented. Tett, the vestry is made up of all members of the church.

Break-in Reported

A break-in at a law office at 218 Church St. was discovered after 1 a.m. Monday was confined to the basement storage area, an official there said today.

He said four doors in the basement were forced open police have said nothing was or disturbed.

Chief Douglas Crosbie says police theorize the unknown intruders were seeking two pieces of heavy equipment which had been stolen last week from the Canadian National Railway intruction class in the Quinte Hotel.

The heavy equipment taken is that theft and the two pieces of equipment ordered under the building. Chief Crosbie says the intruders would have accumulate those items had been stolen and were being housed there.

Society Sings For Church

The Belleville Choral Society is presenting a special choral service Sunday, May 11, at Bridge St. United Church at 8 p.m.

A spokesman from the society said the offerings will be used to start a music fund for St. Thomas Church, Bridge St. which includes the rectory and parish hall. These facilities would become part of a new and larger church across the street.

The schedule of the vestry will hold a meeting Wednesday in the parish hall at 7:30 p.m., Tett said.

This body of about 24 people is composed of members, lay delegates to synod, various heads of organizations and other key people in the parish appointed by the incumbent to committee each year.

The schedule decision has to be made by the vestry of the church, Tett commented. Tett, the vestry is made up of all members of the church.

College Board Stresses 'Non-glamor' Courses

MADOC — Benefits of technology and business courses in community colleges should be stressed in high school students before they are attracted by more glamor courses, says Fred King, dean of faculty of technological services at Loyalist College.

He told centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials here Thursday, "we have to somehow transmit the needs of the area and the province to students before they are entrenched in high schools".

Ernst Koehler, director of the college school of business and communications pointed out the Loyalist advertising campaign has been directed at technical, vocational and business courses.

"Glamor courses have sold themselves," he commented.

Wiring, Furnace Not Fire Cause Suspects

Canon Peter Tett, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church which was gutted by fire of an unknown cause early Wednesday morning, says he does not believe the building's wiring or furnace could have started the fire in the church.

He told The Intelligencer Thursday the church was rewired a few years ago and a new furnace installed in 1970 and no problems have ever been encountered with either one.

Canon Tett pointed out the church furnace was enclosed in a fireproof room with asbestos. He explained a door to the room was always left ajar but had been closed which would automatically shut and lock should the heat somehow reached a certain level.

He said in addition there were no lights on in the church at the time and with the warm weather, the furnace would have been firing infrequently.

School, Churches Offer Aid to House Parish

The activities of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by fire this week, will continue in the parish hall on East Bridge St.

Canon Peter Tett, church rector, said Thursday the 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. services will be held in St. Agnes' Chapel located in the basement of the hall. It can hold between 80-90 people.

Other services will be held in the upstairs room which can maximize about 200 people. Seating is not a problem, said Rev. Tett quoting Mr. Chalk," Rev. Tett.

He estimated there are about 400 members which actively support the church. The average attendance for the last two months and throughout the year is about 200. The gutted church has a capacity of about 300 persons.

Rev. Tett said the principal of the diocese of Ontario Archbishop has offered the use of the school auditorium which has an organ. If congregation chooses to go after it favorable.

Services might have been held in auditorium.

He added Christ Church has also offered the use of its basement and furnishings which were lost in the fire of the church on Station St., now closed.

Rev. Tett said other churches have offered their facilities for weddings which would have been held in the now-destroyed church. Thomas' Church from Mary through April. They are St. Paul's Presbyterian, Christ Church, St. Margaret's and Holy Trinity in Shannonville.

And countless telephone calls have been received from concerned parishioners and people from centres such as Toronto and Ottawa, he said. Contributions to the building fund have already been made.

Original Structure

This is the original version of the present-day St. Thomas' Anglican Church, officially opened on March 21, 1858. Much of the original stone still remains in the existing structure.

Arts Centre Deficit May Scuttle Plans

MADOC — A Quinte Community Arts Centre will only become a reality if Loyalist College Board of Governors can assume the $18,000 deficit the existing arts council will incur by the college academically, says Will Wilkinson, board chairman.

"The real hangup for the arts council is the deficit," said Mr. Wilkinson in an interview with The Intelligencer following the college board's meeting at Mother's Restaurant here.

Board member Fried Bellstedt provided the background to the proposed centre which is the result of a joint committee between the board and the Quinte Arts Council.

Mr. Bellstedt said the board has commissioned a consultant's report which is still confidential but the report is vague in the area of the projected deficit and possible academic value.

Mr. Bellstedt said he would prefer more information is perhaps approach the provincial government, colleges and universities for funds. The proposed centre could be designated as one location for the Quinte Festival.

"No one has looked at the deficit in the way it might benefit the college academically," commented Mr. Wilkinson. "Maybe there is surplus in the area of academic study."

He said the final report will be made public after the college area is detailed.

Northern Profit Up in Quarter

Northern Electric has announced a "substantial increase" in first quarter earnings in the first quarter of 1975 over the same period of 1974.

Sales in the period totalled $284.7 million as of March 31, 1975, in connection with planning and of the semi-conductor business of Microsystems International Ltd., earnings amounted to 43 cents a share, up from 33 cents a share in the first quarter of 1974.

Consolidated net earnings in the quarter were $13.1 million in 1975 compared with $13.1 million in 1974 — an increase of 37 per cent.

School Budget Briefing

Hastings County Board of Education superintendent of business Keh Wormald talks over education budget with board chairman Jean Hutchison at a press briefing Thursday. The budget reflects a 12-per-cent increase to municipalities.

DENIS POTVIN

Potvin, Smith Claim Clarke Kicked in Overtime Winner

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — A couple of controversial goals, including the winner by Bobby Clarke, raised bitter feelings as Philadelphia Flyers scored their second victory over New York Islanders, 3-2 in overtime Thursday night.

Clarke, the star centre of the Flyers, went for Ron Lonsberry's rebound and the puck slid under Islanders goalie Billy Smith at 2:56 of the overtime period.

It gave the Flyers a 3-0 lead in the National Hockey League series. The third game is scheduled Sunday afternoon in Uniondale, N.Y.

Both Smith and defenceman Denis Potvin insisted that Clarke kicked the puck in. Goalie Wayne Stephenson of the Flyers had said the same thing about the second Islanders goal by J. P. Parise in the second period.

Clarke explained: "The puck hit my skate and it went right back under him (Smith). I never kicked it."

When told that Potvin had charged that Clarke did, in fact, kick it in, Clarke replied tolerly:

"Well, ask him about Parise's goal. And you know what the referee said. 'It went in on Moose Dupont's stick.' And the referee was standing five feet away."

"I was coming toward the puck. If I was going to kick it, it would have to look like a soccer kick for me to kick it. I definitely didn't kick it."

Defenceman Bill Inglis started the winning play at the red line and then Lonsberry took the puck at the blue line and got off a shot at Smith. "I just went for the rebound," Clarke said. "I really didn't have anything to do with the play. I just ended up in the right spot at the right time."

Potvin, who played a part in all four Islanders goals, and scored twice himself, said he saw Clarke kick it in.

"The puck came off Billy Smith's glove and it came over in front and I knew there was one of the wingers who had Bobby Clarke pretty well hung up.

"Clarke's stick was up in the air. I was close behind, about within stick reach of him. He just kicked the puck in and proceeded to push the rebound in an anxiety rim would do. You can't blame Bobby for it."

Potvin went over to referee Wally Harris and tried to explain what he thought happened. "He was right there and saw it. His best comment was to laugh in my face. I don't suspect very much."

Potvin was asked if he thought Harris was able to see the play.

"Definitely. He was in the proper position to see the play and I'm sure he did. Harris was on the goal line, maybe five feet to my left hand side of the net.

"It was very obvious to me and I'm sure that anybody that watches the film will be able to see it as clearly as I did."

A smart piece of work by Van Impe and Bernie Parent's downfall, 16 made the play that won goalie Gerry Meehan of Islanders broke his stick and skated to the bench for another. "If I had followed the play, I would have been at the face line without a stick," Westfall said ruefully.

Flyers built a 4-1 lead in the second period on goals by Bill Barber, Bernie Parent, Reggie Leach, Tom Bladon on a power play and Bill Barber.

Parise's goal cut the margin to 4-2 and then Parise and Potvin scored within 14 seconds in the third period to make it 4-4.

Both coaches Fred Shero of the Flyers and Al Arbour of the Islanders said they didn't see the winning goal. Arbour said: "I couldn't see it from behind the bench because my players were standing up, but our goaltender Smitty and our defence say Clarke rebound went out to him (Clarke) and he did kick it in. But I'm not using that as an excuse."

Arbour said that despite the loss, the momentum the Islanders gained from coming back to score three goals to tie the Flyers for a brief period would carry on into Sunday's third game.

"It's about time we started playing our game and let them chase us around. We've got to stop standing around and watch them play and we've got to start playing and have them watch us."

The Islanders had a slight edge in shots, 36-37, but it was strictly all Philadelphia's play in the first two periods.

Shero said he felt the long layoff in the game affected Flyers for opponents had left his team "mentally tired" and the Flyers showed it particularly in the first period.

"I'm happy for guys who didn't contribute to win. Now they'll be in a better frame of mind. This time we'll be out of the Islanders. At least I hope so. But you never know, we've been in the playoffs because they're dogs."

Aeros Soar Back

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Aeros have moved into the World Hockey Association final series for the second year in a row but San Diego coach Harry Howell figures the Aeros could have trouble against Quebec Nordiques.

Two goals by rookie Jim Sherritt, including one in an overtime period, rallied the Aeros in a 5-4 victory Thursday over Howell's Mariners for a 4-0 sweep of their best-of-seven semi-final series.

The best-of-seven final series starts Saturday night in Houston. The second game will be played in Houston on Tuesday. A schedule for further games is expected to be announced on Sunday.

"Houston is at the top of its game," Howell said. "You can't play at the peak all the time and if the Aeros let up a little, Quebec could give them trouble."

The Mariners out-outscored the Aeros and took a 3-1 lead early in the second period before the Aeros started a surge that ended with a 4-3 tie and forced the overtime.

"I was surprised the way they came out and stayed with us," Aeros' coach Bill Dineen said. "Going behind 3-1 could have come out and just blown it all."

San Diego scored on rookie goalie Ron Grahame for only the second time in the series at 4:11 of the first period with Ray Adduono's shot. Ron Plumb and Mike Lampkin added goals at 12:39 of the first period and 3:47 of the second period.

Houston's only one goal in the first period with Rich Preston's shot at 7:36 but in the next made it 3-2 with a goal at 6:40 of the second period.

Sherritt tied the game at 3-3 in the first minutes of the third period and Plumb got his second goal of the game at 4:57, to give San Diego its final lead at 5-3.

At 8:31, Gordie Howe stole the puck from Jim Harrison over near the San Diego net and poked it by for a 4-4 deadlock that forced the overtime.

Sherritt got the puck on the left side and fired a shot that Diego goalie Ernie Wakely only 21 seconds into the overtime.

LIONS CLAIM BRAESE ...

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League have claimed import linebacker Larry Braese on waivers, general manager Jackie Parker said Thursday. Braese formed all his pro time last season with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

It Won't Happen Again Says Coach

FLOYD SMITH

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Floyd Smith says he doesn't think a promising hit club will not play as poorly in the fourth game of their best-of-seven quarter-final semi-final series as they did in the 4-3 loss Thursday night.

Three goals by Guy Lafleur helped Montreal Canadiens to a 7-6 triumph over Buffalo Sabres, Montreal's first win in the set. Peter Mahovlich and Henri Richard, Yvan Lambert and Doug Risebrough were the other Canadiens marksmen.

"We weren't very good tonight," Smith said. ". . . It seemed like nobody wanted to play the game. We went play that badly again."

The Canadiens, who were flat in the first two games in Buffalo, jumped on the Sabres at the start and kept Buffalo bottled up in their own zone for much of the opening session. The Sabres did not get a shot on goal until 8:11 when Rick Martin, third scorer of Buffalo's 27 shots, tested Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden during a Buffalo power play.

It came long after Mahovlich had beaten Buffalo goalie Roger Crozier to give Montreal a 1-0 lead at 1:38 when Rene Robert of the Sabres was off for hooking.

Lafleur made it 2-0 when he fired a shot between Crozier's pads with 1:04 to play in the opening period and Lemaire got the third goal for Montreal 1:08 into when his long shot from centre ice eluded goalie Crozier on the glove side.

Montreal wrapped it up with a goal in the final session, two of them against Gerry Desjardins, making his first appearance since injuring his right knee in Buffalo's net.

Saturday's game will start at 8:30 EDT and will be carried on the full CBC television network. The game will be set for Buffalo Tuesday night.

Neale Sings Nordiques' Praises

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — When in doubt, wait.

Quebec goalie Richard Brodeur did just that and blanked a golden Minnesota scoring chance at a crucial point in Thursday night's World Hockey Association playoff game.

Brodeur's patience helped Quebec to a 4-3 victory over the Fighting Saints and a berth in the World Hockey Association championship series against Winnipeg's Jets.

"You've got to let them make the first move," said Brodeur who stifled a breakaway attempt by Minnesota's Mike Antonovich midway through the third period with the score tied at 3-3.

The Nordiques responded to Brodeur's game-saving effort and scored two goals to wrap up the best-of-seven quarter-final semi-final series in six games.

"He (Antonovich) really didn't have a clear breakaway and I figured he was going to shoot him," said Brodeur. "But I can't think of any reason for him to...A goalie has to wait."

Moments after the Brodeur heroics, Michel Parizeau slammed in the tie-breaking goal. Rejean Houle fired a line shot into an open net with 21 seconds left for the final score.

"Antonovich and (Jack) Carlson were in alone after we'd tied it up, but I don't think you can pin it down to a couple of guys," Quebec general manager coach Harry Neale. "They were both pressing and consequently when it seems like they (Quebec) scored on their first couple of good chances."

Carlson scored his first playoff goal 11 seconds into the first period on a controversial play that tied the game.

They probably had the second marker given on a goalmouth scramble FDL W FW Y WnWW at the first period," said Nordiques coach Jean Guy Gendron. "But, Brodeur was just great. He had kind of a new confidence in him in the playoffs."

Brodeur was upset with referee Bob Sloan on Carlson's tying goal.

"I thought it was over his shoulder. He (Carlson) hit me with his stick over the shoulder. I looked around for the call, but referee Bob Sloan was not at the centre ice somewhere and then he tries to tell me he was right there. That's what made me mad, but I forget."

Neale described Brodeur's playoff performances as "brilliant" and said Quebec would have a good chance of dethroning Houston if the 23-year-old goalie continued playing as well.

"He played one of our best games and couldn't beat them," said Neale. "He deserves credit for coming in here and holding us two games on our own ice. They were the best team in this series."

Minnesota outshot the scoring six minutes into the game when Lou Nanne deflected a point shot rebound.

However, the Nordiques scored twice in 39 seconds midway through the first period for a 2-1 lead.

Jean-Claude Tremblay and Carlson scored the tying goals.

Arrows Dump Bolts

LANDOVER, Md. (CP) — Blair Campbell, Bill Coghill and Wayne Granger scored four goals apiece Thursday night as Maryland Arrows topped Boston Bolts 19-13 in the only National Lacrosse League game.

Brian Tasker had a goal and five assists to lead host Maryland to his fifth win in seven starts.

Al Lewthwaite had two goals and two assists to lead the Bolts' scoring.

Maryland had the services of Paul Suggate in the third period when he was knocked out by a stray elbow. Suggate, the leading scorer in the NLL last year, was taken to hospital, but later released.

Play resumes tonight with Montreal Quebecois at home to Quebec Carabins while Philadelphia Wings visit Long Island Tomahawks.

More Than an Unveiling The Mac Uncovering

Belleville's Ontario Football League entry, the McDonald's, take to the field Sunday at Alemite Park at 2 p.m. for their first game ever.

However, when they meet the Oshawa Tonys in their Sabbath doubleheader, the Macs will be missing a few garnishments. Like two all-beef patties without the bun. Belleville's Mac's will also be without part of their cash dressing — their uniforms to be exact.

It seems that somewhere in the United States there lies a couple of boxes marked Belleville, Ontario, Canada. Inside these boxes? You guessed it. Uniforms, the difference between the Big Macs and Messy Macs for our OFL entry.

"There was a b/c mix up in the logo," said Ted Wyatt, McDonald's general manager. Doug Adams, the company in Tennessee couldn't find the drawing that was sent down for M that goes on the front of the sweaters."

"They wasted three weeks before the situation finally got straightened out," he added, "so now we'll likely have to play in jeans and whatever shirts I can come up with."

Adams went on to explain that the company is trying to track the order down and get it on a plane before the weekend, but he doesn't think the search will do much good.

"I'm not going to hold my breath," he said.

* * * * * *

SLICES . . . While Adams isn't holding his breath over uniforms, he is holding his breath in anticipation over a prospective pitcher for Sunday's games. Rumor has it that the McDonald's may be adding a well-known hurler whose name remains a secret (for today anyway), from the Brockville area. This pitcher is reported to have signed a contract with an Ottawa team, but because of recent league restrictions may not have to fulfil (construction) obligations.

He would certainly be a welcome sight since all the McDonald's are going south on Sunday in three pitchers — Ted Wyatt, Scott Reid and Jack Leeman.

* * * * * *

McDonald's seasons tickets will be available at the gate Sunday. For $30 spectators get admission to all pre - season games and all 27 home games. The passes are also available at McKnight's Variety on Front Street and McDonald's Family Restaurant.

Admission rates for the doubleheader Sunday are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Tom MacWilliams, coach of the Hastings Highlanders Track and Field Club and organizer of the athletes training day to be held in Bancroft on Saturday, prepares for the event with Randy Broadworth in a workout at Bancroft Public School. Some of the top amateur track and field competitors and coaches in the country will be in attendance at the clinic.

BANCROFT — Local track enthusiasts and many from other areas of Eastern Ontario will be treated to a track and field clinic here Saturday.

The clinic, which is sponsored by the local Hastings Highlanders Track Club in conjunction with the Eastern Region of the Ontario Track and Field Association and the Ontario Track and Field Coaches Association, is being billed as an open training day for Athletes and Coaches and will be held at North Hastings High School.

Nine top coaches and young athletes from various parts of the province will be participating in the training day.

Coaches involved are Cecil White, Head Coach for the Etobicoke striders; Glen Arbeau, a Canada Senior Coach and an international competitor; Bill Arnold, head coach of the Ottawa Kinsmen Harriers and Brent McFarlane, an Ontario Hurdles coach.

The four coaches will work with five top Ontario athletes who will act as demonstrators for the clinic.

Julie White, formerly of Bancroft is currently ranked seventh in world high jumping.

Julie, 16-years-old, is Canada's youngest ever international competitor.

The current leading competitor in Canada is the long jumper, Maggie Wood, 15-years-old. She will also be on hand Saturday.

Another demonstrator at the clinic will be pentathlete Elaine Jerome.

Elaine competes in long jump; high jump, shot put and hurdles.

Canada's international race walker Roman Gluszewski, holder of the 3000 metre and 3-mile walks records will also attend.

In addition to the other athletes and coaches, Nevil Conway, Canadian Junior Champion race walker will be at the North Hastings events.

The schedule for the training day includes limbering up activities, specialty group training in horizontal jumps, shot put, javelin, hurdles and distance running as well as discussion groups with the visiting coaches.

The training day is open to all, area athletes and registrations can be made by contacting Tom MacWilliams at Box 980, Bancroft.

Olympics Blank CFB

The Belleville Olympics, of the Premier Soccer League, took their second win in as many exhibition ats on Wednesday blanking CFB Trenton 4-0.

Only a pair of second half goals by Ernie Brown gave the Olympics the wide margin. Team officials were not satisfied with the club's effort in general.

Chris Johnson recorded the shutout, but didn't really have much problem against the weak front line of CFB.

Brian Preston played a strong game from his defensive position and Mike D'Ornellas and Charlie Nestorovski both put in impressive performances.

The Olympics are preparing for their Ray of Quinte season opener May 14 and their Premier Soccer League opener May 31.

This weekend, despite being hampered by injuries, the Olympics are in Kingston to take on their Premier League opponents, Isals Canadians. Officials feel this contest will be a good indication of what's to come in the 1975 season.

HANK AARON

Another Ruth Record Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hank Aaron was a baseball game Thursday for Milwaukee Brewers and took another record from Babe Ruth.

Aaron, who surpassed the Babe's fabulous career home run mark a year ago, Thursday surpassed Ruth's career runs batted in record of 2,209.

The Milwaukee slugger knocked in two runs to bring his lifetime figure to 2,211 and help the Brewers to a 17-3 decision over Detroit Tigers.

"I've never set any plateaus," said Aaron, dismissing the accomplishment. "I just try to do the best I can and let the records fall. I just happened to be in the position to break one of the most historic records in baseball, and I'm glad it's over with."

While playing with Atlanta Braves, Aaron last year passed Ruth's home run total of 714. Since then, Aaron has built the record to 733.

Since being traded to the Brewers, however, the 41-year-old superstar has been having his problems. Aaron's four hits Thursday represented his biggest day as a designated hitter and improved his batting average to a modest .318.

In Thursdays other American League games, Boston Red Sox beat Cleveland Indians 7-4, Texas Rangers edged Chicago White Sox 3-1, New York Yankees blanked Baltimore Orioles 5-0 and Kansas City Royals beat California Angels 11-10 in 13 innings.

Aaron broke Ruth's RBI mark with a third-inning single that scored Skip Lorenzo and gave the Brewers a 3-2 lead. Willie Horton, whose sixth homer had staked the Tigers to a 2-0 first-inning lead, tied the score with an RBI single in the fifth.

Don Money beat out an infield hit to start the Brewers' fifth and scored the go-ahead run on a double by Robin Yount. Aaron doubled home Yount with two out for his 2,211th RBI, then scored on a triple by Darrell Porter. After a walk to Mike Hegan, two more runs scored on an error and a triple by Pedro Garcia for an 8-3 lead.

Aaron, whose second-inning single set up a bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Hegan, singled again in a five-run seventh. A three-run homer by Yount capped the assault.

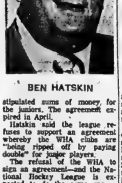
Bernie Carbo started a three-run first inning with a leadoff double, then tagged Cleveland starter Jim Perry with a two-run homer in the second as Boston snapped a four-game losing streak with a victory over the Indians.

Lenny Randle's run-scoring single in the ninth inning lifted Texas over Chicago. With one out, Jim Sundberg was hit by a pitch. Cesar Tovar hit a grounder to Bill Melton, but the throw to second for a force-out was dropped by Jorge Orta and Sundberg took third on the play. Reliever Terry Forster came on and struck out Roy Howell for the second out but Randle beat out an infield single and Sundberg scored.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter silenced Baltimore on five hits while Thurman Munson and Bert Blomberg provided the power to give New York its victory over the Orioles.

Hunter picked up his second consecutive victory after losing his first three starts. Munson hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Blomberg knocked in three runs with a double in the sixth.

Cookie Rojas doubled home the tying run and Buck Martinez singled in the game-winner in the 13th inning to lead Kansas City over California. The Angels had taken a 10-9 lead in the top of the 13th as Tommy Harper singled, stole second and scored on an infield single by Dave Chalk.



BEN HATSKIN

WHA Will No Longer Pay

TORONTO (CP) — The World Hockey Association will not sign an agreement to pay the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for signing junior hockey players that are drafted, says Ben Hatskin of Winnipeg, chief executive of the WHA.

He said the league is "not going into any agreement with the CAHA right now."

"We don't know what will happen next month or the month after, but there won't be any agreement."

The WHA and National Hockey League had an agreement with the CAHA to pay stipulated sums of money for the juniors. The agreement expired in April.

Hatskin said the league refuses to support an agreement whereby the WHA clubs are "being ripped off by paying double" for junior players.

The refusal of the WHA to sign an agreement—and the National Hockey League is expected to do the same—means the CAHA will no longer receive any money from the pros for drafted juniors.

Major Junior A hockey operators in Oshawa discuss possibilities a pro-am agreement would be reached. Prior to the season they had Toronto lawyer Joe Kane draw up a new contract that the juniors had to sign before playing.

It states that if a boy turns professional, he must pay 35 per cent of his gross earnings in his first three years as a percent to his last junior team. Out of the 35 per cent, the junior team pays the player's legal fees, including agent's fees.

The WHA currently owes the CAHA about $180,000 for players drafted last year. The WHA has not indicated when, and if, the rest of the money will be forthcoming.

Hatskin said the WHA would favor the other two Major Junior A leagues in Canada—the Quebec Major Junior A League and Western Canada Hockey League—agreeing to a similar contract in negotiations with their junior players.

Kingston Rink Ousted

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two Canadian rinks and a Swiss foursome emerged Thursday as finalists in round-robin play in the CBC curling classic.

In play Thursday, Jim Ursel of Quebec eliminated Jim Armstrong of British Columbia 10-9; Rod Hunter of Winnipeg eliminated Ed Rising of the United States 9-4; and the Otto Danieli rink of Switzerland edged out Alex Alexander Scott of Ontario (Kingston) 10-9.

Hunter meets Danieli in the first of the round-robin matches today, and Ursel plays each of the teams later in the day. In the event of a tie, a final match will be played Saturday.

The competition, which offers top prize money of $16,000, is being held for showing on the television network next winter.

DAROLD KNOWLES

Chicago Changes Knowles Tune

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Relief pitcher Darold Knowles, who objected to the off-season deal which sent him to the National League Chicago Cubs from baseball's three-time world champion Oakland A's, now thinks he may have landed with a pennant contender after all.

"I asked Charley Finley last fall to trade me to a contender," recalled Knowles, who posted his third save of the young season Thursday as the Cubs beat the New York Mets 5-4.

"I wasn't happy about going to the last-place Cubs," said Knowles. "It was the kiss of death asking Finley to trade me to a winning club, but now the Cubs are suddenly a contender."

With the season nearly a month old, the Cubs' 13-5 record is the best in the major leagues, Knowles, a 33-year-old lefthander, has been a big part of their early success, pitching in seven games and allowing only three hits and no runs in 12 innings.

"If we play this way all season, I see no reason why we can't finish near the top of our division," Knowles added.

Against the Mets, Chicago's determined comeback in the eighth inning formula was an 11-hit attack and strong relief pitching.

Starter Steve Stone, who signed across the 25-school run in for a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning, was sent to the sidelines by a leg injury after 5 1-3 innings but still posted his fourth straight victory without defeat. Ken Frailing and Milt Wilcox made brief appearances before Knowles cleaned up with a faultless stint for 3 1-3 innings.

Knowles was acquired from the A's along with second-baseman Manny Trillo for Billy Williams, the long-time Chicago outfield star.

Bob Watson and Doug Rader drove in two runs apiece to lead the Houston attack. Watson had a run-scoring single in the first inning and hit his fourth homer of the season in the third. Rader belted a two-run double in the fifth.

In Thursday's only other National League game, Houston Astros beat San Diego Padres 4-3. One other game, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, was rained out.

Ken Forsch got the victory for the Astros, with relief help from Jim Crawford.

IN MEMORIAM

HANDLE — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is so dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
Much we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Kay and son-in-law Bill.

HANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.
Sadly missed on a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you
Are rare hard to find.
We'll go to the place ours to give,
We'll give, yes, and more,
To see the face of grandchildren dear.
Come smiling through the door.
—Always remembered by Grandma and Terry, Verna and Dene, Helen and Tony, Heather and Tom.

HANDLE — In loving memory of our dear father, Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.
His memory is so dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by great grandchildren Christopher and Kathy, Christopher Kennedy and Jason.

HANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.
Sadly missed, dearly loved and never forgotten by daughter Betty and son-in-law Bill.

HANDLE — In loving memory of our dear father, Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2nd, 1970.
Always tender, kind and true,
Always thinking of you.
—Always remembered and deeply loved by grandson Gary, Lynn and Tonna, also great granddaughters Charmaine and Kathy.

HANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather who passed away five years ago, May 2nd, 1970.
Sometimes memories outlasts all,
Love's remembrance outlasts all,
And what the years bring of sorrow or love.
They are filled with remembrance of you.
—Fondly missed and deeply loved by grandson Reginald and Carol and Reverend.

HANDLE — In loving memory of my dear father who passed away five years ago, May 2nd, 1970.
If I had all the world to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more.
To see dearly loved and be his smile.
And sit near him at the door,
But we can do this no more.
To see and hear your grave,
And receive instead our tears of love.
To the best father God ever made.
—Sadly missed, dearly loved and never forgotten by daughter Betty and son-in-law Bill.

HANDLE — In loving memory of my dear husband Albert E. Handle who passed away five years ago today, May 2nd, 1970.
I watched his suffer day by day,
It caused me bitter grief,
To see his precious life slow away,
And could not give relief.
He went through years of pain,
His weary heart at last is still,
And in our aching hearts we know,
He has found eternal rest at last.
'Tis sweet to know we will meet again.
Where parting is no more,
Our loved one missed I vowed so well,
He only goes before,
God knows how much a man him,
He counts the tears I shed,
But Whispers Gently, he only sleeps,
Your husband is not dead."
Some day, some time, we'll see him again.
—Wife Verna.
Never say farewell.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by your loving wife Elsie.

For Public Service

Charlie Rollins was warden of Hastings County in 1939 when Nora Fredette went to work at what was then the county's registry office. Wednesday he was back as MPP. Hastings — to present Mrs. Fredette, now senior deputy land registrar and provincial civil servant with her 35-year-pin from the Public Service of Ontario.

Housing Start Decline Concerns Councillors

The decline in housing starts was dramatically underlined, Tuesday for Hastings County council.

During the first three months of this year the county building inspector's office issued only 56 residential permits. That compared with 138 for the same time last year, reported Carl Roberson, county treasurer-administrator.

The inspection service now is used by about half the county's 27 municipalities.

The total number of permits issued in the period was 94, compared to 208 in for the same time in 1974.

One result causing concern has been the drop in revenue with fewer fees coming in. Fees collected in the first quarter of this year were $3,825 compared to $5,800.

Mr. Roberson said yet it may be too early in the year to be concerned, but some provincial housing incentives may create an up-turn, said Mr. Roberson.

But, if council feels concerned it should seek a review of fees, Land division applications also appear on the decline, he said.

Theatre London Play Joins Nostalgia Trend

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The jokes are shopworn and the songs are achingly familiar as Theatre London's latest production, War Show, jumps on the nostalgia bandwagon.

The production, written by 3 6-year-old Peter Colley, takes a fast review of Canada and Canadians in the Second World War.

The old war songs, Theatre Always Its an England, The White Cliffs of Dover, Lili Marlene and the like, are combined with dramatic scenes that bring out both the triumph and tragedy of the 1939-1945 war.

Mr. Colley, who also acts in the play, spent months researching material for the show, and conducting interviews with veterans and people who worked and lived both in Canada and abroad during the war.

Mr. Colley, a transplanted Briton who has lived in Canada for three years, said his work on the play, his fourth production, gave him a whole new insight into Canada's war effort.

Talking about it, he angrily considers about what he feels is shoddy treatment of Canada in war histories.

The basic theme of the play deals with five privates in a machine-gun platoon. The men, played by Tom Alway, Wayne Burnette, Craig Calder, Shawn Lawrence, Peter Mews and Jack Northcott, are meant to be representative of all Canadian troops.

They make up a stereotyped group, the woman, the old soldier, a Scots-Canadian, a clod, a farm boy and the cool and overbearing NCO.

Together, they fight Canada's war, with all the tragic consequences. One dies at Dieppe, two more are killed in the bitter Italian campaign and a fourth dies just before the surrender of Germany.

RECREATE ERA

In between, they and the rest of the cast work on the atmosphere of the era.

There is a love story, a song by the Andrews sisters, played by Linda Hoar, Nora McLellan and Kathee Rakusky, and some rousing singing in an English pub.

But behind the music and comedy, the undercurrent of fear and sadness remains.

Mr. Burnett, whose careful character portrayals have highlighted 13 Theatre London productions in the last two years, is a desperate hero as the sole survivor of the five who went off to war.

His last line, "You know nobody really gave a damn," serves to underscore the waste of war.

Mr. Colley uses audio-visual effects to help support the show, with slides and film to portray the buildup and the start of the war.

There are sound effects, from the crashing "Sieg Heil" of a Nuremberg rally, to a cracking radio recording of Sir Winston Churchill's famous "their finest hour" speech.

Perhaps the finest comment on the production came from a theatre-goer, a man of about 50, who commented as he left::

School Leavers Meeting Subject

TWEED — Early school leavers was the topic as the Centre Hastings Attendance Review Committee met to discuss several cases.

The meeting follows a ministry of education regulation that allows students age 14 or 15 to follow programs other than the usual compulsory schooling if they may benefit from them.

Kenneth Little, Tweed, trustee on the Hastings County Board of Education, acted as chairman.

The municipalities were represented by Mrs. Julie Way Tweed; Captain (Reverend) J. Thompson, of Madoc and John Williams of Rawdon Township.

Frank Tate, Tweed, superintendent acted as secretary and assisted R. Henderson, principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School, in presenting information and reviewing the situations for each case.

The committee gave recommendations to the school and student. In most cases the students was to be on a work experience program, but to maintain contact with the school, by attending designated classes or night school programs.

Your Horoscope

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
Saturday, May 3

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will be a very pleasant day for you socially. You'll be especially noted and admired by members of the opposite sex.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're much in tune at this time with persons of influence. A good day to press for a favor if you need one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) That good news from a distance you've been awaiting is on its way. Check your mailbox and stay near the home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One who can be a great help to you but who is not very demonstrative will again be noticeable for you today, in her own quiet way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) You'll make a favorable impression upon a new acquaintance because of the considerate manner you use in dealing with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) A recently well-done job will not only give you a sense of achievement; your work will be noticed and admired by others, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) You're likely to be in great social demand today. You're much more popular than you think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A good day to make some humanistic calls to see if you can pool together a little dinner party for a very select group of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your quick wit and skill as a mediator will come in handy today between two friends. You'll have them chuckling over what caused the tense situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) There could be enough left over in the weekly budget to enable you to obtain a small luxury item you've long wanted.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You won't be happy today unless you break out of your shell. A night on the town or a social gathering will keep you up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's still opportunity here to make your influence felt, but don't expect it could come as a gift from a loved one.

To Your Good Health

Surgery Unlikely In Hiatal Hernia

By G. C. THORTESEN, MD

Dear Dr. Thorteson: My doctor tells me I have a hiatal hernia and says, "Don't worry about it unless it slips." Could you explain what he means? What effect would a pregnancy have on this? Will I need surgery?—R.B.

He probably referred to it as the hiatal hernia, one that moves up through the normally widened opening (hiatus) in the diaphragm. The opening is normally just wide enough to allow the esophagus to pass through on its way to join the stomach. In a sliding hernia, a portion of the stomach slips up into the chest, then slips back again into its normal position.

Surgery to repair the hernia is required only in the most severe cases, in most others conservative methods suffice.

These include diet and the spacing-out of meals so as not to aggravate the problem.

Dear Dr. Thorteson: Is mouth-to-mouth a person who helps it in the mouth? It is held between the lips and nose. Our mother has done this for years the way I do it. There appears to be no problem. She is in good health.—Mrs. M.C.

There may be no problem here, but a widespread fear of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, either in the mouth or artificial breath, has been cited as causing cancer in those areas.

Dear Doctor: Does a woman have a period when she can't conceive? That is, does your body contain no eggs? I am 49, and, as far as I can determine, I haven't had a period for nearly four years.

"Recover" is not the precise word you want.

First of all, with no period in four years, you have quite wisely passed through the menopause, and, I assume, without the more dramatic symptoms some other women have. Most women cease ovulation of the menses gradually. Although many women find it hard to believe, a good number of their sisters slip through this void of their life with hardly a symptom. If we knew why, we would be on much nearer to knowing why other women do have such obvious problems.

Your age is the census figure. It is estimated that the average age of ovulatory for women of 49 is (the census limit for men) spouses) is 76. This means that the average woman can hope to live 25 years past menopause.

Dear Doc: Can Pasa; News for the Deaf

At the most, only two of these years should be troubled by menopausal problems. Women who report such distress after the first two years and do for as long as 10 years should be examined to find the actual cause of the complaints.

Dear Doc: I have even the briefest discussion of the subject without harvesting the most frequently asked question relating to menopause: when does a woman know she has actually reached menopause?

The answer: after 12 months of missed periods.

Age of Sail Returns To Thames

LONDON (CP)—The age of sail returns to the Port of London in August when the first major regatta on the Thames in 100 years begins in the heart of the city. Already entries have been received from the Dutch West Indies, Holland, France, Denmark, Sweden, Russia, Portugal, Rumania, West Germany and the United Kingdom.

The showpiece of the regatta will be 12 tall square-rigged clippers from the Soviet Union, Portugal, Germany and Rumania and two from Denmark. Starting the Port of London Clipper Regatta the ships will be moored in the heart of London.

So far, some 46 vessels are expected to take part in a week of festivities which include events for power boats, yachts, traditional rowboats, sailing dinghies and the historic race of wherries from the east coast of England to Tower Bridge, London.

The climax of the week will be the start of The Financial Times clipper race to Australia and back.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

"I think your play might well go in the Guinness Book of Records," remarked North "It took you just two seconds to throw that rubber out the window."

South had really played the hand rapidly. He ruffed the third diamond, led a club to dummy's ace and a spade back to his king. Then he led a third club and ruffed with dummy's seven of clubs. East overruffed with the jack for the first undertrick trick. Then he led back a trump and eventually had to lead his last club.

Do you see where South went wrong? He had sent a boy on a man's errand. He should have ruffed that first low club with dummy's king of trumps. West would ruff off the last one with that seven spot. East could overruff or not as he chose. South still makes his contract.

As a matter of elegance, South should cash dummy's ace and king before playing clubs. Then when he came back to his hand he'd ruff a heart low, shoved ruff with his ace of trumps. All this elegance would be unnecessary the way the school

Foolish Pleasure Favorite in Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Favored Foolish Pleasure will try to beat 14 other three-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

"We hope to win, but I'd be foolish to guarantee it," said owner John L. Greer, who has watched Foolish Pleasure win 10 of 11 lifetime starts including two major pre-Derby Stakes—the $100,000-added Flamingo and the $150,000-added Wood Memorial.

The Churchill Downs oddsmaker listed Foolish Pleasure as the 8-5 favorite Thursday to win the first prize of $280,000 from a purse that will total $360,160 if all 15 start in the 101st running of the 1¼-mile Derby.

Foolish Pleasure worked a half-mile in 48 seconds over a sloppy track and galloped out five-eighths in 1:01 Thursday.

"I'm in the dark as much as anybody about the condition of the track," said trainer Leroy Jolley when he entered Foolish Pleasure. "But the horse will accept any kind of track."

With no more rain, the track should be fast for the Derby. Showers fell today and Saturday called for cloudy and mild weather, with the temperature around 21 degrees Celsius by Saturday.

Post time is 5:32 p.m. EDT.

Foolish Pleasure will start from the No. 3 post position under Jockey Vasquez in the Derby, which calls for track weights of 126 pounds.

John Galbreath's Prince Thev was to help the chances of the son of Dust Commander, pre Derby winner, who will leave from the fifth post position under Darrell McHargue.

Diabolo, owned by Frank McMahon of Vancouver, prefers a fast track. Diabolo won the 1¼-mile California Derby in a blazing 1:46 3-5 on a fast track at Golden Gate Fields. Laffit Pincay Jr. will ride Diabolo for the first time in the California Derby, will be aboard again Saturday when the dark bay starts from the No. 13 slot.

Two other big stakes winners in the field are Arthur A. Seligman Jr.'s 1974 winner, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, and Bob Owen's Pasadena City, who was first in the Arkansas Derby.

Art and Golden Chance Farms' Master Derby, expected to be Foolish Pleasure's toughest competition, both will start on the outside of the favorite.

Prince Thou Art, who upset Foolish Pleasure in the Florida Derby, will go from the No. 2 post under Braulio Baeza. He will run as part of an entry with Galbreath's Syrian Place, a two-time winner who was second in the Florida Derby.

Syrian Place will start from the No. 14 post and be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., who won the 1974 Derby on Cannonade.

Master Derby has won his last five races, including the Louisiana Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes, and is listed as a 9-to-2 choice to make it six in a row Saturday. As off-track fa

Bill Shoemaker, who will be trying to win his fourth Derby at 45 attempts, will ride Avatar out of the No. 10 slot, while Dave Whited will ride Processed City from the outside post.

Roland Aristone Sr.'s Bentley Dack, who finished a gambling Foolish Pleasure by a head after setting the pace in the Wood, will start from the No. 1 slot.

Others entered, their post positions and jockeys, were Mary Gluck's Media, No. 4, Jorge Cruguet; Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Roberts' Bowl Game, No. 5, Eddie Delahoussaye; John W. Galbreath's Executive Privilege, No. 6, James McKnight; Clarence Buchanan's Fashion Sale, No. 8, Bill Gavidia; Loggie, Wylde and Isbell's Bold Chapone, No. 7, C.J. Allemas Pedro A. Diaz Gaitch, No. 9, Julio Espinoza, and Jack Dreyfus' Round Stake, No. 12, Mike Hole.

MAY LOSE JOHNSTON'

OAKLAND (AP) — California Golden Seals may lose captain Joey Johnston, the key man with the National Hockey League team four seasons. "It's not a matter of a move or," says Johnston, 28, formerly of Peterborough, Ont. Johnston had 14 goals and 13 assists in 49 games in the 1974-75 season. Wednesday, the NHL approved the proposed sale of the Seals to a group headed by San Francisco's Franklin Salz, No. 6 Bill Gavidia; Loggie, Wylde and Isbell's Bold Chapone, No. 7, franchise until May 30.

Trevino Hopes to Win On Stomping Grounds

HOUSTON (AP) — One of Lee Trevino's fondest hopes is to win a golf tournament in his native Texas.

"It's really tough to win in your home state," Trevino said Thursday after taking a share of the lead in the Houston Open. "You know, you have so many friends in the gallery, lots of friends and people pulling for you and it puts extra pressure on you."

At usual, he had a massive gallery of followers Thursday, many of them of Mexican-American heritage.

"There's more Mexicans than

whites in my gallery because more Mexicans are out of work," Trevino said after his six-under-par 66 had given him a share of the lead with Australian Graham Marsh in the first round of the $150,000 Houston Open tournament.

The new, 6,923-yard Woodlands Country Club layout features tight, pine-forest lined fairways and greens of Tifdwarf 84 sand trap and 12 lakes and ponds.

Jerry McGee, winner of the Pensacola Open just two weeks ago, birdied his first four holes and headed a group tied at 67. Also at that figure were Dale Douglass, Eddie Pearce and rookie Alan Tapp.

Ben Kern of Toronto shot a 73 and George Knudson of Toronto had a 77.

Defending titleholder Dave Hill struggled to a 72 and Arnold Palmer took a 74 after same familiar putting problems. "I missed a two-foot birdie put on my first hole and that just kind of set the pattern for the day," said Palmer, who must improve if he is to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf and Gary Player are not competing.

Their absence can only increase Trevino's chances of winning his first title in Texas. And, coming off a solid performance in last week's Tournament of Champions—he missed a playoff by a single shot—he's primed and ready.

He missed only one green and came out to within tap-in distance there. He didn't make a bogey. He made a dozen from 15 feet and got his other three birdies on par fives, chipping up close on all of them.

Graham, who once won the World Cup and has played the American tour for five seasons, called his effort "by far my best of the year and one of the best I've ever played."

He didn't miss a green and didn't even come close to making a bogey. His longest birdie putt was 12 feet.

SUSPEND SHOEMAKER

Execution Issue

Allmand Says He'd Resign

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmand said Friday he probably will resign his portfolio, or perhaps leave the cabinet altogether, if his colleagues allow any prisoner on death row to hang.

"I won't be associated in any way with a hanging," he told reporters after the subject was raised in the Commons.

He said in the House his stand is "not a threat or anything, its just a statement of decision."

Outside, he said he has not thought out fully what he will do if the cabinet decides not to exercise its prerogative of mercy and allows any death sentence pending now to proceed.

"When the time comes that they're going to hang someone, I'll be away on a retreat and decide what I'm going to do."

A cabinet committee is studying the case of Mrs. Ellen Vaillancourt, scheduled to be hanged May 15 for killing a Toronto policeman. The last hangings were in 1962 when two men were executed back to back a Toronto's Don Jail.

Mr. Allmand said he does not know when a full cabinet will rule on the Vaillancourt case. A stay of execution would be sought if necessary.

His comments belie the impression with some that the cabinet, under pressure from the public and pro-hanging MPs, might not commute all death sentences awaiting consideration.

"Lets wait 'til it happens; it will be a big story," he said at one point.

He also said he does not know how many cabinet ministers share his view, but he added that he is "pretty confident" the cabinet will not allow a hanging.

Prime Minister Trudeau is opposed personally to capital punishment but has said the cabinet will not commute death sentences automatically. Each must be considered individually.

Mr. Allmand said public opinion-polls show a majority of more than two-to-one in favor of hanging—does not impress him.

"I'd be more interested in one good (pro-hanging) agreement . . . than a thousand signatures on a petition."

He said he remains open to all arguments and, in theory, might be persuaded to change his mind. But his position was firm in the meantime: "I couldn't be associated with a hanging."

Mr. Allmand said he might ask Prime Minister Trudeau for another portfolio "or something" if a hanging occurs. But cabinet sources speculated that this might not be possible.

Mr. Trudeau has said cabinet ministers can argue their viewpoints as strongly as they want within cabinet but must support any decision once it is taken.

First Meets First

Canada's first woman appointed as lieutenant-governor, Pauline McGibbon inspects the Canadian armed forces' first all-woman guard of honor formed in conjunction with International Women's Year activities at CFB Trenton. The 50-women guard of honor met Lt.-Gov. McGibbon Friday as she stepped from an armed forces Falcon. During her 45-hour stay in Trenton, she was guest of honor at an all-women, all-ranks mess dinner.

Protestants Build Lead in Ulster

BELFAST (AP) — Hardline Protestants appeared to be the big winners while moderate groups trailed today as the vital 11-continued in Northern Ireland's constitutional assembly election.

Early results of Friday's balloting left little hope for an end to Northern Ireland's when the assembly meets next week to seek a new form of government.

The powerful United Ulster Unionist council, a coalition of the three major Protestant groups, had won 25 of the 78 convention seats.

The mainly Roman Catholic Social Democratic and Labor party trailed with 11. The moderate Non-sectarian Alliance party got two seats.

Special Guard Greets Lieutenant-governor

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A new page in Canadian military history was written at CFB Trenton Friday when a 30-woman guard of honor marched onto the tarmac to meet a plane carrying Ontario Lt.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon.

Skirts whipped by a strong, steady wind, the women performed the ceremonial guard duty for a dignitary reserved normally for the men in the armed forces.

Canada's first woman to be named a lieutenant-governor, Mrs. McGibbon flew from Toronto to Trenton to act as the guest of honor at an all-woman, all-ranks mess dinner.

After arrival for the dinner, held in conjunction with International Women's Year, prompted the formation of the guard of honor less than two months ago.

Its new Friday was the first in Canadian armed forces history. A base spokesman says the honor guard will be used on other special occasions during 1975.

The honor guard, commanded by Lt. Debra Rankin of Toronto, was led onto the airfield's tarmac by the CFB Trenton Pipe and Drum Band. It took position in front of the two workhorses of the Canadian Air Command, a 424 Squadron Hercules and a 437 Squadron Boeing 707.

An estimated 75 civilian spectators and half as many military personnel were on hand at 4:30 to watch Lt.-Gov. McGibbon inspect the guard of honor.

She was met as she stepped from a Canadian armed forces six-engined Falcon by the senior commanding officers at CFB Trenton.

The honor guard is composed of, ranging in rank from sergeant to private, of the 160 women in uniform on the base.

Separate School Rates Increased

By REID CARSON
Staff Reporter

For the first time since 1971, separate school supporters will have their educational taxes increased — by about 13 per cent.

The Hastings-Prince Edward County Separate School Board hiked down its tentative 1975 budget Friday with an increase of 36 per cent from $3.8 million in 1974 to $5.2 million in 1975. The county board of education brought down its 1975 budget Thursday with an increase of 19.8 per cent.

Board chairman Austin Scott said Friday the budget does not exceed the approved provincial ceilings. He described the budget as "rapidly expansionary . . . to provide for inflationary increases in supplies, allowances for teachers' salaries, as well as a general increase in maintenance of school property."

Mr. Scott said the 13 per cent increase is low because of higher grants, more separate school supporters and higher assessments. However, he said the increase may be higher in some areas of the county.

The board has budgeted 75 per cent of its funds for instructional costs, including teachers.

Plant operations have received about 11.5 per cent of the budget while business administration and computer services will get about four per cent. Educational services will amount to about .5 per cent of the budget.

Mr. Scott said the board has set aside $171,000 for the allocated expenditures. He said the board will have to decide where this money will be used at a later date.

Mr. Scott said the board approved the tentative budget April 29 in a closed session. However, he said the allocation of funds within the budget will be dealt with in open session.

Solzhenitsyn Now in Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet currently visiting Canada, apparently will make no public appearance until a least after the Russian Orthodox Easter, churchmen said Friday.

Archbishop Sylvester, head of the Church of Canadian dioceses, and Rev. John Ttacbuk, dean of Montreal's Russian Orthodox cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, said Mr. Solzhenitsyn has asked to remain in seclusion until at least Monday.

Mr. Solzhenitsyn, 1970 Nobel prize winner for literature, took up residence in Switzerland after being expelled from the Soviet Union for his criticism of several aspects of the Soviet system. His latest work, the Gulag Archipelago, is a massive attack on the Soviet labor-camp system under Stalin.

Awards Announced

OTTAWA (CP) — The Devlers, a novel by Margaret Laurence, and five other books have won the Governor-General's Literary Awards for 1974, the Canada Council announced Friday night.

She also won the award for her 1966 book, A Jest of God, which was later made into a film entitled Rachel, Rachel.

Other award winners are:

—Ralph Gustafson, for a collection of poetry, Fire on Stone.

—Charles Filkche, retired diplomat, for his personal recollections, The Siren Years.

—Victor Levy Beaulieu for his novel, Don Quichotte de la Demanche.

—Nicole Brossard, for her collection of poetry, Mecanique Jongleuse suivi de Singulieres Grammaticale.

—Louise Dechene, for an historical study, Habitants et Marchands de Montreal au XVIIe Siecle.

The awards will be presented in the authors by Gov.-Gen. Jules Leger today 22. Each also receives $2,500 from the Canada Council.

Rival Factions War in Angola

LUANDA, Angola (Reuter) — Between 500 and 1,000 people have been killed in fighting between Angola's three rival liberation movements in the last three days, sources at the city morgue say.

Luanda residents today began a run on stores, stocking up on food supplies in fear of further violence.

Tension was running high in the capital, despite a night of relative quiet broken only by occasional gunfire and explosions.

Layoffs Decline

DETROIT (AP) — Indefinite layoffs of auto workers in the United States will decline for a sixth consecutive week on Monday, when Ford Motor Co. recalls 6th employees. The only U.S. auto company reducing indefinite layoffs next week, it also is the only one that will have assembly plants shut on Monday.

Ignorance Admitted

MONTREAL (CP) — A small, quiet man startled the Air Canada inquiry Friday, saying he failed to read documents he signed authorizing a controversial $100,000 payment to a Montreal travel agent, and later told reporters he would not have signed had he read them. Yves Menard, 30-year-old former Air Canada vice-president, also said the terms in the documents are different from those he discussed with R. Y. McGregor, president of McGregor Travel Co. Ltd., of Montreal.

Girl's Skeleton Found

TORONTO (CP) — Police have identified skeletal remains found Wednesday near Burlington, Ont., as those of Cindy Williams, a four-year-old Hamilton girl reported missing last July 28. Police said Friday the skeleton was found in a shallow grave by Kim Pasinski of Burlington who was digging peat moss with his two daughters.

Prescriptions Posted

TORONTO (CP) — G. Tamblyn Ltd. said Friday that its 89 Ontario drugstores will begin posting comparative price charts for drugs Monday. William F. Allaby, executive vice-president and chief executive officer, said the move is a major shift in philosophy for the pharmaceutical industry and he hoped it would "lift the shroud of mystery" from prescription prices.

Police Die in Crash

FOREST, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police constables Randy Chatterson, 25, and Gary MacDonald, 21, both of Forest, were killed Friday night when their cruiser collided with a transport truck on Highway 21 near this community about 20 miles northeast of Sarnia. Police said the driver of the truck suffered a minor leg injury. No other details were available.

Driver Impaled

BOSTON (AP) — A 38-year-old man had a wooden fence post four inches in diameter driven through his chest in an auto accident early Friday. Thomas Brennan of Brockton, Mass., was in critical condition at Boston City Hospital after surgery to remove the post. Fire department rescue crews twice cut off lengths of the four-foot long post—at the scene and in the operating room—before a team of seven surgeons removed the remaining 18 inches of wood.

Bears Get Cavities

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Zoo said Friday it is imposing a strict ban against visitors feeding the animals, particularly because 4 polar bears are developing teeth trouble. Zoo officials said polar bears have developed abscessed teeth from devouring marshmallows tossed to them by visitors.

Guyanese Gets Job

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — The man who will replace Canada's Arnold Smith as secretary-general of the Commonwealth is Shridath Surendranath Ramphal, 47, foreign minister of Guyana. Ramphal's election was announced Friday by Michael Manley, prime minister of Jamaica, at the Commonwealth leaders conference.

Conservative Critic Quits Over Stanfield

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid increased rumblings of discontent within the Progressive Conservative caucus, a member of the opposition shadow cabinet has quit his assignment, largely in protest of Robert Stanfield's continued leadership.

John Reynolds (Burnaby-Richmond-Delta) wrote the Conservative leader, told him he was through as the official critic in the department of supply and services and said Mr. Stanfield should vacate the leadership.

Mr. Reynolds confirmed his action when approached by a reporter. "I didn't intend this to be made public," he said. "I wrote a confidential letter to Mr. Stanfield, but since you seem to know . . ."

Yes, he said, Mr. Stanfield should step down immediately "and an interim leader should be elected by caucus. And because I feel so strongly about this, I felt I simply couldn't carry on in an appointment he made."

The 52-year-old MP says he will not be a leadership contender himself, but there are other caucus members interested "and I would like to see four or five stand up in caucus and tell us what they stand for."

Mr. Reynolds is known to be annoyed by official party criticism of groups of Conservative MPs meeting of the Hill to discuss the party's direction and future.

He says he has great respect for Mr. Stanfield "and it is largely because of him that I entered politics."

But when he announced last summer that he was stepping down, he effectively resigned then. And you can only stay on so long before you lose your grip."

Education Beat

Shift in Values Worries Teachers

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

It finally had to happen — secondary school students have been labelled right-wing by some teachers. The verdict was handed down last night during a seminar at Moira Secondary School on "Reflections of Man."

Five years ago educators would have worshiped a right wing movement among students' groups; they would have been delighted to see a few conservative students among the unruly mass. Today, the pendulum has swung to the green and worried.

They are worried because conservative and reactionary values in a student population means they have failed. They have failed to spark new modes of thinking and behavior which ultimately could be assimilated into society in small doses.

No doubt, the extreme left wing movements during the late 60s and early 70s were short-lived but more importantly some of their features survive today, such as concern for the ecology, a new approach to humanism and the seeds of a new economic system, that has its roots in limited resources.

In the classical sense youth has provided stimulation to a society through rejection of old ways as well as confrontation with the power elements.

MORE

Education Beat Take 2

The process is healthy and one which in the long — run, promotes a changing and evolving society.

Student values have swung to the right because they view the establishment as becoming more vocal and active. In their own lives they see teachers playing tough power games with strikes and threats while at home they see their parents taking extreme views on everything from taxes to unions to government spending.

There is also a growing understanding of just how limited world resources are. The students, being the natural heirs of these complex problems, anticipate future inadequacies. In short, these social factors it's little wonder students have become right wing.

Although it may be justified it's not healthy and we are having the teaching profession must face reality in the classroom. The problem is further complicated when yesterday's protesters are today's teachers.

One thing for certain it's a sign that the teaching profession should begin to take some hard looks at its own attitudes and what affect they are having on students and society. Students want to participate in society — not react to the extremes and frustrations of the system by the middle class.

Brucellosis Infection Could Be Deliberate

Some livestock owners may deliberately infect cattle with brucellosis to claim government compensation, Hastings County council was warned Tuesday.

It was among cautions that the council received in not to act on a resolution for a joint federal-provincial cattle program to eliminate the cattle disease.

The resolution, from Frontenac County, called for testing and full-market value compensation for animals destroyed because of brucellosis.

Council was told federal veterinary authorities in the Belleville area now are testing animals at many farms.

One move warned there could be "wide abuses" because market values fluctuate, and there were "methods of inducing" the disease.

Reeve Horace Casey, Thurlow Township — and himself a farmer — didn't agree with full compensation. Government authorities have reported, he said "certain tricks" whereby an overshot of brucellosis is given cattle before tests are arranged. However, testing reports could be speeded up.

"All you have to do is vaccinate your calves," said Deputy Reeve Garnet Denyes, of Thurlow.

Reeve Barbara Allen, of Tweed, said that when some diseases had been eradicated by vaccination.

She suggested one solution was compulsory vaccination of all farm animals prone to the disease.

Change in Diet Often Harms Cattle and Sheep

Cattle or sheep suffer acute indigestion when their rations are suddenly changed from high roughage content to high grain content.

"The animals become ill and refuse to eat their daily ration," says J.R. Seoane, an animal nutritionist at Agriculture Canada's research station at Fredericton, N.B.

The condition is probably caused by an increase of lactic acid in the rumen, the largest of the animals' four stomachs, he says. It is a condition commonly known as grain engorgement, acute indigestion or lactic acidosis.

"Micro-organisms in the rumen process the food eaten by the animal," Dr. Seoane says. These micro-organisms attack the food particles and form problems and an energy source for the animal.

"But there are other compounds formed, and one of them is lactic acid."

A sudden change in the animals' diet from high roughage rations to high grain rations causes a change in the micro-organisms in the rumen. As a result, more lactic acid is produced in the rumen.

"This concentration of lactic acid in the rumen causes an abnormal, life-endangering fermentation," he says.

"The normal movements of the rumen disappear and the walls become irritated. The lactic acid is absorbed into the blood, increasing its acidity.

"At this point the animals become inactive and refuse to eat. If the condition is severe, the animal may die within 24 hours."

One way of avoiding grain engorgement is to adapt the animals gradually to high grain feedstuffs.

"The amount of roughage fed should be decreased and the grain increased by gradual amounts every day until the animal is eating the desired amount of grain.

"This usually takes three weeks," Dr. Seoane says.

During the period of adaptation, the use of sheet three per cent baking soda also helps prevent acidosis as it increases the severity of the disease.

"It also helps to increase the frequency of feeding from two to three times, day. The gradual change in the ration gives the micro-organisms enough time to adapt to the higher levels of grain in the feed."

Parasites Vary

Your horse has a different color, build and personality than your neighbor's, and it probably needs a different parasite control program.

While one species of bloodworm is the most damaging horse parasite in Ontario, your horse may also get roundworms, pinworms, tapeworms, threadworms, or stomach bots.

"Prevention is really the only sensible course of action," says Dr. J. F. Lumbraligor, veterinary parasitologist with the Ontario ministry of agriculture and food veterinary service branch at Guelph. "A parasite control program for your horse on your premises, custom - designed by your veterinarian is best."

Regular laboratory examinations of manure for eggs are necessary to determine whether horses have parasites, what kinds they have and how many. Veterinarians use the results to design the individual treatment and control programs needed, because parasites differ from region to region, on one horse, as well as from horse to horse. About 12 drugs, including three now ones introduced in Canada this year, are available for parasite control.

Pool Grant Need Like New Arena

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Prince Edward County council's chickens are coming home to roost but will the count be open on the hen coop?

In 1974 council approved a whopping unprecedented grant of $154,000, to the Wellington District Community Centre.

This year the Prince Edward Swimming Pool Committee has listing an anticipated $150,000. council just cannot muster enough available in place for a community pool as Prince Edward Collegiate Institute.

The expected grant was first mentioned on paper in a pool committee report which came this month to the Prince Edward board of education.

A fact sheet listed the estimated cost of the pool at $225,000, and stated a provincial grant of $75,000 is available. Also, existing cash and pledges total $36,000.

With the anticipated council grant of $138,000 this leaves a total of $74,000 to be raised in a county-wide campaign.

When county councillors recently discussed the pool project several stressed the $150,000 anticipated grant was not a council figure.

They argued that the figure must be a press error. Certainly the pool committee did not expect such a substantial grant.

If his recent report to the board of education is an accurate indication the pool committee can and does expect county council to consider a pool with the same generosity accorded in 1974 to an arena.

When the project was discussed earlier, the pool committee referred to a much less expensive outdoor pool with an estimated cost of $130,000.

A heated indoor pool with a $225,000 price tag is not a project that can be funded through a county-wide campaign.

If county council stubbornly clings to its decision of a $225,000 community pool paid for through donations and provincial grants alone it is being naive.

When council granted $154,000. to the Wellington arena a precedent was set. New a pool committee is seeking a substantial grant which its report indicates may total $150,000.

Council cannot fault the enthusiasm and hard work of the pool committee. It matches the dedication of the organization that backed a new arena for Wellington and district when fire levelled the old building.

Council cannot dispute the need for a pool for, if built at the high school, it would offer year-round recreation for hundreds of students and county residents.

An arena offers activity for the most part, only during winter.

What councillors voted to grant $154,000. to Wellington arena last year it was a magnanimous gesture that received with acknowledgement.

It set the stage for the pool committee's line of thought concerning council support.

The future of the pool project well may rest with council's decision in relation to a grant.

If councillors drag their feet at another whopping $150,000 gift to recreation they may be demonstrating a practical stand in balancing the budget.

Some county residents who support the pool project may feel some of this restraint could have been applied a year earlier when an arena was the order of the day.

Brighter Days Ahead

Spring cleanup might seem like a lot of work, but a manicured garden filled with flowers and greenery is well worth the effort. Now is the time to rake up winter debris and dead plant material. Then comes selecting and planting some of the newer varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers available. Window boxes, planters and lawn furniture can be brought out of winter storage and made ready for summer enjoyment.

Council Getting Marina Complex

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

Trenton is singing its marina song again, this time before the Canadian Association of Consumers Trent-Severn study committee. Construction of marina facilities off Centennial Park appears to be a revitalized dream of councillors.

In mid-April, council representatives talked to CORTS officials to interest them in financing it. That effort is a by-product of yet another relapse by council into an affliction called a mangled sense of priorities.

It strikes me that it would be far better for council to proceed with development of facilities in the park other than the marina. There now exists neither the need nor the money to maintain the grandiose scheme.

By council's very preoccupation with marina plans, the remainder of the park — now a barren flatness of parched grass — suffers from neglect.

And it cannot be strongly argued that the inclusion of some $20,000 in the 1975 capital budget for park improvement is anything but a form of lip service. Ironically, the money is slated for the hands of the Ontario Municipal Board.

An inter-related subject comes to mind, one still in the field of recreation.

It strikes me as odd that council, willing to ask for CORTS dollars for the marina, is not willing to approach CORTS for funds for the town greenbelt project. CORTS, admittedly still young and without a more financial footing, should be asked for money for council's other baby.

It seems a logical step. The OMB has said no to the town in further purchases of land for the greenbelt in 1975. That refusal may again come next year. CORTS is simply another source now open for completion of the project.

Trenton may be looked upon as greedy by CORTS officials, but it seems a necessary risk in this case. If the town's ambitions are for self-government (hopefully without breaking its bank — the taxpayer), it is the logical area to explore more fully.

But what has council done? Essentially, nothing.

It has indicated through clerk Aubrey Sharp at a recent Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority meeting that the town may adopt a wait-and-see attitude. Council says it may slow down land purchases for the greenbelt until it sees what CORTS plans for the banks of the Trent River.

Naturally, it hopes to get funds for work on the greenbelt, and, of course, there is no wrong in that. But the question, and the worry, remains.

Why is council asking for money for the marina, and not for further development of parkland in Centennial Park and along the Trent River in the greenbelt project? The need is greater for parkland.

The wait-and-see attitude described by Mr. Sharp on the one hand, and the active solicitation on the other, indicates poor comprehension of what is of greater benefit to the town.

Surely, the greenbelt park along the river can be used by many as opposed to the few that will be financially able to use the marina. Also, by its very nature, a marina has only a limited number of berths, and no more. Its difficult to squeeze two boats in where only one will fit.

On the other hand, the greenbelt is accessible to many. Its uses in the form of walking paths, picnic tables, and small-scale sports facilities are multiple, and so for room — there's a lot. We, unlike boats, can always squeeze together a little closer.

Horses Looked After

This year, 326 establishments, including summer camps, riding horse stables, resorts and horsemanship schools have been licensed by the province through personnel of the agriculture minister's veterinary services branch. Regular and frequent inspections are made to make sure stables are maintained in sanitary condition and there is care and housing for all the horses at each establishment for 12 months of the year. If conditions are not satisfactory, the licence can be revoked.

Toronto Researchers Will Build First Solar-heat Home in North America

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

A joint project of the provincial and federal governments, it could conceivably revolutionize house building on this continent, particularly in the northern climates.

This revolutionary house is the brain product of two men, Professor F. C. Hooper, a mechanical engineer at the University of Toronto and John Hix, a Toronto architect.

Prof. Hooper has been studying heat collecting and storage for many years, and more than 30 years ago published a paper on the subject which led to him becoming one of the leading experts in the world.

Mr. Hix, as an architect, had been concerned with solar energy for a long time.

The two men got together, formed a firm Environmental Ltd., dealing with solar engineering and energy conservation, and went looking for backing to build a demonstration house.

They finally got this when they won an award from the federal Urban Demonstration Project program.

This award gives them $90,000 towards planning. The Ontario Ministry of Housing has chipped in $50,000 towards the energy package. And the bulk of the estimated $300,000 cost (a very rough estimate) will be born by the builder.

To the layman the concept of collecting heat from the sun in the summer and fall to use for heating in the winter does seem quite mind boggling. But the concept of yesterday is proper up quite simple.

The first main element is the collector. In the demonstration house this will be a big roof one side of which will be glass, pitched at 40 degrees and facing the south.

The glass will be double-paned and behind it will be metal sheets of copper, steel or aluminum painted dark (the final decision hasn't been made but a combination of copper and steel is being favored.)

The second main element will be the storage tank. The demonstration house will have no basement as such.

Instead the foundation will be a large water tank, which will be completely enclosed and highly insulated.

The operating principle is that the collector plates will be connected with the tank and as they collect solar energy it will be fed into the tank from them and the temperature of the water will slowly rise.

When there is the need for heat the heating element will be turned on and the stored heat will be used to warm the house.

The rest of the theory behind it all is extreme insulation together with a controlled distribution system in drawing off the heat.

The next question is whether it will work.

The demonstration project is a standard four-bedroom house in a housing development and the target date is to have it finished this fall in time to collect enough energy for the winter heating.

A family will live in it this winter, having to put up with a steady stream of engineers who will be monitoring it. Then, if successful, it will be sold to a retail buyer, under some scheme yet to be worked out whereby nobody will make an excessive profit.

There are still many unknowns about the project, the first, of which, is whether it will finally will work. And then there is the question of costs.

On the first, at least, Prof. Hooper feels very confident.

His long studies, including use of computer models, show that at the start of a heating season the water in his storage tank should be at 175 degrees fahrenheit and at the close of the season no lower than 105 degrees, ample to heat a house.

On costs, he still doesn't know, but he is confident that above the savings in our energy supply the advantage of a final cost to the owner will justify solar heating.

Incidentally, there is a further project afoot for the power demonstration project which could cover 10 to 20 years. This has not been confirmed yet, is it walls also would probably be used as storage.

Also, the U.S. thinks so much of the prospects of solar energy that the federal government has allocated $200 million for research. This means that in its research budget it ranks ahead of oil, gas and electricity, being second only to coal.

Red Shield Campaign

If there is one organization in this divided world that can be relied upon entirely in both the humanitarian and spiritual spheres it is the Salvation Army.

A Little Help From His Friends

In Canada a man can still depend to a large extent on his fellows for help in an emergency — unlike the situation in the United States where it is not uncommon for people to stand watching while someone is assaulted or even killed.

Examples in recent days include incidents in Toronto as well as in Belleville. In Toronto a passing truck driver stopped to help a transit commission driver who was being attacked by two youths, while locally fellow drivers came to the assistance of a taxi driver. Police subsequently disarmed a man brandishing a knife.

It was a good effort by all concerned on the side of law and order. To be able to rely on help in extremity is one of the marks of a society that cares.

PM's Word on 'Racism'

It might be supposed that the word Commonwealth, meaning an association of nations, also presupposes some degree of common cause and compassion, even down to the individual level.

Such a premise though has escaped Prime Minister Trudeau who has indicated at the Commonwealth conference in Jamaica that he would not be in any rush to admit white Rhodesians who might want out of that country in the event of a black takeover.

Left-wing Chileans yes, with alacrity. And some South Vietnamese too, although we shut the Saigon embassy and left many of them to their fate with white Rhodesians, no. And why the Prime Minister's cold shoulder to such a suggestion — made by an African bishop: "by definition," Mr. Trudeau said in effect, such immigrants (or should they be termed refugees?) would be "racist."

This from the leader of a nation which has its native Indians consigned to "reserves," for the most part left to their own devices — if not ignored — and living in many instances in the most squalid conditions.

No, let the Rhodesian whites face the music; is what Mr. Trudeau seems to be saying. At least he did not close the door completely, saying the normal immigration process would be open to those desiring to come here. But a compassionate stance with regard to those abroad of our own flesh and blood? Hardly.

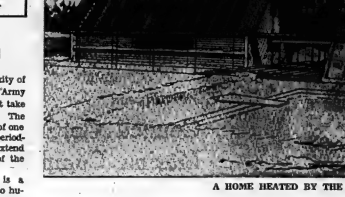
Lewis says the price of these fuels will rise this year "whether by agreement or by federal imposition."

The party faithful who learned this from Mr. Lewis at an Ottawa West riding dinner might also have been interested in some facts about their leader which are contrary to the socialist doctrine he espouses.

According to an editorial in the Kingston Whig-Standard, Mr. Lewis has two children who attend private schools in Toronto. And recently there was time out of school to accompany their parents on a Florida vacation.

Again, Mr. Lewis' house in Scarborough with its six fireplaces and other upper-bracket appointments cost $81,000 less than five years ago but is now on the market for $150,500.

It goes to show that the profit motive has not been exorcised from the leadership of the provincial New Democratic Party. Isn't it all the more strange too when Mr. Lewis gets up in the legislature and gratifies about the capitalist tendencies of the Government, or questions its leader's sincerity in opposing a rise in oil prices?



A HOME HEATED BY THE SUN

The Military and Social Cost of Vietnam

By JOHN D. HARRISON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

What more is left to be said about the war in Vietnam now ended? It is over after 30 years of continuous fighting, destruction of both physical property and the structure of Vietnamese society.

The evening of the American evacuation from Saigon and of South Vietnam's President Minh's announcement of a surrender and offer of peace to the Viet Cong, the CBS TV network in the United States produced a magnificent two and a half-hour Vietnam documentary reviewing on film that war.

Edited film brought to mind again the moments of terror, gross inhumanity, the end of village life, the growing power of the determined Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, the many roles of the Americans there, and the futility of it all to many.

Even again we were on patrol via TV with eager young American soldiers in the early and dope-smoking rebellious ones in the early '70s.

Can you believe that a decade of television, with its changing moods of the times, sometimes brought us the continuous war in Vietnam?

It is five years since the Mai Lai massacre, the same number of years since the Tet offensive, four years since the Paris peace meetings first began, two years since the final agreement which stopped the fighting between Americans and North Vietnamese but not between Vietnamese themselves.

And there were the former President Richard Nixon's wildly unauthorized invasion of Cambodia in the summer of 1970, among the Vietnamese only knew about after Mr. Nixon announced the move, one which made that country a bloodbath for five years.

And now, finally, the devastating affect the war finally had on domestic issues and life in the United States, the emergence of the draft evader and dodger on a scale unknown in American history, the East State University killings of Americans by Americans in the wake of the Cambodian invasion.

The cost in lives, lost and broken, what the American military called "body count" during the war, was 46,000 Americans killed in action, about 250,000 wounded and among the Vietnamese a wider toll of perhaps one million from the war, both soldiers, civilians and military dead and wounded.

In addition, there are about 80,000 maimed Vietnamese of which 20,000 were blinded by the war, about 10,000 made deaf, the rest paraplegics, missing and old, who have lost single limbs.

But perhaps the last word belongs to the two best-known generals on either side, the over-optimistic U.S. General Westmoreland who said social and political conditions would resolve themselves after a military victory, and North Vietnamese General Giap who said they all must go hand in hand.

Well, Giap's politics and strategy won in the end.

Why millions of men and women show such intense loyalty to Marxist ideologies to the point of dying for a cause will long haunt Americans who are fed on commentary that the world looks up to the American democracy as a defender.

This is true as well. But what force gripped the embattled Viet Cong and the heavily-bombed North Vietnamese that persevere until their systems had won?

Whatever it was, and will continue to be, they are convinced their cause was right, a determination never shared with vigor by the South Vietnamese for their cause about which the Americans became disillusioned at the end.

Pulp and Paper Firms Slow Down

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The pulp and paper industry in North America finds itself in trouble as the current recession deepens.

Operations are down considerably, but nevertheless inventories are substantially higher—due to the pressures on mills and in the hands of customers.

Some 15 prominent pulp and paper producers in Canada have closed mills temporarily, shut down certain machines, or shortened their work-week in order to trim production and inventories.

Canadian newsprint shipments in the first two months of 1975 were 1,461,000 short tons, down from 1,722,000 in January-February, 1974, according to the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Shipments of all types of paper and paperboard fell to 2,425,000 short tons from 2,981,000 in the 1974 period.

Wood-pulp shipments in Canada dropped to 1,986,000 tons in the first two months of this year from 1,928,000 a year earlier. Exports fell to 972,000 tons from 1,161,000 tons, with producers in the U.S. decline in exports to U.S. and U.K. customers.

Some customers have been accepting deliveries of pulp and paper they don't need, and adding them to their own inventories. The industry has been highly cyclical, and has kept well ahead of the wave of good relations with suppliers customers in a shortage.

One New York financial analyst, specializing in paper stocks, predicts: "The willingness of paper producers to maintain prices should soften as these last months' steadily maintain prices lose their market share to those manufacturers who have cut prices."

And another U.S. analyst, Jerry Donnelly, sees no improvement in the paper industry's fortunes by mid-1975, adds that production capacity will exceed customers' demand until late in this decade.

Besides the problem of an unfavorable supply demand relationship in the general economy, the Canadian industry faces an internal dilemma—sluggish productivity and soaring wage costs.

Productivity in late 1974 was only 3% per cent higher than in 1961—a far smaller improvement than has taken place in other Canadian major industry have risen 133 per cent in Canada vs. 100 per cent in the United States since 1961, according to each government's statistics gathering agency.

Yesterday's analysts are predicting declines in paper companies' profits this year—the extent of the drop depending upon the severity of strikes. Industrial peace is the main measure of caution in assessing the industry's securities.

Early Morn Radio Cheer

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

My letter is in response to the comment made "Listen to Any Other Name". I find it totally surprising that the writer is so lacking in his sense of humor because our morning announcer refers to cesium as "smeshium".

In this period of time it is most refreshing to rise in the morning and have the opportunity to listen to an announcer who can create an atmosphere of humor and give someone to laugh about; a good way to start the day, don't you agree?

As for Belleville's progress, I daresay our visiting friends will feel that we've adopted a "Let's go, Belleville" attitude towards the metric system. You have very little to do which you base your criticism.

This early morning announcer provides a refreshing and informative program for all the citizens in the Belleville area. As for the talk show which follows, I say radio is turned off.

I simply was floored by the negative attitude of this announcer and the comments which seemed to be made in bad taste.

Laughter is good for the soul. Why dost you try it?

JEAN SOWDEN.

Letter to
The Globe and Mail

Who is this smirking, lamebrained clown on your editorial page who has a gall to refer to those of us who lived in the bare when as children we read and read with ease at the age of or younger, as having lived in the "dark ages" and the "bad old days"? (No return to the Dark Ages).

No one forced us to learn anything — we learned quite a little effort into learning and the child felt proud of his achievements. And we learned in my large class was so dumb he first had to use "oranges and lemons bells laid out" before he could learn a multiplication table by rote.

Your writer's favorite phrase appears to be that insane and empty one — "relevance". Just not to thrown out with the bath water. Let the baby not get to be thrown out with his bath water.

Women In The Church

Cornwall Standard Freeholder

Despite almost 40 years of theoretical equality, women in the United States are still struggling to get away from the coffee-pouring, minute-taking image of the churchwomen. The United Church Observer reports

A major survey of the role of women conducted that the United Church, while ahead of other religious groups, has not given leader-ship in the church-society on equal terms.

"There is an awful difference between what the church officially says 'in theory and what it does in practice" the article quotes Dr. Lois Ann Barrett of Toronto.

The church ordained its first woman minister in 1936. Last year, it had about 60 ordained women, compared with 1,200 ordained men. About 15 per cent of current students for the ministry are women. There are five women members of the church headquarters.

Reigning Error of This Age Corrected by Calvin Long Ago

By DR. GORDON C. BRYTE
"The reigning error of the twentieth century" writes William Ross Stott in a recent book, "is the rejection of the distinctively godly sense of external discipline."

He specifies "The damage that Dr. Benjamin Spock did was less the distinctively godly sense in discipline for children; the damage that Sigmund Freud did was that he destroyed belief in the necessity of discipline in sexual conduct. Lord Keynes made as equally profound attack on the idea of discipline in money."

It was to correct the sort of reigning error to which Mr. Ross-Stott points attention, that, in response to a new clamor for reformation, the Ecumenical Council of Geneva of 1541 invited Jean Calvin — known to us as John Calvin, — to become professor of divinity in the University of Paris, to become the chief pastor of their city of 13,000 inhabitants.

Under Calvin's leadership, there was such an infusion of self-disciplined godliness became a model for Europe of ordered liberty. Geneva, in pride to "world-class." The city also became known as a sanctuary for scholars and a haven for refugees.

The art of governing is the art of the possible. Constitutional governments are blocked for lack of policy and resolution in courageous men. It was seen. The executive department of civilized life. In a sixteenth century Geneva, only the public can change the position of public officials.

John Calvin was also more than once, compelled to leave his native city, his cautious hospital and standard chaplaincy work with his studies, agrees.

"People think the church's business is only saving souls, but I have to emphasize social action," said Mr. Sherwood who also writes for The Observer, the church's national magazine.

And he questions the views of Bible literalists, who he says lead "a narrow, sheltered life."

Annie Chamberlain has a different attitude. He accepts literally the virgin birth, the resurrection and Christ's power to change water into wine and to raise the dead. He believes the Red Sea parted and that Noah did sail on the ark with a multitude of animals.

"Could it almost a person I can sit down and talk with," said the second-year student. "He is always present with me."

And Mr. Chamberlain rejects many of the activities some of his classmates engage in.

"Theology students go to parties, gather regularly at a nearby pub for jugs of beer and some use drugs," said Jean Barkley, one of about 30 women in the course.

But despite different habits and interpretations of God, most students share a common society about the so-called church hierarchy, about being tied to an institution and about a minister's lonely life."

Theology Students' Views Differ Widely

TORONTO (CP) — Students in the three-year course at Emmanuel College — the country's largest United Church college — have visions and interests as diverse as those to be found among any group of 80 people.

"Ask 10 theological students about their concept of God and you'll get 10 different answers," says one.

Some students view the ministry as an opportunity to work with people and become involved in social issues.

"I always thought of the church and its people also as be more socially and politically active," said Bill Blaikie, who came to Emmanuel from University of Winnipeg.

Alcohol Toxins Create Trouble

By C. C. THORTEON, MD

Dear Dr. Thorteon: I would like to know more about the detoxification of alcoholics. What techniques are involved? Does alcohol penetrate tissues and what effect do they have on the human body?

I. feel if more of us alcoholics knew what was happening chemically and biologically, it might help straighten us out. Some effects I've noticed are sweating, a nasty taste, apprehension, anxiety, lack of sex interest, insomnia, mixed up orientation, stomach upset, flatulence, frequent urination, obesity, halitosis, irritability, to mention a few.

What is your opinion on Antabuse?—R.W.W.

With the list of miserable symptoms you mention (and I suppose it could be expanded) it is apparent—at least to you—that something awful is happening to your system. (This should be sufficient to make you quit without getting into the psychochemistry and biology of the matter.

The "toxins" you mention are intermediate products, chiefly the aldehydes, a by-product of the breakdown of alcohol molecules. These are especially irritating and damaging to the liver—a factor in cirrhosis. As consequence the liver loses part of its efficiency irreparably.

This doesn't exhaust the subject of chemical problems posed by alcohol excess, but it is indicative of the kinds of problems.

Antabuse is what is called an "antagonist" drug. That is, when it is present in the body simultaneously with alcohol, the physical reactions can be tested. The theory is that the alcoholic on Antabuse therapy will stay away from booze to avoid the unpleasant consequences.

It can be effective under the direction of a physician, but the person must be psychologically prepared for such extreme therapy. No doctor would recommend its use without a thorough evaluation of the individual from both an emotional and physical standpoint.

My advice to alcoholics who want to go straight is to turn to the first page of the local telephone directory and look for the listing "A.A." which stands for Alcoholics Anonymous, a group therapy organization that has helped millions of alcoholics back to decent lives over the years.

Dear Dr. Thorteon: Would you please explain the meaning of the following terms—osteoporosis, hypothyroidism, keratosis, and folliculitis?—R.N.

I assume this information is for a school paper and that you are not afflicted by all four conditions. But without questioning your reasons, here goes:

Osteoporosis is a term denoting a condition of the skeletal framework (bone-producing cells) are deficient in laying down bone matrix. It leads to a thinning of the skeleton. Thereby there is a deficiency in calcium absorption.

Hypothyroidism is a deficiency of the thyroid gland in production of thyroxine, which is essential for metabolism. It emerges late in the outer skin. One

The 10 most asked questions about the new $1,500 Ontario Home Buyers Grant.

What does it take to be eligible for this new Grant?

Very simply, you must first be a resident of Ontario, 18 years of age or older.

And second, the home must be your principal residence and the first housing unit bought or built by you, your spouse, your co-owner or the spouse of the co-owner.

You mean it has nothing to do with how much I make or how much the house costs?

That's right. There are no income restrictions, nor are there any restrictions on the price of the housing unit, as long as the purchase price is equal to the fair market value. As well, the grant applies to new and older homes alike.

What do you mean by "housing unit"?

A housing unit is defined as a unit suitable for permanent habitation that provides living, sleeping, eating and food preparation facilities for one family.

The housing unit may be:

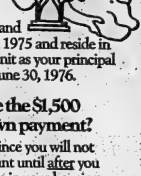
a) a house containing not more than two housing units

b) a condominium

c) a unit of a co-operative housing corporation

d) a mobile home that meets prescribed standards defined by the Canadian Standards Association.

I've been thinking of buying a home but I haven't done anything definite yet. Is there any time limit?



Yes. You must complete the purchase of the housing unit between April 8, 1975 and December 31, 1975 and reside in this housing unit as your principal residence by June 30, 1976.

Can we use the $1,500 for our down payment?

Not directly, since you will not receive the grant until after you own and reside in your housing unit.

How do I apply for the $1,500 Grant?

To apply, you must file an application with the Ministry of Revenue. You will be mailed the initial $1,000 cheque after your application is approved. If you continue to live in the house you will receive, upon reapplication, an additional cheque for $250 in each of the next two years on the anniversary date of your qualification for the initial grant. In all $1,500.

When should I file my application?

You should file it after you own the housing unit and reside in it as your principal residence.

If we qualify for the Ontario Home Buyers Grant, will we still be eligible for other housing grants?

Yes. This is a new grant from the Province of Ontario and does not affect participation in other programs.

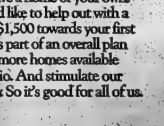
How do I get the application form?

You can get applications by writing:
Ministry of Revenue
Ontario Home Buyers Grant
Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario M7A 2C9

Also application forms have been made available through many realty offices and trust companies.

Just one more thing—how can I get more information about all of this, if I need it?

You can phone us, free of charge, by dialing "0" and asking the operator for Zenith 8-2000. Residents within Metro Toronto local calling area should dial 965-8470. Phone lines are open from 8 to 8 weekdays, and from noon until 5 on Saturday.



The $1,500 Home Buyers Grant is just part of the picture.

Ontario understands how important it is to have a home of your own. And we'd like to help out with a grant of $1,500 towards your first home. It's part of an overall plan to make more homes available in Ontario. And stimulate our economy. So it's good for all of us.

Canada's Fisheries Minister Finds His Job Frustrating

OTTAWA (CP) — Romeo LeBlanc's job may be near the bottom rung in the federal cabinet but the fisheries minister says it is challenging as any other in the government, although perhaps more frustrating. The candid New Brunswicker is faced with a relatively small department budget—about $108-million in 1975-76 — and a mounting pile of problems.

He doesn't talk about the frustrations of his job but his assistants often voice his feelings for him.

For example, when more than 900 Nova Scotia inshore fishermen threatened to tie up into international fishing agreements that year unless they got federal grants to save them through a bad spell, Mr. LeBlanc was forced to refuse and threaten them with arrest.

Alden say this was done with great anguish because although he is sympathetic to the fishermen's plight he must work within the constraints of cabinet and his budget. His position was not helped by the fact that the government stopped in about the same time with multi-million-dollar aid for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island potato farmers, faced with low prices mainly because they over-produced.

The decision in favor of potatoes naturally won him no friends among the fishermen, some of whom complain that Mr. LeBlanc has little or nothing to do with fisheries before his appointment.

He considers he has the fishermen's best interests at heart, even if he must take an unpopular stand. He says fishermen's incomes are at the top of his list of priorities.

"The fisherman needs to find in his efforts enough income to live properly. He needs to find some insurance, some protection against disastrous fishing seasons, so he needs to have the means to improve himself and his equipment.

"We have to find a way of ensuring that he is guaranteed a reasonable level of income."

Mr. LeBlanc says no other segment of society operates under the conditions faced by fishermen.

"How would you feel when you leave home in the morning if your income depended on whether you were lucky enough to get a good story or five good stories?" he asked a reporter during an interview.

"You negotiate in ways fishermen can't do that. Fishermen, leave in the morning darkness and they have no idea if they'll have anything in their nets or their traps at the end of the day. What other segment of our society is living that way?"

It used to be that way for most farmers, who were generally at the mercy of weather, markets and innumerable other factors. Farmers now have crop insurance programs and, it seems, federal and provincial governments are there to bail them out when they get into trouble.

Mr. LeBlanc sees part of the answer in restricting the number of fishing licences, making them available generally only to full - time fishermen.

"We must protect the professional fisherman and by this I don't mean only those who fish 12 months a year. There are areas where you must have a short season.

"This has been done on the West Coast, where the fishermen has imposed strict controls on the number of salmon licences.

"Their income has been stable. It has been reasonably high. The future looks good because it's basically a healthy fishery."

The fisheries minister is concerned about conserving the fisheries, a resource that has proved not to be infinite, despite the over-fishing by Canadian and foreigners.

"If that pool of fisheries is to be developed and protected and reserved for those who are involved in it for a living, we must make regulations which remove those who do it as a hobby or on weekends or a month in each year.

"I think fisheries, like anything else, if it produces a decent living for those who are involved in it, will, in the long run, bring to Canada a great deal of wealth.

Canada's Lengthy Coastline Gives It Access to Wealth

OTTAWA (CP) — With one of the largest continental shelves in the world, Canada has access to immensely rich ocean fishing grounds. Ironically, it has taken the presence of huge foreign fishing fleets to emphasize the value of this renewable resource.

Jurisdiction over the shelf has been one of the main topics of discussion at the latest international conferences on the law of the sea. Canada and other coastal states have been pushing, not too successfully, for the right to manage the shelf.

Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc says the fact this country's continental shelves have attracted foreign fleets is proof of the importance of the Atlantic and Pacific fisheries.

"It's obvious that we are dealing with a potential catch of very great importance not only to us in economic terms but also in terms of food and sources of protein for the rest of the world," he said in an interview.

"We should equip ourselves obviously to occupy, and to catch the fish in, the areas that we want to manage—the 200-mile offshore zone or the entire shelf, whichever is widest. It's a challenge, it's an opportunity, in spite of the problems. . . .

"Managed properly, the fishery on the two coasts—on the three coasts, because we have to talk about the Arctic—would give Canada a very great advantage."

There is a parallel in this age of fish-farming, with land crops. Could Canada ever become the "fish basket" of the world as well as a "grain basket?"

Mr. LeBlanc said this is unlikely, but obviously we would be one of the very major fishing nations of the world" if we gained control of the millions of square miles of shelf on Canada's 130,000-mile coastline, the longest in the world.

Development and management would require new approaches by the various levels of government, industry and the consumer, including more money for programs aimed at developing and conserving fisheries.

Conservation would require the co-operation of other countries, such as the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Portugal and Japan, some of which have fished off Canada's coasts for decades, even centuries, and Mr. LeBlanc new evidence of a more responsible approach to fishing.

"I have to remind you that five years ago instead of 12 miles—not many more years ago than that, three miles—there was wide-open chaos. Anybody could do anything on the ocean.

"Now, especially in the North Atlantic and also in the Pacific, there are international organizations trying to assess the stocks, determine the level of catch and trying to apportion to different nations' quotas that would be reasonable and fair.

"We're not always getting our way in these international discussions, but we are getting our way a great deal of the time."

For example, reduced quotas now are being accepted by countries that refused in past years to even consider them. And there is increasing evidence that the priorities and "rights" of coastal states are being recognized.

"It's not yet as well-defined as we would like, but it's the one area of the Law of the Sea Conference that has received the most general acceptance," the fisheries minister said.

FUNERAL QUESTIONS
WE ARE OFTEN ASKED

JOHN R. BUSH

R. DOUGLAS BUSHNELL

"Who Makes Cemetery Arrangements?"

If the family already has purchased a family plot, the family need only indicate the position of the new grave. The funeral director will make the necessary arrangements with the cemetery personnel.

If the family has not previously purchased a cemetery plot, the family must immediately decide which cemetery will be used and make the necessary selection and purchase. If desired, the family may discuss the matter with the funeral director, who will, if the family wishes, provide transportation to the cemetery and assist in any possible way the selection of the necessary lot.

CAS Tour of Group Homes

On a sunny April morning, conversation around Joyce Matthews' big dining table started after the coffee and doughnuts were served.

Mrs. Matthews was the day's first volunteer for the Family and Children's Services tour of the five group homes operating in Hastings County.

She and her husband Ted are parents of five children, ranging in age from 13 to nine years old, and foster parents to two boys, the first of whom they hope will be several in their care.

Larry MacDonald, head of the CAS child care department, and Ian MacLean, head of the residence program, introduced the other couples — Jim and Gail Beach, Orval and Rose Budynski, Bill and Marion Kuipers and Don and Gladys Woodcock.

Also along for the day was Karen Maxwell, Loyalist College instructor in the behavioral science program, and co-ordinator of the field work project in which college students work for the CAS in the group homes.

Mrs. Matthews explained to the group how she and her family, who recently moved from Toronto to their big old century home on Jeffer Road, become interested in running a group home.

"We slowly got our own kids started by the idea of having other children coming into our home, and then we moved out of the city to this house that's got plenty of room for more family."

Like some of the others who have group homes for the CAS, the Matthews are in the early stages of renovating their newly-enlarged home. Old ceilings and barnboard walls give the upstairs bedrooms a rustic, cozy feel that makes the Matthews' welcoming to incoming teenagers.

On the outskirts of Trenton, Gail and Jim Beach showed their home for nearly 11 and 12 year olds. Their house, which they purchased from the CAS, is ideally suited for rambling, with lots of rooms for their five children and three foster-age girls.

"We see our home being a stepping stone to independence for the girls. We have fewer restrictions than the other group homes may have, since we try to prepare them for getting out on their own," said Marion Kuipers.

"We do have a sense of family here, but we also help the girls to deal with their own parents."

Mrs. Kuipers mentioned one problem that all the foster parents have run into when it comes to their situations — the talking of food from the kitchen between meals. Because emotionally disturbed children often eat as a compensation for something, sneaking of snacks from the refrigerator when they feel neglected against, either with rules or locks or combative psychology.

Rules are very much a part of the home, as they are in the Ross Budynski. Once they had moved from Toronto with their family of five children into their big country house — the former Queensboro Nursing Home — they realized they had plenty of room for more children. The surroundings (it's a working farmland) and the Budynski's no-nonsense approach to life care, convinced Mr. MacDonald and Mr. MacLean that this would be an ideal setting for a court home as well as a foster home.

The Budynskis now have seven foster children and two others who have been sent by the court instead of being sent to a training school.

In a large new one-story wing of the house, there is a library, dining room, reception room, and a bedroom for the young person. There are rules, and a roster of duties and curfews that are enforced strictly — and with positive and therapeutic results.

"They settle right down once they know I mean business," said Mr. Budynski, as he described his firm approach. "We have no trouble with the boys from the start here a while."

Of course, when they come in from being outside all evening, they're ready to go to bed at 9:30."

The Budynskis have snowmobiles for use in the winter, and a river flowing through the house supplies good summer recreation. Trapping, camping and caring for a menagerie of horses, cows, cats, dogs and rabbits keeps the children busy and involved. There is a workshop where Mr. Budynski and the boys can potter, and a big garden for work as well.

The rest of the foster parents on the tour agreed that the Queensboro home is an ideal situation in every way. One girl chief of the tribettes, they said, is that both parents are always available at home, unlike the foster homes where the men have regular outside jobs during the day.

"We also get tremendous support from the schools here," said Mrs. Budynski. "The teachers go out of their way to give us help, and between us we keep a good check on class attendance."

"We decided really suddenly to do this, and now that we have, we're glad."

Gail Beach, sorting through the astonishing closet of children's coats has been a foster mother to more than 80 children in less than 12 years. Her basement is a marvel of organization, with shelves of clothes, boots, games and toys on hand for new arrivals.

Talking About Their Roles, Needs, Goals, and Views

Talking about their roles as substitute parents, social librarians and counsellors, the foster couples spent the afternoon in the Budynski's living room. During their conversation, various ideas and points of view were exchanged.

Although the foster home parents like the idea of having a professional child care worker available for occasional assistance and counselling with the teen-agers, they agreed that the best person to help in any one home to occupy a worker full-time.

The four other couples expressed their envy of the Budynski's situation, since both adults are at home. This makes the job of parenting more equal, a benefit to adults and children alike. A future goal of CAS department head Larry MacDonald — paid, professional parents to run group homes — was endorsed by all the foster parents as a result of their own experience.

Conversation about work division and discipline reveals that in all but one home there is a fairly sharp distinction made in actual roles. Girls help in the kitchen and boys are expected to do heavier work.

The knowledge that certain expectations must be met before a child can leave, generally with a sense of security and self-identity, is necessary to these foster parents. And in the best case home the division is labor is a result of particular situations — "the girls do a better job in the kitchen, that's all."

Rules, and steady enforcement of them, play a large part in any group home, but especially so in a foster home setting. Teaching teenagers the necessity of conforming to usual social standards in order to make their living pleasant and successful, is one of their primary concerns, said foster parents.

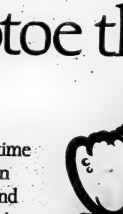
One of the biggest burdens faced by group home mothers is the volume of housework that can often prevent them from therapeutic contact with their foster children. Taking too much time to talk to the kids can result in getting behind with the laundry — not too serious with two or three children, but a problem when there are eight or nine.

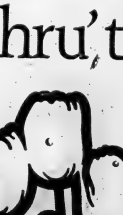
The women all expressed the feeling that they had entered foster parenthood in order to work with young people, not to get stuck with the "dirty jobs".

Although in some of the group homes Christianity is a dominant part of the foster family's life, religion is not "pushed" at the incoming children. Instead, they are left to choose whether or not they will join the family going to church or in observing religion in the home.

Nevertheless, it is apparent that Christianity is an essential motivating force in the lives of these foster parents. By their lives, and by the pictures, posters and activities in their homes, they provide examples of Christianity "at work".

However, those homes in which traditional Christianity does not play a role exhibit the same caring, secure "family feeling" that helps to turn troubled teen-agers into happier people, said Ian MacLean, CAS residence supervisor. The unselfish concern is the same.





Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rodgers of Stirling, announce the approaching marriage of their only daughter Ellen Jayne to Robert Bruce Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reynolds of Stirling. The wedding will take place Saturday, May 31 at 3 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling.

Don Woodcock, who with his wife Gladys is new to foster parent life, is in charge of the Highland Avenue home, where teen-aged boys are living. The sparsely-furnished floor, he says, is his best curfew system, and so he doesn't oil the hinge.

Joyce Matthews is new to the Children's Aid Society roster of foster mothers and now in the Quinte Area. A s a d bar family are renovating an old farmhouse into comfortable quarters for teen-age occupants. The kitchen is already finished, panelled with barnboard and featuring a long table to gather around for meals.

FRANKFORD VILLAGE SQUARES

Highlight of the square dancing club's activities this year was the recent graduation dance, after presentation of graduation hats and diplomas to the five members, who advanced to the sixth to square dancing.

Dancing then began by the more than 30 persons present. The evening ended with a pot luck supper.

ITALO - CANADIAN CLUB

At the Knights of Columbus Hall in Trenton on April 20 a general meeting of the Italo-Canadian Golden Club was called for the election of this year's executive.

The newly-formed club already has a membership of more than 200 from the Bay of Quinte region.

ST. JOSEPH'S C.W.

The April meeting of St. Joseph's Catholic Women's League was chaired by the president, Mrs. Mark Park. Year-end reports were given by members of the executive for their particular responsibilities.

The ceremony for installing the new officers was carried out by Monsignor J.A. Carley. The new executive members are as follows: Jean Park, past president; Sheila Buckley, president; Mary Carr-Stone, first vice-president; Mary Evans, second vice-pres., Ann Ross, third vice-pres.; Jean Park, treasurer; recording secretary; Jane Langabeer, corresponding secretary; and Anita Canty, treasurer.

Mrs. Park was presented with the past-president's pin by Monsignor Carley, and was presented with a gift in appreciation of her work during the past two years.

Tiptoe thru' the Tulips
It's springtime in southern Ontario, and everything's coming up roses, tulips, daffodils, lilacs and apple blossoms.
Come, take a drive through the Niagara Peninsula and treat yourself to pastel vistas and the gentle fragrance of acres of orchards in bloom. There are festivals of flowers in Niagara Falls, Ontario, where the daffodils, lilacs and magnolia trees are at their best.
In Hamilton you can visit the Royal Botanical Gardens and see the finest in cultivated floral displays or take a Spring Wildflower Walk along the Gardens' nature trails. And tulips are everywhere — from Windsor, during the festival at Jackson Park Sunken Gardens, to Ottawa, where parades, fireworks and regattas and over three million tulips are part of the Festival of Spring.
The glory of Spring is just a short drive away or if you wish, talk to your local travel agent or auto club about special tours to bis you to the blossoms.

Can You Smell Analogs Sizzling?

Did you ever think you'd be eating something called "soy analog"?

That's the word used by food manufacturers — they've lost their status as food processors as far as they're concerned — for "bacon" that's never seen the hog pen.

Somehow it's depressing to know that in the years we'll be eating words out of science fiction books rather than food.

Shocking? How much real food have you eaten today?

For fun, define real food as a substance that's traveled from source to you with little interference from middle men.

For breakfast you probably had cereal shot from guns or toasted white bread, both with all of the good bulk long gone.

You might have had an "orange drink" mixed from a powder in the crystals. You had a chicken egg. (One point for you.) And perhaps that bacon made it.

For lunch, a sliced meat sandwich on white bread and maybe a bag of potato chips. An apple. Let Wolf Ed. Note: meat is full of nitrates and the white bread is enriched or not, is the same insipid stuff you had for breakfast. Potato chips offer little but calories.

Your lovely red apple got that way, likely, thanks to exposure to chlorine gas — it was immature when picked.

If you're having chicken for dinner, remember it was just seven weeks old when it did its last scratching in 1950.

He blames the state of our health on the soy we eat and on "pharmacologically addicted" doctors whose practice cries medicine while ignoring preventive medicine. For Dr. Rosenberg, preventive medicine in part means improving eating habits. He blames the food industry for its emphasis on producing foods with endless shelf life and fads over appeal. He believes that the food industry has far-reaching influence even into the research laboratories — thanks to the grants it makes.

Doesn't that can afford the calories, it won't hurt, adds that many experts "believe any sugar is unhealthful."

If you're more cautious about the food you buy and eat, you may have had some of that "natural" type cereal for breakfast and real orange. Well, here's more bad news. Some of the "natural" cereals contain as much as 50 per cent sugar according to biochemist Dr. Harold Rosenberg. And he says that orange you ate has been developed for shipping, not nutrition. According to Dr. Rosenberg, times that the skins are dyed a brilliant orange color with citrus red No. 2, a cancer-producing agent. (So much for the "natural" theory.)

Dr. Rosenberg, who is developing a formula for Doctors Book of Vitamin Therapy, says that surrounded by mountains of food, North Americans are starved for proper nutrition. Armed with the world's most expensive and highly technical health care, they're living only four years longer than they did in 1900.

What can the consumer do about it? Dr. Rosenberg says that orange you ate has been developed for shipping, not nutrition. According to Dr. Rosenberg, times that the skins are dyed a brilliant orange color with citrus red No. 2, a cancer-producing agent. (So much for the "natural" theory.)

Parliament Debates Nine Years - Now Italian Women Are Equal

ROME (Reuter) — After nine years of tortuous discussions, the Italian parliament has passed a new law giving wives equal rights with their husbands.

Since the family unit is the keystone of Italian society, the new law, opposed only by the neo-Fascist MSI party, is truly revolutionary. It brings the status of Italian women into line with that of other women in advanced Western countries.

Up to now, Italian women have been virtually without rights in their own homes, have had no legal say in the upbringing of their children or where they live. They also have had no rights in the sharing of family property and have lacked rights to inherit any more than a small proportion of income from family possessions.

The new law now abolishes the ancient Roman concept of patria potestas—the unlimited right of the husband to make all decisions of a family nature.

The old family code, described in parliament by Communist deputy Nilde Jotti as "an infernal and archaic machine" began heap which was a disgrace to our country, dated from the era of Benito Mussolini.

Under its provisions a wife was virtually a chattel of her husband, who was the legal owner of all property acquired during the marriage, the only legally boat her if he could prove in a court that such "dispicline" was justified.

Next the wife is legally a joint owner of all property bought since the marriage, and shares equally in the income of family businesses.

She also has full rights to share decisions regarding the upbringing and health of her children, and she can apply to the courts for a ruling in the event of a disagreement with her husband.

The new law also raises the age at which marriages can be contracted, which comes only a few weeks after parliament voted to lower the voting age to 18 from 21.

Under the old law, boys could marry at the age of 16 and girls at 14, although in special cases—which in practice usually meant the girl's pregnancy—these limits could be lowered by a court to 14 and 12 respectively.

Now the lower limit is 18 for both sexes, but a court can lower it to 16 in similar special cases.

The law also changes the practice relating to surnames. Formerly a wife gave up her maiden name when she married, taking her husband's until he died—at which time she reverted to her original surname.

Now she may simply add her husband's surname to her own, and keep both as a widow until she remarries. Such a change, which caused considerable parliamentary discussion, was pressed by feminist organizations as an symbolic importance in preserving a wife's individuality and identity.

The law also preserves a recent decision of a constitutional court that a woman who cannot bear children cannot be forced to renounce her Italian citizenship.

Another important section of the 344-article law deals with illegitimate children. They had become a problem in Italy during the years when divorce, introduced only in 1970, was impossible.

Under the old law, illegitimate children had to take their mother's surname, and could not inherit, even if their real father wished to leave them property.

Now they have equal inheritance rights with legitimate and adopted children, all of whom share a minimum of two-thirds of their fathers' estate in equal parts.

What A Weekend

I did something last weekend, yes all should do at least once a year, and probably four times a year. I checked myself in to the Four Seasons for an hour and had a wonderful time all by myself, with the pool to myself and the sun, books I took out of the Corby Library. And I left marvelously relaxed and ready to face another month. The time of year I got a real case of the "I'm tired" exhaustion! And a day and night at the Four Seasons was the sure cure. You might just make a little investment in your own and your family's mental health and do the same. You just might see me there!!

And the Fight's On

There's quite a battle going on down at Murray's Food Market on Front St., I would suppose. Produce manager Bruce Ward is on vacation in England and his department has been temporarily taken over by one of the cashiers, And I mean taken over. Since the produce manager is away . . . the cashier will play — with his produce and his prices. And you, as a Murray's customer and a disinterested observer, can enjoy the spoils of this particular battle (though by no means are the stakes in this battle second-rate produce. Oh no!) On Saturday, I was in the store to make the produce manager wish he'd never left town, provide a few tips for his return, and also get a great deal on produce at Murray's Food Market for the next few weeks. And no throwing carrots PLEASE!!

In Case You Missed It

Ruddy Electric's Consumer Division, 291 Coleman St., received some interest in the Kalor Portable Electric Furnace I mentioned in this column. In case you missed it, here are the details again. And any person at Ruddy would be glad to supply you with more. Just drop in or call 968-5746. The amazing little unit is electric for safety, which is a concern uppermost in many of your minds. This little machine could be like a dream for cottagers and cars circuit. It's also a great idea for rec rooms. But if you're an early arriver and late stayer at your cottage, Kalor and Ruddy can make the stay a whole lot more comfortable.

The Right Sunglasses

I learned a few things about prescription sunglasses this week when I attended Wrenson Optical at 88 Dundas E. East. The major kind of sunglasses are described as 'photochromatic', which means they adjust to the amount of light in the situation. There are two types of photochromatic lenses: Photosun which are glasses for outdoor use only, which range in color by tint or quite light. And Photogrey which are an indoor-outdoor lense. Trenton Optical also told me about contact lenses which are becoming more popularity, but are hard to get quick delivery on. Now, surely, this little amount of information which I have just imparted should make you more keen and talk to someone who really knows what they're talking about when it comes to sunglasses, Trenton Optical of course.

More People Needed

ServiceMaster is really serious about expanding its housekeeping services. And to do this, ServiceMaster needs reliable and trustworthy people who are interested in receiving ample remuneration for the effort expended. If you are such a person, don't hesitate to call Mr. Teed at the ServiceMaster number of 967-1672. On the other hand if you are a busy person who requires the services of such a person to help you keep your home in efficient housekeeping, you should note that ServiceMaster number also and dial it too. I really don't see how anyone can lose in this operation.

Holiday Plans

If you don't own a car, or if the car you do own is not trustworthy for holiday travel, then here's a name that can help you get that motoring holiday safely and effiently — Holiday Car and Truck Rentals at 11 West Moira St. You'll have a wide selection of efficient Ford to Chrysler products at your fingertips. Or maybe your holiday is going to include a quiet time at your cottage, but in order to make that time comfortable, you need a truck to get the comforts of cottage where they will do the most good. Holiday can help you there too. One phone call or visit to Holiday Car and Truck Rentals may mean the difference between a vacation that works, and one that doesn't. And who wants to wait until next year? Call Holiday at 962-8114.

It Shows Now

Without the complementary blessings of the winter white of the snow, the sheen of your vehicle is in need of perhaps certain shows it, doesn't it? And the fact that you need to paint it is more aggravating when you know you will have to do it again and again. Well, you needn't do it again and again. All you need do is to call Highland Construction at 962-1116. Every trail (and thunder mountain) vehicle is vinyl siding and you won't have to worry about the exterior of your boat, van, next fishing camper or so. Vinyl is weather-resistant, wear-resistant and child-resistant. Why not get that job done and file all? And if you want to look at what you're getting, just visit Highland Construction's Home Improvement Centre at 257 North Front Street.

For A Smashing Season

Jean Smith tells me she's received some stunning golf sets at her West End Boutique on Hwy. 7 at Ameliasburgh. And it's just about that time. And even if you're not a very good player, that doesn't mean you can't look like a pro. And speaking of professionals, Jean Smith has some new summer dresses designed specifically for golfers and golfettes to quote them, "they're lovely". Jean also has some gorgeous cotton evening wear, all flowing and cool. There's just so much fashion at the West Wind, a few descriptions could not appropriate adjectives just can't do it all justice. You just must go and see for yourselves. The West Wind Boutique is open Monday to Saturday until 8 p.m., Sunday, until 6 p.m.

Worth Repeating

When I talked to Michael Gibbs of Gibbs and Son, we decided that what we said last week bears repeating, so here it is. Gibbs and Son don't sell vacuum cleaners, they sell service to them. And so they don't want to deal in faulty products. Now, when it comes to established names in vacuum cleaners, Hoover is right up there. Gibbs and Son, 37 Albion St., are selling upright Hoover vacuum cleaners, "forward sparkling new", as Michael Gibbs says, for only $94.50. These are two-speed deluxe models which are convertible and have a light as well. If it's a new vacuum you want from a reputable dealer, then Hoover is the name and Gibbs and Son is the place.

Facing the Facts

And the season facts, according to my friends at the Tropical Garden Pet Shop, 301½ Front St., are that the fleas are alive and well — and flourishing — with this warm weather. But that needn't bother you, or your dog or cat with some help from the Tropical Garden. The Tropical Garden has a selection of sprays, powders, and collars to get and keep everything under control. And there's a new fangled, "3 in 1" collar, I'm told, which kills and ticks, and also provide preventative protection for three months. So be very wise and save your pet some discomfort. See the Tropical Garden.

Social Worker Shows Insight

There is more to this profession of social work than meets the eye.

This is the story of a deserted mother of five, trying to maintain the home on minimum income, and lacking confidence in herself.

When the school worker visited she was concerned only of disorder and dirt. The children were running around barefooted and half clothed, dirty clothes filled the sink and table. When the mother answered the door her uncombed hair and dirty apron met the eye first.

This woman had been worked on by school nurse, public health nurse, visiting homemaker and welfare worker. The child care authority was called in.

This was the first time a trained social worker had visited Mrs. Brown, and she saw things in a different light.

She watched the children as their clean in the tidy home sat at her feet. She watched the mother, who patted them lovingly.

She learned of the one day when there was a cab fire whose fog had been straightened (through Mrs. Brown's loving and intelligent effort — in the face of the mess and discomfort which she would heartily bear to inflict on her child. Yet she had found the best might after night to make it grow in the right direction, rubbing it, soothing him and loving to Mum until he slept.

The worker learned that all through her life Mrs. Brown had been a second-class citizen — in the shadow of a brilliant older brother. She had been told repeatedly that she was thoughtless and believed it.

This woman had become so afraid of life she was afraid to shop! She would accept the first of the items the butcher suggested, and flee. Managing was terrified her, and yet she had a flee determination to keep that family together.

So the social worker felt she had something here that was rare and worth working on. In weekly visits she talked together on some one aspect of homemaking.

The worker would say things like: "Why don't you try a beautifully scrubbed table, Mrs. Brown. That is all the work of a slob!" Another time she would express genuine admiration for some bit of sewing or mending Mrs. Brown had done.

When it came to shopping the worker put it like this: "Why don't you try — Look, Mrs. Brown, you are raising a family of five on very little money and with no help from a husband and father. These children love you, and you deserve all the help that you can get. You have a right to the advice and help that my profession can give you."

Gradually Mrs. Brown got the idea that she was doing something right. The time when she saw things improve her rapidly was in her housekeeping.

It took the insight, and the belief in people, that this social worker had, to work what seemed an impasse in Mrs. Brown's life.

Ann Landers

Tactless People Harmless But Rude

Dear Ann Landers: You can't imagine how tactless and insensitive some of the people you adopt a child. Please publish my letter so some of those ignoramuses will read it and awaken themselves to their stupidity.

My husband and I were tentative enough to adopt a baby girl at birth. I recently learned the wonderful news that I am pregnant. Every day someone says to me, "How marvelous that you will now have a child of your own!"

Don't they realize we ALREADY have a "child of our own"? The fact that our little girl is not of our flesh and blood doesn't make her any less ours.

We are happily awaiting the arrival of the SECOND child, not our first. Thank you for allowing me to express my feelings. — Doubly Blessed

Dear Blessed: Please try to understand these people mean no harm. They are simply dopes. I do thank you for writing, however, and I'm sure your letter has helped educate many people today.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a middle-aged bachelor who is engaged to marry a very fine man. He had a son and daughter-in-law to whom he is devoted. His wife passed away two years ago.

The four of us went to dinner Sunday and the groom-to-be displayed the most atrocious table manners I've ever seen. They talked with food in their mouths, reached across the table for everything and licked their fingers. I said nothing but was thoroughly embarrassed.

Last night I decided to tell Harold exactly how I felt. I was prepared for a defended line and made me out to be a very picky person. I said nothing but this attitude made me furious. How can I overcome my revulsion? I'm sure the four of us will be doing together frequently after we are married.—Steadfast Stomach

Dear S. S.: There's something more basic here than table manners, and I hope you have a serious run-in with Harold.

Accept the fact that he doesn't care to hear any criticism about his children. If they were old enough to be married, their behavioral patterns are fairly set. So keep your "views" to yourself and look the other way.

Forecast Misses

MADOC — Loyalist College Board of Governors was $80,000 short of its budget forecast for March due to the purchase of 23.5 acres of land to the north of the college without provincial government assistance, says Fred Bedford, chairman of the board's building and finance committee.

He also said a board meeting now here this week by his committee had to review the college 1975-76 operating budget in light of the recent arbitrated salary award to Ontario's community college teachers.

"The award exceeded budgetary provisions," noted Mr. Bedford. He said the provincial government has promised grants to make up the excess.

Driver Unhurt

BOGART — Dorain Meyers, 21, of Tweed, escaped injury when the car he was driving went out of control on Highway 62 between Tweed township road, just east of here, Friday.

Police said damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1500.00.

Greeks Mark Easter

Due to the differences between the Julian and Gregorian calendars, Belleville's Greek community celebrates Easter midnight Saturday. Here, the church parish celebrate Good Friday by carrying the epitaphios (symbolic of the burial of Christ) around the Harder Rd. Greek church. At midnight tonight, the Greek community will hold a special feast of lamb entrails celebrating Easter.

Cab Driver Pulls Nephew from River

Trenton cab driver Brian Brown risked his life early today to rescue a motorist stranded in the icy, spring flood waters of the Trent River.

According to Mr. Brown's eye-witness account of the incident, the motorist lost control of his vehicle and careened into the river.

"When I reached the body in the water, I recognized the man as my nephew," said Mr. Brown. The nephew is Jim Laird, of RR5, Trenton.

Mr. Brown works as a cab driver for Graham's Taxi in Trenton and resides in Brighton with his wife, Barb, and three children.

"I was returning from a call in Glen Miller and was just on the Highway 401 overpass when I saw an oncoming car veer out of control and crash into the river," said Mr. Brown.

"The car sort of floated about 40 feet into the river and moments later began to sink," said Mr. Brown. "I saw Trenton and residents in Brighton with his wife, Barb, and three children.

"I knew he wasn't going to make it," he said. "I swam out to meet him . . . he'd gone down for the second time by the time I could grab him." said Mr. Brown. "That's when I recognized him as my nephew."

Mr. Brown then took Mr. Laird to Trenton Memorial Hospital where he was treated for exposure.

"The water was damn cold. I hope I don't have another night like that."

Crews are expected back at the river this weekend to retrieve the vehicle.

Council Plans Special Session To Study 1975 Budget Estimate

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City residents will know next week from how much it will cost them to run their city for 1975.

City council next Friday will stage a special session to study and approve its budget for the year and strike the tax mill rate.

The estimates to be placed before council now are being drafted into a total document as top city hall officials work over the weekend to finalize estimates of all demands on the city treasury.

City councillors won't know until Wednesday at the earliest, what the projected total will be. That's when city manager Wilbur Purcell says he will have the entire budget ready for distribution to councillors — giving them two days prior study before the financial debate begins.

It's inevitable the session will be a painstaking process as council probes for ways to prune the budget in the area of rising local government costs.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey backs the budget review.

"There won't be one item that we have control over on which we can't be questioned," she said.

That total estimate, council will be, she wouldn't precisely predict.

But there is "certainly going to be some increase as far as the general rate is concerned . . . although we're going to keep it as low as possible."

Starting council will be the task of attempting to hold the line on spending over 1974 city operations — which cost $12 million.

That brought an increase of 14 per cent and a residential mill rate of $3.1 — an increase of six mills. This meant a total average $249 tax bill for what the city deems is a typical residential assessment — $10,000.

"I think very much if there'll be much accomplished for new programs," she said. "It will be pretty much the case of holding the line."

Hopefully helping to hold the financial line from spiralling too high are several factors: (1) A $429,000 increase in provincial government grants; (2) An estimated $140,000 gain in new assessment; (3) An expected $400,000 surplus from 1974. All this totals about $929,000 or close to seven mills.

But estimates from every city department are up, she said. So are those from the various joint boards and commissions in which the city participates with other municipalities, said the mayor.

Information

Some 5,000 schedules of city recreation department's summer program will be distributed through Belleville next week. Preparing to despatch the information Friday were Rita Becker, department secretary, and Patricia England, community involvement program worker.

Budget Sees $17.80 Tax Hike

Belleville separate school supporters with an average assessment of $1,000 will have to pay about $17.80 more this year in educational taxes — the first increase since 1971.

The Hastings-Prince Edward County separate school board handed down its budget Friday with a 36 per-cent increase over 1974. They struck the figure at $4.4 million with an overall increase for taxpayers of about 13 per cent.

Trenton separate school supporters with an average assessment of $5,000 will also pay about $17.80 more this year for educational taxes, James areas of the counties will pay more than 13 per cent. Separate school officials did not have the figure.

Rec Show At Arena

More than 30 firms are participating in the Quinte Sports and Recreation Show which began Friday night in the Belleville arena and continues throughout the weekend.

Fred Jones — one of two show organizers — said the show combines the elements of preparation and is designed to give local residents a chance to see and sporting equipment available in the Quinte area.

Entirely filling the ice surface of the arena, the exhibit covers 30,000 square feet. mini-motorcycles to house trailers to sailboats complete with masts and oars.

"While we are charging admission to the show, it is not designed a profit-maker," said Mr. Jones. "We are trying to make the show run as a break-even venture to the benefit of the outdoor enthusiast."

Displays include trailers, camping equipment, wide variety of hunting equipment, tents — just about anything you can name in recreation, said Mr. Jones.

The show continues Saturday evening until 10 p.m., opening again Sunday from 1:30 p.m. until 6 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for adults, . . . children under 12 with an adult are admitted free of charge.

McGibbon Says Women's Role Today Improving

By AL LABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Women have made definite progress in changing outmoded attitudes and breaking stereotyped molds, Lt.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon told the audience at an all-ranks mess dinner at CFB Trenton Friday.

Canada's first woman stepmother to a Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. McGibbon was guest of honor at the dinner held in conjunction with International Women's Year.

But, despite such progress, she said these changes still aren't coming about quickly enough.

International Women's Year (I W Y) sharpens the awareness of both men and women to the injustices that women have been subjected to in the past — injustices both sexes should admit — but did not speak about.

Some of these injustices still exist, she said, in the light of recommendations of the status of women that were not totally implemented.

As one example, she cited only partial implementation of the recommendation that all trades in the armed forces be open to women.

She said, "Women are still excluded from trades which call for service in isolation and primary combat and messing roles. As a result many trades remain closed to women."

She urged IWY not to be looked upon as a slogan but as an attitude.

Describing herself a moderate as far as the rhetoric and militancy of the women's liberation movement was concerned, she said "We no longer require the militant label that some women claim they feel to be important and necessary. Perhaps some of the militants are less militant today because of the gains they've made.

She said she hoped IWY will bring an increasing number of outstanding women all forms of honorary degrees, and an improvement in what she called "deplorable" representation of women on boards of Canadian corporations: "Only one of 200 directors is a woman," she said.

"Time is running out," Mrs. McGibbon said, "for people — men and women alike. We must refuse to listen to the verities that really count. We must look to our own personal growth and to any own development as individuals as being of paramount importance."

Ottawa Asks Loyalist To Plan French Course

MADOC — Loyalist College may attract a lucrative federal government contract to teach French to civil servants, the college board of governors learned this week.

Herb Young, college president, told the board meeting next here the college has been approached for a contract proposal to train 25-30 civil servants in the French language.

Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, said if successful, Loyalist would serve these students from outside its four-county area including Kingston.

The board voted to ask the college administration to draft a contract note subject to the approval of the executive committee and also to advertise for instructors.

City Plans Diversified Summer Park Program

Bellevillians of all ages will participate by the hundreds in a series of programs now being organized for the summer months.

They'll hear all about it in the next week.

Now ready for distribution is the city recreation department's schedule of warm-weather activities.

It involves a broad range of programs — from canoeing to crafts — now being organized for the coming months through July and August.

At least 2,500 participants, volunteers and instructors of all ages will take part in the programs under his department's direction, says Ministry Clifford Belch, recreation director.

Then there will be about another 1,000 youngsters involved with minor sports from softball to soccer and weightlifting — with which his department also is concerned, he estimates.

There are 19 major programs to be organized for youngsters as well as special courses and events for adults.

City recreation chief is a far-cry from the playground-centred activities that were its major program in the early days of organized recreation.

In fact, this year sees the department planning to close out two of its 25 playgrounds — at Dundas Park and Sir James Whitney School — since in some areas past attendance figures on the wanted operation of traditional play centres.

However, says Mr. Belch, playground activity can be adjusted according to participation.

A new program being added this year involves retarded children. It includes arts and crafts, camping and aquatic activities. It has been organized in response to a demand created in the last several years, says the director.

Copies of the schedules of the schedule outlining the programs will be distributed next week through city schools and community agencies.

This year the department will have 68 university and high school students on the structure for its various programs and courses.

Brown Takes New Post

Prominent in local women's club activities, Dorothy Brown emerges as administrative services at the Belleville Regional Resource Centre, is leaving the city following a job promotion.

She has been promoted a Manpower counsellor in Oshawa.

A past president of the Belleville Business and Women's Club both in Belleville and Ontario, she also has been secretary to the Belleville and District Employment Committee.

Faulkner to Screen Publishing Takeovers

TRENTON — Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner told reporters Friday development of distinctive Canadian identity is a priority today and not that the federal government is trying to encourage through import of the country's creative people and publishing houses.

Mr. Faulkner said U.S. publishing firms with Canadian subsidiaries have generally understood Canada's concern over the takeovers that we are a sovereign country with our interests greater than our consumers' interests."

He was responding to questions over the reaction of U.S.-based Canadian Authors Publishers to whom he spoke in West Virginia this week. At the time, he expressed dissatisfaction over the group's previous performance in Canada.

He said Friday he feels there is need for Canadian-owned publishing firms and plans screening of any future takeovers by non-Canadian firms.

Such screening will not mean additional protection for Canadian publishing firms, however, he said.

"I believe that if you give the Canadian product a chance, it'll survive on its own without having a protected market of 20-million consumers available to do it, without anyone else competing."

Response from the majority of Canadian firms indicates they don't want a protected market, simply an installation of economic factors, he said.

Although not "out of the question," the secretary of state said no serious consideration is being given to establishing Canadian content regulations to force foreign-owned Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. publishing firms.

Crash Puts Two In Hospital

TRENTON — Two Belleville men escaped serious injury early today in what town police describe as a near head-on collision on Dundas St. West.

A Trenton Memorial Hospital spokesman said today Donald Aucoin, 18, of 15 Lacombe St. and George Spurrell of 43 Everett St., were treated for cuts and bruises and released after the 1:30 a.m. collision.

Police said the Aucoin vehicle was in collision with a vehicle driven by Jacques Laberge, 19, of CFB Trenton, without injury to the two vehicles was estimated at 1,000.

Gunnery School Reunited

PICTON — The 18th annual reunion of No. 21 Bombing and Gunnery School will be celebrated here at Picton Legion, 78 Royal Canadian Legion.

Although the former Camp Picton has been phased out for about six years a number of armed forces personnel quickly recall this military base.

The gunnery school sometimes referred to as the first activities of Camp Picton when it was established early in the 1974. All this totals about $929,000 or close to seven mills.

But estimates from every city department are up, she said. So are those from the various joint boards and commissions in which the city participates with other municipalities, said the mayor.

Although the former Camp Picton has been phased out for about six years a number of armed forces personnel quickly recall this military base.

The gunnery school sometimes referred to as the first activities of Camp Picton when it was established early in the Second World War. Throughout the war the school trained many Royal Air Force service men as well as RCAF personnel.

Tonight's reunion is open to all men who served with the school and will parallel a No. 21 reunion celebrated each year in England.

Approximately 50 local persons are expected to join the reunion celebrations at Camp Picton and the gunnery school.

Most Residents Favor Switch to Metric System

The question was: "Are you in favor of Canada's conversion to the metric system?"

Of more than a dozen Front Street pedestrians talked to, the answers fell into three categories, with the large majority definitely in favor of the switch.

Age seemed to be a factor in the opinions of those interviewed. The older the individual, the less favorable the reaction to the metric changeover.

On the negative side it was often stated the conversion would be costly in terms of tools and equipment.

The middle-groaners, coincidentally mostly middle-aged, said the switch is inevitable, it might be hard to adjust to, but we'd just have to learn to live with it.

On the positive side, the arguments in favor of the switchover, mainly from younger people, stressed the logic of the system and the fact that Canada would be conforming with a number of its trading partners who have always used the metric system.

The issue surfaced locally at Monday's city council meeting when Alderman Jim Meeks told council he had polled 2,500 city residents and found only five in favor of metric conversion. Alderman Meeks' attempt to have council endorse a resolution opposing conversion was defeated in a 9-2 vote.

Following are representative individual reactions:

DAVE WILSON

A 18-year-old Moira Secondary School student, Dave Wilson is definitely in favor of conversion to the metric system. "It's easier to use because everything works in tens. Our present system is in odd units and is inconsistent."

STEVE MILES

Another 18-year-old, track driver Steve Miles is not in favor of the switch. "We've been on the other system a long time. The changeover is too sudden and a lot of people don't understand it."

AUSTIN KEMP

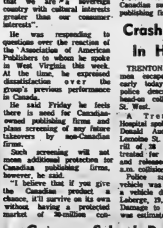
Retailer Austin Kemp, 52, believes when we become familiar with the metric system, we will find it easier to use. "Most of the rest of the world uses it and we have to go along if we want to do business with them."

DEBORAH WAGNER

Seventeen-year-old Deborah Wagner, a Moira Secondary student, believes the metric system is a good system. "It's going to be hard to get used to, though," she said. "A lot of people will disagree with the changeover."

MARILYN HURST

"It's awfully confusing," said this Bell Canada clerk. "But it might work out in time. The kids are learning it in school and I guess we'll just have to get used to it, although it's going to be hard for older people."



BARRY GRILLS

City bus driver Barry Grills, 38, is all in favor of conversion to the metric system. "It's a superior system because it's completely logical. It's the most popular in the world and we should conform to it. It's handier when you get used to it."

Expos Lose Fifth Straight

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter and singled home the game's first run, leading New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over Montreal Expos in a National League baseball game Friday night.

Koosman, 3-0, outdueled Dave McNally, 3-2, and deflected a fourth inning line drive that second baseman Jack Heidemann's one-out triple.

The Mets made the their second run in the fifth on doubles by Bobby Valentine and Felix Millan. Felix Millan drove in an eighth-inning run with a sacrifice fly off Dale Murray.

Koosman, who entered the game with an earned run average of 8.84, pitched out of trouble four times in the first five innings. The Expos had two runners aboard each time.

Montreal's only hits—at least off Koosman—were a single by Pepe Mangual in the first inning, Pete Mackanin's double in the third, Tim Foli's single in the fourth and Larry Parrish's single in the seventh. It was Montreal's fifth consecutive setback.

McNally left for a pinch hitter after seven innings and Steve Grote opened the eighth with a single. Pepe Mangual, who had singled earlier, was batting for Grote and was called out on strikes.

Barry Foote grounded into a double play after Parrish reached the seventh with a single.

Flyers Win Allen Cup Series Opener

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Barrie Flyers continued their rule as the reluctant victors in Allen Cup playoff action Friday night, beating Thunder Bay Twins 9-5 in the opener of their best-of-seven national senior hockey final.

The Flyers, who fagelled one game out of Friday night's series last weekend in St. John's, Nfld., in a protest over violence, were back in control of the final series with a dedicated roster and free from their eastern trip.

Barrie captain Carby Adams, pressed into coaching service after playing coach Harry Egan was suspended for pulling the team off the ice in the third game at St. John's, said he was couldn't understand why the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was "in such a hurry to get the final series over with."

"We played two games last weekend and it'll be two more games this weekend and it's not fair," said Adams who must lead the defending champions Flyers into the second game of the final tonight.

"I guess I can't be unhappy when we're winning but we would like to play our best in the finals and we're tired."

A crowd of 2,517 was on hand to watch the Flyers easily outclass their smaller opponents in the first two periods, outshooting the Twins 28-17 and outscoring them 6-2 in the first 40 minutes of play.

But the Flyers sagged in the third period and the Twins rallied to outshoot Barrie 15-9 and outscore the Flyers 3-2.

Bob Mondelmo and Paul Regan each scored his third goal of the game for Barrie in third period. Kent Rudnike and Don Pagnotti scored single goals for the Flyers.

McCleod beat Flyers goalie Grant Cole for the first goal of the game at 1:40 of the first period but Barrie came back with three goals before they believed "Deacon got the Twins' second goal in the second period.

Car Makers Blame Track Operators

LONDON (AP) — Grand Prix car makers Friday blamed the Monaco Circuit operators for who did not comply with the international code of safety" for the Spanish Grand Prix accident last Sunday in which four persons were killed.

The charge was made in a letter to the International Sportsmen's Commission of Motor Racing by the Formula One Constructors Association.

West German Rolf Stommelen's car crashed while he was leading Sunday's race at Barcelona, Spain. Stommelen's racer bouncing over a guard rail after losing a wheel.

The tragedy at Barcelona occurred because the circuit did not comply with the international code of safety," the letter said. To avoid repetition, "it is essential that each circuit be adequately inspected for compliance with safety specifications" before the race.

Commission Dr. Mario Carli, organizers of the Monaco Grand Prix, announced Thursday that 11—said it will be limited to 18 Formula 1 cars.

They said Friday that they agreed with the limit requested by the Formula 1 Constructors Association but noted that the organization two years ago threatened to boycott the race if the number of cars were not allowed to start.

Carli said 36 entrants in this year's event, meaning 18 will be eliminated during the three days of time trials May 8-10.

10-year-old Girl Big Trouble for Council

MONTREAL (CP) — Nine weeks ago, pint-sized, 10-year-old Carolyn Wise was overjoyed her eight-year-old brother Derek for his evening soccer practice with the Dorval Montagnais team.

Now, she is the only girl playing in the Quebec indoor six-a-side tournament.

But her presence has split the Dorval-Montagnais soccer council, caused a council member to resign and so incensed tournament organizers that they threatened to change the rules to prevent a girl playing again.

Team coach Crawford Lowe resigned from the council after the decision that Carolyn should be allowed to play. The council voted 6-5 to keep her in action.

The deciding vote went to Neil McLaughlin, president of the Two Mountains Soccer Association. He voted against letting the girl play.

Lowe said that when the team met for its second game a week later, the area's manager threatened to pull the team out if Carolyn played.

"There's absolutely nothing in the rules to prevent her playing and in my opinion she's the best player here," he said. "The fact that she's only 70 boys to choose from and she is on the team because of her ability."

Blanks Leads Braves

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati Reds have finally learned how to pitch to Larvell Blanks every carefully.

Blanks is not normally a long-ball hitter, but is somehow he seen Red—and Friday night he continued his assault on Cincinnati pitching.

"They threw more strikes to me than anybody else in the league," Blanks said after his two-run homer led Atlanta Braves to a 6-5 decision over the Reds.

Bla nks has been a Cincinnati nemesis for some time now.

A week ago, he came through with an 11th-inning double that provided the Braves with their only other victory over Cincinnati this season.

On Friday night, he said he was going for the long ball again.

"I'm not a home run hitter," he said. "But with two out and two on, I'm just swinging away."

In the other National League games, New York edged Montreal 3-0, Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 9-5, St. Louis Cardinals beat Chicago Cubs 5-1, Los Angeles Dodgers blanked San Diego Padres 3-0 and San Francisco Giants beat Houston Astros 5-4.

Blanks connected off Clay Kirby, 1-2, who took over from starter Fred Norman in the sixth.

Philadelphia scored four unearned runs in the first inning, three on Mike Schmidt's homer, and went on to beat Pittsburgh. Tug McGraw nailed down the game for Philadelphia in the ninth, recording his first save for the Phillies.

Bake McBride and Ken Reitz led the home attack for St. Louis. McBride pitched a three hitter, leading the Cardinals to victory. McBride picked on a 1-1 delivery from Rick Rosazzell, 1-3, in the opening inning and hit his second home run of the year. Also losing later, Reitz followed Ron Fairly's single and Keith Hernandez's triple with his first home run for a 4-0 lead.

Darrel Thomas' single in the ninth inning delivered the winning run as San Francisco beat Houston.

Back in Groove For This Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Trainer Lou Rondinello has had a good-well hospital at last year's Kentucky Derby. Today he was back at Churchill Downs seeing a different floral arrangement—the blanket of roses that goes to a Derby winner.

Rondinello sent out the stone-sided John Galbreath-owned entry of Prince Thou and Dowdy into Place to oppose 13 other three-year-olds competing under colors worn Foolish Flavors, Master Derby, Phonetic Punch and Promised City.

Post time for the 101st running of the 1¼-mile Derby was 3:32 p.m. EDT.

Rondinello brought Little Current to the Derby last year and then had to leave most of the actual training to an aide when he went into hospital with blood poisoning. Dowdy Express won the Derby. He remained in the hospital until the morning of the Derby in which Little Current finished fifth.

Bill Norris singled home Clarence Gaston with Oakland's winning run in the 12th inning with a single off Chicago reliever Terry Forster, who pitched the relief role replaced Wilbur Wood in the eighth. Forster then fielded Larry Haney's grounder but threw late to second. Ted Kubiak sacrificed the runners along and Norris drove in right.

Rollie Fingers, 1-2, picked up the victory after Vida Blue surrendered seven hits and three runs—all unearned—in 10 innings.

Rookie Dan Ford's first two major-league runs batted in and Rico Carty's efforts by Jim Campbell and Tom Bergmeier led Minnesota's triumph. Campbell replaced winning pitcher Dick Colpits with runners on first and second and none out in the seventh inning, and Bergmeier cut Buck Martinez and got Fred Patek to ground into an inning-ending double play.

Chinese Dominate Matches

QUEBEC (CP) — An eight-member Chinese badminton team easily defeated its Canadian counterpart Saturday in four exhibition matches in the second leg of a seven-city tour of Canada.

Beat Canadian showing Friday, the Chinese team—five men and three women—was by Jamie McKee, of Toronto, in the men's singles. McKee lost 15-3 and 15-5.

In the women's singles, Montreal's Lucie Harris was defeated 11-3 and 11-3. Toronto's Jennifer Dalkin and Montreal's mersault which proved to be enough.

It was Vedeleiu's first major win since he re-entered competition after being a year ago after a four-year absence. He left Romania where he received most of his training. In 1974.

Boys Hinted At Retirement

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Bev Boyes, a pretty teller who hinted she may retire after a second place Wednesday were the winners Friday at the Canadian national diving championships.

Beverley Boyes of Pickering, Ont., and Sandra Vedeleiu of Ottawa was the women's and men's one-metre springboard events in the opening day of the three-day meet.

Boyes scored 398.85 points to beat Teri York of Vancouver by more than nine points. York had 377.58 points, Eniko Kiefer of Montreal was third with 376.44, and Cindy Shelle of Toronto, fifth by the Pointe Claire, Que., club, was fourth with 373.71 points in the national indoor title last year.

Vedeiu was the most consistent diver in the men's event and his 420.54 point total topped second Rick Fitzsimmons of Vancouver by almost three points. Fitzsimmons had 417.39 points.

Friesen and Skip Phoenix of Toronto had poor dives in the latter round. Phoenix, the top qualifier in the preliminaries, finished fourth with 417.3. Terry Temple of Toronto was third with 419.01.

Boys hinted she might be retiring.

"I'm not taking in as many meets as I once did," she said. "I'm getting married in a little while," but added she'll "just wait after the world championships in Cali, Colombia, in July.

"It's the three-and 10-metre events I'm interested about," she said. "The one-metre doesn't qualify you to go to Montreal like that test is for girls here. They don't practice the one-metre."

Boys said she needed luck in both York's dives.

"Most of Teri's dives have a tough degree of difficulty, so that means if she hits all her dives there could be no way I could win, if fortunately she missed a couple."

York appeared to be in control with strong dives in the second round. However, the 16-year-old Simon Fraser University student fared badly on a 3½ somersault. Boys' final dive was a front 2½ somersault.

Horseshoes Must Bring Luck to New League

When George Wilson and a few of the boys decided to get together a horseshoe league they honestly didn't know what they were getting into.

"We figured on six or eight teams from the area," said Wilson, the president of the league.

So, the 418 Wing group let the word get around that anyone interested in getting a team into a league could put one together and let them know.

Before the new organization ever had a name there were 16 groups from throughout the area ringin' ringers that one of the phones to get it.

Thursday, the executive held their first general meeting and ended up getting seven more team entries.

"Nobody thought it was going to be this big," said Wilson.

Now the Quinte Horseshoe League (it was officially named at Thursday's meeting) has 23 teams and Wilson and his executive don't plan on closing registrations until May 14.

The most recent teams to join are the Lions Club, Deseronto, Tweed, Allied Chemicals, Corbin Lock, Public Utilities and CNR; they are added to the previous list consisting of four teams from Legion Branch 98, three from 418 Wing, two from Northern Electric and CFB Trenton Junior Ranks Club, and one each from Hantz Fees, Frankford, Thurlow Fire Department, Trent Valley Fish and Game Club and Belleville Fire Department.

"We're scheduling the official opening night for the 16th at the 418 Wing," said Wilson. "Any teams still wishing to enter, or individuals for that matter, may do so right there on that night." (418 Wing Club is located on the 401 Connection, west end Highway 14.)

If any individuals can't get together a team, the league will place them on a team.

Although scheduling hasn't begun, the league has decided on the pits it will use. They are located at 418 Wing, Royal Canadian Legion, Deseronto, Tweed, Frankford, CFB Trenton and Thurlow Fire Department in Point Anne.

Though the official opening takes place on Wednesday, May 14, the season does not open until the 21st. The league will play every Wednesday night through to the first of September with league playoffs taking action to the end of the month.

SLICES — Barring inclement weather, this should be first busy weekend of summer sports for the 1975 season.

Friday night the Quinte Exhibition Raceway got off to a brand new season, today the Belleville Minor Baseball Association holds its walk-athon, Sunday, Oshawa Tonys are in town to take on the Belleville McDonald's in an Ontario Football League exhibition double header at Alemite Park; the CIHG Hot-Stars will be up to their antics at Parkdale Ball Diamond in an exhibition match against the Belleville Minor Baseball Association executive. Be Belleville Olympics are in Kingston for a Frontier Soccer League exhibition match against the Irish Canadians, and Picton Kartway will hold the first official races of the Southern Ontario Go-Kart Association at 9:30 a.m.

It's great for outdoor sports, but even indoor sports are going this weekend. The junior provincial basketball team tryouts were held today in Kingston and all this weekend The Quinte Recreation Sports Show is on at the Memorial Arena.

Toronto Metros, of the North American Soccer League are beginning this season with about $30,000 in the bank, thanks to their merger with Toronto Croatia, of the National Soccer League. The team is now officially known as the Toronto Metro-Croatia.

Presently the team is $300,000 in debt, in order to finish in the black this year the Toronto club will need to draw a minimum of 8,000 paid spectators per game. They have 11 home games beginning with a May 19 contest against New York Cosmos.

MacDonald Takes First Feature Of Quinte Raceway Season

By DOUG JEFFRIES
Sports Writer

An estimated crowd of over 700 was in attendance at the Quinte Exhibition Raceway for the opening of the 1975 harness racing season.

Belleville's Art McDonald was the big winner of the night, as he rode both his entries to the wire in first place finishes. Art rode Daytona Bob in the second race in a time of 2:17.2.

In the feature event race, he was atop of Charity Mac, riding him to the finish, in the best time of the night, 2:12.2. A photo finish was necessary to declare a winner in the feature, as he nudged out Sharkey the Great, and Aint Time for the victory. All races were on a three mile pace, for $300.

For McDonald's winnings, he picked up a total of $300.

In the third event Cyprr Hill Storm, ridden by Hugh Wemp of Centreville broke the race course record when it ran the mile in 2:12.7, the fastest mile it has ever run, smashing its previous record by almost five seconds.

To cap off a successful opening night, the Donald race had Silver Lad, a longshot to win, paying $250 on a $2 bet.

Harness racing continues next Friday evening when post time has been announced for 7 p.m.

Macs Recruit Brockville Pitching Ace for Sunday

By MIKE BRADSHAW
Sports Staff

When Ted Walker and Scott Heidt took into the mighty sticks of the Oshawa Tony's, Sunday at Alemite Park, they won't be so stone on the mound as they thought they were going to be.

The Belleville McDonald's pitching staff will be backed up by a new prospect, as Roger Hodgkinson will be leading a hand.

Hodgkinson, a six-foot-four, 225-pound right hander from Brockville is a proven commodity on the senior football circuit. He rolled to 41 victories in 55 games last season. In that span he accumulated an earned run average of less than 1.5 per game.

"Nothing's definite," said the baiting baron, "I just told them (McDonald's management) I'd come down and give it a try."

Hodgkinson was picked up by the Canadian champions in 1968 to pitch with Dick Hainer in the Ottawa City Senior Football Championships. In his home days with Brockville Diggers, the 31-year-old pitched his way to two Ontario championships.

At the present time, Hodgkinson is still in negotiations with a team in the Ottawa District League. He had signed a contract to play for that particular Ottawa club, but recent regulations regarding the use of players outside the immediate area of the city may invalidate the agreement.

"It'd know next week what's going to happen up there," said Hodgkinson, "and besides having that agreement I feel a distinct obligation to the home town team."

Nevertheless the big man from Brockville will be toiling for the McDonald's on Sunday.

The doubleheader begins at 2 p.m.

SLICES — Contrary to reports, the Belleville McDonald's will not have to appear against the Oshawa Tony's in blue jeans.

General manager Doug Adams has put together enough equipment that the players can get by looking like they all belong to the same team despite the fact that their real uniforms are still in transit from Vancouver.

Using some pants from last year's Rollies Construction team, some caps donated by Wilson's Sporting Goods and some long-sleeved rental shirts normally worn under the actual ball sweaters, the Macs will take the field.

They may not appear as shiney as a new quarter, but they'll still be worth 25 cents. McDonald's tickets to the McDonald's home games will be available at the gate on Sunday. They're going for $20 a shot and the price includes all pre-season games, home games and all regular season home games. Tickets are for regular season games and three pre-season games.

Admission on Sunday's doubleheader is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

Season's tickets are also available at McKnight's Variety on Front Street, downtown Belleville, and McDonald's Family Restaurant, on North Front St.

Past Champs Head Up Mr. Bowling List

The list of entries for the 24th annual Mr. Bowling Tournament scheduled for Belleville Bowl-O-Drome Sunday, is dotted with the names of many of the popular five-pin event.

Trenton's Wally Knapp, whose 292.4 average posted while he was on the way to the title in 1971, is back for another try. So is Wendy Woodward of Cobourg who averaged 82.5 when he won in 1967.

Top average by a city bowler in the event is owned by Lee St. Louis whose 290.7 was his 1961. Lee has not entered the 1975 competition, as yet, but is expected to take part.

Ron Sayler, a four-time winner (1950-53, 1962 and 1963) is back and so is veteran Trenton five-pinner Horace Urmston who was the winner in 1958 and again in 1960.

Also returning for another shot at the crown are 1966 winner Glenn Ha milton and Jack Calnan who won in 1969 and 1972. Both are Belleville bowlers.

Another returnee is Mel Kennedy of Trenton. He led the field in 1972.

Trying to make it two in a row will be Belleville's Jim Nichols who captured the honors in 1974.

Action Sunday opens at 10 a.m.

It is expected more than 80 bowlers will be shooting for the prize money.

Bay of Quinte Women Hustling into Season

Members of the Bay of Quinte Country Club women's golf section are busy preparing for another season.

A date of special interest to new members is May 7 when Bay of Quinte golf pro George Balazs will be on hand at a wine and cheese party during which golf rules will be discussed and a question and answer period held.

June 4, a deserty bridge is scheduled at the club.

Jean Smoke heads up the executive of the club's women's section for 1975. Vice-presidents are Barbara Geerkins and Miriam Bishop.

Miriam Graham, secretary; Eva Corbe, games; Marione McHugh, assistant games; Jane Ann McCrae, publicity; Marg Bush, House and Social; Carol Wilson, luncheon girls; and Ann Acton, past president, round out the slate of officers.

Bowman Liked Two-way Effort

MONTREAL (CP) — There were a number of encouraging things for coach Scotty Bowman of Montreal Canadiens to think about following his club's convincing triumph over Buffalo Sabres in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series, including the play of left winger Steve Shutt.

Shutt, Montreal's top player in the playoffs last season, did not have a good game in the first series against the Sabres.

"He was injured in the series against Vancouver," Bowman explained. "He's been slow coming back.

"I thought he played well Thursday night. Skott and Yvan Cournoyer were coming back and overtaking guys . . . Everybody can check. That's hard work."

Shutt has not been known as a great defensive player in his career nor has Cournoyer for that matter. Yet Bowman has put in strong two-way performances of late. Cournoyer topped the Sabres 7-0 Thursday by their first shot in the game which resumes tonight.

"It was a critical game for us," Shutt said. "Everyone just got prepared. We tried to get everyone thinking the same way."

"The whole team was playing together, in Buffalo, we just did it some of the time. Everybody on the club worked hard."

The win was Bowman's first over the Sabres this season after four losses and a tie in regular season play and two decisions in playoffs to start this series.

"I think the fact we hadn't beaten them all year was starting to hit home," Bowman said. "Our guys are feeling themselves. If they feel Buffalo won't come out and play a better hockey game tomorrow."

"We've been a lot of surprises," said coach Floyd Smith. "Maybe the biggest surprise is we're going to show up. We've got our game, we'll play all night. We didn't play it Thursday night. Maybe we weren't allowed to play it. We'll play a lot better."

Smith said Friday he had not decided on his starting goaltender for tonight's game and will not do so until today.

Gerry Desjardins, who received his second shutout of this season and playoffs, will be in for Montreal.

Tonight's game will be carried on the fall CBC television network beginning at 8 p.m. EDT. The fifth game of the series is scheduled for Monday night with a sixth, if necessary, here Thursday night.

Marlies Square Off Against Beavers Tonight

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — It may be soon season on goaltenders tonight when two high-scoring major junior hockey teams—Toronto Marlboros and Sherbrooke Beavers—face off in the opening game of the Memorial Cup round-robin tournament.

The Marlboros, winners of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series, qualified for the annual Canadian championship after a 12-game postseason playoff grind bolstering a runaway first-place finish in the regular season.

New Westminster Bruins, winner of the Western Canada Hockey League championship, make up the third team in the eight-day tournament that takes the top team from each of Canada's three major junior leagues.

Toronto scored 480 goals in the regular season, and had top performances from Bruce Boudreau, the league's leading scorer with a record 105 points on 68 goals and 97 assists, and Mark Napier, a powerful two-way player who has already signed a contract with Toronto Toros of the World Hockey Association.

Sherbrooke, winners of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League, had eight players who scored 30 goals in the regular season. The Beavers swept to a first-place finish and lost only one game in three rounds of playoffs.

The goaltending edge has to be given to Sherbrooke. Nick Sanza was the league's top goaltender in the regular season, appearing in 66 games and registering a 3.65 goals against average. He has seven shutouts, including two in the playoffs and one when Sherbrooke beat the Soviet Union's national junior team 7-6 in an exhibition game.

Steve Rooney and Gary Carr shared the Toronto goaltending duties during the regular season and gave up 382 goals, fifth best in the league Carr played regularly throughout the playoffs and was inconsistent in the eight-game quarter-final series with Kingston Canadians as well as later tests with Sudbury Wolves and the final series with Hamilton Fincups.

While the Marlboros were stumbling through the playoffs, New Westminster—third-place finishers in the WCHL's Western Division—polished off some of the best powerhouses.

The Bruins beat second-place Medicine Hat Tigers in five games in the quarter-finals, defeated first-place Victoria Cougars in six games in the best-of-seven semi-final set, then came back from 3-0 and 3-2 deficits to beat Saskatoon Blades in the final.

The Bruins are idle until Monday when they take on Sherbrooke. The teams will play each other once in the first round. Toronto and New Westminster play Wednesday.

The winner of the best record gains a bye into the Sunday, May 11, final, while the other two play off Friday. All night games start at 8 p.m. EDT with the Sunday windup scheduled for 2 p.m. on the CTV network.

Coach Ernie McLean of the Bruins credits a strong farm system with the team's success in regular and post-season play.

The team moved from Estevan, Sask., four years ago and McLean said it's taken that long for a farm system to develop.

"We like tough, aggressive hockey and that's what we're going to have to play if we want that national title," McLean said as the team prepared to bed east.

General manager George Gulbaut of Sherbrooke looks for a tough series but is counting on his goaltender and a top defensive corps to carry his team to the national championship.

Gulbaut had his eyes, Canadiens Delage, scouting the Marlboros when Toronto played Hamilton in the final, and said he had re'ports in the west watching the WCHL finals.

Toronto scored 480 goals in the regular season, and had top performances from Bruce Boudreau, the league's leading scorer with a record 105 points on 68 goals and 97 assists, and Mark Napier, a powerful two-way player who has already signed a contract with Toronto Toros of the World Hockey Association.

Sherbrooke, winners of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League, had eight players who scored 30 goals in the regular season. The Beavers swept to a first-place finish and lost only one game in three rounds of playoffs.

The goaltending edge has to be given to Sherbrooke. Nick Sanza was the league's top goaltender in the regular season, appearing in 66 games and registering a 3.65 goals against average. He has seven shutouts, including two in the playoffs and one when Sherbrooke beat the Soviet Union's national junior team 7-6 in an exhibition game.

Steve Rooney and Gary Carr shared the Toronto goaltending duties during the regular season and gave up 382 goals, fifth best in the league Carr played regularly throughout the playoffs and was inconsistent in the eight-game quarter-final series with Kingston Canadians as well as later tests with Sudbury Wolves and the final series with Hamilton Fincups.

While the Marlboros were stumbling through the playoffs, New Westminster—third-place finishers in the WCHL's Western Division—polished off some of the best powerhouses.

The Bruins beat second-place Medicine Hat Tigers in five games in the quarter-finals, defeated first-place Victoria Cougars in six games in the best-of-seven semi-final set, then came back from 3-0 and 3-2 deficits to beat Saskatoon Blades in the final.

The Bruins are idle until Monday when they take on Sherbrooke. The teams will play each other once in the first round. Toronto and New Westminster play Wednesday.

The winner of the best record gains a bye into the Sunday, May 11, final, while the other two play off Friday. All night games start at 8 p.m. EDT with the Sunday windup scheduled for 2 p.m. on the CTV network.

Coach Ernie McLean of the Bruins credits a strong farm system with the team's success in regular and post-season play.

The team moved from Estevan, Sask., four years ago and McLean said it's taken that long for a farm system to develop.

"We like tough, aggressive hockey and that's what we're going to have to play if we want that national title," McLean said as the team prepared to bed east.

General manager George Gulbaut of Sherbrooke looks for a tough series but is counting on his goaltender and a top defensive corps to carry his team to the national championship.

Gulbaut had his eyes, Canadiens Delage, scouting the Marlboros when Toronto played Hamilton in the final, and said he had re'ports in the west watching the WCHL finals.

Nighthawks Even Calder Cup Series

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — New Haven Nighthawks evened the Calder Cup American Hockey League playoff best-of-seven series at one game each Friday night, defeating Springfield Indians 5-3 behind a pair of goals by Rod Norrish and strong goaltending of Ross Brooks and Jim Peters.

The teams will play game three in the best-of-seven series tonight in Springfield.

The Indians scored New Haven by a wide margin, 49-32, but were shut out during the 12:31 mark of the second period.

The goals came within 20 seconds, with Peters getting the go-ahead score at 6:37 of the first period.

Springfield held that lead until 51 seconds of the second period when Norrish tied it 2-2. Rick Kessell and Norrish again gave New Haven a two goal advantage midway in the same period.

WHA Final Opens Tonight

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Aeros coach Bill Dineen says he is glad the World Hockey Association championship series between the Aeros and Quebec Nordiques starts tonight and was not delayed several days.

The two teams ahd will meet Tuesday night in San Houston Coliseum for the second game in the best-of-seven series.

"We've come this far and the guys are anxious to get it started," said Dineen. "Besides, if we wait any longer we would have the home ice advantage since the Coliseum is available after May 17."

Houston gained the final round with a 4-1 quarter-final series victory over Cleveland Crusaders and a 4-0 victory over San Diego Mariners.

Quebec beat Phoenix Roadrunners 4-1 in the first round and eliminated Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-2 in the semifinals.

Houston and Quebec split six

SHOOTS RECORD

PARIS (AP) — Neil Coles, a 40-year-old Briton, shot a course record of 64 Thursday, the best competitive round of his 20-year pro career, and took the first-round lead in the French Open golf championship. Coles' round included three eagles. He was par after seven holes, then went seven under par in the closing 11 holes. David Chillas of Britain was in second place with a 66. John O'Leary of Ireland and Brian Barnes of Britain were tied for third at 68.

Can Islanders Do It Again?

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — New York Islanders may be pressing another comeback. In fact, it may have already begun.

After erasing a 3-0 deficit with four consecutive victories against Pittsburgh Penguins in their Stanley Cup quarter-final series, the Islanders find themselves down 3-0 to Philadelphia Flyers.

They hope to get untracked Sunday in the third game of a best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final playoff series.

"There's no way we are going to quit," vowed Derek Potvin, the Islanders' all-star defenseman.

Potvin believes the Islanders may have already started their comeback. After falling behind 4-1 in the second game of the series at Philadelphia Thursday night, New York scored three goals in the final minutes of regular time.

Bobby Clarke's goal at 2:36 of the overtime session gave the Flyers the decision, but Potvin feels the Islanders have proved a point.

"It proved is a lot of observers who came into the dressing room Tuesday night (after Philadelphia's 4-3 victory in the opener) said, saying, 'How can you beat the Philadelphia?'

"We showed that we played a little better. It was just a matter of getting the puck in the skate, any team can check us right into the net, and that's what the Flyers the decision, but Potvin feels the Islanders have proved a point.

"We proved is a lot of observers who came into the dressing room Tuesday night (after Philadelphia's 4-3 victory in the opener) said, saying, 'How can you beat the Philadelphia?'

"We showed that we played a little better. It was just a matter of getting the puck in the skate, any team can check us right into the net, and that's what the Flyers did Thursday night. Maybe we weren't allowed to play it. We'll play a lot better."

Smith said Friday he had not decided on his starting goaltender for tonight's game and will not do so until today.

Gerry Desjardins, who received his second shutout of this season and playoffs, will be in for Montreal.

Tonight's game will be carried on the fall CBC television network beginning at 8 p.m. EDT. The fifth game of the series is scheduled for Monday night with a sixth, if necessary, here Thursday night.

NHL Won't Draft Under-age Juniors

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Friday that the NHL will not draft but that it will not enter players at the year's amateur draft last thatis will save agreement "with anybody who would put us at a financial disadvantage."

He was commenting on a statement Thursday by Ben Hatskin, president of the Hockey Association chief executive officer, that the WHA would not sign an agreement to join the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for junior players it drafts.

Campbell said the NHL will "honor the guidelines set out by the federal government that we not sign any under-age junior—that is any player under 20 who has not graduated his junior eligibility."

He said the NHL had been prepared to enter a further agreement with the CAHA whereby it pays the amateur group for junior players drafted and signed. The current agreement "technically expired at the end of the 1975 playing season."

Until we entered into an agreement we were under no restrictions. We have paid a lot of money to the CAHA," he said.

In other words, the NHL will not keep left it in the hands of the federal government. It first gives the situation. The next step is up to them."

THE UNEXPLAINED

by Allen Spraggett

UFOs Explained

Good news, everybody. You can stop worrying. (If you were) about those pesky UFOs. There's no mystery about them. It's been solved.

The solution: There isn't any such thing as a UFO.

This is the conclusion reached by writer Philip J. Klass in a new book entitled, rather misleadingly, UFOs Explained.

What Klass calls "explaining" a genuinely mystery UFO case (and he admits that such cases do exist) is to start from the premise that UFOs don't exist because it's plainly impossible, therefore any report of one must be something else.

The something else, says Klass, might be a meteor, birds, tricks of the light, or the invention of a hoax. But one thing it CAN'T be is a UFO.

Taking this approach, one would be able to write a pretty convincing book proving the non-existence of just about anything out of the ordinary. In fact, this is precisely what the French Academy did in the 18th century when they learned body declared officially that no such thing as meteorites existed because it was clearly "impossible" for rocks to fall from the sky. This conclusion was reached in spite of the thousands of eye-witness reports of people who had seen meteorites plunge earthward.

There are hundreds, if not thousands of witnesses — many of them military personnel, commercial pilots and police officers — who report having seen UFOs. Yet Klass says there all mistaken because UFOs can't possibly exist.

Consider two versions of an impressive UFO case: The version recounted by the reputable witnesses who experienced it and that offered by debunker Klass (who is not a scientist but a technical writer for a magazine).

On the night of October 18, 1973, a US army helicopter piloted by a four-man crew reported a terrifying encounter with a UFO.

The pilot, Capt. Lawrence J. Cyrus, corroborated by his crew, said that as the helicopter flew near Mansfield, Ohio in clear weather, an object which shone with a red light hurtled toward them on a collision course. Capt. Cyrus took evasive action and threw his craft into a steep dive.

Then the crew saw what they called a UFO hover above them. They described it as a considerable distance and later drew a sketch of it. They estimated it to be 30 to 60 feet in length.

Here is part of Capt. Cyrus' verbatim description of the UFO: "The front edge had a bluish red light on it . . . You could delineate where the red light stopped and a gray metallic structure began.

"You could also see a red reflection off the gray metallic structure.

Another crew member said: "It had a steady red light on its nose. It was cylinder-shaped and had this green light shining down . . . No noise from it."

Startled by an investigator if the outline of the UFO was large or far away, Cyrus replied: "Distinct! Because you had stars outside and was dark. You could see the outline and with the stars out you could actually see the outline."

The crew members agreed that the UFO hovered over the helicopter, moving very slowly back and forth, as though examining it. "Almost like it see what we were," said one of the crew.

All agreed that the UFO appeared to be metallic, was cigar-shaped, had a red light on the front and a green light emitted from the rear.

Another unusual feature of the case is that though Capt. Cyrus had thrown the helicopter into a steep dive to avoid the anticipated mid-air collision his altimeter showed that the helicopter actually had risen more than 2,000 feet — as though the UFO had sucked the craft upward.

All witnesses agreed that the UFO, which had been hovering, suddenly streaked away at tremendous speed.

An official of the Federal Aviation Administration, asked to rate Capt. Cyrus's credibility, said: "I have an extremely high regard for his integrity and his capabilities . . . I trust him without a question of a doubt."

And, of course, the three other crew members confirmed his story.

What does debunker Klass say about this case?

Well, remembering Rule One, which is that whatever something is, it isn't a UFO because they can't exist, Klass speculates that what the helicopter crew saw may have been a meteor which may have been as far as 100 miles away. The rest was their imagination.

Klass arrived at this non-explanation on the basis of telephone conversations with Capt. Cyrus without bothering to fly the original route with him in the helicopter (as some other scientific UFO investigators did).

Klass admits he can't prove his theory but he doesn't have to; you've got to prove him wrong, he says.

Well, I think I'll write a book denying that man has walked on the moon. The whole scenario was a C.I.A. hoax staged in the Arizona desert somewhere.

Now just prove me wrong

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Most players would go down at four spades. The combination of the 4-1 trump break and a big diamond finesse will prove too much for most. Most experts would make the hand in spite of these bad breaks.

There is a book line of play available. The second club is ruffed, the queen of trumps is cashed (hoping for a low trump to dummy's 10). Then, since trumps have broken 4-1, the eight of diamonds is led for a finesse. It loses and a third club is led. South ruffs his ace of clubs, but South simply discards a low heart.

Now he can ruff a fourth club in dummy, preserve trump control and make his contract. Note that the heart he discarded was a loser anyway; South just elected to lose his trick when he wanted.

Simple, isn't it. Now how did our friend the unlucky expert go down on that very line of play?

When he led the eight of diamonds and let it ride, West played his four spot. The unlucky expert wasn't alert at the East-West cards. He received the diamond finesse. This time it lost.

A third club was led and South checked that losing heart. Along came a second club. South ruffed in dummy, but East discarded his last diamond. South could not get to his hand to draw trumps!

Of course, South could have foiled this by playing just one round of trumps before attacking diamonds or he could have figured out that West was up to and dropped the king. But experts are not infallible.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll have a few close frustrations to contend with today. They would amount to a hill of beans if you treat them philosophically.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A situation will arise where it may cost you a little cash up front before you see a return. Later, profit should be forthcoming.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be sure your goals are in harmony with your friends. If not, make some adjustments so no one feels left out.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a tendency today to anticipate the outcome of events negatively. Fortunately, you'll be wrong on the important issues.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'd be prim not to talk too much at this time to a friend who is not involved in a venture you share with someone else.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In any bargaining you do today, let the other party do most of the selling. You'll get better terms.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't base major decisions today upon partial or hearsay information. Get all the facts firsthand.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have any dealings of importance, you'll fare better toward late afternoon than in the early part of the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Lady Luck is trying to get to you either through a member of your family or a family custom. Don't miss out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Items from your more petty little worries relating to your work—they can be attended to later in the week. Relax. Let go.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) A chance remark by a friend will trigger your imagination. A profitable idea will result. Do something with it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Though you will get off on the wrong foot today, things will work out when the final results are tallied.

Monday, May 5

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things are working for your benefit today in a rather mysterious way. Let those you're closely associated with do the groundwork.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a big reluctant to impose upon a friend to help achieve a personal interest. Don't be. This person will be glad to help.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something important you're eager to achieve is accomplished now if you'll exert the effort. Delay will lessen your chances.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll have more success today dealing directly with the top man than with subordinates. Don't go through intermediates.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you hold firm to what you expect from a business arrangement you should be able to get the gains you hope for. Be patient.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be alert or you may be taken advantage of in a small, annoying way. However, chances are if you'll spot and correct it in time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This should be a profitable productive time for you. Constructive ideas you've worn are about to be harvested.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're very capable at managing things today—with the exception of your checkbook. Don't cater to an expensive whim!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A good day for that serious discussion with your mate you've been putting off about some changes around the house.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) You'll discover that a plan you've been dubious about will work out fine when you put it to the test today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19) Your material prospects look very encouraging, especially through involvements you have with persons such as profiled you previously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your best results will come now if you don't circumvent issues. If you have a point to make, hammer it home.

Heart Transplant Survivor Dead

TORONTO (CP) — Six years, five months and two weeks of borrowed time ended today for Canadian Parris Johnston, 51, of Toronto.

Considered the longest-surviving male heart transplant patient in the world, Johnston was admitted to St. Michael's Hospital Wednesday. He died as a result of lung complications.

The function of his transplanted heart was ended Friday by the time of death," the hospital said in a statement.

It was in St. Michael's that Mr. Johnston received a new heart, donated by the family of an 18-year-old accident victim on Nov. 17, 1968.

The operation was conducted by a team of more than 30 doctors and nurses.

Mr. Johnston, who has willed his heart to medical science, suffered his first heart attack about 10 years ago. A second attack eight months later forced his retirement.

From that time until his transplant, his health deteriorated until he was constantly in and out of hospital with a rapidly diminishing life expectancy.

Mr. Johnston, one of 17 persons given heart transplants in Canada between May 31, 1968, and Dec. 30, 1971, was the last surviving heart-transplant patient in the country.

Pay Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — The money provided annually by the government to pay staff at MPs' constituency offices has been increased to $7,500 from $6,000, Deputy House Clerk Alistair Fraser said Friday the increase took effect last January following a decision by the Commons commission of internal economy. He said the increase was made to reflect pay boosts for Commons staff and provincial cabinet tasks. The constituency office payments began about 18 months ago.

Uranium Deal Set

TORONTO (CP) — Rio Algom Ltd. announced Friday that Washington Public Power Supply System has agreed to purchase one million pounds of uranium oxide from Rio Algom's Quirke Lake properties in Ontario, subject to government approval. The sale would be worth between $15 and $20 million. Under a separate agreement with Elder-Dix Nuclear Ltd., a Canadian Crown corporation, the material will be refined at Eldorado's Port Hope refinery before shipment to the United States.

Coins Are Phoney

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey said Friday that a counterfeit ring is manufacturing and selling phony Olympic gold coins in Europe. He told Otto Jelinek (PC-High Park Humber Valley) in the Commons that Exmen police officials are co-operating with the RCMP in the investigation. Mr. Mackasey said he does not think counterfeit coins are being sold in Canada, but he advised that Canadians buy the coins "from authorized dealers such as chartered banks and other reputable firms."

Law to Change

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will introduce new federal bankruptcy legislation Monday, drawing together existing bankruptcy rules from several federal statutes, Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet indicated Friday. The legislation will draw on recommendations from a 1970 report on bankruptcy and insolvency legislation, but the government will leave administration of bankruptcies and commercial arrangements in the hands of private trustees.

Council to Protest Restaurant Ban

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Niagara regional council will ask the provincial government for legislation which will prohibit restaurants from banning seeing-eye dogs.

Council is importing one of its members, Trevor Morgan, a St. Catharines lawyer and former MP who is partially blind.

Mr. Morgan said Friday he had been denied entry with his seeing-eye dog at a number of restaurants.

"I take exception to being considered a social problem," he said. "But with the situation the way it is now it becomes a damned nuisance. Its frustrating."

REBELLION GOOD THING

On Jan. 30, 1787, Thomas Jefferson told James Madison "a little rebellion now and then is a good thing.

Highway 401 Speeds Cut

TORONTO (CP) — Reduced speeds and resulting traffic headaches are forecast for the rest of this year as an $18-million widening program for a section of Highway 401 west of Toronto is carried out.

Speed limit on the 6.3-mile section, between Highway 427 and a point west of the Rig-way 10 interchange, was cut to 30 m.p.h. this week from the normal 70 m.p.h. This, along with constructing work already under way at Dixie Road, has produced traffic jams of monumental proportions.

Casson Says Art World Chaotic

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP) — The art world is in absolute chaos today, A. J. Casson, the last surviving member of the Group of Seven artists, said Friday.

Mr. Casson said the artistic chaos is the result of the proliferation of art galleries and the tendency of some people to look on art as an investment opportunity.

He said the art world was different in the 1920s when he was the youngest member of the Group of Seven. Then there were few established galleries and "the critics counted for nothing."

"If you were going to make it then you had to make it on your own," he said.

Mr. Casson was here to open an exhibition of paintings by his friends J. E. H. MacDonald and A. C. Panton, contemporaries of the Group of Seven but not members.

Mr. Casson, 77, said the only purpose of the Group of Seven was to "get Canadian painters to paint Canada as Canadians rather than as Europeans."

However, most art critics were not impressed by the goals of the group, he recalled.

The Group of Seven was noted primarily for its paintings of people and places of Ontario's north. Mr. Casson said that for many people in the 1920s the far north was Muskoka.

Most of the group's work was done in the area of Algonquin Park and farther north.

Mr. Casson said the despite the profusion of galleries and artists today the highest prices paid at art auctions are usually paid for works of the Group of Seven.

Mr. Casson still paints, although he does not travel as much in the north as he would like to. He said he paints in many of the small villages around Ontario.

Baby Blue Movies Out

TORONTO (CP) — CITY-TV, creator of the Baby Blue Movie, announced Friday it has cancelled the program because the producers war hard to come by and we were not enjoying it any more."

The weekly erotic movie had put Channel 79 on the television map on Sept. 29, 1972—the day after the station went on the air.

During its early days, the controversial program showed a number of films the station called erotic classics, including I Am Curious (Yellow), I Am Curious (Blue), Loving Couples and Camille 2000.

Plant 70 Years Old

This Rex Begonia was started 70 years ago from a leaf obtained from another plant by the mother of Bessie Hollinger, seated, and her sister, Mrs. William Pitchett, standing. The plant was at its peak in 1930 with leaves as big as dinner plates. It is in the Pitchett home in Stirling.

Executions Reported

U.S. Reduces Size Of Thailand Force

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United States said today it will remove more than one-quarter of its troops stationed in Thailand during the next two months, the first step toward total military withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

The announcement, made jointly by the Thai and U.S. governments, said the 27,500 U.S. troops will be cut 28 per cent by 15,000. The announcement did not say how many of the 208 U.S. military planes remaining from the armada that bombed Cambodia and North and South Vietnam will be allowed to remain.

The fall of the South Vietnamese government last week prompted some left and center Thai government officials to demand that the government "divest the Americans as soon as possible."

The U.S. has no status, of forces agreement with Thailand, its oldest Asian ally, and bases its presence on old agreements between former administrations.

Meanwhile, in New York, Time and Newsweek magazines reported killings in Cambodia. Newsweek said U.S. intelligence intercepted radio orders from the Communist side calling for the execution of thousands of supporters of the defeated Lon Nol government.

"Thousands have already been executed," the magazine quoted a U.S. official as saying.

Time said 35 high-ranking officers of the defeated Cambodian army have been executed by the new Khmer Rouge government. It said its report was based on information in a private conversation between President Ford and a group of Republican leaders.

Ford was reported to have said: "They killed the wives, too. They said the wives were just the same as the husbands. This is a horrible thing to report to you, but we are certain that our sources are accurate."

In other Indochina developments:

—Former Duong Van (Big) Minh was released from custody along with Vietnam government figures by the new government in Saigon. Liberation Radio announced in a broadcast monitored in Bangkok. Reports monitored in Bangkok today quoted Minh as saying: "I am happy to become a citizen of an independent Vietnam."

—Associated Press writer Daniel DeLuce reported from Hanoi that 2,500 Vietnamese Roman Catholics attended early morning mass at Hanoi Cathedral on their first Sunday of peace in a generation.

The Chicago Tribune reported that Graham Martin, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, received instructions from officials in Washington and failed to disclose evacuation plans to Vietnamese officials. Pressed to leave Saigon in an orderly manner in today's editions, the newspaper quotes an embassy source from the U.S. Ottawa to which evacuees from Saigon were being flown.

The island of Guam was expected to be jammed by Wednesday with as many as 50,000 refugees, 15,000 over what is anticipated. Admiral George Morrison said, the commander of the Pacific Fleet said the evacuation airlift will step up its pace from 4,000 every 36 hours to 6,000.

Three refugees were being sent to Camp Pendleton, Calif., Elgin Air Force Base in Florida and Fort Chaffee, Ark.

More than 4,000 refugees arrived in Hong Kong Sunday aboard the Danish freighter Clara Maersk after being rescued from their sinking ship in the South China Sea Friday. Officials said they will be allowed to stay while countries that have agreed to take them as immigrants were found.

Kissinger Will Watch Red Rulers

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Henry Kissinger says the U.S. will watch the actions of the new Communist regime in Saigon before deciding whether to recognize it diplomatically.

"We now have to see what the conduct of this government is internally and particularly domestically," Kissinger said in an interview today on NBC's Today show.

"For example, we know that in Cambodia, very tragic and inhuman and impoverished things are going on," Kissinger said. "We don't regret not having recognized Cambodia immediately."

Kissinger also said he doubts that Hanoi would have staged its successful military drive on Saigon if Watergate had not weakened presidential power and Congress had not passed the War Powers Act.

"In January '73 we did not foresee that Watergate would produce the circumstances of the United States in such a degree that flexibility of executive action inherently would be circumscribed," Kissinger said.

"We did not foresee that the Congress would pass a law which prohibited us from engaging in the forces agreement and while we probably might have done something anyway it makes a lot of difference for Hanoi whether it thinks the United States probably will act or whether it thinks that we certainly cannot," Kissinger said.

News Briefs

Pay Limits Planned

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says it has learned the federal government is proposing that wage and salary increases over the next year be limited to 12 per cent or $2,600, whichever is less. Companies would be asked, the newspaper says, to restrict price increases to "amounts sufficient to cover increases in costs."

Food Situation Critical

GENEVA (Reuter) — United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim warned today that the world food situation is critical for 400 million people, half of them children. "Unless action is taken, many will die," he told delegates from more than 50 developed and developing countries.

Reserves Regained

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's industrialized countries have regained most of the monetary reserves they had lost since the four-fold increase in the price of world oil, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) reported Sunday. The development appeared to end fears, at least temporarily, that the oil importing industrialized world would be bankrupted by the high cost of oil imports.

Montrealers Get Mail

MONTREAL (CP)—Residents of the Montreal area received mail today as all post office workers returned to their jobs. But the strike is not over, at least we expect things will go about normally," said post office spokesman Jacques Chenier.

Press Said NDP Foe

NEW LISKEARD, Ont. (CP) — Rod Germa, New Democratic Party candidate in the Ontario legislature for Sudbury, says the press is the NDP's most dangerous enemy. "The press is our most insidious enemy," he said Saturday.

Driver Escaped Before Collision

The driver of this late model car, Richard Allan McCumber, 176 Caldwell St., Carleton Place, escaped injury Sunday night when he abandoned his car seconds before a Canadian Pacific freight train collided with it near White's Road at Bayside. The vehicle stalled on the tracks. The train drove the car about one-half mile before it stopped. Belleville OPP, investigating the accident, said there were no injuries and no charges in the mishap. The west-bound CP train was in charge of engineer Alex F. Wray, from Scarborough.

Stirling Family Owns Begonia 70 Years Old

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

STIRLING — Long before William Pitchett went overseas in World War One a Rex Begonia was started by his mother-in-law-to-be, Mrs. James Hollinger, of Fuller, in 1902. Now, Mr. and Mrs. Pitchett and Mrs. Pitchett's sister, Bessie Hollinger, all of Mill St., Stirling, still have this magnificent plant in their home, 70 years after it was started. It is not known how old the plant was from which the leaf was obtained to start this venerable beauty.

A snapshot taken in 1930 when the Rex Begonia was at its peak reveals leaves as large as dinner plates. The leaves have a dark green centre, a band of pale green, and then the edges are tinged with the same dark green. The plant has been repotted three times in 70 years, and its largest leaf at present is about eight inches long.

Margaret and her husband William have had the plant with them since 1946, when they farmed on the fifth concession of Rawdon Township. Sister of Bessie and Margaret, Mrs. Herbert Bird of Fuller, who was confined to a wheelchair for 13 years, made the attractive stand the plant sits upon.

Mrs. Burke with a board across the arms of the wheelchair, would break up pieces of the colored clothes for hooking and fancy buttons. Then she would set them in putty in the old grain binder roller which is the shaft of the stand.

UN Orders Firms Stop Taking Namibia Wealth

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The United Nations, in a decree by UN Commissioner Sean MacBride, has told foreign companies to stop taking natural resources out of South West Africa without UN authorization.

The order was made available to reporters Sunday by delegates to the 34-country Commonwealth summit conference.

MacBride, UN commissioner for Namibia and winner of last year's Nobel Peace Prize, is reported to have sent the order to companies in British, French and South African companies with interests in the African territory.

In addition to banning prospecting or export of any natural resources from South West Africa, also known as Namibia, the UN decree declared that any rights, concessions or licences granted by South Africa are void.

The order warned that any vehicle, ship or container found carrying resources from South West Africa "shall also be subject to seizure and forfeiture."

South West Africa, a scrub-covered plateau on the Atlantic coast north of South Africa, has rich deposits of diamonds and other minerals.

The United Nations has sought for years to wrest the territory away from South Africa, which has administered it since the First World War.

MacBride's order was seen by delegates at the meeting here as a move to reinforce pressures being mounted by Commonwealth countries on the South African to concede self-determination to South West Africa.

The Commonwealth conference ends Tuesday.

Thieu, Not U.S., Blamed by Ky

AGANA, Guam (AP) — The United States is not to blame for the fall of South Vietnam, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, former premier and vice-president of South Vietnam, declared today.

"Concerning America, said the disenchanted Ky, from the last 30 years, you did a lot for us, from 1945 to 1973, you did a valid shortly after arriving here, would set them in putty in the same enough to overthrow Mr. Nguyen Van Thieu president of South Vietnam)."

Ky said he actively plotted the overthrow of Thieu to install either himself or the head of the country's senate as the new president.

"What we needed was new military leaders—we were not corrupted and more will go to Ky said bitterly.

"Then and his people were so corrupted and so incapable. It is not the fault of the United States Congress and the brave Vietnamese soldiers," he said in an downfall.

Ky said he expects reprisals against some of the South Vietnamese still in the country, but not a bloody, massive massacre, but they will kill a lot of people and more will go to concentration camps—and of course a big brainwash of the people."

Ky said he hopes eventually to become a private citizen in the United States. He had flown aboard the USS Blue Ridge after leaving South Vietnam by helicopter. He arrived here from the Philippines.

Economic Reform Plan to Be Drafted

KINGSTON (CP) — Commonwealth delegates have agreed to recommend that 10 of the 33 countries in the organization be asked to participate in a group which will consider reforms needed for reform of the world economic order.

Sources said Sunday that the committee will be asked to include a Canadian and probably will accept Prime Minister Trudeau's invitation to meet in Ottawa.

The figure of 10 was agreed to by weekend meetings by officials of various countries who negotiated while their leaders were meeting at Montego Bay at the other end of the island.

The committee will be asked to approve the terms of reference today or Tuesday.

Under the terms of reference the group will be asked to produce an interim report in time for the Commonwealth finance ministers conference in Georgetown, Guyana, in July.

If all goes well, the finance ministers could come up with some common ground the Commonwealth leaders could take to the special session of the UN General Assembly that it will convene to debate a new world economic order later in the fall.

Montreal Dockers Vote to Remain Idle

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal longshoremen Sunday voted to remain off the job following two separate meetings with members of the union executive.

Leo Taylor, president of the Montreal checkers' local of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), said the men decided "in their own volition" not to return despite back-to-work legislation passed by the Commons April 25.

The union executive "didn't recommend anything to men," Mr. Taylor said. "We just read them the law."

"The men want to wait for the results of court hearings being held this week," he said.

"The ILA filed an action in Quebec Superior Court last week challenging the federal government on the grounds that the back-to-work order was illegal and unconstitutional.

Last Thursday, the federal government asked Quebec Superior Court Judge Jean Turcotte to hasten the case's hearing.

Mr. Taylor said the men would not return to work "on the same day the ILA started the action if it doesn't succeed. Since it claimed Quebec Superior Court has jurisdiction, it must have such authority.

Court hearings are scheduled for Thursday, Mr. Taylor said.

Most Stores Answering Questionnaires Vote to Stay Open All Day Wednesday

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

A survey of downtown businesses has shown the majority in favor of uniform store hours, says Gerry O'Shaughnessy, president of the Downtown Business Association.

Of 51 stores which replied to the association questionnaire, 63 (more than 75 per cent) voted in favor of Wednesday afternoon opening.

The membership was split on Thursday night opening with 42 percent for opening and 35 per cent against.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy said "while 59 replies is not a large percentage of the questionnaires . . . it does represent a large cross-section of the business men".

Questionnaires were delivered to every type of business in the downtown area — many going to professional people who already have a standard operating schedule and did not reply to the downtown survey.

"The 75 per cent in favor of Wednesday afternoons, represents a strong majority of the businesses such uniform shopping hours would affect," said Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

He said the association will follow the survey and may determine the best way of implementing a change to uniformity.

Timmy Struthers and Duane Inch prepare to plant tree seedlings at the Macaulay Mountain Conservation site in conjunction with Trees Canada Project.

About 100 cubs and boy scouts from Prince Edward planted 2,000 seedlings on Prince Edward Region Conservation property on Saturday.

Big Day for Trees!

READ — More than 600 cubs and scouts planted nearly 20,000 trees Saturday on the farm of John Galer, a few miles northeast of this community.

The trees, about three-year-old, were a variety of pedar, white spruce, white pine and red pine. About nine busloads left Belleville early Saturday morning. The official ceremony saw Tyendinaga township reeve Leonard Welch plant the official tree of the day around 11:30 p.m.

Trees for Canada chairman Fran Moon presented an appreciation plaque to Mr. and Mrs. John Cole on behalf of the Belleville scouting movement. Belleville RCMP officer Jim Reeve was on hand for the ceremonies.

Ken Castle, treasurer of the Belleville Boy Scouts, was on the site with the Royal Bank van and with his staff filtered out the pledge cards. The pledges of this plant-a-thon will be collected May 19 at St. Thomas Parish Hall.

Mortgage Funding Tight

Unless you've got a nice bit of savings or making more than $20,000 a year, this spring will be a tough time to buy a home, says Quinte District Real Estate Board president Phil Bennett.

This last Thursday mortgage rates went up with money now selling for an average of 11 per cent. "And that's if you can get it at all," said Mr. Bennett.

Some banks are still making mortgage agreements but Victoria and Grey Trust company — the city's largest housing lender — has no funds at all for mortgages, Cecil Brown, V. and G. manager said Friday.

"We're up to our limit and will have to wait until money starts coming back in," said Mr. Brown during an interview with The Intelligencer.

"I don't want to sound like the voice of doom," said Mr. Bennett. "There are twice as many houses on the market this year than there were at the same time last year — but business is spotty," he said.

Mr. Bennett said while mortgage money is tight from the traditional lending institutions, he suggested current home owners might take back second mortgages on the sale.

With the vendor willing to take a second mortgage, it can reduce the downpayment needed on the property making it easier to sell, he said.

"Second mortgages would also be a good investment for the current owner," said Mr. Bennett.

Asked for a general comment on market conditions, Mr. Bennett said "it certainly isn't a seller's market."

If a salesman with a broker's license wanted to go out on his own today, I would strongly advise him against it," said Mr. Bennett.

V-E Day's 30th Anniversary

The Belleville Veterans Council held its annual church parade Sunday to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the Victory in Europe and the Battle of the Atlantic. Council chairman Howard Kolend and Rev. Jack Morrison are chat over sandwiches served by Nursing Sister Dorothy Howes at a Gil Wing, RCAF reception following the parade.

Stolen Car Hits Another

A Thursday man was arrested and charged with auto theft by city police Sunday morning less than half an hour after a car was taken from the 16 Alexander St. residence of Frederick Peel.

Charged with auto theft is Raymond Graham McCabe, 18, of Tyrendene and formerly of Belleville.

City police chief Douglas Crumble said a car was taken from the Peel residence at approximately 3:30 a.m. Sunday. When the thief backed down the driveway the Peel vehicle struck a car parked on the opposite side of the road and then was driven away.

Chief Crumble said the arrest occurs 24 minutes after the Peel vehicle was reported stolen when it was spotted on Sidney St.

Approximately 130 damage was done to the parked car owned by Fire-road Garage resident John Edward Dickens, the chief said.

Telescope Tops

A grade 12 student at North Hastings High School in Bancroft, Richard Pegg walked off with the top honors at the 1975 Scienscope held in Bancroft on Friday and Saturday. Richard's display involved a handmade machine for the grinding of mirrors and lens for use in his homemade telescope.

Pipers Lead Parade To Picton Cenotaph

PICTON — The Bay of Quinte Lodge, No. 161, IOOF, Monday held its annual church parade, joined by members of the Shorelands and Bay of Quinte Canton. Also in attendance were members of the women's auxiliary LAPM, Belleville.

Led by the Brighton Legion Pipe Band ladies members paraded through Main Street to the Picton Salvation Army Citadel where a special service was conducted by Captain Colin Lewery.

At the close of morning worship, the parade reformed and marched to the Cenotaph where a memorial wreath was placed by veteran Morden Walker of Milford and Abe Maycock of Wellington.

The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by bugler Creighton Lockyer of Picton.

Because of Sunday's rains, plot in Glenwood Cemetery was not visited as usual, but a brief service was held at the Picton IOOF Hall.

Wreaths from the Old Fellows, Rebekahs and The Encampment were placed.

A luncheon later was served to approximately 85 persons attending the memorial services.

Thieves Take 30 Tires

City police today reported the theft of 30 tires valued at approximately $1,200 from the Hercher Ave. warehouse of Independent Tire Sales.

Chief Douglas Crumble said entrance was gained by breaking the lock on the front door sometime Friday night or Saturday. There was no burglar alarm in the building.

June 26 Predicted

Election Preparations Under Way

The wheels of provincial election machinery began to turn in Belleville this weekend for the first time since the last provincial election in 1971.

Quinte riding returning officer Gerry Joyce said during an interview with The Intelligencer Saturday: "There's only one person who can set an election date we've been told to get everything ready."

By tradition, the fourth year of office brings an election in Ontario though the party in power can wait until the 59th and final year. Observers of the political scene have been bidding dates around for an election and the Quinte riding's returning officer is no exception.

"My personal guess is June 26," said Mr. Joyce.

While the federal government called its general election last July, most provincial experts had to believe that Ontario premier will come to Peas or be called to the fall.

"There's no way an election will be called in the summer," said Mr. Joyce.

In recent weeks, returning officers from across the province have been in Toronto for an instructional seminar to familiarize them with up to any recent amendments to election regulations and receive mimeographed election forms and paperwork detail. Mr. Joyce underwent the training session Friday.

This weekend he began the task of organizing the polling sub-divisions that make up the Quinte riding. Currently the subdivision is to bring an average of 350 voters to each poll."

The Quinte riding, made up of 124 polling subdivisions, includes the municipalities of Belleville, Trenton and Frankford and the township of Sidney.

Vietnam May Emerge as Both Marxist and Nationalist—like Yugoslavia

By JOHN D. HARKRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

There are now four Marxist-Leninist states in Asia. Two of these were in the West, used to call themselves "Communist" in Berlin and Laos (or Marxist-inspired, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea) and a fourth, a committed Marxist state and the 42nd to emerge since 1945, is Vietnam, Marxist-inspired in Hanoi.

In a parade of events, not unbecoming in the history of their history, a foreign political and philosophical influence will attempt to hold, sway over the persistent indigenous structures of life, new, across Indo-China.

The chances are they will emerge in the years ahead as primarily Vietnamese as in the past, while acknowledging the Marxist power.

The Khmer Rouge who now rule in Cambodia remind us of the great medieval Hindu-Buddhist kingdom of the Khmers which extended and for a time dominated the Annamese Empire based at Hue, still called the imperial city.

The treasure of the Khmer dynasty is the temple at Angkor Wat, whose mixed architectural styles reflecting Hindu and Chinese influences remind us of the rise and fall of Khmer and Chinese religions and political power in Indo China.

An Idea Whose Time Has Come

The French, who finally ruled the region, fell at it except the Kingdom of Siam, today's Thailand which was never colonized), ruled through local princes. The British did the same in nearby India. The old colonial empires were not all bad.

The French of course brought Christianity, so that some of the historic families of Indo-China as well as a decent share of the population became Catholic and have remained so.

The ruling families once Buddhist, surrendered in part to Catholicism so that Vietnamese also familiar to us by name from the news, the Ky, Nguyen, Diem families, embraced Catholicism.

The Emperor Bao Dai ruled from Hue when the partition took place in 1954 creating two countries by now Indo-Chinese states, North and South Vietnam.

An ancient empire still lives in that historic city, second only to Angkor Wat as a centre of Indochinese history and culture, not unprojectly guaranteed because safety by the now ruling Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Viet Cong.

All this is why the Chinese to the north will finally have to view the emergence of four self-willed Indochinese states as a potential menace to herself. The Chinese influence first through military conquerors like Chinese Emperors, and then religion through Buddhism, is strong in the peninsula.

And now so is the Marxist one again through the support of the People's Republic of China.

The chances are good that the new regime in Saigon or Ho Chi Minh City will emerge as a kind of South East Asian Yugoslavia with a strong tendency to a nationalist form of Marxism.

One cant remember too that the artificial division of the Geneva Agreements of 1954 into a "north" and "south" Vietnam had its historic parallels. This must be borne in mind in any assessment of how long Vietnam will be "united by Hanoi in the north and the New Viet Cong government in the south.

In fact it might never be, since the separate cultures of Indo China have never been united in a single imperial empire or kingdom throughout a long and colorful history.

Signs and Portents

Memories of those who have died for freedom are always appropriate, as witness the Vimy Ridge commemoration in Wellington, and the 30th anniversary celebrations of the end of the war in Italy where nearly 6,000 Canadians died.

But times are changing, and while those who fought and died are always enshrined in our memories, we are little thought being given to the more alarming political signs of our time.

In Wellington, Prime Minister Fraser said: "After the speeches of the heroes of Vimy Ridge, last 5 should be acknowledged that today the "war" and the "enemy" are deep lodged on Canadian life, have to do with men's minds. There is very real evidence that government policy, as well as the political content of much of the media today, reflect not what might be expected of a country that has fought two world wars for freedom, but rather the effects of what only can be described as brainwashing.

Brainwashing, that is, by Communist propaganda, and it is to be found in the programming of the CBC, in some of our newspapers, in the writings too of New York Times observers whose work is reproduced in some newspapers in Canada, in the teachings of university academics which also filter into the high schools, and in he unremitting anti-American tone that characterizes much of the political commentary in this country.

In a recent letter to this newspaper, a reader referred in part to as "a last effort to adhere to a set of old values which are better off left behind. Given time, new values will replace them." The writer's concept of what these values should be was not enunciated. Rather he confined himself to the suggestion that what they might be "would depend on the efforts of the adults in our present society."

That is not to say new values would necessarily be of the kind propagated by potential enemies of the free world, yet it is significant that such a negation of the old order is a facet of Communist strategy.

Thus, "Naked Communist," a paper put before the U.S. Congress some years ago by a Security Council official and quoted in part here recently, also offered this: "Infiltrate the churches and replace revealed religion with 'social religion.' Discredit the Bible and emphasize the need for intellectual maturity which does not need a 'religious crutch.'"

What does society say to this? What do our editorials' organizations and politicians say to it? And the Women's groups? Unhappily, the silence too often is deafening.

Viewpoint

Offering Grain

In keeping with word media, Canada plans to provide $280 million in aid to 16 African countries this year, an increase of 41 per cent from last year.

A year ago at the World Food Conference in Rome, Canada pledged a million tons of cereal grain and other foods annually for the next three years. Some of Canada's food will be given directly to such countries as India and Bangladesh, while the remainder will be provided to the World Program of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

So 30 per cent of Canada's assistance this year (about $80 million) will be given for food. Yet this is still far from enough to meet the need.

People in Extremity

What do you say to a situation like in our Peninsular land in which seven-year-old blind mother and three children, two of whom are partly blind are threatened with eviction from the Ontario Housing Corporation development because she owes $250 in overdue rent.

A Canadian Press picture of this family does not say in which city they live, or exactly where, but the eyes of the family — look well cared for.

We have just that . . . well, the rest of us have little to complain about, and not forgetting the many others who are in extremity of one kind or another.

Life's Ups and Downs

There is a touch of irony in some of the news from across the bay.

On the one hand, government benevolence, through the Local Initiatives Program, is extending to cemetery maintenance in Hobbinsburg township. On the other we read of a brush with the next world in the form of a single car accident on the Island, which saw a car leave the road, and the driver escape with cuts and bruises. At least, the driver, from some-what far-away Hamilton, doesn't need a headstone just yet!

Another interesting piece of news from Prince Edward was the crop-dusting or seed planting of wheat fields initiative by two pilots of a Kincardine air service. This is a labor-saving effort of the kind pioneered in New Zealand and an interesting innovation in these parts.

Communist Subversive Practice

The following communication dated 13 December 1974 from Naked Revolution appeared in a recent issue of The Toronto Sun.

They are essentially the same as the principles of Communist subversion outlined in part in the recent issues of The Intelligencer, quoting from a "Naked Communist" Counsel, presented to the United States Congress by a Security Council official. They appeared, as this paper originally did, from time to the course of a letter from a reader.

As pointed out by The Sun's Eldon Foote, there has been a lot of people in the Toronto area all up in the point that many have been making copies, in isolation, these examples of Communist subversive strategy reflect warnings in this space in recent years.

Perhaps now, in the midst of both economic and foreign affairs at this time, they will have the ill effect they do. They deserve it Canadians are to see that the institutions and freedom are guarded carefully.

All last week CFRB was besieged by phone calls from listeners after Broadcaster Charles Deering could repeat no item he read on commentary. The item, quoting its own credit from Deering's comments, is as follows:

"Last Tuesday at five o'clock I read an item which had been brought to my attention called the Ten Commandments of Rules of Revolution.

The copy I had was clipped from the London, England Sunday Mail of Oct. 6, 1974. But while it isn't new, there are apparently a great many people who haven't heard it before. I was asked to read it on the air and written requests for a copy of the article that I don't have copies to send out and so I have decided to repeat it.

In May of 1918 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces declared a war on the rule of Communist Rules of Revolution. Here they are:

Corrupt the young; get them away from religion, get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.

Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by labeling the latter as reactionary, ridicule and disgrace. Always preach true democracy but seizes power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.

By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce years of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a false peace. Confuse the real issues, ridicule true patriotism so that reasonable, right-thinking people lose all interest in public affairs. They become contemptuous of moral standards.

Undermine the morale of the police and armed forces. Make them appear ridiculous in the eyes of the people. Encourage disrespect for law and order.

Cause breakdown of the old moral virtues of honesty — sobriety — self-restraint — faith in the home, love of country, ruggedness.

Remember that 'came from Communist Rules of Revolution printed in 1918. Some of it may be far-fetched, true, but stop to think. How much of it is true in this country today. A bit frightening.

Belleville Board of Education last evening ordered the requisitions which are to be made on the city from its estimates — total of $135,000 to $123,300, a saving of $3,500 to the taxpayers. Of the total levy for 1923, $70,983.83 is for public school purposes and $51,616.17 for collegiate and vocational school purposes, instead of spending approximately $4,000 for a new roof on the Collegiate it was decided to repair the roof at a cost of $600, the job being guaranteed to last for three years. Last year's levy was $134,111.38.

People Are Staying Put During Recession Period

By VINCENT EGAN

Thomson News Service

The month of May is traditionally moving time.

This year, however, many Canadians are staying put, unable to find suitable priced new housing or unable to cope with current mortgage rates.

Interest rates vary from place to place, but generally across Canada the rate is 10.5 per cent on mortgages guaranteed under the National Housing Act, and 10.75 per cent on conventional mortgages.

That's as low as they are likely to go during the current interest-rate cycle, according to one big lender.

W. P. Carter of Royal Bank of Canada says he expects the interest rates to begin rising again before year-end.

"With continuation of a high level of inflation, and now the standing higher interest rates, I believe there will be a continued strong demand for owner housing," he told a real-estate convention in Toronto, B.C.

"On the other hand, the supply of new housing will be substantially below potential, and a shortage of financing accommodation is inevitable."

In looking back at the housing market in Canada over the last year or so, however, it becomes apparent that a shortage of housing accommodation doesn't necessarily mean a rush to buy houses.

There is to be a psychological barrier when interest rates go above the 11 per cent marker. As rates move, higher crossed their "ceiling rates" will record declines.

That makes it all the more important for borrowers to be on guard against questionable charges that could raise their cost still more.

One such charge is the fee for keeping real-estate prices within reasonable bounds.

But the Act has had little or no effect in decreasing housing prices, in the view of Leonard Rosenberg, president of Partic Investments Ltd., Toronto-based mortgage broker.

The only price reductions it has led to have been in raw land, he contends—and those reductions have been negated by the federal government's action in raising interest rates as an anti-inflationary measure.

Potential mortgage borrowers are well advised, as always, to shop around for the lowest interest rate.

But don't concentrate on the interest rate to the exclusion of other borrowing costs. Certain trust and loan companies are blandly tacking on an additional charge of up to three or even four per cent.

They describe it with some such term as "placement fee"—as if "placing" the loan was not an ordinary part of mortgage operations.)

Example: You arrange a 50-50 mortgage at 11 per cent first-mortgage loan. The lender charges a four per cent placement fee, and you receive a net $48,000.

On that sum, your borrowing rate is close to 13 per cent—and not 11 per cent—for full $50,000.

Most mortgage lenders appear to have relatively small amounts of funds available at 11 per cent, and a few have increased their "ceiling rates" to 11.5 per cent.

That makes it all the more important for borrowers to be on guard against questionable charges that could raise their cost still more.

Reader Is Unconvinced

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Globe and Mail writer Gerald McKaskill had a number of items misquoted in the Intelligencer lacked "investigative reporting." The editorial of April 29, "Politics of the 70s" showed a complete lack of it.

As usual, whenever Communism is mentioned, your editorialist missed the point. The point was that writers, critical of his original editorial suggesting that we look more closely at the work of "alien forces" suggested the try of those whose backgrounds have been insulted. Like the unthinking, they jumped to the conclusion that I was an associate any "alien forces", Communist or otherwise, with the sale of pornographic books.

However, your editorial, like many in the diatribe, says that part of Communist strategy is to "infiltrate the churches and replace revealed religion with 'social religion.' Discredit the Bible and emphasize the need for intellectual maturity which does not need a 'religious crutch.'"

Therefore, it is right we don't have to go far for the alien forces. They are also local book stores all over the country, and Belleville certainly is no exception.

Member of Concerned.

They will be grateful I am not going to name the local newspaper editorialist label them as "alien forces" because, maybe, these book stores are Communist agents, maybe, are the Communist party or fellow travellers in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties. Trenton Area Unemployment Double That of April 1974

By AL LABAS
Intelligencer Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Unemployment in the approximate 30,000 person labor force within a 20-mile radius of Trenton has doubled in April over the corresponding month a year ago, according to Canada Manpower manager Wes Reid.

The Trenton official said the April unemployment figures are down slightly from March totals, when the cross-Canada jobless rate stood at 8.6 per cent, up from 6.4 in March, 1974.

In the Trenton area, figures for the month of April indicate the unemployment rate stands at 10 per cent, up 1% per cent over last year.

Mr. Reidd said unemployment among construction workers is high (about 13-15 per cent of the total jobless) though requests for manpower are slowly coming in from the home building industry.

The 287 workers fall mostly in the unskilled categories.

Construction of the 23.75-million plan for east-end Trenton has not influenced the jobless rate — among construction workers a great deal to date, Mr. Reidd said.

"They haven't used a lot of men in the straight labor category," he said. Most workers at the plaza job site are heavy equipment operators of block layers.

"Maybe half a dozen guys with a crane are doing the job of 20 men," he said. The picture should change, he predicted, when the interior of stores are being built and then sales staff are needed.

Among Trenton's new construction workers, the jobless rate in March stood between nine and 9.5 percent, far lower than the unemployment pictures across Canada. Statistics Canada reported a March jobless rate at 10.1 per cent, up from 17.1 per cent a year earlier.

Attempted Murder Charge Stems from Domestic Dispute

TRENTON — A Peterborough man has been charged with attempted murder by a Trenton police officer at a domestic dispute Saturday.

Charged is Frederick Reid-Clark, 27, of 220 Wightman Ave. in Peterborough.

Trenton Police Sgt. Clark was detained in the Quinte Regional Detention Centre cells in Belleville to face a bail hearing today in Belleville Provincial Court.

Victim of the stabbing, Stephen Reid, 24, of 176 Water St., Peterborough, is today resting in the intensive care unit of Trenton Memorial Hospital in good condition. A hospital spokesman says a call has been placed on Reid's left side, under the arm.

Trenton police say Reid was stabbed once in the chest with a knife during a domestic dispute at 330 Byron St., shortly before 1 p.m. Saturday. He was taken to hospital by ambulance.

Vandals Smash Windows

PICTON — Picton Police Chief Charles Fielder today reported vandals smashed windows in four stores, seven cars and a truck here.

He said patrolling constable Ronald Reich discovered the damage at 4:30 a.m. today.

Chief Fielder said checking the store shortly after 8 p.m. Sunday, Constable Reich had a rear window of the Bank of Montreal also smashed and a roof tile broken.

In addition, the window of a Queen St. resident, Vivian Rycott was broken by a rock.

Stirling Man Breaks Arm in Crash

SOPHIASBURG — A Stirling area man Sunday afternoon was treated at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for a broken arm received in a two-car accident on a Sophiasburg Township road, four and a half miles west of Highway 49.

Injured was Bryan Rish, 17, of RR 2 Stirling, a passenger in a car driven by John Stephens, 17, of Picton.

The accident occurred when the Stephens vehicle attempted to pass a car driven by Richard Carter, 20, of RR 4 Belleville. The Carter vehicle moved in the centre of the road and the Stephens car entered the ditch striking a small bus and a hydro pole.

Damage to the Stephens car was estimated at $500.

Police say Carter has been charged with failure to move to the right when being overtaken.

Auction Assists Scouts for Trip

TRENTON — One of the most successful Trenton District Council one-day fund raising events Saturday with the addition of 1,200 to the scout fund to send three Trenton boys to Norway for the World Jamboree.

The auction at the farm of Bob Dalbec, west of Trenton, netted several hundred dollars by action co-ordinator Shelly Douglas and donation pick-up co-ordinator Don MacKay.

District information officer Cecil Paul said Sunday the two were instrumental in making the auction a success. Items from puppies to electric stoves, were auctioned during the afternoon.

Money raised during the auction will be used to send

Potter Prefers Life in Lonsdale

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

LONSDALE — When potter Harlan House opens his month-long exhibition at Toronto's Isaacs Gallery on Yorkville Ave. next Tuesday, he'll celebrate by Patty Doyle's Hotel in Lonsdale, 20 miles north east of Belleville.

That's because the 31-year-old pitchfork pusher, his wife Maureen, and their two children, reside at the 150-year-old hotel. It has been a home, a home-made and a place to retreat from the pressures of being exhibitions in Canada's major cities.

Harlan describes himself as one of the few porcelain potters in Canada who can make a living from his high specification and fragile facet of the ceramic fields. He works exclusively in porcelain which now attracts as much as $50 per piece.

The Toronto show, which opens May 14 at the Isaacs gallery on Prince Arthur Ave., will feature about 75 pieces based on the theme of flowers. He just finished a Montreal exhibition April 28 sponsored by the Canadian Guild of Crafts.

Born in Bridge Cobridge, Harlan studied at the Alberta College of Art and Design for numerous scholarships and awards for his work. He later taught at the college between 1969 and 1971. He currently has his work on exhibition at major craft galleries from Vancouver to Prince Edward County.

He has also been commissioned by several large companies to design and make his porcelain murals for offices and new buildings. He has also done commissioned work for the Alberta government and the Royal Bank of Canada. He contributed to the Canadian Pavilion at the Osaka World Fair in Japan.

Harlan is looking for small kiln about his work. "If the pieces themselves can't say what I'm trying to do then no amount of talking will explain it to the market. He keeps several pots on hand for visitors who pass by the hotel.

He describes himself as a traditionalist in the sense that porcelain pottery is a very old craft dating back to early Chinese potters. He also uses a traditional glaze called celadon but has managed to develop a unique formula of his own. Porcelain differs from stoneware pottery in that it is very fine, fragile and extremely difficult to work with.

However, Harlan experiments with new techniques in porcelain and is currently having some success. He has managed to design larger pieces of work that previously had not been considered in this field.

He describes the Canadian market for his work as limited. "Canadians are not yet used to porcelain ... it will take some time," he added.

Harlan sells most of his work through exhibitions and galleries but he now reports he is starting to place some pieces in stores for sale. "Right now, I couldn't handle any more work," said Harlan, who at the same time is renovating and restoring the hotel to somewhat its original flavor.

Big as Four Football Fields

An excavation pit for the hot strip mill of Steel Co. of Canada Ltd., as big as four football fields, catches the attention of surveyor at the company's $450m development on Lake Erie, about 40 miles southwest of Hamilton. In the pit, workers are busy pouring the cement-filled pylons to support the mill. (CP Photo)

Huge New Steel Plant Transforms Countryside

By JOSEPH DUPUIS

NANTICOKE, Ont. (CP)— From the air, the excavation huge, gold-tan shaped cavernous pit and jutting pylons appear unfinished in the genial rural countryside.

To the south, 1½-miles away, lie the shallow waters of Lake Erie, its shoreline dotted with summer cottages still battened down against the winter.

Many of them won't see another summer. They are to be removed to make way for docks. Nanticoke itself, a sleepy village on the lake's shore 40 miles southwest of Hamilton, is slip-caught up in the swirl of a gigantic industrial development that is bringing explosive change to the area.

Giant earth-movers ungoiled in their own dust race around and around the huge pit to dump fill into the lake for a mile-long bridge-causeway dock being built by Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco)

The dock is a small part of the first phase of Stelco's $-billion steelmaking facility and accompanying industrial park, covering an area larger than 10 square miles. The pit is the excavation for the new steel plant that is expected to be ready next year to start producing 1.3 million tons a year.

Stelco, largest steel-maker in Canada, are the major Hydro has built a big generating station nearby that by 1980 will be producing two million kilowatts of power, twice the output of Niagara Falls.

A stone's throw away is an other big development, the new Texaco Canada Ltd. refinery.

Stelco's project dwarfs these two and its planners have assumed leadership in easing the impact of a major industrial development on a pastoral area.

The steel plant will occupy 2,200 acres. Another 1,800 will be for light industry in a unique industrial park and about 230 will be set aside as green belt.

"We had to look at it from the point of view of how we were going to minimize the impact of a major industry coming into a rural area," said Alex Fisher, Stelco vice-president in engineering, planning and research.

Stelco hired consultants, worked long hours with local and provincial governments and came up with a total package to protect the environment and fit the scheme into the landscape, a package that will absorb about 15 per cent of their total costs.

Major woodlot areas around the site were left untouched. They built an expensive bypass so their trucks wouldn't have to trundle through Nanticoke. Instead of a temporary straight construction road, they built a wide, paved highway that will eventually become a scenic drive.

Artificial hills 30 feet high, to be landscaped and treed, are already going up around the site. They will not only hide the plant from the main flow of traffic but will cut down on noise and act as a buffer against dust, as well as being restful to the eye. So far 30,000 trees and shrubs have been planted.

Mr. Fisher said the Lake Erie project marks the first time in Canada that a major corporation has taken "a total ecological approach to a generalized development" and goes far beyond the mere control of plant emissions.

Even the dock, which will take the entire coal production of a new mine in Pennsylvania and supplies from Stelco's mine in Quebec, was changed to include a bridge over breaks in the causeway to permit unimpeded flow of water, fish and small boats.

About 7,200 workers will be needed for the projected start of steelmaking next year. Another 7,200 will eventually find work with firms in the industrial park, which will include shopping malls, offices and recreational facilities.

Mr. Fisher estimated that up to 15,000 employment will be spread over the Stelco development by 1984. Another projection indicates 225,000 new residents in the area by 1981 to go with the current population of 25,000.

All this means total upheaval for towns and villages that have been content to earn their living through dairy farming and the growing of corn.

Ron Tipler, Stelco's community relations officer in the area, said he finds little resentment among the people.

Talk to people in the 10 towns and villages that range in size from 1,000 to 13,000— towns like Simcoe, Jarvis, Caledonia—and the sentiment is easy to categorize.

The young people are either strongly for or against the development.

"The middle-aged look on the development as a god-send.

They have seen families broken up as sons and daughters moved to Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, or Kitchener, to seek jobs. Now, with jobs becoming available in the townlands, they see an opportunity to keep their offspring at home.

The older people, the new industrial age is not welcome. Many came here to retire or are natives who want their remaining years to be peaceful. If they live in Caledonia, a stroll across the pretty bridge in the middle of town is less and recreational facilities.

Since the trucks came rumbling out of Hamilton bringing supplies to the construction site, the bridge has become a noisy, traffic bottleneck.

To cope with the newcomers, the provincial government has purchased sites to establish two new cities.

One, on 12,000 acres, will be located in the Jarvis area on what is locally known as the Townsend site. By the year 2000, it is expected to house up to 200,000 people.

The second will be located about 19 miles east of Townsend, on the Grand River.

A boon to developers like Stelco has been the formation of regional government that amalgamated the towns and villages into the single unit of Haldimand-Norfolk.

"We were able to deal with only one government, rather than several county governments," said Mr. Tipler.

Provincial Status Is Urged for North

YELLOWKNIFE (CP) — The Northwest Territories must have provincial status before it can develop the kind of government it needs, says Marie Tremblay, 30, an ex-driver to two northern Eskimo groups.

Mrs. Tremblay, who describes herself as a "Wattle" socialist, is currently keeping tabs on the Berger inquiry into the proposed Mackenzie Valley natural-gas pipeline for the Inuit Tapirisat (Eskimo Brotherhood) of Canada but also acts as a consultant to the Northern Quebec Inuit Association.

After six years of off-and-on living in the North while she acquired master's and doctoral degrees in political science and economics, she said she has concluded that the "Ottawa" state of the territorial government—that of a "colony" and not a province—is producing problems.

She said the federal government is pushing "capitalism-oriented" development projects into the North and the territorial government, because it can be overruled by the commissioner and Ottawa, cannot control development.

The people were fatalistic, although the last election revealed more interest on the part of natives—who make up two-thirds of the population of 40,000 and elected nine Natives to the council of 15.

While there is no guarantee the territories would elect the kind of government preferred by Mrs. Tremblay, it it had full provincial status, she said the traditional life-style of the natives is more socialistic than that of white society.

Mrs. Tremblay said in an interview that she hopes to return to the North when she won a $10,000 grant from a

Whitlam Wants Aid To Vietnam

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam Sunday called on nations that fought in Indochina to join a massive program of reconciliation and reconstruction in that region.

Whitlam told newsmen conference that Australia, which he described as one of "the guilty countries" that participated in the Vietnamese "civil war," already has begun providing relief aid.

The Australian prime minister, who is attending the Commonwealth summit conference, flies to Washington Wednesday for talks with President Ford and State Secretary Henry Kissinger.

Whitlam issued his appeal after being asked if he believed that nations that fought in Vietnam, such as the United States, have an obligation to help in rebuilding Vietnam.

He replied that Australia has such an obligation "and we have gun matching it—and he thinks others should do the same, particularly through international conferences."

Whitlam's aides said later he intends repeating his call in a major speech he will make in Washington, and will raise the matter in his talks with Ford and Kissinger.

Tycoon Hurt

TORONTO (CP) — Four fire-fighters were injured Sunday night battling a shopping-centre fire that destroyed several stores and killed about 40 animals in a pet shop.

The fire, which broke out in the Newtonbrook Plaza in North York borough, spread to a total of seven stores but although some were damaged only by water and smoke.

Wants Review

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Opposition Leader Robert Nixon said Saturday that if he would empower the Ontario Energy Board to review gas and oil prices if the Liberal Party is elected in the next provincial election.

The Liberal leader told about 150 people that the Liberal government would also order oil and gasoline prices to be reduced if higher prices could not be justified.

Guerrilla Dies

STUTTGART (Reuter) — The death toll in the siege of the West German embassy in Stockholm last month rose to four Sunday with the death of one of the captured guerrillas.

A police official said Siegfried Hausner, 32, died in hospital after suffering burn and head injuries in the siege, during which guerrillas blew up the embassy. Four other West Germans held by the guerrillas flown back from Sweden are awaiting trial.

Dangerous Reaction

London (Reuter) — The breakfast combination of coffee and bacon might produce a cancer-forming agent in the body, two British scientists say.

In a report in the science journal Nature, the London University scientists say a constituent of coffee might be responsible for converting preservatives in cheese, corned beef, bacon and other pork products into cancer-causing agents.

The two, Brian Challis and Chris Bartlett of Imperial College, whose work is supported by the British cancer research campaign and the Science Research Council, have been conducting laboratory experiments.

They say that in taste, chemical acid, a major constituent of coffee, interacts with nitrate preservatives put into pork and other foods to prevent food poisoning, to produce nitrosamines, one of the most powerful cancer-causing agents known.

Priests Plan Fast

TORONTO (CP) — Six Roman Catholic priests say they plan to begin a hunger strike today to obtain a federal cabinet interview for condemned killer Rene Vaillancourt.

The priests, members of the city's Holy Cross Fathers organization said they will participate. Toronto's Don Jail-inmate Vaillancourt, 29, was convicted until the cabinet meets Thursday to make his decision.

Stops Bullet

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. William Christian became the unlikely victim of the comic book hero that stops speeding bullets.

"I was talking to my husband about 11 heard a whining, buzzing sound, then a thud in my stomach," the Stratford area woman said Saturday. "It felt as though someone had thrown a rock at me."

"I tore open the front of my dress expecting to see blood but there was just a red mark. I found the slug just in front of me on the ground—it was sort of flattened on one side."

She said the 22-calibre bullet from a hunter's gun had killed a grounding, then either ricocheted or continued flight until it struck her.

Provincial police said no charges have been laid.

Russian Child Beaten By New York Robbers

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men and a woman wearing ski masks invaded a Soviet residence compound, threatened a group of children with a gun, then dragged a nine-year-old girl and beat a guard who tried to defend her, police and the girl's family said Saturday.

Police said the incident in the carved Embassy evening at the Hempstead residence in the Riverside section of the Bronx was not a robbery and that police officials each knew later.

The four got into the fenced-in compound, police said, and accosted the group of children, who were released in 1974 after 20 years in a Chinese prison, married Andrey Lee, a Chinese native, in a private ceremony Saturday at Yale University. Mrs. Downey, a research associate in molecular biophysics and biochemistry, said she was born in China and met Downey, 46, in New Haven.

The intruders then fanned her in crawl under the fence at a corner of the property, tied her to a tree, hit her repeatedly and stopped her wrists with a knife.

The child apparently lost consciousness briefly but revived when water was poured. Her attack

Hard-line Protestants Win Ulster Election

BELFAST (AP) — A former Northern Ireland prime minister says the north faces the "real and terrifying alternatives" of civil war or independence from Britain after a landslide Protestant victory in elections for an assembly charged with drawing up a new constitution.

The United Ulster Unionist Coalition, a Protestant group opposed to sharing power with Ulster's Roman Catholic minority, took 46 of the constitutional assembly's 78 seats in results announced during the weekend. Brian Faulkner, who served as prime minister in Northern Ireland from 1971 to 1972 and headed a moderate Unionist party that won only five seats, told reporters: "I fear the coalition's policies will lead to direct confrontation with the British government."

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, minister of posts and telegraphs in the Dublin government, said in a radio interview that the election outcome destroyed all possibility of agreement on a Protestant-Catholic executive then told her to go back to the residence and bring down more money or they would kill her.

Police said the girl reported the incident to Soviet officials and the intruders apparently fled in the meantime.

The building is used as a residence for the families of members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations and for trade and tourist offices.

February Date

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — A Progressive Conservative leadership convention will probably be held in February, party leader Robert Stanfield said Saturday.

Mr. Stanfield told a news conference he preferred a February date because of technical problems which the party faced in holding a November convention.

LOW COST — No Down Payment HOUSING FROM Rollins Lumber

$500. Federal Grant

$1500. Provincial Grant

START BUILDING TOMORROW WITH

THE SELF-HELP HOME PLAN

Am I eligible for both grants with the Self-Help plan?

The Federal and Provincial Grants are separate plans and if you qualify for both, you receive both. Briefly the requirements are that you must be buying or building your first home and it must be your principal residence. The Federal Grant states that you must be moved in by October 31, 1975, while the Provincial Grant requires ownership by December 31, 1975. This means you should be making your move now to take advantage of these bonuses.

There are no price restrictions for the Provincial Grant, so you will receive a $1,000 cheque when your application is approved and $250, after one year, and again after two years occupancy.

However there are limits on the Federal Grant, and that's where the Self-Help plan can really help. By lowering over-all costs, you can build the home you want and still be under the limits set by C.M.H.C. Actually you can save several thousand dollars above and beyond the grants by substituting your own labor on the home's interior.

No Down Payment is required, the cost is lower, you can be eligible for $2,000. in grants . . . so there's nothing to stop you now!

NO DOWN PAYMENT

Ann Landers

Blue Potatoes Would Turn Anybody Off!

Dear Ann Landers: I married with strange coloring kits my of a "boogie."
a wonderful girl, a psychology major who also happens to be a fantastic cook. Here's the problem.

Immediately after our honeymoon Sally began to prepare some very fancy dinners — epicurean dishes I had never heard of before. When she served me Will you tell her artificially-colored food has nothing to do with bad hair to please get back to simple stuff because I'm almost 300 pounds.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old girl with a terrible case of acne. I was asking some of the girls at work what to do about it. They gave me some swell advice.

One girl asked me if I was a virgin. When I said, "Yes," she replied, "Your skin will clear up in fact, it will improve 100%." I then discussed this with a couple of other girls and they agreed with her.

What about it, Ann? True or false?—Need To Know In Long Island

Dear Need: Is that old yarn still kicking around? Usually it's the boys who promote that garbage, but apparently some of the girls believe it, too. (Maybe someone said THERE is bit of truth.)

There's no truth to it. If there were, all virgins would have acne problems and the promiscuous girls would have the most beautiful complexions. You know, very well that such is not the case. Quit feeling ground with velvet and soaps and go to a dermatologist.

Acne CAN be eliminated but you should be under the care and observation of a skin specialist.

Dear Ann Landers: Settle a family argument, please. My husband's brother was divorced from his wife. Is he still our sister-in-law? If so, does that mean if he marries three more times we could end up with four sisters-in-law on account of him?—M.J.

You wouldn't believe the flap this has caused in our family. Hurry your answer. What's What?

Dear Wm: When your brother and his wife untied the knot legally, his wife became FORMER sister-in-law. She was related only by marriage. When the marriage was terminated, she lost her "title."

No matter how often your brother marries he can give you only one set of in-laws at a time.

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend used to run her life according to the horoscope in the paper. She got into trouble a few times because she relied too much on the horoscope. Now she is debating between a make-over by Beverly Hills and a palmist in Boyle Heights. Which would you recommend?—Joe

Dear Joe: I have no faith in either, but if the MUST choose, she's better off with the palmist. It will probably cost her less and besides, I'm sure she has a palm.

Doris Clark

Dad Won't Let Her Date

Dear Doris: I am 15 years old. I have a problem about my father. My mother allows me to go to the show or school dances with a guy I really like a lot, but my father disagrees with me going around with guys at my age.

My father told me to sit down and talk to him, but I know he'll only say, "You're too young." What can I do?

Problem.

Dear Problem: Why not sit down and talk this over with your father and your mother?

I think it's fine for you to go to a movie or school dance with a boy. But — I'd say your Dad is right if you become so involved with boy friends and dates that it interferes with your classes and homework.

A lot depends on how mature you are. Do you help willingly at home, gladly accept responsibility, co-operate with other family members? If you have good sense about the important things in life, dating at 15 is okay.

Dear Doris: I would like the words of a song that was popular some 15 years ago — "My Little Grey Home In The West." Some of the words are: "There are two eyes that shine, just because they are mine . . ." or "I love Eugene

Here's Hoping.

Dear Hoping: Fussy thing, but our public library has not been able to turn up the song, although the title is very familiar. Perhaps one of our Old Fiddlehits will be able to recite it from memory or turn it up for us — and then you may be sure we will send it along to you.

Dear Doris: A long time ago in a school reader we had a song or poem — I remember it as a song called "Chick-a-dee-dee". Would it be possible someone would have it?

Gloria,

Dear Gloria: The Ontario readers in my library don't contain R. I note you are from Moncton. Could it have originated in New Brunswick? Perhaps a reader from down your way can help.

(When writing in to Doris, in care of this newspaper, allow four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if an eight-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.)

Successful Magazine by, for Women Began with One Woman's Wild Idea

EDMONTON (CP) — About 18 months ago, Susan McAlmon of Edmonton, hung up a few posters in the city inviting women to "listen to a wild idea or two."

The idea was to start a topic-packed, national magazine for Canadian women.

At the first meeting, the women discovered that they shared a desire to publish such a magazine. But was enough we could do it, and that we were going to make it damned good try at doing it," she says.

Today the magazine, Branching Out, is in its sixth edition and has attracted readers from the Maritimes to the Yukon while Miss McAlmon, not to find a recipe on every page.

Copies are generally sold out from coast to coast and, despite the paperback, the magazine has managed to publish — contributions from writers as well-known as Margaret Atwood.

"I mean, I feel wrong sometimes about the money for what we were selling," said a statement by the editorial staff in the March, 1974, anniversary issue.

Intended as a forum "by and for women," each issue includes about 36 pages of prose, poetry, photography, and film reviews, news items about women's groups across the country and articles covering everything from the growing profession to the problems of being a welfare mother.

Branching Out is produced on high-quality, glossy paper, a feature viewed as important by Pascal Lesh, a CBC program assistant who was in the founding group.

"We wanted to attract a wider audience than would be attracted by a mimeographed publication, important as they are."

Moreover, the staff decided from the beginning to accept only high-quality contributions.

"We want to provide an opportunity for Detailing women writers, but we've had to turn down a lot of mediocre manuscripts from women whose efforts we admired but who didn't meet our standards," Ms. Lesh said.

The magazine, published every two months, is financed by 10 volunteers, most of whom have full-time jobs in related fields. The group has no office anywhere and all expense accounts are unheard of.

The group has managed to publish regularly since December, 1974, and now is distributing the magazine in Saint John, N.B., Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. Circulation of the 21 publication is about 4,000 and it has a cost of $2,000 an issue—and there are about 1,300 paid subscriptions.

Although publications with a feminist slant traditionally attract younger readers, a recent survey showed Branching Out is read by a wide age and occupational range, with 25 per cent of the readers over 50.

The group began by incorporating as the New Women's Magazine Society and asking about $2,000 of their own funds into the venture. They then solicited material from writers, photographers and artists, who were paid $5 for their first contribution and $2.50 for those used, plus two subscriptions.

Raise harvest of contributions.

"It hurts us not to be able to pay contributors more, but even the token amount shows that we take their efforts seriously," Ms. Lesh said.

The society was able to find a small advertiser and, through personal contacts and women's groups, set up distribution points across the country.

The final headache was production. Deadlines, first, affect typesetting and with little experience themselves, the group rented facilities and found themselves in the middle of "a three-week job of 14-hour days."

Branching Out finally appeared on the stands in December, 1974, and met with encouraging responses from readers and the media. But a big let-down followed the first issue.

"We had produced a magazine and we were very proud of ourselves, but suddenly there loomed the idea that we had, committed ourselves to something," said Mary Alyce Heaton. "There was no distributor.

"For about six weeks we just sat there. Then it became apparent that we had to have someone in charge of pulling the thing together or it would their own funds into the issue. They then solicited material from writers, photographers and artists, who were paid $5 for their first contribution and $2.50 for those used, plus two subscriptions.

Barbara McDowell's bran muffin recipe is one of those magic things you can't quite believe. It lets you turn out muffins in the time it takes to bake them. That's an advantage for busy Mrs. McDowell who's a garden club member and avid rug hooker. Her husband, Alex, is a minister at Eastminster United Church.

Bran Muffins

two cups natural bran
one cup shortening
six cups white sugar four eggs
five cups flour
two tsp. salt
five tsp. soda
one quart buttermilk four cups Bran Bud
one-lb. raisins

Pour two cups boiling water over the natural bran and set aside to cool.

Cream well together shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Sift flour, soda and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk. Add Bran Bud brand cereal and mix. Add raisins and mix well. Bake at 375 for 30 minutes. This batter, which will make six dozen muffins, can be stored for six weeks in the refrigerator in a covered dish.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Gunsolus announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara-Ann Ann, to William Glen Joseph Sweet of Picton, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sweet. The marriage will take place on Saturday, May 31, at Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

Downtown Fashion Show Set

Total Beauty is the theme of a show of fashions, new cars, song and dance which will be presented Friday, May 16 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. in downtown Belleville.

Sponsored by Trudeau Motors and the Downtown Merchant's Association, the show is being produced by Toronto-based Ida Burns and Associates.

It will take place in the area of Walker's Store.

Shoes, men and women's clothing, cars, watches and even cosmetics will be featured.

"I'm very excited about this show," says Ida Burns, the producer. "This is a fashion show, a car show and great musical entertainment all on one stage. It's adding a whole new dimension to fashion presentation."

The music and dance includes show tunes and dancing and even poetry read by the fashion commentator.

"It's totally theatrical. I see a beautiful kinship of fashion, the theatre and rhythm."

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Clark

Clark — Jewell

Tabernacle United Church was the setting for the April 19 wedding of Lee-Ann Elaine Jewell and Brian Wayne Clark, performed by Rev. Leslie Dean.

The bride is the daughter of Les and Vivian Jewell and the groom is the son of Earle and Dorothy Clark.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a gown of sheer over sharkskin with a high mandarin neckline, a front and back bodice featuring Alencon lace trim, long sleeves, and a skirt with detachable train appliqued with lace. A crown headpiece of lace with ribbon inserts completed the bride's ensemble, and she carried deep red roses on white lace.

Annette Devolin, the maid of honor, was dressed in a red and white swiss dot gown trimmed with lace, topped with a lace bolero. She carried a small cluster of white roses.

Lynn Gallupe and Denise Jewell, the bride's sister, were bridesmaids in gowns identical to the maid of honor's.

Bruce Clark, the groom's brother, was his best man, and Brent Gallupe and Don Grant were ushers.

After a dinner and dance at the Black Hawk Hall, the newly-married couple travelled west on their honeymoon. They now live at 34 Hillside Street.

PATRICIA ANNE PATTERSON of Stirling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Patterson received her Bachelor of Arts (Honors) Degree from the University of Guelph earlier this spring. Patricia is presently employed with the County of Hastings as Planning Assistant.

People and Events

IODE LUNCHEON

Red roses, advertising the 75th anniversary of the IODE decorated St. Thomas Parish Hall on Thursday afternoon April 22.

The occasion was a lunch sponsored by the IODE, St. Julien chapter provided by the "Luncheon is Served" company.

The event coincided with the date of the battle of St. Julien 60 years ago, from which the chapter was named.

Regent Thelma Bailey met guests at the door, assisted by convener Lorreen Ellis.

A showing of jewelry followed the lunch. Prizes of IODE roses and jewelry were drawn at the close of the afternoon.

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE WI

Edna Welsh was hostess for the April meeting of the Canniffon-Corbyville Women's Institute, who voted to sponsor a ball team during the coming season.

The following officers for the next term were installed by Doris Ellsworth; Gertie Bowers, president; Doris Ellsworth, first vice-pres.; Fyy Meale, second vice-pres.; Kay Windsor, secretary-treasurer and Hilda Moore, district director.

Mrs. Meale presented a program dealing with the first 15 years of the WI. This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Canniffon-Corbyville branch.

REDNERSVILLE W I

Flossie Pulver was hostess for the April meeting of the Rednersville Women's Institute. President Edith Cairns welcomed the members who answered the roll call with what they have learned through the WI.

Summary Day for the senior project "Accessories for the Home" was announced for May 8, to be held in the Wellington Town Hall at 1 p.m.

The year's financial statement was read, and reports from the various standing committees and conveners were presented. The president reported on her WI activities during the past months as well.

Frances Young conducted the election of officers. The executive includes past president, Mabesl Onderdonk; Edith Cairns, president and Marion Townsend, secretary-treasurer.

Mabel Onderdonk presented information about resolutions. Referring to home and country reports, Mrs. Onderdonk said that in 1974, there were 21 resolutions sustained in Ontario, five of which were from the Trent Valley Area. She suggested that WI members attend council meetings and other public meetings where community matters are discussed and decided.

CARMEL, W.I.

The April meeting of Carmel Women's Institute was held at the home of Deneida Foley.

Marrorette Lucas presided over the business portion of the meeting.

Cora Ritz, Deneida Foley and Louella Urch will be delegates for the District Annual being held May 13 at Melrose United Church.

A committee was appointed to arrange for catering at an auction sale.

The new officers for 1975-76 are: Deneida Foley, president; Joan Jessup, first vice-pres. Elsie Whitmore, second vice-pres.; Mary Embury, secretary-treasurer; Cora Ritz, district director; Sheila Patton, assistant district director; Olive Thompson, curator; Marilyn Vance, public relations.

Andras Wants Law To Assist Refugees

MONTREAL (CP)—Immigration Minister Robert Andras says he hopes new legislation on immigration will contain better provision for refugee assistance.

In a speech to the Jewish Immigrant Aid Society Sunday, he said the current Immigration Act does not make specific provision for refugees, who are subject to the same selection standards as other immigrants.

And special methods of dealing with refugees or with individuals claiming persecution who are still in their country of origin were awkward, he said.

He told the society, which is marking the 18th anniversary of the arrival of Jewish immigrants from Hungary after the 1956 uprising, that 10 per cent of all immigrants to Canada since 1946 have been refugees.

In regard to the Vietnam situation Mr. Andras said attempts would be made when possible to start the process of family reunification between Vietnamese and Canadian residents of Canada and their relatives still in Indochina.

Such a program would be similar to programs started with China, the Soviet Union, and other Eastern European countries.

Immigration officers are dealing with applications from about 600 Jews from Eastern Europe and in Italy who were originally destined for Israel he said.

Another 122 Soviet Jewish emigrants have already arrived in Canada from Brussels and another 63 Soviet Jews were expected May 14, he said. These were people who had left the Soviet Union and had been in Israel for up to three years.

As a result of the agreement on reunification of families with the People's Republic of China, 7,000 applications have been submitted and 252 relatives had arrived from China in the second half of 1971 to be reunited with families in Canada.

Text of Mr. Andras' speech was released in advance.

Fire in Cell

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Police said Sunday that a fire in an occupied padded cell Saturday caused about $20,000 damage at the Niagara region police headquarters.

Police said the fire began in a basement cell occupied by William Milton Vance, 55, of St. Catharines. The man was

Munro and Kerr Listed As Witnesses at Trial

HAMILTON (CP) — Witnesses scheduled to testify in the trial beginning today of two men charged with conspiracy and fraud include federal Labor Minister John Munro and George Kerr, former Ontario solicitor-general.

Kenneth Ronald Elliott, 42, a farmer Hamilton harbor commissioner, faces 11 charges, and Reginald Leigh Fisher, 61, a business consultant, 10 charges.

The charges were laid in connection with an alleged $365,000 kickback in a 1971-72 dredging contract after an 18-month RCMP investigation.

NDP Leadership Candidates Oppose Foreign Ownership

BRANDON, Manitoba (CP) — Canadians must act decisively to counter the high degree of foreign ownership of the country's assets, a forum of candidates for the federal NDP leadership was told during the weekend.

John Harney, a professor who was MP for Scarborough West from 1971 to 1974, said Canada is well able to take control of its own economy and has considerable investment capital resources of its own.

Lorne Nystrom, MP for Yorkton-Melville and NDP parliamentary finance critic, said that instead of permiting direct investment by foreign concerns, Canada should obtain needed foreign funds by borrowing, an approach advocated by the Saskatchewan Economic Develop-

The candidates, Mr. Harney, Mr. Nystrom, post-painter William Thomas Bedwell and Douglas Campbell, a Mississauga, Ont., taxi driver, were replying to questions from a member of the audience.

The two other declared candidates for the federal NDP leadership—parliamentary leader Ed Broadbent and British Columbia MLA Rosemary Brown—had other commitments and did not attend the Saturday night meeting, one of a series leading to the July 4-6 convention in Winnipeg.

NDP Urged to Redefine Its Goals

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Rosemary Brown, NDP member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver-Burrard, said Saturday her party must go back to its grass roots beginning and redefine its goals if it hopes to gain power federally.

"My commitment to socialism makes me see the necessity of the party clarifying its goals," said Ms. Brown, who is seeking leadership of the federal party. "We must clearly demonstrate the difference between us and the other federal parties to show that we are the clear alternative," she told a group of about 40 persons at St. Peter's Separate School.

Ms. Brown said that to do this the party must identify its constituents and educate them to know what ricks the party would take for them.

"If we're only seen as the party that introduces welfare policies, then there is no reason for anyone to vote for us," said Ms. Brown.

Let's Wake Up Before We Miss the Boat — Again

A few years ago Belleville earned a nickname. Because of the way visitors and volunteers in the area were treated we were dubbed 'the friendly city'.

However, when it comes to sports Belleville's reputation is rapidly becoming known as "the deadly city". Our new found reputation is based on the many sports activities, teams and sports individuals which plant themselves in the city only to wither up and die.

What it boils down to is that there are more skeptics in this city per sq. area than there are supporters.

Though it hasn't quite hosted over yet, the Tom O'Shanter Hockey School is the next item that will either need a transplant or join several previous endeavors in Belleville's sports cemetery.

"It comes down to one thing," said a frustrated Gary Green, executive director of the school. "Either the daytime registrations pick up this year or we have to move to another city."

Tam's present day-time enrolment stands at approximately 30 students spread over the six-week period.

There are 40 students registered (the other 230 coming from various parts of the province).

We need about 60 day-time students if the school is going to stay in Belleville," added the director.

The difference between day-time students and full-time students is: day-timers are from the immediate area. They need only to commute to and from the school in the morning and the evening. Fulltimers are those who are from out of town and have to stay overnight in residence.

For one week, it costs a full time student $135. A week as a daytimer is $65. A daytime receives all the benefits of a fulltime student except he doesn't have to worry about sleeping in a strange place.

Included in the $65 are transportation to and from Trenton' Consumaby Gardens, fitness testing at the Cobra Inn, the full-time residence, and return later in the day! two meals a day, and a hockey sweater valued at 14. In comparison what the school gets out of a day-timer's registration is around $5 per used to cover instructors fees and administration costs.

Instructors at the school include Jim Turkiewicz, of the Toronto Toros, Jim Jones and Colin Campbell of the Vancouver Blazers, both established teams of the World Hockey Association, and Jack Valiquette, the highest paid rookie in the Toronto Maple Leaf organization.

You can't take this kind of hockey instruction for $65. a week. If you send your kid out of town to another school where he receives instruction on a de-personalized level! It could cost you three or four times as much.

For information on the school write Tam O'Shanter Hockey School, in care of Goetzo Office, 107 Quebec St., East, Toronto, Ont., or phone 519-921-4363.

If you're unable to sign your youngster up send an application to Albert Goetzo.

Let's get behind this school before we end up wasting goobye to it.

SLICES — Everything got washed away Sunday. The McDonald's, the Belleville-Scarborough Ladies' Softball games and almost everything else that was scheduled to go in the outdoors on the 25th bath.

The word from Doug Adams was that the Macs are trying to reschedule the washed-out double-header from the weekend for this Wednesday. Barring rejection from the Tanys, rejection on acquisition of Alendale Park and more rain, the games should come off.

The Belleville Indoor Soccer League recently announced their choices for trophy winners for the 1974-75 season.

Most Valuable Player went to Charlie Nesterenuk, Casey Grill. Most Sportsmanlike Player was Funda Edwards, Olympics. Most Improved Player went to Kevin Tiffin of John's Variety. Chris Johnson of the Olympics took top goaltender, and Andy O'Neill, also of the Olympics, earned top goalscorer.

This was the first year of operation for the new league and four teams participated. Next year the organization plans to double in size.

Trophies will be presented at the season's finale, Wednesday, May 14 at Golden Mile Restaurant. The event gets underway at 9 p.m.

Paddlers Battle Moira Rapids

Dave DeSuraiste, of Toronto, charges through white water of the Moira River at Riverside Park, Sunday, taking part in a sanctioned competition of the Ontario White Water Association. Despite the hazards of white water paddling, the Canadian Associations lists the most severe injury in the association's history as a wrenched shoulder. The Sunday race down the Moira was a warm up for national competitions to be held in Bancroft this summer.

Whirl Through White Water

Competitors Meet Challenge

More than 30 paddlers from Ontario, Quebec and New York state arrived in Belleville this weekend to test their kayak and canoe skills in the rapids of the Moira River.

Though reduced to a trickle for the majority of the summer, the Moira at 8 now runs through Belleville offers some of the most exciting white water paddling in the province and has drawn top notch paddlers every spring for the past several years.

Participants began arriving in Belleville by Saturday afternoon giving themselves a day before the race to get the feel of the river.

The Belleville event is a down river race beginning at Riverside Park and ending at the river mouth. Unlike the slalom runs where the paddler must negotiate gates, the downriver run is a test of strength and endurance.

The Moira race has no international importance but is considered a vital warm up and point-getting race for entry into national trials later in the summer.

The national competition this year will be held 3.5 km on a Kerchoff's paddling school on the Madawaska River near Bancroft.

About a week later, paddlers will travel to a point 150 miles north of Quebec City for international competition.

Paddlers who do well in taking a berth on Canada's these two events particularly, will stand a good chance of Europe.

Tam O'Shanter Hockey School was represented at McDonald's Family Restaurant, Sunday, by the school's executive director Gary Green (left), Vancouver Blazers' Jimmy Jones (centre) and Toronto Toros' defenceman Jim Turkiewicz. Craig Saxby meets the hockey stars and gets Turkiewicz' autograph. The World Hockey Association players are on the school's staff of instructors.

Wins Title

LAGOS (Reuter) — Dele Jobalbun, a Spanish-based Nigerian boxer, won a Commonwealth lightweight title Sunday with a comfortable points win over Scotland's Jim Watt. The only knockdown in the 15-round bout was in the second when Jonathan sent Watts to the canvas for a compulsory eight count.

Habs Demolish Sabres

MONTREAL (CP)—There was little Buffalo Sabres could say about their performance in the fourth game of their Stanley Cup semi-final series against Montreal Canadiens.

"We played badly and they played well," ral ckit winger Richard Martin after the Canadiens thrashed the Sabres 8-2 Saturday night to even the best-of-seven set at 2-2.

"But in Buffalo you will see two different teams," Martin added.

"We've lost a bit of our confidence," Sabres coach Floyd Smith said. "We seemed frustrated and we were unable to get untracked. Everything they did was right; everything we did was wrong. We'll have to go home and take stock of ourselves."

Guy Lafleur and Yvon Lambert each scored two goals for the Canadiens, who held a 42-25 edge in shots on goal. Bob Gainey, Jacques Lemaire, Guy Lapointe and Glen Sather were the other Montreal marksmen, with Don Luce and Jerry Korab replying for Buffalo.

The game featured a brawl with 2:47 remaining in the second period. It started with an altercation between the Sabres' Danny Gare and Montreal's Doug Risebrough.

Buffalo defenceman Bill Hajt jumped in as the third man, followed quickly by Montreal's Larry Robinson. Then both benches cleared but no other fights broke out, although there was some sweater-tugging.

Hajt was tossed out of the game by referee Dave Newell for being the third man in and Robinson was ejected for being the first player to leave the players' bench.

Robinson was fingered by one of the minor officials as being the first man to leave his bench. However, it was later proved that Robinson was in fact on the ice when the altercation flared.

After a meeting among Newell, the minor officials, referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison and president Clarence Campbell, the National Hockey League announced that Newell would play Tuesday and not sit out a one-game suspension for being first to leave the bench.

Under an NHL regulation, the first player to leave a players' bench during a fight is given an automatic one-game suspension for the first offence.

Canadiens coach Scotty Bowman was fuming after the game about the call against Robinson. "It's got nothing to do with Newell," Bowman said. "It's the minor officials. That was horrible."

Bowman said that Buffalo team captain Jim Schoenfeld was the first player over the boards.

"I told our guys to wait," Bowman said. "He (Schoenfeld) caused the bench-clearing. He could have ended a career."

Bowman said he had checked tapes of the incident at the end of the second period and that it clearly showed Robinson on the ice.

About the game itself, Bowman said: "We're happy with the way we played."

Penalties Kill Sherbrooke Team

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Sherbrooke Beavers may never again question the strength of a Toronto Marlboros power play.

The Beavers, representing the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League at the Memorial Cup tournament for Canada's top three major-junior teams, were leading the Marlboros 3-0 early in the second period of the opening game Saturday night.

Then the Sherbrooke penalty door opened and the roof fell in.

John Szarka scored two power-play goals in succession to narrow the Sherbrooke lead to 3-2 and Mark Napier tied the game at 12:15 with three seconds left in a Sherbrooke penalty.

Napier scored his second goal of the game at the 11-minute mark of the third period to give the Marlboros the lead, only to have Sherbrooke's Claude Lapose tie the game at 19:31 of the third and send the contest into sudden-death overtime.

The Marlboros, Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series champions, won the game 5-4 on Dave Jacques' goal at 12:33 of the first overtime period.

Under the Memorial Cup round-robin format, the teams play each other once in the first round. In tonight's second game of the tournament, the powerprose New Westminster Bruins of the Western Canada Hockey League take on Sherbrooke in an 8 p.m. EDT start at Kitchener Memorial Auditorium—site of all games in the eight-day tournament.

The Marlboros are idle until Wednesday when they take on the Bruins.

Aeros' Kids Produce

HOUSTON (AP) — When Houston Aeros coach Bill Dineen sends the kids out to play, the opposition doesn't relax.

That's because the Aeros' fourth line—they call it their Kid Line—plays just as big a part in Houston's success as the other three veteran lines.

Houston's 6-2 victory over Quebec Nordiques in the first game of the World Hockey Association final series Saturday night was a good example of the Kid Line's contribution.

Terry Ruskowski, the rookie line's centre, scored one of four Houston goals in a runaway first period and right winger Don Larway scored another for Houston in the second period.

"Our young guys are doing such an excellent job," said veteran Gordon Labossiere, who scored two goals in Saturday's victory. "Actually, it's sometimes harder to play with your own because you're not as close as much and your mind gets away from the game.

"But it sure hasn't bothered us this year. You can't knock success.

Part of Houston's success in this year's WHA playoffs has been their fast starts in each series. Houston pounced on both Cleveland and San Diego in their first two rounds and they did the same thing to Quebec Saturday.

"The key to the playoffs is to be mentally prepared for that first game," Labossiere said. "It seemed tonight that we were ready and we were against San Diego and Cleveland too."

Labossiere, Larry Lund, Gordie Howe and Ruskowski scored in the first period and Larway added his second-period goal for a 5-0 Houston lead before the Nordiques scored.

Marc Tardif scored in the second period and Bob Gelinas added the Nordiques' final goal early in the third period. Labossiere's second goal came at 11:05 of the final period.

They're a better hockey club than that," Bloom said. "I think they'll come back and win."

The best-of-seven series resumes here Tuesday night.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENT.

TORONTO (CP) — Scarborough Rams of the Ontario Football Conference announced Saturday the appointment of Ed Mikulich as head coach of the junior team. Mikulich, an assistant coach the three years, replaces Ken Goddards, who retired after last season. He played junior football in Kitchener and Toronto and later in the Canadian Football League as a defensive halfback with Montreal Alouettes and Calgary Stampeders.

Not Spectacular But It Works

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (CP) — "You never win a championship by being reckless," says coach Fred Shero of Philadelphia Flyers, the greatest of tight defensive hockey.

A well-disciplined Flyer team followed Shero's advice almost to the letter and beat New York Islanders 1-0 Sunday night on Reggie Leach's goal seven after the third period started.

The victory placed the defending Stanley Cup champions in the enviable position of needing one more to gain the National Hockey League playoff final against either Montreal or Buffalo.

The fourth game of the Flyers-Islanders best-of-seven semi-final is scheduled here Wednesday night with a fifth game, if necessary, in Philadelphia Saturday night.

Despite the three Philadelphia wins over the Islanders, Shero said the series thus far has been tougher than the four-game series against Toronto in all the quarter-finals.

"But it's only what we expected of them. Actually, the Islanders played tougher and better hockey against us during the season than any other club, even the Montreal Canadiens or the Buffalo Sabres."

Coach Al Arbour of the Islanders chose Glenn (Chico) Resch as his goalie, and Resch was brilliant in making 31 saves.

Bernie Parent, making his first start in 10 days—he was injured in a pre-game warmup prior to the first game against the Islanders—had only 14 saves in the Flyers nets.

"They never really gave us a chance to get going," Arbour said. "They were on top of us continuously. We'd pass to an open man and by the time got going, they'd have another man right there to take him out of the play."

Parent's shutout was his third of the playoffs, the coming against Ye didn't have to work hard. He said only about three shots could be considered difficult for him.

Resch, the loser in the opener, 4-0 shutout by the Flyers, this time was sharp and in the first two periods held the Flyers scoreless with that 60-minute win. Philadelphia outshot the Islanders 24 to 11.

It was a four-on-four situation when Leach caught Islanders defenceman Brent Hughes near the blueline in a two-on-one play with Bobby Clarke, who centred the puss. Leach fired it from about 20 feet over Resch's left shoulder.

"We're going to come out Wednesday night and try can have a couple of days rest before the finals," said Leach.

As Shero's eyes, it was discipline that won for the Flyers.

"I think discipline really showed in the last seven or eight minutes when we had them shorthanded twice.

"We did not get to the penalties we had a good chance to other words, we were disciplined enough not to get drawn penalties. I told them not to get penalty minutes it's to save a goal.

"They were very careful. They still controlled the puck. One goal is as good as four. We're not in a hurry to score. We control the play and eating up the clock."

4 SEPTEMBER OCTOBER NOVEMBER
A most important time to feed your lawn to help it survive the winter ahead. Fall Season Lawn Food 3-6-10 is a formula designed for just this purpose. It contains Milorganite, to keep your lawn green throughout the Fall season.
If you failed to eliminate your weeds earlier, ensure they're gone by next Spring by applying So-Green Fall Season Weed Control. It is formulated to winterize and fertilize your lawn while controlling persistent weeds. Don't forget: use So-Green Guaranteed Grass Seed for your Spring and Fall seeding.

Getting more from the vegetable plot

John Bradshaw

In the next week or so, you can make the difference between a so-so crop and a bumper crop of vegetables. Here's how.

Your crop may be running short of nutrients. Leafy vegetables may need extra nitrogen; root vegetables may need more potassium. What's more, root maggots really get busy on radishes, carrots, peas, corn, onion and celery right about now.

The expert gardener fusses over his June vegetables. He feeds his crop, and protects them from root maggots. Here's what you do. To feed them, use CIL Flower & Vegetable Food: work it into the top 2 inches of soil along the vegetable row, taking care not to damage roots. Then water in.

Maggot attack is hard to spot — short of pulling up the plant! Maggot flies may be small as ¼" long. So it's best to prevent attack: shake CIL Maggot Killer around each plant, scratch it into the top ¼ inch of soil, and water in. Incidentally, CIL Maggot Killer does an excellent job on lawn pests: ants, cutworms and sowbugs, too.

You'll find a good section on vegetable care in my free 1975 CIL Lawn and Garden Guide.

Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium is scoreboard assistant. "The numbers lie sometimes."

One more run scored Sunday and major league baseball would hit one million.

It was a lot seconds after 2:32 p.m. EDT when Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion's hit a home run.

The crowd of more than 51,000 cheered not only the 2,000-pound blast by one of Atlanta's Phil Niekro but also what it thought was Concepcion's number 1,000,000 in baseball history.

"I knew in my 'Hi run Eddie,'" said the Reds' shortstop, "I knew I'd hit one good. I knew it was gone and thought: 'I got it!' I got it!"

He didn't.

It was a few seconds after 12:32 p.m. PDT (2:32 p.m. EDT) in San Francisco's Candlestick Park. Houston's Bob Watson was batting on second base when the ball whistled off Mike Marshall's glove and struck Watson on the helmet. Home run for Watson.

Astros but cheered nevertheless for Watson as he dashed home. WATSON GETS IT

And at 32 seconds after 12:32 p.m. PDT, Watson touched home plate, the millionth time it had happened in the majors and the 986,286th since the last of Philadelphia started it all with a home run in 1876.

"I ran hard," Watson said, "I got to Mike Marshall very near when the game started.

"When I got to first in the second inning, I saw a war on the scoreboard, so I knew I had a chance," Watson walked and scored second. Then Jose Cruz walked, bringing up Mike, who had Bob Montgomery's second pitch over the right field screen.

"When the ball was hit, I had to hold up because it looked like Mike Marshall had a play on it," Watson said. "I went back, turned to tag, then I ran hard when I saw it was over.

"Give Mike credit, too," he added. "It wouldn't have been possible without his homer."

DAVE CONCEPCION

Concepcion returned to the plate in the seventh inning to hit a line-drive double off Niekro that gave the Reds a 3-2 victory over the Braves.

And while Mays's three-run homer in a five-run second inning wasn't enough to keep the Giants from losing 8-6, Willie Montanez came back in the second inning of the doubleheader for a 12-6 victory.

In Sunday's two other Major League games, San Diego beat Los Angeles Dodgers 10-7 and Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis Cardinals 8-4.

Saturday, Montreal Expos beat New York Mets 5-4, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 6-4 and 4-0, Chicago defeated St. Louis 7-3, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 6-1 and San Diego defeated Los Angeles 5-1. A Houston-San Francisco game was rained out.

Concepcion's double, a first-inning run on Johnny Bench's 411 RBI single and Cesar Geronimo's run-scoring single gave the Reds a 2-1 lead in the fourth. Concepcion's homer tied it in the fifth and, in the seventh, he doubled to the right field wall after pitcher Don Carrithers had singled.

San Francisco rallied for its winning victory on Gary Thomasson's pinch-hit, two-run triple in the seventh inning. The Astros had scored back in the second game with a six-run second inning, highlighted by Mays's two-run single, and Bob Andrews' 3-run double.

San Diego's Gene Lockhart pitched a shutout through seven innings with a solo homer and ground it with a two-run double against the Dodgers in the seventh inning.

Carew, Chambliss Close But Not Quite There

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota Twins' Rod Carew and New York Yankees' Carl Chambliss were 50 feet away from glory Sunday, but they came up a couple feet short.

Carew and Chambliss were both thrown out at home plate in separate incidents as Minnesota's Bob Watson scored major league baseball's one millionth run Sunday. Watson collected it and a gold watch for his feat. Carew could take consolation in the Twins' 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Chambliss and Oakland A's Claudell Washington each singled in the tenth inning off Milwaukee Brewers.

"I knew it would have been the one millionth run because the word was relayed from the dugout," said Carew, who was thrown out at the plate by right fielder Al Cowens on a short fly ball in the second inning.

Chambliss missed his chance in the fourth when Milwaukee first baseman George Scott couldn't field trying to snare a wild throw.

"I did that to Chambliss! I didn't know that," said Scott, who gave Chambliss, that's all I can say, man—gave Chambliss. If I knew that maybe I wouldn't have been so quick to throw him out."

Carew, who leads Sunday's American League baseball hitting action, topped Oakland's Angels 1-0, Chicago White Sox 4-3, Baltimore Orioles 4-3, Cleveland Indians 4-3 in 11 innings, and a Detroit-Boston doubleheader was rained out.

Saturday, Boston defeated Detroit 13-2, Cleveland beat Baltimore 9-1, Minnesota whipped Kansas City 14-6, Milwaukee edged New York 4-3, Chicago defeated Oakland 4-3 and California defeated Texas 4-2.

Minnesota got seven scorches with two each by Carew and Jim Hughes to hand the Royals their 16th loss in the last 19 games. Hughes surrendered Watson his first major league homer.

Craig Kusick homered for the winners and Harmon Killebrew, who pinch-hit, was retired by the Twins before the game, hit his two-run homer for Kansas City in the first off Ken Sanders.

In Milwaukee, Otto Lorenzo collected four hits and Scott had three as the Brewers ran their winning streak to five games.

Jeff Burroughs' fourth-inning two run homer beat Oakland. Jim Hunter, who was ready to quit baseball last year, pitched a seven-hitter for Texas.

He tallied him out of it, held California on five hits through 8 innings and then got checked relief help from Jim Dunbarger and Steve Foucault to preserve the win in the ninth.

Al Bumbry and Doug DeCinces had two hits each, as Baltimore banged Cleveland ace Gaylord Perry in his first game to snap a six-game losing streak. Bumbry drove in four runs and DeCinces drew, Mike Torrez, 3-1, stopped the Yankees on five hits.

The Indians rallied in the eighth-on to tie the 11th inning when Frank Duffy doubled and scored on a single by Gregory Hendrick, his fourth of the game.

Left-hander Jim Kaat posted his 11th consecutive victory, 1st fourth this season, and Jerry Ora hit a double and two runs for the White Sox. Brian Downing homered for Chicago and Reggie Jackson hit one for Oakland.

Barrie Takes Lead in Final

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Barrie take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven national final.

Flyers are just two games away from winning their second consecutive Allan Cup senior hockey title, judging from the crowd support he's, fans care.

There were only 1,367 on hand Saturday night when the Twins scored a 9-2 win over the Flyers. Barrie had won the opening game on Friday 5-3 before a crowd of 3,017.

Only 1,127 fans turned out Sunday night at 3,200-seat Barrie Arena to see the Flyers beat Thunder Bay Twins 7-4 and gain

The series was scheduled to move to Thunder Bay for games Thursday and Wednesday and, if necessary, Friday and Saturday but the Barrie team is hoping to have the schedule put back to the weekend. Some players fear losing their jobs if they have to take off in mid-week and team lawyer John Wright, 7, was preparing a petition to be handed to Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials today.

Biltmores Hold On

EDMONTON (CP) — A third-period rally by Spruce Grove Mets fell inches short Sunday night as the Mets beat 4-3 to Guelph Biltmores in the opening game of the 1975 Centennial Cup hockey championship.

The Mets were trailing 2-3 after storming back from a 3-0 deficit when a shot by Bryan Grunfeld skipped high off the glove of netminder Bob Mears and came to rest on top of the net.

Spruce Grove eventually got their third goal, but not before Guelph accepted an insurance goal and put the game out of reach.

Irish Rovers Capture Canadian TV Award

TORONTO (CP)—Actor Wilfred Hahn, broadcaster Barbara Frum, and the peckish Irish Rovers won top honors Wednesday night at the fourth annual awards dinner of the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists (ACTRA).

The prizes—bronze figurines popularly known among ACTRA members as Nellies—were handed out during a two-hour television show obviously designed to be a Canadian counterpart of the annual Oscar awards in Hollywood.

Hutt, veteran of many comic and dramatic roles at the Stratford Festival where he now is associate director won the top acting award for his portrayal of John A. Macdonald in the CBC-TV historical series, The National Dream, based on Berton's books.

The Irish Rovers, one of the most popular CBC-TV variety entertainment groups, won their prize for a special filmed in Cork.

Mrs. Frum—who earlier this year won honors in the National Press Club in Ottawa—won the best radio public affairs broadcaster award—for the second time for the CBC's evening magazine show, As It Happens, of which she is co-host.

Harry Rasky, Toronto TV producer-director-writer, won the best show of 1974 award for Next Year in Jerusalem, a documentary on the Holy Land. His previously won ACTRA and other awards for documentaries on Tennessee Williams and St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome.

The National Dream was Quebec's choice to win two awards. In addition to Hutt as best actor, William Whitehead and Timothy Findley won a best-writer award.

Two Canadian films won honors in the prizes originally restricted to radio and television work.

Stuart Gillard won the best film performance award for starring in the National Film Board's Why Rock the Boat? shown.

Mordecai Richler, author, and Lionel Chetwynd, adapter, won best-writer awards for The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz, which Richler originally wrote as a book.

CTV network took two prizes in the awards, which were heavily weighted towards the CBC as the country's biggest producer of radio and television arts.

Michael Maclear, a former CBC news correspondent, won the best news broadcaster award for his CTV show, Maclear. It was accepted in his absence by Murray Cherkover, CTV president. Heinz Hutchis-on took the TV public affairs broadcaster award for the CTV morning magazine show, Canada AM.

Fred Davis Never Gets Bored

HALIFAX (CP) — Despite his imperturbable appearance and near-legendary poise, veteran broadcaster, interviewer and moderator Fred Davis says he is as "uptight as ever."

Host known as the ever-smiling and congenial host of Front Page Challenge, the show, now in its 8th season, Davis says it really is a challenge.

"Granted, the mechanics of a show become second nature but the spontaneity involved means none of us ever become jaded," he said.

He was referring to the three regular panelists who have solved the mysteries of guest challengers representing some of the maker news stories of the last century. Gordon Sinclair, Pierre Berton and Betty Kennedy are journalists and their "curiosity is at stake," he said, which probably puts them more on a par with their questions.

"We've poured our lives to the show. It's a way of life and I think there would be a sadness if the 25th year show has been renewed for another season.

In Halifax on behalf of the Dalhousie Centennial for the Performing Arts, which is advertising the availability of grants to cultural organizations, Mr. Davis remarked about some of the pitfalls of hidden guest challengers.

On rare occasions, guests do arrive in the studio without identification, creating well-concealed tension among the show's producers and host.

Times like these can ruffle even Fred Davis. The fiftyish Toronto native, who began his career playing trumpet in dance orchestras, looks as youthful as he appears on TV. Slim-eyed, blonde and pleasant, he has become a recognizable acquaintance to many fans rather than a mere celebrity.

In 1942 he joined the Royal Canadian Signal Corps and was later transferred to the broadcast detachment of Canadian Army Shows. While overseas he was associated with the BBC Armed Forces Network.

After the war he graduated from Lorne Greene's Academy of Radio Arts and joined an Ottawa radio station where he worked for six years as announcer, disc jockey, newscaster and program director.

In 1952 he joined the National Film Board, appearing as an actor and commentator in several documentary series for television filmed on location in Europe, Asia and Canada. His five TV career started on the popular daytime show Open House with Anna Cameron.

Simultaneously during the late '50s and early '60s he commuted to New York and Hollywood for appearances in panel shows and as spokesman for Westinghouse Corp.

Until recently he handled the moderator's duties on the debate shows Under Attack and Crossfire and was master of ceremonies on radio's On Stage variety series.

Last year was one of his most demanding. He was host of a five-time-weekly late night view show, named after him. It meant travelling to New York, Hollywood and London interviewing show-business stars. Frequently he interviewed as many as seven in one day.

Accused of being "Mr. Obsequious" because of his polite, non-abrasive manner, Davis replies: "Why go for confrontation? I would never make a guest feel uncomfortable for the transient thrill of it. As an actor I feel like an accompanist to a soloist: in the end you get a better show."

Davis enjoyed doing the Fred Davis Show and, although it was not renewed, said he hopes to perform in that kind of format again.

The program, produced by Hutt, also afforded an opportunity for him, to meet people he had always admired.

His favorite guests included actress Jean Simmons, Kung Fu star Keye Luke and British actor John Mills, adding: "I also make the startling confession that I have never yet worse each year because an unexpected actor turned all the things that can go wrong. Happily, however, said a certain amount of tension is necessary.

"The chances are better of doing your best when the adrenalin's working. If one appears too cool, he may seem bland, disinterested or even sloppy."

Your Horoscope

By HERMOINE BEDNE ORDE.

Tuesday, May 9

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Weigh what you say today very carefully when dealing with a sensitive friend. A thoughtless remark will leave ill feelings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll find yourself more relaxed if you put around with friends today who are able to spend more freely than you can.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You won't be a self-centered today as you should be. You'll find it easier to put things off till tomorrow.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Decisions you make today are apt to be not-so-right and based upon conclusions neither formed nor reworked.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) Be careful in material transactions with friends today. Your generous nature is like to overrun common sense.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) Things will not come your way today by wishful thinking. You'd better roll up your sleeves and get to work.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) You'll mistakenly rely upon another to take care of something important you could do better yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your social image is extremely delicate today. Don't try to impress others or do anything potentially in poor taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An event will not turn out as truthfully as you have today. It won't be too disappointing. Don't make too much of it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be lavish with your compliments unless the other party deserves them. Flattery for its own sake won't take.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Put blinders on today when you pass shop windows featuring appealing items that you know are beyond your budget.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You'll knowingly let those in your charge get away with things they shouldn't today. Later they'll try the same thing again.

Jim:: "The code word ARCH is never more useful than at bridge contracts."

Oswald:: "The N for Review the leading lady's important in this hand, but the 'A' for Analyze lead, the 'C' for Count the winners and losers and the 'H' for How can I make this hand really are important."

Jim:: "South counts three winners in the majors and needs only one in clubs to make three notrump. He has to play both minor suits and now his chance to make his contract if the club finesse is going to lose."

Oswald: "Therefore, he should assume that the club finesse will work. This gives him the winning line of play."

Jim:: "He starts by leading the eight of diamonds and overtaking with dummy's ten. Keep always off. Next South leads a club and takes the finesse. It works.

Oswald: "Now South leads a second diamond, overtaking in dummy with East can do no better than to hold up again. A second club finesse followed by ace and a small club lets East take his king. East clears the spades now, but it is too late. South scores a fourth club trick which gives him the six ruffing trick he needs."

Yes, South can make seven clubs. He can afford to lose a spade, a heart and a diamond. You are asked to show your ace of hearts.

Do Not Depend On Office Girl

To Your Good Health

By C. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Doctor Thompson: Recently I had a cold with a pain on the left side. My chest report showed no sign of pleurisy, but the office girl said she had an enlarged heart.

Now serious is this? Do you have to limit your work? I am retired, and do yard work and gardening.—Mrs. R. L. S.

Most medical office girls accumulate a storehouse of knowledge about medicine, being in close association with the medical part year in and year out. And they are valuable assets for any physician. But tell me, are you really going to accept the kind of an evaluation of your condition? Wouldn't it make better sense to report to me and then ask your doctor what is wrong with you?

The heart can enlarge under physical stress, in certain valve diseases, or in high blood pressure conditions. Severe vitamin B deficiency can also cause it. In the latter situation it is called beri-beri-heart.

In enlarging, the heart muscle is strengthened for its excess stress, whatever the cause, just as would any other muscle in the body.

Now, I've told you all this, but how in the world can you expect me or anyone else to do that matter, to comment on your condition when you haven't consulted your own physician?

Yes, you may have to curtail your activity further, depending on just what is causing your enlarged heart. But can you be really sure that this is your problem? You'll never know from second-hand information from your doctor's office girl.

Your office girl, I believe, would agree with this.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Can you tell me if there is anything that can be done for chronic scarlet? Mine is far advanced and fills my mouth with a discharge which I gag and cough to get into the Eustachian tubes and cause ear infection?—L. E.

Clearly (assuming your chronic production from mucous membranes) is a generalized term referring to inflammation of the passages of the head and throat. It renders medical and other terms are used to identify the area of inflammation more specifically.

Any excessive mucous production is a symptom of nonspecific irritation. Allergy is a common causative factor—to smoke, dust, house dust, or pollutants such as animal or bird dander. Sometimes it is silent basic cause is a common cause, especially when the condition seems to become aggravated during sleep.

A nose defect is deviated septum, for example) can also be involved, as can sinus infection (polyps). A problem as serious as yours seems to be should be investigated to determine the exact cause.

It is quite possible that, untreated, your "catarrh" could develop into more serious problems for you. And yes, infection of one or both of the Eustachian tubes, which lead from the nasopharynx, is a possibility.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Is there some relationship between arthritis and psoriasis? Each joins for three years my mother has had severe back pains, accompanied by a severe outbreak of psoriasis.—Mrs. A. B.

Yes, in some cases of arthritis psoriasis will occur. The condition is called "psoriatic arthritis." The small joints of the fingers and toes are usually involved and the back is often affected, as in your mother's case.

In this, the psoriasis usually precedes the joint symptoms. Before the joints are involved, the back are usually affected.

Dear Doctor: I have read of a case where a boy's tonsillectomy was stopped by giving him cranberry juice or cranberry sauce. What about this?—A. R.

I have not read the account of this. It could be true. Cranberry juice produces an acid reaction in the urine which in this individual case, might have been what was needed. Also, it could have been a psychological reaction on the child's part to the fact that something delicious was being used for the writing problem.

However, neither cranberry juice nor cranberry sauce could be considered as infallible therapy for boil-watching.

Vast Coal Beds Under North Sea

NEWCASTLE, England (CP) — Besides oil and gas, the North Sea holds vast untapped reserves of coal, an energy conference here was told.

Dr. Willis, member of British National Coal Board (NCB) for the northern group of coalfields, said 10 years' exploratory drilling has proved that there have been 350 million tons of coal off the northeast coast of England and Scotland.

"Although our big coastal pits have been sinking at the edge over the last decade, there are many years' reserves," he said. "The NCB has developed an offshore strategy for the 1970s, and by the end of the 1970s, will be based on collieries capable of producing a minimum of one million tons or more a year and using technologies unmatched anywhere in the world. More than £12 million of investment has already been announced for this strategy and by the end rise is £30 million by the time it is completed."

Dr. Willis said the growth potential of Lynemouth-Ellington—the world's largest undersea mine—already is involved in a scheme which has brought the industry's capital investment in the northeast to more than £70 million in 1 month, said Mills. The plan is to extend this pit, which produces 3 million tons a year, into unmined sections of the Northumberland undersea coalfield.

Leaky Oven Safeguards B.C. People

VANCOUVER (CP) — The microwave oven in the tiny basement room at Bank No. 8 is for the public good.

The bank was put there deliberately by officials of the British Columbia Hydro radiation protection service to demonstrate what happens when there are problems with the seal on an oven door.

They deliberately turn a door-controlled switch off every hour but a piece of food stuck to the door would create the same hazard.

Dr. Wayne Grosse heads a four-member team which inspects radiation equipment and provides consumer service, mainly on industrial equipment.

The leaking oven is used to demonstrate radiation measurement to health inspectors who then check restaurants and report their findings to the radiation protection service.

Dr. Grosse said home microwave ovens are usually well constructed and safe, provided the owner keeps the door liner clean.

Other sources of radiation in the home, including television sets and sun lamps, don't usually come under the branch's jurisdiction, Dr. Grosse said, because they are generally not dangerous, although some older color televisions generate soft X-rays "in excess of maximum permissible values."

FEW SETS HAVE HAPT

Dr. Grosse said the sets emit X-rays near their rear housings and are limited to 0.5 milliroentgens per hour at five centimeters from the surface.

About 70 per cent of the service's work involves checking the 2,000 X-ray machines and 3,000 X-ray machines in British Columbia.

Dr. Grosse said it is essentially hopes to be able to check each machine every two years and to have them registered so official data can monitor performance.

The service also deals with what Dr. Grosse calls "accidents." The team recently checked seven possible radiation hazards last year from the United World War I supplied buildings believed to have been used to store radioactive materials.

The check was initiated after radiation levels of 200 times safety limits were found on the third floor of a Vancouver home where a radium paint spill occurred.

Of the seven possible B.C. sites, one was found to be safe, two had been demolished and the rest did not pose any threat.

Dr. Grosse said a more usual case involved some radioactive material used in oil exploration that fell off the back of a truck on the Alaska Highway.

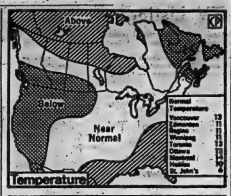
The material, currently contained and harmless, was found and turned over to the RCMP.

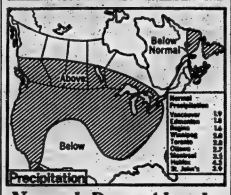
CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

TAYLOR, Mich. (AP) — Police removed 30 poodles from the home of Joseph Dombrowski, 48, and charged her with cruelty to animals and maintaining a health hazard. Authorities said several of the animals had to be destroyed. Police said they found five dogs outside in a small pen and 24 were inside the house.

A CONVENIENCE

CATANIA, Italy (AP) — Orazio Quattrocchi gave birth to her 12th child and became a grandmother at the same time in the same room. While Mrs. Quattrocchi, 46, was in labor one son had her oldest daughter, Elvira, 28, was expecting her first baby of childbirth for the first time in an adjoining bed in the apartment they share in the Sicilian city. Both gave birth to boys.





Normal Days Ahead

Most of Central Canada will have near-normal temperatures during May, according to the 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau. Temperatures will be below normal in southern parts of the western provinces and most of the Atlantic provinces. Above - normal precipitation is expected for most populated areas, except southern Ontario and most of Quebec. The outlook for prairie wheat belt changes may occur. (CP Newsmap)

Farming in Far North Becoming Important

YELLOWKNIFE (CP) — Farming in the Northwest Territories is less than a major occupation, but research is going on to change that goal.

Joe Bergasse, responsible for industry and commerce in the territorial government's department of economic development, said there are three farming operations and a cluster of market gardens in the 1.3-million-square-mile territories.

The farms, all less than 160 acres, are located around Fort Providence on the south-western tip of Great Slave Lake. The market gardens are in the Hay River area.

Mr. Bergasse said in an interview that the number of farms is not likely to increase soon as the federal government, which holds title to more than 99 per cent of the land, this year imposed a moratorium on granting leases for farms until the N.W.T., the Yukon and Ottawa can develop a plan for land use.

The moratorium has met with some hostility, including farmer Glen Gruening's park the bull inside a government office building, but Mr. Bergasse said it is necessary.

"The farming potential is there, he said, but no one is being encouraged until the governments know where they are going.

"Farming is big business and needs services such as roads and power lines which the territorial government is not yet equipped to provide.

"I think the days of the pioneer in farming are over," Mr. Bergasse said.

The government also wants to see what happens to native land claims and the outcome of studies into suitable crops, climate and growing season and soil conditions, all of which will take two to three years.

Mr. Bergasse said most territorial farms concentrate on potatoes and cereal crops. Livestock had not proven successful. Major flooding this year made it impossible to stockpile enough hay for the one major herd that had established. Antlers and horseskins had been found south of Great Slave Lake, which, coupled with salty soil, made it unattractive for agriculture.

The problem of marketing also militated against agricultural development. The territories are sparsely populated by 40,000 people and the few centres large enough to support a farming community. Grocers were reluctant to give up suppliers in the south for fear they would have trouble receiving their bills switched to local farmers.

Life-long Exhaust System Ignored by Manufacturers

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of Ottawa engineering students say they have developed an inexpensive exhaust system that will last a lifetime and save motorists. It has not been met negative reaction from motor car manufacturers.

The project proposed after tests by mechanical engineering students at University of Ottawa is simple. Car makers don't wear out; they just corrode. To retard corrosion they use stainless steel, which costs more in the beginning but was cheaper in the long run.

But Prof. Donald Gorman, faculty adviser on the project, said initial contacts with General Motors and Ford have produced "negative reaction."

"General Motors wrote us a two-or three-page letter explaining why they have not attempted to use this type of system," Dr. Gorman said.

Ford turned us down to their major supply company, Arvin Industries, which said it would not be willing to pay the extra cost for a full-length exhaust system.

Both companies, he said, contend that higher cost is the main deterrent but that the bad availability of chrome is another major consideration.

"They do not think there would be enough chrome available for this proposed system," Mr. Gorman said, "but we think differently."

The students said they will continue to probe the automobile industry.

"We have been getting the kind of exhaust problems we deserve because we were willing to accept and pay for them," the report says. We feel consumers deserve better and that the time has come for vehicle manufacturers, too, to begin to look for answers for so many years, to make a concerted effort on our behalf."

Mr. Gorman said he will ask the federal transport and consumer affairs department for government reaction to the system.

"We can produce evidence to show that the system works," he said. "We've all the 'where do we go from here' stage."

The students use and recommend a stainless steel system for two main reasons. All exhaust system should be designed to function during replacement and the materials must be available and inexpensive to compare on the market.

Mufflers now are made from ordinary sheet steel with the various parts generally held together by welding.

Exhaust pipes and mufflers thicknesses, say the students, because they are subjected to extreme interior corrosive action of exhaust gases and to external moisture and externally to the corrosive action of salt spread on roads in winter.

The student spokesman said since the problem is essentially corrosion it is also a materials problem. The use of steel used in exhaust systems "differs little, if any, from other strip steel used in fenders and floor boards."

"It is hard to imagine any engineering material which could be more than the point of view of corrosion."

Stainless steels are widely used in nuclear power and other industries where corrosion is not acceptable.

The students demonstrated their project to municipal testing in November, 1967. A coupler made from stainless steel was mounted on a 1967 station wagon owned by a man who drives about 40,000 a day during the week and greater distances on weekends.

Approximately 8,000 miles were put on the vehicle during the winter and an additional 1,500 the following summer before the coupler was removed.

The muffler was then wiped clean and examined for deterioration. The report prepared by the students said "no evidence of any corrosion was found."

Pawnshops Vanishing In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The last pawnshop in Ottawa is gradually fading out of existence.

"I'm not even interested any more," said Leo Weiner, whose establishment on Rideau Street with boxes from floor to ceiling.

Bertram Brunther, owner of Ottawa's Pawn Shop, says advanced technology and an influx of new pawnbrokers — both loan and electronic calculators, radios, television sets and watches are only available at prices that still left second-hand market.

"About 10 years ago we'd write about 11,000 tickets a year," he said. "Now it's about 300."

The two shops are located three doors from each other in the Rywood Market, one of the oldest sections in the city, where other small stores and outdoor stalls have sprung up against the glitter of suburban shopping centres.

Both deal mainly in musical instruments, which Mr. Weiner says "are always in an uptrend."

Mr. Brunther said he still occasionally buys tools or watches, but his main interest is buying an expensive musical instrument from a financially embarrassed customer beside a drunk trying to pawn his watch.

Sam's Pawnshops is named for Mr. Brunther's father-in-law, Sam Nathanson, who started Slave Lake, which, coupled with salty salt, made it unattractive for agriculture.

The problem of marketing also militated against agricultural development. The territories are sparsely populated by 40,000 people and the few centres large enough to support a farming community. Grocers were reluctant to give up suppliers in the south for fear they would have trouble receiving their bills switched to local farmers.

Golden State Trails Bulls

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Golden State Warriors are happy to be going home this week but they believe they have their work cut out for them.

The Warriors trail 3-1 in the National Basketball Association Western Conference final series against Chicago Bulls who host the Warriors in a two-game set at Chicago with a 100-101 decision.

Now the Warriors, who were pinned on the ropes the entire second half by the sharp shooting of Chicago's Norm Van Lier, have Tuesday and Thursday night contests on their own court to recoup in the best-of-seven series.

"We know there was a possibility of losing both our games today," Warriors coach Al Attles said. "And now the pressure is on us."

In the Eastern Conference final, Boston Celtics beat Washington 101-90 on Saturday, cutting the Bullets' lead in that series to 3-1.

Hawley Escapes Serious Injury

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Sandy Hawley, leading jockey at Hollywood Park, escaped serious injury Sunday after his mount reared in the starting gate and unseated him.

Hawley was taken by ambulance to hospital, but x-rays proved negative. Trask spokesmen said he suffered only a bruised right hand and a pulled intercostal muscle.

The bridled occurred while Hawley was aboard Nightly Caper. He was excused from his mounts for the remainder of the day.

The 36-year-old resident of Bowmanville, Ont., leads Hollywood Park riders with 44 victories, far ahead of runner-up Fernando Toro with 19. Bill Shoemaker is next with 18.

Hawley won three races Saturday including the $5,500 El Dorado Handicap aboard unbeaten Native Grand. He also has 15 seconds and 19 thirds.

A Rose Is a Rose

Foolish Pleasure Leads the Field

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Three and possibly four of the starters in the 101st Kentucky Derby, won by Foolish Pleasure, are headed for the May 17 Preakness Stakes at Pimlico, where as many as seven new challengers await them in the second jewel of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Of course, Foolish Pleasure will try the next step toward a triple, but his victory on Saturday already "carries a horse a long way down the road," trainer LeRoy Jolley said Sunday.

Of the three Triple Crown races, "the Belmont may be most important to some leaders" in the thoroughbred industry, "but the Derby is always such a hard-fought race," Jolley said.

"Let's face it—there's always a big field in the Derby, but by the time we get to the Belmont (June 7) you've usual often pared together with as eights of a mile to go.

That bunch prompted a stewards' inquiry, but after viewing the race the order of finish was allowed to stand.

Avatar finished 2¼ lengths in front of Diablo, the California Derby, while Master Derby was a similar margin back in fourth.

Behind Master Derby, in order, were Media, Prince Thou, Premium Cut, Gold Chapeau, Sylvan Place, Fashion Saint, Round Table, Catch Honey Mark, Rushing Man and Bomber Dock.

Foolish Pleasure paid $5.80, $4.40 and $3.60. Avatar, sixth choice in the betting, paid $9.20 and $5.40 and Diablo returned $4.60.

Chick Anderson, the track announcer, mudjoked the race and called it Prince Thou Art the charging leader instead of Foolish Pleasure until the final 16 yards when he realized his error.

Traveling to Baltimore for the Preakness with Foolish Pleasure will be Diabolo, and Dr. Anthony Leggin's Bold Chapeau.

Another possible traveler from Churchill Downs to Pimlico is Avatar. Trainer Tommy Doyle would like to pass the Preakness, but owner Arthur A. Seeligson Jr. wants Avatar to run.

Other possible starters include J.M. Roebling's Laraneie Trail and W. Preston Gilbride's Greek Answer, who has been a nemesis to Triple Crown candidates at both Oaklawn Park and Churchill Downs this season.

Greek Answer ran Saturday in a $25,000 allowance race at Churchill Downs, finishing third.

The entry of Greek Answer and Dancing Champ could give the Preakness a strong Canadian interest. Taylor and Gilbride are both from Toronto while Diabolo owner Frank McMahon is from Vancouver.

Diabolo suffered a cut on his right front leg in a bumping incident during the Derby's stretch drive, but trainer Sid Martin said Sunday that the injury apparently was too minor to hurt his Preakness chances.

Crampton Comes Through

HOUSTON (AP) — Bruce Crampton came to Houston hoping to make the cut for the last two rounds in the Houston open golf championship. Now he goes home to Dallas seeking two victories in a row.

"There is no substitute for victory," the veteran Crampton said Sunday after winning the tournament by two strokes over challenger Dr. Gil Morgan, a former fighter pilot who decided to take up golf after flying fighting planes.

"I felt very bad about the way I was playing when I came here," Crampton said. "My game wasn't good at all."

He said his wife had called earlier and asked "about bringing the kids down for the week-end."

"I told her, you'd better check real careful to see that I make the cut. It could be that we'd pass on the highway, you coming down and me going home after Friday's round.

But it didn't happen that way.

Crampton, an Australian native now living in Dallas, made the cut comfortably on Friday, took the lead from struggling Lee Trevino the next day and scored by two strokes Sunday with a last-round 68 and a 273 total, 15 under par on the Woodlands Country Club course, a 6,870-yard layout.

Morgan, in his second year of tour activity, briefly tied Crampton three times on the front nine of the final round but couldn't stand the pace. Bruce dropped a pair of 15-foot birdie putts coming home that Morgan couldn't match.

Record Smashed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — John Powell, 27, a San Jose policeman, smashed the world record in the discus throw by two feet Sunday with a toss of 236 feet 7 inches in his fourth attempt of the day.

The record, established at the Long Beach Invitational track meet, surpassed a throw of 234-8 six weeks ago by South Africa's Jan Van Reenen.

Officials first measured the throw at 225-9, but that was by a glass fibre tape measure, unacceptable for world records. A steel tape and three remeasurements later, the mark of 236-4 record in the discus throw by was recorded. The discus will two feet Sunday with a toss of be weighed to see if it is the 236 feet 7 inches in his fourth practice weight.

"Sure, it's nice, but I'd trade it right now for an Olympic gold medal," said the 6-foot-3, 238-pound Powell said at the end of the meet. "The only real way to determine who's the best discus thrower is to let them throw head to head against each other in the same conditions."

Commons to Be Asked To OK TV Coverage

OTTAWA (CP) — The first formal step toward television coverage of Parliament might be taken this week.

A resolution asking MP's to officially approve admission of television cameras is expected to be tabled during the week by Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp.

No time has been allotted yet to debate the issue. And, it might be months after the resolution has been approved before the first tapes of regular Commons proceedings appear on the late night news.

"It will be well into the next session of Parliament at least," a government spokesman said. Preparation for television apparently has been more complicated than expected. The plan was first announced in the throne speech when Parliament opened last September.

Since then, cameras have been permitted, experimentally, to cover several meetings of a Senate committee studying proposed legislation to lighten marijuana penalties.

But broader plans for full daily access have been delayed by protracted technical discussions on the best method to use.

The government is keeping details of its plans quiet but there are indications that it is studying a system that would have several cameras positioned strategically at floor level in the Commons chamber.

Netherlands Celebrates Liberation 30 Years Ago

HOLTEN, The Netherlands (CP) — The Netherlands celebrates 30 years of liberation from the Nazis today, and for thousands of Dutch citizens the day recalls memories of the advancing Canadian army.

The people of Holten have a special reason to remember those Canadians driving into town in the spring of 1945.

Just a nearby hillside, where German troops once fled for cover from Canadian mortars, a small cemetery holds about a 200 Canadians who never made it home.

There, among the rows of white tombstones, local residents and some of the Canadians who freed them gathered in the drizzle last Friday for a special memorial service.

Later, they remembered.

Frances ter Dennet was a pretty, dark-haired Dutch-girl resident in her mother's cellar when the Canadians sailed their approach with a shell crashing through the farmhouse roof. The next day, a neighbor shouted: "We are liberated—the Canadians are here."

"There were a lot of Canadians in tanks," says Mrs. ter Dennet. "We were all laughing and cheering and the soldiers threw cigarettes. Oh, we don't think we will ever forget it."

SIMPSONS-SEARS COMPARATIVE PRICING POLICY

Our pricing policy is designed to protect our customers. All price comparisons are as accurate as possible at the time of printing and refer to prices within the preceding 12 months. We publish different pricing for 4 geographic zones in Canada to equalize the costs of merchandise distribution and thereby provide our customers with the fairest prices.

Regular, Was or Were—means that in a retail store or catalogue in your geographic zone Simpsons-Sears has offered for sale, within the preceding 12 months, this item at the comparative price shown.

Value—means Simpsons-Sears has offered for sale in a retail store or catalogue in your geographic zone an item of identical quality within the preceding twelve months, differing only in color, pattern, style or aesthetic design at the higher price quoted.

Comparable Quality—does not refer to any former catalogue or retail price of Simpsons-Sears but means that we believe the item to be equal in quality to similar items generally available within the preceding twelve months. However, we cannot take into account pricing of similar items in every community.

Postal Strike Likely

EDMONTON (CP) — Joe Davidson, president of the 23,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said Monday a national strike is almost inevitable if the union's current round of bargaining with the federal government.

"I'd say that from the offer we got recently, and with the last attitude of our employer, it will be hard to avoid a national confrontation at this time."

Mr. Davidson, in Edmonton for meetings with the city CUPW local, referred to the latest government offer which would provide a 11.15-an-hour increase—about 27 per cent—over 22 months.

The CUPW mail workers, handlers and dispatchers now earn an average of $4.38 an hour. They are requesting a 71-per-cent wage increase.

Mr. Davidson attributed the high wage demand partly to a 25-per-cent loss of purchasing power during the last three years.

Such issues as the effects of automation, job classification and job security cannot be negotiated under the Public Service Staff Relations Act, which governs the postal workers, he said.

Oil Firms, NDP Pleased

Gas Price Rises And Oil Tax Cut

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was praise from two New Democrat provinces and the oil industry Monday for raising the export price of natural gas and cutting the export tax on crude oil.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald announced in the Commons the gas export price will go to $1.40 a thousand cubic feet Aug. 1 and $1.60 on Nov. 1 from a current price of $1.

He had barely finished outlining the gas price changes when the National Energy Board issued a statement over his name cutting the oil export tax by 80 cents to $4.70 for light crude and $4.35 for heavy crude effective June 1.

Both announcements drew a warm welcome from industry and provincial government officials.

Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia and the two opposition energy critics in the Commons—New Democrat T. C. Douglas and Progressive Conservative James Gillen—also welcomed the announcement of higher prices for gas, which they said has been under-priced in the U.S. market.

Mr. Macdonald said the gas price increase, which will add $283 million to the cost of the one trillion cubic feet exported annually, is needed to move it closer to fair market values.

Compared with the price of alternate energy sources in the U.S., such as crude oil, the export gas should be priced at about $2 a thousand cubic feet. He said further increases can be expected next year unless oil prices drop drastically.

The minister said the federal cabinet decided not to introduce the full price increase Aug. 1 as had been suggested by the National Energy Board.

Instead, it accepted a recommendation made by U.S. officials in a meeting last month to introduce the price increases in stages, easing the impact on the U.S. economy.

Mr. Macdonald said that in British Columbia, which supplies about two-thirds of the gas exported, the additional money will go to the British Columbia Petroleum Corp., a provincial agency, "with the expectation that the corporation will take the necessary steps to stimulate the production of gas in that province."

Negotiations are under way with Alberta on a formula to spread the additional revenue among all the producers in the province, including those who only produce for the domestic market, the minister said.

The sharp cut in the crude oil export tax came following a major drop in the amount of all shipped daily to the United States.

Reason for the drop in demand for Canadian oil was a surplus of tankers which lowered transportation costs and allowed Middle East and Venezuelan producers to land oil in U.S. markets at below Canadian prices.

Mr. Macdonald said to meet the competition, the export tax on light crude will drop in $4.70 from $5.50, on heavy crude to $4.39 from $5 and on Lloydminster, Sask., heavy crude to $4.30 from $4.95.

Oil shipped in the U.S. currently sells at $12 a barrel for light crude including the $3.50 export tax. With the tax reduction effective June 1, the price will drop to $11.30 a barrel.

Ottawa will lose about $642,000 a day, based on April exports, as a result of the tax change. Money from the tax is used to finance a compensation program to lower the cost of international oil used in the eastern provinces to the level of domestic crude price of $6.50 a barrel.

Railway in Trouble

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific chairman Ian Sinclair says the railway will fall to pieces, the victim of shoestring trains and aging roadbeds, without a clear track to increase freight rates, modernize equipment and abandon branch lines. Mr. Sinclair told the Commons transport committee CP Rail is beset by government controls on freight rates, soaring costs, tough unions and lazy managers.

VIENNA, Australia (AP) — Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, former primate of the Hungarian Roman Catholic Church and onetime major figure of East-West controversy, died here today, the Catholic Press Service reported. He was 83.

LaMarsh Gets Help

TORONTO (CP) — Scott Young, Globe and Mail columnist, and Jean Beaulieu, a provincial family court judge, acknowledged Monday that they will join Judy LaMarsh on a provincial royal commission to investigate violence in the media. The Ontario government will announce their appointments in the legislature today.

Recognition Possible

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Commonwealth leaders today were considering a draft communique that calls on the new regimes in Cambodia and South Vietnam to play "their full part in the community of nations." If the passage referring to "the new governments" in Saigon and Phnom Penh is approved, it would amount to tacit recognition of the two regimes.

CIA Under Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary James Schlesinger says senior White House officials put pressure on the CIA to undertake domestic surveillance activities. "My recollection and the whole tone of the inquiry would suggest that indeed there were expressions of interest in domestic surveillance on the part of senior officials of the government," Schlesinger said Monday. He headed the agency for six months in 1973 under former president Richard Nixon.

Hearing Likely Thursday

OTTAWA (CP) — A hearing likely will be held in Montreal Thursday on a government bid for a court order insisting that Quebec dock workers obey a back to work law, Labor Minister John Munro said Monday. Parliament passed a special law 12 days ago ordering an end to the strike.

Six Fasting

TORONTO (CP) — A Roman Catholic priest and a taxi driver were among six persons who began a fast outside Toronto jail Monday in an attempt to convince the federal cabinet to commute the May 15 hanging of Rene Vaillancourt. Rev. Richard Rossiter and cabbie Francis Millard said they, along with four companions, will maintain their vigil outside the jail until the cabinet meets Thursday to decide Vaillancourt's fate.

Third Rocket Found Aimed At Jerusalem

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police found a third Arab terrorist rocket pointed at Jerusalem today, three days after two missiles exploded near an Israeli museum.

The Soviet-made Katyusha rocket was mounted on a portable launcher near the twin launchers that fired the earlier rounds.

A police spokesman said it apparently was meant to fire with the other two rockets but it failed to go off.

The launchers were found near the village of Beit Zafafa on the road to Bethlehem about five miles from Jerusalem. The rockets exploded harmlessly on empty ground near the museum.

Coleman St. To Get Meters

BY HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City council's traffic committee has been asked to study parking problems on a busy, commercial side of Coleman St.

The strip is between West Main and Harriet Streets.

The committee — which Monday concurred with a Parking Authority request for parking meters on the street's west side and prohibited parking on the east side.

The committee's recommendation to council was made subject to a survey by city police who will make an on-the-spot survey of the situation which Chief Douglas Crosbie admitted becomes "pretty complicated" during Saturday shopping hours.

The street's west side includes the Canadian Tire Associate Store.

Thailand Wants to Keep All Planes from Vietnam

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cambodia's new Communist-backed rulers said today they will respect the territorial and territorial integrity of neighboring states but foreign troops will not be allowed on Cambodian soil.

Cambodia's neighbors are South Vietnam, Laos and Thailand. It was not known whether the reference to foreign troops included the North Vietnamese.

A Khmer Rouge broadcast monitored in Thailand said Cambodia will continue to seek good relations with countries of Asia, Africa and North and South America but that it will abandon setting up diplomatic ties or requests for foreign aid.

"We will work hard for ourselves," the broadcast said.

In Bangkok, it was announced today that the United States has agreed at Thailand's request to suspend its removal of U.S.-owned aircraft flown by South Vietnamese refugee pilots to a Thai air base.

The most valuable and formidable of the U.S. warplanes, which have also been claimed by the new Saigon government, were already among the U.S. carrier Midway in the Gulf of Thailand by the Thai Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan announced the agreement.

The Thai cabinet had earlier on the day said it would not add to the aircraft.

Meanwhile, Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported that the forces of the revolutionary Government in Saigon have taken six islands in the controversial Spratly archipelago in the South China Sea and "all the puppet forces on these islands were put out of action."

It said the fighting took place between April 14 and April 29.

Knowles Thinks PM Quits if Man Hanged

OTTAWA (CP) — Several cabinet ministers, including Prime Minister Trudeau, would resign if Parliament refused to allow a hanging, Stanley Knowles suggested Monday.

The New Democratic Party House leader said in an interview there will be "several resignations" — not just Warren Allmand if capital punishment is restored.

Mr. Allmand, solicitor-general, has said he will resign his cabinet post and contest altogether if any of the prisoners on death row are allowed to hang.

Eight men, including Rene Vaillancourt, are scheduled to hang May 15, are awaiting execution. One cabinet, by law, must review each sentence and decide whether to commute them to life imprisonment.

All death sentences have been commuted since 1962. The last executions took place in Toronto when two prisoners were hanged back to back.

Mr. Knowles said he cannot imagine the Trudeau cabinet hanging:

"Cabinet decisions aren't decided by a majority vote. A prime minister listens to arguments and announces what the decision will be."

Mr. Trudeau is opposed to the death penalty.

Mr. Knowles said he would not be surprised to see the government introduce a bill to abolish the death penalty.

Despite opinion polls that show a large majority of Canadians in favor of capital punishment, the bill probably would pass, he predicted.

"It would be touch and go . . . but chances would be good."

A majority of Liberals would back the bill and there would be enough New Democrats and "civilized Tories . . . the

Some Landlords Keep Their Tenants in Dark

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Landlords of some apartment units in Belleville turn off stair lights at night, forcing tenants to grope their way in darkness, Mayor Robin Jeffrey said Monday night.

She made the comment as the Bedfellders Liaison Committee — assigned to help produce a property maintenance standards bylaw for city hall — went into its first full working session.

Her comment came as the committee discussed a clause involving lighting of property.

A suggestion arousing fighting in units should be inserted in the bylaw, Mike DeMark, Quinte Home Builders spokesman, suggested.

"How do you get the landlord to turn them (lights) on?" pondered the mayor, adding the committee would examine the suggestion.

Sometime landlords that turn them off and the tenants have to crawl upstairs in the dark."

Turner Denies Limits To Pay Raises Fixed

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance minister John Turner insisted Monday the government has no specific proposals on anti-inflation guides.

He was commenting on a newspaper report that confidential government documents propose, among other anti-inflation measures, that wage increases in the next year be limited to 12 per cent.

The Toronto Star, in a story from Ottawa, said the documents were sent by the government to business and labor.

Mr. Turner, questioned in the Commons, described the documents as working papers and said the government has not decided on desirable limits.

The newspaper report said the documents showed the government's aim was to reduce inflation, as measured by the consumer price index, to eight per cent by about mid-1976 and to 3½ per cent by the end of 1976.

Senior officials of the Canadian Labor Congress met Monday afternoon to discuss the government's anti-inflation policy in preparation for a meeting Wednesday to be held in Toronto. They had no comment on the anti-inflation proposals.

The Star said the guides are for maximum wage increases of 12 per cent or $2,400 in the next year, whichever is less.

Sidney Puts Ban On Pools

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Sidney Township council Monday passed a motion to ban construction of swimming pools in Golden Heights subdivision east of Bayside Secondary School because of a feared water distribution problem.

Noramco Corporation of Toronto — responsible for the housing development of approximately 60 homes — asked council either to refuse building permits for pools or delay issuance until Noramco can meet with the homeowner.

Because the subdivision is five years old and lawns are not completely finished heavy watering in past summers has led to a shortage of drinking water in the area, said secretary-treasurer Jack Hall.

Rather than delay issuance and notify Noramco of the homeowners intent to build a pool, Sidney Reeve Gord Wilman said "the township wants to stay right out of this".

"There just won't be any permits issued right now because of this problem with underpressure," he said.

One subdivision resident approached council for permission to build a pool and assured he would not use local water but would truck water to fill the pool.

Members of council felt there was no way of supervising this and voted to turn down the submission.

Correction

The Intelligencer apologizes for any embarrassment which may have been caused by a story published Monday, May 5 in which it was stated an attempted murder charge was laid following a shooting dispute at a Trenton home. This report has since been confirmed there was no domestic dispute.

Charged with attempted murder is Frederick Roland Clark, 37, of 333 Wellington Ave., Peterborough. The victim of the shooting was Stephen Reid, 34 of 576 Water St., Peterborough. The incident took place at a residence on Byron Street.

Picton's newest police constable, Kenneth Campbell, Monday became the first his oath of office before Judge Wilfrid S. Lane at the Prince Edward County Court House.

Judge Lane commented he said it was the first time, to his knowledge, a town police constable was sworn in within the county courtroom. Constable Campbell is congratulated by town police chief Charles Fletcher.

Danger: Children at Play

Potential traffic hazards on residential streets is a mounting problem of modern times, city council's traffic committee was told Monday.

The threat is posed as traffic increases on suburban streets which are also play areas for young children.

"It's getting to quite a problem. It's unbelievable," said Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

So the committee found no immediately easy solution to the situation.

Caution signs are enforceable, Police Chief Gordon Crosbie reminded the committee. Drivers will obey lower speed limits as long as they're backed up by the presence of police radar cameras.

Debate on the situation was touched off by a request to the committee from a woman on Dunnett Blvd. in the city's west end, appealing for safety measures to protect children.

The committee passed the problem onto police traffic officials for further investigation.

Dunnett is a crescent that that runs through a suburban area from Palmer Road to the Quinte Exhibition Grounds on West Bridge St..

Mrs. James Moore asked for signs at both ends of the boulevard to caution drivers about youngsters crossing the street.

Some drivers now are "speeding recklessly with no regard" for children. Traffic has increased since Dunnett is used as a access and because of its closeness to the exhibition grounds, she wrote the committee.

Chief Crosbie said erection of cautionary signs could mean "you will have to put up every street — and they are totally non-enforceable" by law.

Mayor Jeffrey agreed and also considered that a blanket policy would be on 25-mile-an-hour limits. Such a limit was imposed on Avondale Rd., but dildos on that street were an added hazard factor, she noted.

Ald. Arthur Keegan said it was "a changing world" and the safety of youngsters in such situations also was a personal responsibility. Where children want to cross such roads to join playmates "at the parents take them by the hand," he said.

Lab Tests being Studied

No New Developments in St. Thomas' Fire

There have been no new developments in the investigation into the blaze which destroyed St. Thomas' Anglican Church last week, City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today.

He said results of tests at the Ontario centre of forensic sciences at Toronto have not been sent to police and fire officials here.

A quantity of liquid had been discovered in a bottle stairwell in the church following the fire last week and sent to Toronto for analysis to determine whether it is a petroleum by-product which might have been used as an accelerant.

Officials have said a branch of the vestry office had occurred sometime before the fire, but quantity of silver used in communion services was not.

Chief Crosbie said, "several people have been questioned so no avail."

A report late last week that a taxicab driver had delivered several youths to the area of the church a few hours prior to the fire is false, "as far as we know," he noted.

The fate of the gutted structure of the 130-year-old church at the corner of Church and East Bridge Street will be discussed at a meeting of the St. Thomas' council of the vestry Wednesday in the parish hall at 7:30 p.m.

An application has been made to the Ontario Heritage Foundation by Dr. Richard Potter, Quinte M.L.A., on behalf of church officials to secure funds for the restoration of St. Thomas' as an historical site.

Wrist Broken

COE HILL — A 33-year-old resident of this hamlet is in satisfactory condition in Belleville General Hospital with a fractured wrist and a back injury following a motorcycle accident Monday on Highway 14, near Oak Lake.

James Wardell was proceeding north on his vehicle which went out of control and ran out a gravel rail causing an estimated $1,000 damage in the 2:30 p.m. mishap.

Ian Thomas Will Rock Centennial

Belleville rock fans are set for Thursday night as one of Canada's leading recording and concert artists, Ian Thomas, will appear at Centennial Secondary School at 8:15 p.m.

The concert here is being sponsored by the Quinte Arts Council and tickets have been selling for $4 each at Mount Sicker in Belleville and Holiday Book and Record Mart in Trenton. When they are here Thomas and his group will be completing the western part of a tour. After finishing the Ontario portions of this tour they will move on to the Maritimes.

In less than 18 months Ian Thomas has written and recorded two unprecedented number of hit singles, including such songs as Mother Earth, Long Long Way, Come the Sun, Painted Ladies and his current release Jules.

In March last year he received the Juno award as Canada's most promising male vocalist. He is a contemporary composer, singer, arranger, and producer, performer on acoustic guitar and keyboards.

Officer Sworn In

Picton's newest police constable, Kenneth Campbell, Monday became the first his oath of office before Judge Wilfrid S. Lane at the Prince Edward County Court House.

Judge Lane commented he said it was the first time, to his knowledge, a town police constable was sworn in within the county courtroom. Constable Campbell is congratulated by town police chief Charles Fletcher.

Trenton Concerned About Dock Facilities

TRENTON — A sense of urgency pervaded discussions in two council Monday over the operation of the federal government docks in Trenton this year.

The town is confronted with a May 14 open opening of the barricading season on the Trent-Wasaway without someone to operate the town-owned facilities on the dock.

Compounding the problem is confusion over wharfage. Otawa has announced it will install a toll booth at the dock this year.

Discussion of dock operation was sparked by town clerk Aubrey Sharp when he notified council a tender call for dock operation closed recently without a single response.

Trenton leases the wharf under an agreement with Ottawa and itself provides gasoline, sewage pump facilities, water and power. In the past, it has hired someone to operate the dock during the boating season (May to October).

Docking fees are a new ingredient in the dock operation and confusion precisely the rate to be charged and the amount of fee collection.

Mr. Sharp said Monday the federal government has not told Trenton what wharfage will be levied this year. The matter is becoming urgent, he said, "It's getting late now — the boating season is coming up quickly."

Council instructed Mr. Sharp to investigate the new fees and provide a list of alternative solutions to dock operation.

During discussion of the issue, several alternatives emerged in chambers.

Councillor Ed Todd suggested council pull out of dock operation entirely and post signs that services are no longer available to boaters.

Ken Price opted for continued dock operation but with the saving broken a contract also serving as dock attendant.

Mayor Bob Patrick held councillors they might consider leasing Trenton-installed facilities to the federal government and take part of the proceeds. He reasoned that the wharfage collector, already at the dock, could collect fees and run the town gas pumps and possibly the concession stand.

Pete Aziz claimed operation of the dock was unprofitable. "It doesn't seem a feasible business proposition," he said.

"That's why Mr. Sharp has had trouble getting someone to operate it." With two or three people working from about 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., "the amount of intake would not appear enough to pay for its operation."

So suggested council might guarantee any loss suffered by the dock operator. Thereby, he reasoned, assuring someone would run it for the town this summer.

Mr. Sharp confirmed Mr. Aziz's speculation that dock operation was unprofitable, saying dock operation by works department driver "would not be feasible at all."

Site of New Baseball Diamond May be Moved to Bain Park

TRENTON — An inter-agency committee will be formed shortly to look at the feasibility of moving the baseball diamond now planned for Centennial Park to Bain Memorial Park.

Trenton council agreed Monday to the formation of the inter-committee without its own direct involvement.

It acted on a suggestion from the town's recreation committee which has found itself faced with a high development cost for the baseball diamond in Centennial.

At present the committee has $40,000 available for diamond development. Funds for the project have been earmarked by the Rotary Club, to be one of the participants of the ad hoc committee.

Other members will be representatives of the parks board and the recreation committee. Recreation director Dane Gothea will act on the six-member committee in an advisory role.

In agreeing to the proposal, town council shot down a request from the committee for a transfer of $30,000 from Centennial Park to Bain Park development.

Opposing the suggestion was councillor Ed Todd who said the town should finish Centennial Park before transferring any funds to Bain Park. Were a report on Centennial Park development, he said his colleagues would not have continued in the report should be implemented, not planned to sit on it.

He chided council for letting five other reports, filed in his desk, go unused. "They haven't been looked at since the day we got them."

"This is a new one for 1975," he said. "Let's use it and not grave out."

Behind the recreation committee's request for changes in ball park plans is recent news it could take as much as $40,000 to prepare land in Centennial Park before the back-stop could be installed.

Drainage in the park is poor, whereas one committee said, no such problems are serious in Bain Park.

Mayor Bob Patrick said that the approximate $17,000 slated for use for correcting drainage problems in Bain Park should put the ball park plans well on the way to completion.

Councillor Questions Out-of-town Tenders

TRENTON — Councillor Ed Todd questioned the need for out-of-town tender calls for equipment amid debate Monday over the use bid calls involved for the supply of uniforms for Trenton's fire department.

Mr. Todd was objecting to the views of several councillors who felt more than one tender should have been obtained for department uniforms, if need be, outside Trenton.

Town Trenton companies had been invited to submit bids for new department uniforms, but only one replied. Only one bid has been received by council for the past several years.

Action on purchase of uniforms was postponed two weeks ago while council awaited a report from Fire Chief Cecil Ellis. The chief's report this week recommended acceptance of a $4,140 bid from Vic Auger and Ian Mein's Wizard.

Mr. Todd reasoned that if an out-of-town tendering policy was followed in this case, the town should do the same to satisfy all its equipment needs. The clothing firm went to the trouble of preparing a bid, he said, and it should be accepted.

Council instructed the chief to purchase the uniforms.

Councillor Talks Planned

TRENTON — Trenton council will meet talks with the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority over the future course both will take in land purchase under the town's $1.2-million growth.

Mayor Bob Patrick said Monday the review will allow both bodies to reassess their position in the face of possible involvement in the greenbelt project by the TORTS (Metropolitan Toronto Region-Trent-Severn) commission.

As a prerequisite to such talks, town council Monday passed a resolution that effectively freezes further land purchases along Front St., south of Hill, pending disposits the L.C.A. fond store north of Division St. It is not known when council will reverse its decision and restore purchasing.

Mayor Patrick said the move was made in an effort by council to reassess the project approved by a council years ago. He said council is not completely aware of all the circumstances surrounding further purchases and wants the opportunity to talk them over with the authority.

He said he was not sure what repercussions council's decision will have.

In mid-April, authority resources manager Bryan Boyce said he felt programs approved in the 1975 authority budget must be completed the same year. Otherwise the authority would lose supplementary grants from Queen's Park and be forced to up levies for all member municipalities in 1976.

To date, Trenton and the authority have spent $125,000 to buy land along the west bank of the Trent River. Seventy percent has come from authority coffers with the remainder coming from the town purse.

Funds for Trenton's 1975 purchases in the greenbelt were withdrawn by the Ontario Municipal Board last month when it cut almost a half million dollars from the town capital budget. At that time, the mayor said the OMB's decision effectively cut off further purchases along the river.

Dog Motion Endorsed

TRENTON — Trenton council endorsed Monday a move by the city of Sudbury to ask for a change in provincial legislation to allow municipalities to levy stiffer fines against owners who let their dogs run at large.

Fines, suggested the Sudbury city, should be set at a minimum of $20 and a maximum of $100. Provision should also be made for a penalty-at-the-door policy to minimize the need to go to court to extract fines from offending dog owners.

It also gives an animal control officer of police the right to enter private property to seize a dog. Only residences would be barred from entry.

Assessment rolls would be marked to indicate whether a dog was housed on each town property.

Sudbury's motion will be forwarded to the provincial government in the hopes it will change its legislation to give municipalities more power to control dogs and other animals.

Two Weeks Made Special

TRENTON — Town council has proclaimed June 15-21 as Senior Citizen Week and June 1-7 as Nurses Week in Trenton. The proclamations followed requests from Rena Brunelle, provincial minister of Community and Social Services, and the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario.

Horseshow Planned

PICTON — The Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club will celebrate the Victoria Day weekend with its first show of the season at Pyton fairgrounds. A list of classes and 1975 rules for showing this week were distributed to club members in preparation for the show on May 18. In the western division several free classes are included with performance classes. western pleasure, clarket races and a costume class. Admission to the show will be $1 for adults with children under 12 admitted free.

Rink Visitors Pay Extra

TRENTON — Trenton will encourage out-of-town registrants in town hockey and figure skating programs will attend this winter, it was agreed by council Monday.

Council's action came at the suggestion of the town recreation committee and at the urging of councillor Ed Todd. According to recreation department figures, registrations by Trenton residents in the skating program runs at 94 per cent (1975 figures) and in minor hockey programs at 85 per cent. Other registrants come from neighboring municipalities.

REAL ESTATE:

FUTURE, YES— INFINITY, NO

If you are a householder, no doubt you already have some preconceived notions about the fundamental requirements of your new home. Here's a thought to consider which may help facilitate the image of your new home's "master plan" as well as your long range financial planning.

Consider the stage of your family life, and how it should change within the next five or ten years. As your family members decrease by reason of vocation, campus living, and marriage, so will your space requirements.

Don't imagine that your task is to find a home in which you will live happily all the rest of your days. A home is not forever. For perfectly sound reasons, such as advancing age, changing career prospects, changing family size and requirements, people tend to move on, often in less than ten years. So plan for the foreseeable future — not for infinity.

The Transformation of Claude Wagner: from Political Tiger to Pussy-foot

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Looking at Claude Wagner now, the Conservative MP from Quebec's Lotbinière constituency, and French Canada's bleeding contender for the leadership of his party, you wouldn't dream that a man could so change.

In not much more than 10 years from a job as a power cop.

He was Quebec's Attorney General back in the 1960s.

Drunk, he was accused of a man. Tough as nails.

A no-nonsense judge teased politician.

So tough and uncompromising in his battle against crime that Claude Wagner is his days as Attorney General that he acquired bodyguard.

Bodyguards — and still remains the last royal visit of any but a few heavy politicians in Quebec.

Down the street surged the mob.

And run head-on into Claude Wagner's riot police, yellow-slickered, helmeted, armed, and unbudging heavy top-loading riot clubs.

It was no contest.

The students — they came armed, too, with clubs, rocks and bottles (among other weapons and missiles — met the first shock wave, broke and ran.

That is the way it was when Claude Wagner was laying down the law.

Quebec bowed to the legal line.

What has happened since?

Well, among other things, for the first couple of months this year a murder rate in Montreal of one a day.

Detroit, world famed as "murder city," USA, three times the size of Montreal, only doubles the ESL.

It was Claude Wagner's tough law and order image that won him Quebec's support, the seat in the provincial legislature, his honored place in the cabinet, and when Ben, his seat for Saint Hyacinthe, in the House of Commons.

And since those days, Claude Wagner, His Quebec has changed.

That's why, if you know and saw him back in the 60s when he was Attorney General, he and his police loyal Quebec relatively crime-free and good law and order, you wouldn't believe him now.

What a switch!

Quiet spoken. The very epitome of courtesy, Establishment. Gone the bark of command. Softened the hard glint of eye.

Vanished the brush cut under, would you believe it — no, of course you wouldn't — long hair, longer than Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's down the back of the neck. And with a goatie wave at the front.

Very fetching.

Ultra fashionable three-piece suits of not expensive cloth in muted pastel shades.

The old authoritive stride has shortened and broadened, with seat is perhaps the word for it.

The once-tough cop who searched to the best of a night stick now picks his way thoughtfully, carefully, even dainthy.

He is even tolerant of the understanding of political opponents, saying all the appropriate things, making the sounds of sympathy and even a few of understanding.

Claude Wagner, lawyer, judge, politician, Quebec Attorney General, has undergone a complete change of personality.

Small "l." Hamilton.

The mastermind at Conservative headquarters, the Toronto establishment where trendy key socialism is the in thing, have laid hands on him and made over the man in the image, if you can imagine it, of Pierre Trudeau.

The old Claude Wagner of the hard line, the hard guy, and the hard fist might do better at a Conservative leadership convention and — assuming he is mistaken for a liberal, much less a Tory-dog — defeat at an election than the new.

Politics and Society

Politics and the direction in which it leads is something that cannot be ignored, for both these elements affect every single one of us.

This is why apathy and voter disinterest can be so dangerous at election time, dangerous also in times of relative national calm, when what is happening beneath the surface must concern us.

From Vietnam comes word of one of the first actions of any new Communist regime — the same thing happened in Cuba — the closing of night clubs, dance halls, bars and brothels, anything in fact that smacks of what the Communists refer to as western-style decadence.

Indeed, the free world might take a lesson from discipline Communist-style — a discipline which dispenses with private ownership and desires, western-oriented recreational activity, preoccupation with status, acquisition of material things and so on. The Russian may envy westerners these things, and envisage it to a degree, but its fledging Communist states such as the new Vietnam, they are not a priority.

Indeed the population neither requires nor desires such else, and Big Brother up there hands down party policy and the people toe the line. It's all very compact and very simple — in theory at least. No mention of course of the stultifying nature of it all, its effects on the human spirit, its negation of free choice, its brutal put-down of opposition — yet it may suit that kind of a society, and the West, while holding to its free democratic system, cannot ignore it.

Cannot ignore it, because it is a system that seeks to dominate others, has already succeeded in doing so in much of eastern and northern Europe and in Asia, and does not intend to stop there. A system which has more determination and purpose than western societies that have gone soft with affluence and easy-living.

Let's keep our institutions and our freedom, but let's also see to it that our dedication to these ideals and to their defence is not found wanting.

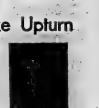
Economy May Take Upturn

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service



Canada's economic activity is remaining flat in 1975, according to the first figures and estimates for the January-March period.

The first-quarter indicators are decidedly mixed, but on balance they suggest that the late-1974 decline has been checked, and that the economy in early 1975 is balanced between slowdown and upturn.

That raises the possibility of a revival in real economic activity as early as the last few months of 1975, according to Robert Bagsley, senior economist of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The bank's Trendicator—a composite index of leading economic indicators—gives a reading of 114.8 for first-quarter 1975, on the basis of partial January-March data available so far.

That's an insignificant change from 108.1 in fourth-quarter 1974—a time when the index was dropping at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent.

(Base year for the index is 1961.)

Here are factors helping to strengthen Canada's economic performance during the early months of 1975:

Increases in the money supply and the value of bank lending permits (both adjusted to discount the effect of inflation). Also, the improvement in the price-earnings ratio of Toronto Stock Exchange stocks (that is, the market price of each stock in relation to the current earnings of the company concerned) and in an index of the prices of 114 widely held common stocks.

And new or first-time negative factors that largely offset these improvements:

—Declines in corporate profits before taxes (again, adjusted to offset the inflationary factor), primary steel production, the value of residential building permits issued and the ratio of prices to unit labor costs.

In addition, declines were recorded in urban housing starts (despite the variety of federal and provincial grants and other stimulants) and in the average hours worked in manufacturing industries.

Trendicator was designed to serve as an economic weathervane, by giving signals of advance changes in the direction of real economic activity in this country.

Comparing its record against the actual performance of the economy over the past two decades, the bank has found that it usually anticipates a change by six to nine months, and downturns by three to six months.

Dr. Bagsley is cautious about the extent of this forecast. He expects the next six weeks to provide more solid information.

Then, he says, "it will be possible to confirm whether or not the apparent flattening of Trendicator . . . is a genuine bottoming, or whether it is but a temporary halt of a continuing downtrend.

Meanwhile, Trendicator reports its downward course, then levelling off, is the first overall weakness forseen in Canada since he began its publication.

Influence on Schools

What is the role of the university and the school in the shaping of our young people?

In these days of instant communications and of keener political awareness, it is something that must be considered.

The outpourings of Canadian academics, of some at least, among them many from the tenured ivories — are reflected by letters and articles in newspapers — make it manifestly clear their sympathies are with the left.

This cannot help but have a bearing on the student population in Canada, both in university and in the secondary schools.

It is something that should be borne in mind in these days of swift political evolution — and revolution. This is still a free country, but remember too that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance.

Five . . . ten . . . twenty years from now, will we still be turning out students free to hold any political belief in a society which, while tolerating such beliefs, remains free? Free, that is, from complete State domination?

Shades of Old Days

The primary schools too, where are they heading? We have been reading of a one-room — yes, one-room — establishment in Camden East where Rowena Reynolds is in charge and, according to superintendent of schools R. A. Dodds, "she is the most outstanding primary teacher I've seen."

An article in an area newspaper explains that Mrs. Reynolds has four-grades in one in a school that has several rooms but only one is used and the kids range in age from 6 to 10.

Mrs. Reynolds is not keen on the youngsters being bussed off hither and yon, so she came up with the four grades in one idea. Her students thrive on a combination of strict discipline and a creative atmosphere that is full of challenges.

She doesn't believe in the prisons system, and instead of readers the students spend time writing about experiences such as a visit to a farmer's sugar bush.

Best of all, Mrs. Reynolds manages to project a lot of individual attention and praise where it is due. The result, happy growing and aware young individuals of the kind we hope Canada will continue to produce in a "continuing" society.

Lasting impressions are gained at the primary level and unquestionably, it is from a school atmosphere such as the one described here that some of our best citizens will develop.

All Year-round Task

As ever the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) is in the van of providing long-term assistance and emergency relief in developing countries.

Indeed, it is a task UNICEF has been performing for 30 years. To further this vital work, it has launched another campaign for year-round UNICEF cards. Similar to the familiar Christmas cards, these ones carry on the UNICEF tradition by helping to gather vital funds on a continuing basis.

Several sets of cards, available from the Ontario UNICEF Committee, 6 Pallton Crescent, Toronto, are part of the ongoing program of providing help in no fewer than 115 countries.

Construction Industry

Summer of Discontent Anticipated

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Another summer of trouble in the construction industry would seem to be inevitable.

The Construction Labour Association of Ontario, representing some 1,300 companies in the province, and about half of the construction industry, has issued early warnings.

And they appear serious enough to warrant attention.

The association says final demands by the construction trades for contracts coming up for renewal this year are completely unrealistic.

Typical figures cited bear it out.

Then plumbers in Windsor recently settled for an end package of $13.98 an hour which by the time the contract expires in April of 1977 would mean the normal Windsor plumber would be making $17.38 a year in wages and fringe benefits.

In Ottawa carpenters who now receive a wage-fringe package of $8.84 are asking for a further $7.69. This would bring them to $16.53 annually.

Other large demands the association put forward are Ontario electricians, $6.46 on top of $8.35, for a $14.81 total and a $4 per hour increase; and Hamilton sheet-metal workers for a $5.81 boost for a $13.9 per cent increase and $20,700 total.

The association doesn't say that it doesn't expect that many of these demands, or close to them, will be granted.

But its interest is about the bargaining approach now followed in the province and for this it largely blames the government.

Under this approach a good many contractors bargain individually. And some of them, it is felt, settle too easily; if they are small this can be a question of either settling or going broke.

But when they settle they set a precedent for other workers in the particular trade, as when one trade settles it sets an example for other trades. And the consequence is an inflationary spiral.

The construction association wants other bargaining areas, and blames the government for not making this compulsory.

At present any wide bargaining within the industry is voluntary.

And this would seem to be the occasion where industry-wide bargaining, undesirable as it may be in some cases, is needed.

The reason construction contracts were able to get such high rates in the past was that there was work to be had.

But the association says this can't continue. Statistics Canada data shows that construction workers in Ontario average $6.81 hours a week.

The annual earnings figures that have been averaged out on a 35-week year at all averages of 38 hours a week.

The Ontario Department of Highways today called for tenders for grading 4.5 miles of roadbed for four-lane superhighway 401 between Shannonville and Marysville. The contract also calls for the construction of two concrete culverts and the laying of a granular base. The call for tenders is in addition to the contract already let for 4.6 miles of roadbed east of Highway No. 14. The roadbed for the 401 will extend to a point just west of Marysville, where it will join with Highway No. 2 will be made. Work will commence in June.

Clarke, B.A., Public School Inspector for North Hastings, was honored by members of the association. The warm regard in which Mr. Clarke is held by the members of the school with whom he had been associated was evidenced in the sincere tribute paid to him by the teachers and their constant encouragement, and as a farewell gift a purse of gold was presented by Miss MacKenzie, on behalf of the association, to Mr. Clarke.

Health Unit Nurses' Pay

Editor,
The Intelligencer::

I wish to respond to Public Health Nurse Joan Cleaver's paper concerning contract negotiations between Bill 21 of the ONA and the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Board of Health.

As a concerned citizen of Belleville I would like to say that what happened to the cash register Larry's Variety, Public Health in August 1974 for nurses' salaries. It is appalling that two groups of civil servants, performing similar jobs (I am the same professional training for Public Health Nurses) — can be paid such a disparity in salaries.

Perhaps arguments can be presented that nurses at a hospitals have poorer working conditions, longer hours of work; however I understand a shift differential is given to hospital nurses to allow for the convenience of night work.

Perhaps if nurses employed at the Health Unit deserve equal treatment they have not had the fortunate of working with Health Unit nurses in a secondary school, and I feel they perform a much needed role in the community of Belleville, which includes such tasks as available information and advice, assisting in student examinations, and organizing immunization programs. These nurses are employed by a very capable staff that should not be insulted, by such low salaries.

If the Health Unit wishes to keep its quality of nursing staff, they must offer reasonable wages.

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I have just large cardsplit about our educational system.

My son is in Grade 3 and so far has learned very little about Canada. As far as the past I don't think he's been taught anything about our own country. Since Grade one he's been bringing home work sheets and assignments that are based on States about the Americans.

In Grade two he brought home a booklet that had a full page on American politics. When asked why the United States Minister of Canada was he answered either Nixon or Ford. I think it made me angry but the paper he brought home last week really cut it. It is a Grade 4 work sheet titled "Parts of Canada." A direct quote from this sheet is:

"Each country has its own flag. Here is the flag of every province in Washington, D.C. is the flag of the United States."

Now as far as I know we have not become the 51st state and I resent the school system for giving this misinformation to our children. If our Ontario Board of Education is so hard up to see the harm in this, maybe other citizens are too.

I am not anti-American but I do believe this is just a bit much.

MR. AND MRS. L. McCAW.

Students' Hospitality

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Due to the demands on The Intelligencer in this particular week, I realize it was impossible for the paper to cover the Senior Citizens' Tea held on the part of the students of Sir Mackenzie Public School.

I am a volunteer of the Belleville Girls' Auxiliary to Salvation Army in attended care, and I was very impressed to hear of our Senior Citizens to the event.

They had a wonderful time, and I was told, also a long list of the school. The students couldn't have been more helpful to their guests. Grade 8 Home Economics Class did most of the preparations, and the girls serving were very pleased.

I do think a lot of credit

Rat Race Attracts Boaters

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — It's only two weeks until the first annual Bancroft River Rat Race is held on the York River and a number of local race enthusiasts are busy putting the final touches on their home-made crafts.

Bancroft businessman, Norm Maxwell has designed and built a craft which should zap down the 13-mile race route in a celebration of time with his six-man crew.

The Maxwell craft will be powered by three men on bicycles making paddle wheels go, while two more are either on plush backs' seats rowing and the sixth man operates the pole.

According to Mr. Maxwell, the craft was made from scrap parts and lumber lying-over," the seats, benches and bunings have cost about $125."

Who knows with these extravagant costs perhaps the River Rat race will turn into the sport of kings?

The winning prize will be $150.

Bancroft businessman Norm Maxwell gives his River Rat Race Craft a dry run before trying it out on the York River race route. The Race will be run in Bancroft on May 18 during the Magical week-end celebrations.

Conflict?

Sidney Township Council has proclaimed the week June 15 to 21, Senior Citizens Week — but not before Deputy Reeve Glen Meyers declared a conflict.

The deputy reeve, 71 today, began to make a motion that the week for senior citizens be proclaimed when he stopped in mid-sentence to say, "I can't move this thing. I'd be in conflict of interest."

Walls rising for Bancroft Senior Citizens' housing

Senior Housing Closer

BANCROFT — The long hoped for senior citizens housing for North Hastings is coming closer with the construction of the forms and supports for the 56-unit building.

The project is being financed by the Ontario Housing Corporation and is supported by the nine northern townships of the county.

No completion date has been set yet for the units however application forms for occupancy are available at the local municipal office.

The million-dollar plus contract for the building was awarded to Tarn properties of St. Catherines.

Fire Truck Named 'Lemon'

Sidney Township has the first yellow fire vehicle in Hastings County.

Purchased recently for $41,-000 the truck is designed to go into service in the Bayside fire hall when that building is constructed.

"They're calling it the lemon" said Township Fire Chief Douglas Scott. "That refers to the color," he assured council, "and is not an indication of how the pumper works."

Sidney Levy Up Substantially

Sidney Township rate payers should have some indication of what their 1975 budget will look like within the next two weeks, it was learned at a council meeting Monday.

Hastings County council and school levies were announced to be up substantially for Sidney Township this year which led Deputy Reeve Glen Meyers to say "we seem to be the largest lobby of Hastings County".

The township will pay $138,000 or 45 per cent more to the county this year and $113,980 or 37 per cent more to the board of education. These figures do not necessarily mean equally substantial increases in the mill rate John Ira Thompson, township treasurer said.

Reeve Cord Wilkinson said there should be some "good indication of mill rates for the year by early next week."

Formal budget discussions in council are expected by May 20.

Six Congregations Participate in Service

BANCROFT — The annual North Hastings ecumenical service of Christian witness was held Thursday in Bancroft.

Six congregations participated in the service which was conducted by Rev. Gordon Elson of the Anglican parish of North Hastings.

Also involved in the service were Mr. George Elsmore, John Wrose, Bernard Paddock and a massed choir from area churches.

In his sermon to the interdenominational congregation, Rev. Elson said," We need joy in our lives, we need to reassess our religious attitudes so that we enjoy life not just endure it.

"We can really live life or just let it go by as if it were unwanted said Mr. Elson, as he urged those present to have, "a lift in your heart and a spring in your step."

Solzhenitsyn Travels

MONTREAL (CP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn left Montreal Monday in the private Russian Orthodox Easter lily plane of Ottawa real estate developer Peter Munk, spiritual retreat until Sunday before moving lock, stock and barrel to his new home in Switzerland.

Rev. John Tkachuk, dean of St. Peter and St. Paul Cathedral where Mr. Solzhenitsyn worshipped, said he does not know the author's travel plans and also could not say where he will stay in Toronto, Ottawa and perhaps other Ontario centres.

Athletes Need Help

TORONTO (CP) — Money spent on a sports achievement dinner April 28 would have been more wisely spent had it been given to Ontario's needy athletes, Liberal leader Robert Nixon suggested Monday.

He described the dinner as a "colossal" event and said he became concerned about Ontario's Olympic athletes after reading a Toronto Sun report on Sunday.

George Crust, Sun sports editor, wrote that some of the athletes are leaving Ontario because they do not have enough financial support to carry on preparations for the 1976 Olympic Games.

Eric Winkler, chairman of management board, said the dinner was an annual affair and was included in expenditure estimates of the ministry of culture and recreation.

He said he hadn't seen the article but would track it down and discuss it with Robert Welch, minister of culture and recreation.

Library Books Damaged

TORONTO (CP) — About 300 Metro Toronto Library Board books have been torn beyond repair recently at Metropolitan Toronto's central reference library, say library staff.

Services' Sentences Protested

OTTAWA (CP) — Joe Flynn (L—Kitchener) sought unsuccessfully Monday an investigation into the sentencing of military personnel in the Atlantic region.

He said in the Commons, that one man was given a year in jail for taking duty-free cigarettes off a ship.

Defence Minister James Richardson replied that the sentences "are in order for the crimes committed. He said they can be appealed.

Mr. Flynn said in an interview it is unfair for someone to be given a year in jail for taking duty-free cigarettes off a ship "when people cruise hundreds every day smuggling stuff."

He also said a warrant officer was fined $200 and dismissed from the service with no pension after being convicted of providing duty-free liquor and cigarettes to stag movie patrons.

Mr. Flynn says he wants "an investigation into this whole thing. It seems unreasonable."

45 in Danger

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the provincial health authority has told the board of Elliot Lake, Ont., miners shown signs of pre-silicosis disease—whose lungs are going through changes preliminary to silicosis—not still at work.

Silicosis is an occupational disease that affects the lungs.

The newspaper says portions of the study will be tabled in the legislature today.

No Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government has no plans for a public inquiry regarding insurance companies to justify proffered auto insurance increases of about 15 per cent, Consumer Affairs Minister Sidney Handleman told the legislature Monday.

Lack Power

OTTAWA (CP) — Government guides designed to tighten controls over marine dredging contracts following recent scandals still cannot be enforced in the Bay Shoreline, the Commons was told Monday.

Public Works Minister C. M. Drury said the federal government does not have direct control over any such area in addition, which is governed by a harbor commission with considerable independence.

Plan Opposed

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Reeve Bill Gibbins of Innisfil Township has announced a campaign against expansion of Barrie as proposed by the provincially-appointed Simcoe-Georgian area study group.

Tickets on Sale

TORONTO (CP) — Large crowds gathered in Moodys Monday as tickets for the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal went on sale exclusively at T. Eaton Co. Ltd. across Canada.

"The demand has just been unbelievable," said A. A. Jones, Eaton's vice-president of special marketing events responsible for the ticket sales.

Action Asked

TORONTO (CP) — The union at the Denison Mines Ltd. ore-bodies mine in Elliot Lake, Ont., has asked federal and provincial authorities to prosecute the company for violation of over-time regulations, the union president says.

Ed Vance, president of Local 598, United Steel Workers of America, said in an interview the union believes Denison has violated provincial and federal laws by having men work up to 70 hours a week underground.

Help Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of athletes training for the 1976 Olympics talked to Health Minister Marc Lalonde Monday about their financial problems.

"I will be looking at their representations," Mr. Lalonde said after the meeting. He did not commit the government to increasing subsidies for athletes.

Perjury Charged

HAMILTON (CP) — Ivo Bernatovic, 36, of Hamilton, who claims to be a high-ranking officer in the Croatian Armed Forces, was remanded Monday in provincial court until July 8 on a charge of perjury.

Bernatovic, who also says he was a Yugoslav policeman, was denied bail April 23 when RCMP Constable Lance Hodgson testified that he was charged after false claims were found in his passport and application for landed status.

Bernatovic was among five men charged last month with possession of explosives and restricted weapons. The men said they were officers in the Croatian Armed Forces.

Sales High

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Chrysler Canada Ltd. reported Monday the second highest April passenger car and truck retail deliveries in the company's history.

Record Month

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. dealers delivered 45,871 passenger cars and trucks during April, a record for the month, and 4.3 per cent higher than the 43,980 delivered last year, T. D. Duffy, company vice-president, announced Monday.

Truck sales of 11,648 set a record for April, topping the previous record by 13.5 per cent. Passenger car deliveries of 34,223 compared with the 1973 April record of 34,363.

Repeal Law

TORONTO (CP) — The legislature voted Monday to repeal a law allowing provincial judges to send children to training schools if their parents allege they are unmanageable.

Correctional Services Minister Richard Potter said during debate Monday that a government committee will study each child now in a school under Section 8 of the previous Training Schools Act.

The section allowed children to be committed if their parents said they were uncontrollable, if no suitable welfare agency was available and if the school provided "necessary training and treatment."

Lottery on TV

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Lottery Corporation has purchased 30 minutes of prime television time to announce winning ticket numbers in its first Wintario lottery, to be televised on CTV network stations at 9:30 p.m. May 15.

Jim Perry, master of ceremonies for two previous Olympic lottery extravaganzas on national television, will perform a similar task for the Wintario production.

Bankruptcy Legislation Changes Are Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — The government proposed new federal bankruptcy legislation Monday, stiffening the liabilities for directors and officers of bankrupt corporations but simplifying insolvency procedures for consumers and small businessmen.

The legislation was introduced in the Commons by Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet, but it has been under preparation by the department officials for several years.

Mr. Ouellet said labor for the government's intent is to make it easier for bankrupts and consumer debtors to make an arrangement, either forced or created time to pay or by repaying a rateable part of each debtor's claim, rather than declare a straight bankruptcy.

He predicted the rate of bankruptcies could be reduced by as much as 10 per cent. In 1974, there were 1,245 business bankruptcies and 4,511 bankruptcies by individuals and professionals.

School Classes Urged In Immigrants' Tongues

TORONTO (CP) — A city board of education report says the emerging immigrant majority in Toronto schools should be encouraged to study its native language and culture.

The report by the board's multiculturalism study group says progress using a child's native language should be implemented in the primary grades and courses on ethnic cultures in later grades.

Electricians Will Be Paid $13.34 an Hour

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's 4,300 unionized electricians will vote Sunday on a tentative agreement that will give them a $1-an-hour increase over a two-year contract.

The agreement provides $1.39 an hour during the first year and a further $1.39 in the second year. The old agreement expired May 1.

The current combination of wages, vacation pay and health and welfare benefits total $13.34 an hour. The tentative agreement would raise this figure to $11.94 in the first year and to $12.34 in the second year.

Before and After

Elizabeth DeVries before and after makeup session with Pablo Manzoni, creative makeup director for Elizabeth Arden. Manzoni has rouged the cheeks of such famous women as the Duchess of Windsor and singer Maria Callas and believes that perfect beauty is boring and finds flaws "rather interesting." (CP Photo)

'There's Nothing Bad About Looking Good'

TORONTO (CP) — A man who has rouged the cheeks of such famous women as the Duchess of Windsor and singer Maria Callas believes that perfect beauty is boring and finds flaws "rather interesting."

Pablo Manzoni, creative makeup director for Elizabeth Arden in New York, is in Canada for demonstrations in department stores in Toronto and Winnipeg.

He said: "I give each woman individual advice" on makeup. "There is always something special to discover, some sexy thing she has.

"There is something lovable about differences which must be played up—it is the only way to be remembered."

Mr. Manzoni suggested that with fashion becoming softer, flusher and more alluring, the more defined look of realistic makeup is replaced by a soft tender look.

"In all cases it is a clean skin."

The makeup artist's ideal look for the face of spring was demonstrated in a step-by-step session. His model, Elizabeth DeVries, is a young woman with fair, peaches-and-cream complexion and a natural strawberry-blonde hair. Her eyelashes are fair, and Mr. Manzoni said that such pale lashes can be dyed black quite simply in a salon.

He started by covering her face with a deep moisturizer, and said: "I like the type of cream that is not too oily, yet penetrates to shield the skin."

Using a foundation cream one shade darker than the model's skin Mr. Manzoni used a sponge to apply that be described as a more natural cover.

Because "everyone gets shadows under their eyes from age 13 on," he applied concealing cream around the lower part of her eyes.

He then applied a sponge-on cheek color in a cherry and wood tone taking it up beyond the cheekbone to the side of the face by the eyes, and then towards up the hairline.

"Women blush from high up on the face; this is why the more extensive use of rouge," he explained.

Using a fine horse-hair brush he lightly grazed powder in around the sides and corners of Elizabeth's nostrils.

Starting on her eyes, Mr. Manzoni applied a plum-toned pencil (the "lead" is soft and pliable almost like crayon and can be used both as eye shadow and liner) and surrounded both the lids and underneath the eyes with color.

He like using the pencils because they don't flake or smudge," he said.

Picking up a roll-on mascara stick, the type that has the applicator that curls and separates lashes, he applied it from the top of the lid to the bottom of the lash at first.

Mascara should be applied from back, then from the bottom of the lashes for extra thickness," he said.

Mr. Manzoni uses eyeliner, contrary to some experts who have said it is harsh.

"I say to women, don't give up eyeliner. Apply it in a thin line along the eyelid, then, while it is wet, smudge it slightly for a natural look."

He puts false eyelashes on after most of the eye makeup has been applied. Then he applies a dark brown pencil from the eyelid all the way up to the brow.

"At night, for a luminous look, I place blue pencil inside the corners of the eye. The blue removes redness in the whites of the eyes by creating an optical illusion."

Finally, he brushed Elizabeth's cheekbones with another shade of rouge, this time a wine tone softly blended in so "it wouldn't look like rouge, but a natural illusion."

Using a brow pencil he outlined her lips, then filled them in with lipstick applied with a brush.

He completed the lip work with a glossy stick, again brushed on Tocassa "I'll give a wet look, very sensual."

Mr. Manzoni said any woman can achieve the appearance he has created.

"All she needs is moisturizer, foundation, two rouges, a light powder, three or four eye sticks, mascara and lipstick."

And his final comment on women using makeup at all was: "Women's liberation gets on my nerves. There is nothing bad about looking better."

Ann Landers

Recognize Dangers of Depression

Dear Ann Landers:: With your extensive coverage why don't you make more of an effort to educate people to the dangers of depression? If you printed a list of famous people who have had severe bouts of depression it would read like Who's Who.

Newspapers are full of stories about suicides and homicides. Lord knows how many deaths from "natural causes" were actually planned in advance.

The symptoms of depression are not always the obvious ones. In fact some depressed people can put on a very good front. The things to look for are changes in personality, sleeping habits, unjustified accusations, feelings of being persecuted and abnormal hostility. People who suddenly show these traits need medical attention.

I needn't tell you, Miss Landers, that there aren't enough psychiatrists to go around. Also, many medical doctors don't know how to recognize the signs of depression. They could use some refresher courses.

There are excellent drugs available that can help ill people out of depressions. A relative of mine who was very nearly non-functional is now on a drug that has made it possible for her to go to work every day and be a wife and mother.

Please enlighten the uninformed.—Up With People.

Dear Up:: Everything you say is true, but I must caution my readers against believing that a drug can cure depression. Medications can be very helpful in getting a depressed person through a crisis, but to depend on drugs as a way of life is merely masking the symptoms and it does nothing to solve the problem.

For individuals who experience radical personality changes or go into emotional

Women Dying Like Men

At one time the ratio of male to female deaths from lung cancer was nearly seven to one. It is now four to one, and not because male deaths have declined.

- Marvin A. Schneiderman and James L. Peters of the National Cancer Institute.

What happened? Too many women are smoking, too few are quitting. And teen-age girls are starting younger.

Women have become heavy smokers. Women who smoke are dying of lung cancer and other smoking-related disease at twice the rate of women who don't.

The trend is clear. Women are smoking more like men. And dying like men. And the trend is just beginning.

Dear Doris:: Have you ever met anyone who simply cannot carry on a conversation? Frustrating, isn't it?

We recently started chumming with my husband's working companions. I have made desperate efforts to get to know their wives by probing their interests, hobbies, etc.; but they seem to talkpine, I recommend first a thorough physical examination to make sure there is no organic or neurological problem. Then, if the doctor suggests it, help. I would say, "Fine, go ahead." Drugs CAN get the patient through the difficult period, but stick in the prescribed dosage and quit when the doctors says, "No more."

leave me at a dead end, straining for something to say.

- All Talked Out!

Dear All: Frustrating is 2the word for it!

Office parties may bring together quite a miscellany of people, from assorted backgrounds, with only their work places in common. The wives are one step further removed from sharing mutual interests.

Having tried frying, probing, hinting for a fertile topic and failing, look around you for something you and each other might do. Could you pass the sandwiches or offer help in the kitchen? Or lend a hand with some part of what is going on, even if it is just helping some equally desperate wife find the washroom as an escape?

It does happen that typo-cupying the hands is a good way to begin communicating, when the tongue fails. I'm sending you my two 35-cent leaflets:: "Tips On Talking" and "On Making Conversation." They were both written for the younger set, but contain ideas to help anyone.

Expensive Milk

WINDSOR JUNCTION, N.S. (CP) — Deanna Wyse ordered three quarts of milk worth $1.32 from her milkman and left what she thought was a crisp, orange $2 bill on the doorstep. The milkman innocently took the bill and left 41 cents change. Mrs. Wyse soon discovered that what she had really left was a crisp, orange $1,000 bill. After a frantic call to the dairy she picked up the rest of her change: $958.

50th ANNIVERSARY

Mabel and Eugene Brady, McGill Street, Marmora, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at Sacred Heart Church Hall.

They were married April 23, 1925, after a five year courtship by the late Father R.L. Farrell.

The day began with a special mass at 9:30 a.m. celebrated by Father T.G. Scanlon and attended by all members of the family by children and grandchildren who sang as a group. Father Scanlon presided Mr. and Mrs. Brady with a Papal Blessing in honor of the occasion. A brunch was held at the Eaton Club for members of the family following the service.

Many friends made during a lifetime in Marmora called during open house to extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Brady.

Twelve children, Mrs. Richard Scanlon (Patricia) of Scarborough and son Tom of Marmora Township, and their respective partners were on hand for the celebration, as were eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Also present were Mr. Brady's sister Mary of Marmora, brothers Charles and Hugh of Marmora, and Jack of Norwood. Charley was best man at his brother's wedding.

On Mrs. Brady's side of the family, two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Brady (Ada) of Marmora and Mrs. Frank Franklin (Edith) of Brantford and brothers Ernest Archer of Bowmanville and Bill Archer of Toronto, attended. Another brother, Percy of Peterborough, was unable to be present.

Mr. Brady retired in 1969 after spending 25 years with Dobson Smelting and Refining Company and five years with Deloro Stellite in Belleville.

The church hall was decorated for the occasion with baskets of flowers, streamers and candles. The focal point of the tea table was the three-tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Brady herself and decorated by Eileen Barrow.

Tea was poured during the afternoon by Mrs. Franklin, Mary Brady, Hugh Brady and Bessie Tisdell.

Messages of congratulation were received by Mr. and Mrs. Brady from Governor-General Jules Leger, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, Premier William Davis.

Clerks T. Bolton, Hastings and Mrs. Rohan called on behalf of clerks and a number of gifts were also received by the happy couple.

A potluck supper attended by 100 of their friends and relatives concluded the celebration.

HARTY - RIGGS

MARRIED IN BRIGHTON

Mrs. Cecil Weeks was re-elected president of the Hartley-Riggs Women's Institute recently as the organization held their annual meeting in the Institute Hall, beginning with a pot luck supper at noon.

Mrs. Weeks, after thanking the branch and the officers for their active co-operation during the past year, declared all offices vacant and requested Mrs. Allan Riggs to conduct the election of officers.

Others installed to the various offices were past president, Mrs. Allan Pigden; first vice-president, Mrs. Joe Foley; second vice-pres., Mrs. Cecil Frank; secretary, Mrs. Max Burnside; treasurer, Mrs. Ceri Fleming; district director, Mrs. Allan Pigden; public relations officer, Mrs. Max Burnside; branch director, Mrs. Earl Reynolds, Mrs. Arthur Fleming and Mrs. John Stewart.

Mrs. Weeks opened the meeting in the usual manner and welcomed those present in answer to the roll call, 31 ladies paid their membership fees and choices of senior training school at the Institute courses for 1975-76 were made.

Quinte Woman

Mary Sutherland, Special Nursery Teacher

In both her career and personal life, Mary Sutherland's approach is a very positive one.

As a teacher, she tries "to catch a kid doing good," rewarding and praising the progress each child makes.

As a citizen of Belleville for the last three years, she has already made a considerable contribution to the city's education programs here.

Mrs. Sutherland has been one of the local women responsible for three Local Initiatives Project grants received by Belleville groups — two for Project Hitch, an aid to children with learning disabilities, and one for the Toy Lending Library begun this year by Quinte Mary Ireland.

"I think this city is one in a million," she says. "There are so many people involved in the community, so many people who care. Wherever I need something, there's always someone I can call, who can help with what I'm doing or suggest someone else who can."

Unlike some newcomers who find Belleville "hard to find pals," Mrs. Sutherland finds it a warm, friendly place, and rapidly involved herself in city projects concerning children. She is now head teacher at the Special Nursery set up in Sirves, a treatment centre for children whose emotional problems impair their learning abilities.

There are 12 pre-schoolers between two and six years old there, who take part in a carefully individualized program structured by Mrs. Sutherland, Dr. E. B. Dass, and a team consisting of teachers, child care worker and a psychologist.

"Our aim is to integrate these children into the regular school system," says Mrs. Sutherland, who uses a variety of approaches in order to reach her goal. "We modify their behavior by reinforcing the good behavior. We don't punish bad behavior, we isolate the child from the group until he's able to come back.

"I've watched a child in front of the others if might encourage them to act up too, in order to get attention."

Mrs. Sutherland, who had lived in Montreal until she and her husband Kirk and their three children moved to Bancroft five years ago, is a graduate of McGill and has had a wide range of experiences dealing with children.

She and her husband were both as an educational assistant for the Hastings County Board of Education before brought the family to Belleville — worked in summer recreation programs together before they were married and have always been involved and interested in education.

"Back in high school I worked with retarded children, and I worked with emotionally disturbed teen-agers prior to our move," she recalls. "But I must say I love working with tots. They're respond so openly, and are so receptive.

"You can see change more readily, and it helps to say that makes it easier, since there's so much preventative work to do."

Mrs. Sutherland is already seeing the happy results of the Special Nursery program, since some children have already "graduated" and many others are making great strides in their language-reading skills.

This is really the most gratifying kind of job," says Mrs. Sutherland.

Today's Child

By Helen Allen

LORETTA, EMMA AND SANDRA

It's a serious business having your picture taken for Today's Child — at least two of these girls seem to think so. Loretta, back right, isn't quite as serious as her sisters. She has a twinkle and an almost-smile that shows signs of dimples. The girls are Indian and white in descent. Emma is 10, Loretta nine, Sandra six.

These healthy, active youngsters all wear glasses for near-sightedness. Emma will need some orthodontic work when she is a little older. The Children's Aid Society will assume responsibility for this if the financial burden might be an obstacle to the children being adopted.

The girls are average in ability. Emma is in Grade four, Loretta in Grade three and Sandra in Grade one.

Emma especially worries about the separation because she is the oldest and has responsible for her sisters. How will they watch over Loretta when she doesn't see her every day?

All three are outgoing children, not shy to be friendly with strangers. With people they know they are affectionate and one can foresee them being loving and demonstrative as they feel comfortable with new parents.

Sandra is the outdoor one of the trio. Swimming in summer and skating in winter rate high with her but whether there's a planned activity or not she likes to be outside in any weather.

Emma and Loretta enjoy swimming in cold weather they are inclined to prefer indoor games. Both like drawing and painting and they spend a good deal of time at crafts. Emma is learning to sew by making dolls' clothes.

Sandra is a contented youngster, happy to play alone if nobody else is around. She likes music and has a good singing voice.

The girls are adaptable enough to fit easily into a new family. Lovable youngsters, they will blossom in a warm, cherishing atmosphere.

To inquire about adopting Emma, Loretta and Sandra, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto, M4P 3E3.

Watercolors On Display

Several large water colors by Donnah Cameron are now hanging in the lower gallery of the Corby Library art gallery.

Art lovers in the Belleville area have for many years followed the career of Mrs. Cameron, who with her husband Allan owns the Cameron Art Gallery at 315 1, Carrying Place.

A native of Owen Sound, Mrs. Cameron has painted all her life. Although she has had no formal training outside of summers spent at painting schools at Doon, Gravenville and Actinolite, she has won several awards, not only in Belleville, but in other cities where she has shown her work.

Donnah Cameron water-colors have been seen recently in Belleville Art Association exhibits, and in the Quinte Artists' Visual Arts Display during April. She teaches art classes both for Loyalist College and for the Prince Edward County Board of Education.

The present exhibit of watercolors, on view until May 18, portray a range of realistic scenes and still-life subjects. All the work is for sale.

In the upper gallery of the Corby Library an exhibit of Emily Carr paintings and drawings from the Vancouver Art Gallery will be on display until May 23.

Twila Langman helps Donnah Cameron hang her recent water colors in the lower gallery at Corby Library, in preparation for her May 5-18 exhibit.

Variety of Books Boon to Gardeners

LAWN BEAUTY — by Editors of Organic Gardening.

This book brings informative lawn advice to readers and shows them how to employ natural organic methods of lawn culture that give lasting, beautiful results.

THE FRAGRANT YEAR — Helen Witmer and L. Bell.

"The Fragrant Year" will increase your pleasure in plants and introduces you to the many fragrant ones that add a delightful fourth dimension to the garden. Particularly valuable are the lists of the most fragrant plants that "freely scent the air".

THE GIFT OF A GARDEN — Beverly Nichols.

Mr. Nichols' books have charmed generations. In the past and will surely do so for generations to come. The Gift of a Garden' is a condensation of three of his most famous gardening books. It is beautifully illustrated by the drawings of Rex Whistler.

THE GARDEN RULES OF SPRING — Marc Reynolds and William Meacham.

In all phases of gardening, nothing is more rewarding than the appearance of spring-flowering bulbs. They mark the end of winter and the beginning of a new season. This book provides the latest and best information on how to plant, where to plant, for a colorful garden throughout springtime.

WATER GARDENING — Jack Kramer.

Water in the garden — reflecting pools, ponds, fountains and waterfalls, are desirable in almost any garden, large or small. What is more soothing to the ear than the quiet trickle of water on a hot day? 'Water Gardening' shows and tells you how to have a small reflecting pool, a large formal pool or a fountain. Construction and explicit how-to-do drawings are included.

A few more titles from our collection of gardening books available at the Belleville Public Library:

ANYONE CAN GROW ROSES — Wessel.

EASY WAYS TO A BEAUTIFUL GARDEN — Larke.

JUNIOR GARDEN CLUB HANDBOOK — Peoples.

TALK TO YOUR PLANTS — Jerry Baker.

IDEAS FOR LANDSCAPING — A Sunset Book.

GARDENING FOR FOOD — Smith.

THE WORLD OF THE JAPANESE GARDEN — Koch.

It's Time Again To Prune Roses

BY ROSS HAWTHORNE

It's time for that pleasurable task — the spring cleaning and pruning of your rose bed, with the hope that winter hasn't wrought too great damage.

If my roses are any indication, the last shouldn't be too great. There was a fair amount of snow insulation in February and March and not too many intervals of freezing and thawing. In any case, now is the time to go to work with a trowel, pruning sclipt, heavy gloves and a bushel basket — and old clothes — because we're going to do a rose-by-rose inspection. Oh yes, and don't forget — a baseball bat.

Your first step is of course to carefully clear away the mounded earth around each shrub. And I say carefully, because there are likely new buds hidden beneath that soil, that can be easily lopped off. I actually do most of it by hand, using the trowel only around the outer periphery of the soil mound.

Once the soil is clear, check the height of the knob or graft where the grafted scion originate. If you can see it — sorry about that — but you're going to have to replant until that graft is buried about one inch. Then, with pruning snips and an hacksaw if need be, inspect every shrub, and every cane on every shrub. Step one is to prune away all dead, spindly or broken canes or any canes growing into the center of the shrub. Then comes the major pruning job.

Trace each cane down to the end of the winter kill and then trace farther down the soil line. Prune — outside — of each cane 'til you come to a bud point, which at this time of the year may be just a colored section of the cane. Then prune the dead canes off about ¼ inch above that outside bud. The reason I stress 'outside bud' is this. With this spring pruning you are directing the summer growth — your shrub. And you want your canes to grow outward — away from the centre. If you prune just above a bud facing the centre, then that's the way the new cane will grow — into the centre of the shrub.

Of course, you can prune above a sideways facing bud as long as you're not directing the new cane into another one.

Now at this point, a word of caution. Of every dead cane up into small sections and make sure every section goes in the bonfire pile. Because even a tiny section of dead cane can be a real hazard to hands and knees in thorny canes. And with that last completed, it's time for feeding.

Roses are notorious eaters and will revel in a fertilizing about every three weeks, from now through 'til mid September. It doesn't matter whether or you select a fertilizer packed in a bag, tin, bottle or box. Or whether it carries a recommendation for roses, grandiflora or vegetables. Rather, look at the numbers on the containers and make sure the first number is the lowest, the second number is highest and the last number is between the two. The middle number represents phosphorous — the ingredient that stimulates flowering and deep root growth. The last number represents potash, the builder of the sturdy stems necessary to hold up the blossoms. And application is simple.

Carefully dig a one-foot circle around each shrub, or should say, loosen the soil — rather than dig — to a depth of six to eight inches. One of those hand forks are ideal for the purpose. Then pour your fertilizer solution carefully into the loosened soil — about 1 gallon to each shrub. And wait. Once the solution has been thoroughly absorbed into the soil, then reach for your trusty baseball bat — and with the butt end gently compact the soil around each shrub. And if necessary, fill any pockets in ground level.

You see, roses just won't tolerate air pockets and your baseball bat is the best way to eliminate them. Your neighbours may think you're a little crazy, but your roses will love you for it.

Questions welcome: All questions are welcome and will be answered. Please designate if free to use your letter in a future column. Simply address queries to: Ross Hawthorne, c/o The Intelligencer, Belleville.

Hull Poses Mental Barrier

HULL, Que. (CP) — The crossing of the Ottawa River is the crossing of a mental barrier for many English-speaking Canadians, says Pierre-Louis Lapointe.

Mr. Lapointe is co-ordinator of festivities for La Grande Fête, a tri-centennial celebration this summer to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of Hull and the 175th anniversary of its founding.

In planning for the event, Mr. Lapointe says he wants to overcome this "mental barrier" of English-speaking residents of Ottawa, just across the Ottawa River. And he would like to attract some of the thousands of tourists who visit the capital city every year.

Co-ordinator Lapointe contended that some English-speaking Canadians do make the trip across the river to drink at the city's night spots and others speed through Hull to reach Gatineau federal park and ski centres north of here.

One of the reasons he cited for the "mental barrier" around the city, historically a timber, pulp and paper centre, is that its population of 64,000 is about 80 per cent French-speaking.

Mr. Lapointe, a former historical research officer with the Outaouais Development Corp., noted that this was not always the case. The founder of Hull was an American, Philemon Wright, who began to cultivate the soil of the Ottawa Valley after his arrival in 1800.

Until 1856 the town was largely English-speaking. A vestige of this era remains — a solid stone farmhouse which belonged to the Wright family and dates from 1820.

The building is the property of the National Capital Commission and houses one of the best French restaurants in the capital region.

But Hull has lost some of its other heritage structures in recent years. One of its main churches and its historic city hall were destroyed in fires.

Landmarks a visitor to Hull does see are the federal government's new multi-storey office buildings, which soar above the old downtown structures. Huge cranes mark the skyline along the riverfront where other federal buildings are taking shape.

The Grande Fête will include concerts, car rallies, cultural exhibits, an antique display and an international softball tournament, with teams expected from across Canada and the United States.

Theme for the $500,000 celebration, from June 20 to July 4, is 'France . . . c'est si bon; French le fun.

Aquarobic.
The only sewage treatment system for individual households to be accepted by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

Aquarobic. You may not know the name of this revolutionary, new, home sewage treatment system, but the Ontario Research Foundation is very familiar with it.

The people at ORF, working in consultation with the Ontario Ministry of the Environment, tested Aquarobic for 12 full months. The result: Aquarobic was accepted for use in Ontario for individual households.

Hundreds of other people . . . owners of full-time dwellings, cottages, chalets . . . have come to know Aquarobic in the past year as the only practical solution for their home sewage treatment problems.

The completely automatic Aquarobic system is the first true alternative to the septic tank. It was perfected & is marketed by a 70-year old Canadian company, Waltec Industries Ltd. The company guarantees every system for 10 years.

Just how much waste water can Aquarobic handle? The answer: Aquarobic can treat up to 400 Canadian gallons of raw sewage per day, the waste water of up to 10 persons.

Sophisticated engineering design often allows Aquarobic to be installed in an area as small as one-fifth the size needed for a septic system. This makes Aquarobic particularly valuable to owners of lots with irregular shapes, rocky terrain, many trees or other limiting site conditions.

If you're concerned about the proper treatment of household waste at your home or cottage, you owe it to yourself to find out more about Aquarobic.

Design H3-1680
1,346 Sq. Ft.

Long, low lines and wide overhangs enhance the exterior appearance of this modern ranch home. The interior is just as attractive.

The entrance is recessed with a roomy front porch, all protected by a roof which is an extension of the roof line over the garage. The entry hall gives access to both living room and family room, the latter having an imposing fireplace and glass doors leading to the garden. The fireplace could be extended to include a barbecue on the terrace.

Wide floor-to-ceiling windows flood the living room with natural light, but there is still ample wall space for furniture placement. The master bedroom has its own bath en suite, one of three in the house. A convenient laundry with powder room and large storage closets are located on ground level although the design includes a full basement. The illustrations show the design in framing but the plans include conversion details for building in brick veneer.

Plans for Design H3-1680 cost $25 for the first set, $11 each additional set and are supplied by return mail. Order from Home Planning, 49 Jarvis St., Toronto, Ontario.

Third of Israelis In Union Housing

TEL AVIV (AP) — The labor movement in Israel is on an all-embracing that Premier Yitzhak Rabin is a member along with Arab workers and 250,000 Jewish housewives.

A third of the population lives in homes built by the Trades Union Federation's housing programs.

When an Israeli falls sick, chances are he goes to a clinic run by the federation. He rides there on a bus built in a federation-owned factory. The labor monolith not only represents the worker but owns many of the enterprises he works in.

Last March the federation, in which the premier as an individual member has no more voice than a factory welder or an Arab strawberry picker, showed its power in a fight with Rabin's government over rising prices and unemployment.

A showdown with the federation, whose Hebrew name is Histadrut, is virtually impossible because of its political ties, but such a struggle would shake Israel to its economic roots.

The Histadrut represents 80 per cent of all wage and salary earners in the country, its enterprises control 25 per cent of the entire economy and its pension fund assets of 3 billion are almost equal to Israel's defence budget.

So when Yeruham Meshel, the Russian-born former cement-section worker who heads the Histadrut, protested that the government's new sales and payroll taxes would boost unemployment and worsen Israel's 58-per-cent inflation rate, the government was quick to act.

Three key cabinet ministers, headed by Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz, rushed from Jerusalem to Histadrut headquarters in Tel Aviv, known to Israelis as the Kremlin.

Under Meshel's prodding on behalf of both workers and employers, the finance minister agreed to reduce the payroll tax from 7.5 to four per cent, speed up reform of other taxes and set up a special inspection squad to catch income tax dodgers.

The compromise was typical of the influence wielded by the Histadrut.

"When it comes to service we think a bank should do more than just give or take your money."

Don't get stuck with a good investment.

It only takes $1000 to make a good investment.

$1000 in a Commerce Term Deposit earns $210.19 interest in three years and one day.

If you decide to put your interest into a Commerce Savings account, you'll earn even more interest.

You'll probably collect it tax free now that the government allows you $1000 interest earnings tax free annually.

But what if you want to get your money out before your three years is up?

Some places won't let you. You're stuck with your commitment.

The Commerce will. It's your money. We feel you should be free to withdraw it when you want it. And after a month, with interest at a slightly lower rate.

Talk to one of our over 1600 managers about a Commerce Term Deposit.

He'll show you how to make saving money profitable. And how not to get stuck with a good investment.

Reap some benefits from all the cheques you write.

If you write ten or more cheques a month, consider a Commerce Key Account.

Because at 16¢ each, ten cheques already cost you $1.60. That's for the cheques you write, period.

But an extra 90¢ makes it a whole different story.

With a Commerce Key Account you can get a preferred rate on most consumer loans, (and that's a nice thing to remember). You can get this summer's travellers' cheques for no extra service charge.

You'll have an identification card which allows you to cash a personal cheque, up to $100, at any of our 1600 Commerce branches in Canada.

And that's not all. There is no service charge when you use 24-Hour Cash Dispensers, you'll get special cheques, money orders, domestic drafts, and a whole raft of other services.

All for a flat $2.50 a month. Or, in your case, maybe 90¢ more than you are paying now for cheques alone.

But hold on. We don't think everybody should get a Commerce Key Account. If you're not writing ten or more cheques you could be wasting your money.

And that's exactly what a Commerce Key Account doesn't want you to do.

How to save money at our expense.

Money makes money. It's a simple fail-safe idea.

Put it into one of the many Commerce savings accounts, and you'll always collect the benefit of interest.

The question is, are you collecting the maximum interest?

The person who can answer that, is one of our over 1600 Commerce managers. Because it depends on your particular requirements.

Take a for instance. A Chequing Savings Account only earns you 3%, calculated on the minimum half-yearly balance. So the idea is to keep your balance low there, and take some of your surplus funds and put them somewhere else.

Maybe into a Savings Account where they'll collect 6½%, calculated on the minimum monthly balance. Or perhaps a Term Deposit. Or Growth Savings Certificates. Maybe even a Commerce SMART registered savings plan so you can also benefit from the income tax deduction.

We think now is the time to make the most of the money you have. At our expense.

So talk to your local Commerce manager. We don't think there's anybody in the world with so much money he doesn't know what to do with it.

But if there is, send him to the Commerce.

How to approach a loan these days.

For a loan, as with anything else, it pays to shop around.

Rates do vary from place to place.

At the Commerce, though our rates are already competitive, we can even go one better. If you have a Commerce Key Account you get preferred rates on most consumer loans.

The fact remains, however, a loan costs money. And you have to repay it.

That's why we'd like to sit down and talk about it with you.

It's part of making sure you don't get in over your head just because you need the money.

If you need the loan for a car, we want to make sure your repayment plan still leaves you money to run it.

Talk to one of our over 1600 Commerce managers about the facts behind a Commerce Bankplan loan.

The more you know about the in's and out's of money, the better you can make use of the money you have.

And that's certainly worth talking about.

IT'S YOUR MONEY. MAKE THE MOST OF IT.

County Strike A First

Hastings County government is believed engaged in the first labor dispute in its history.

Today, its roadworkers — members of Local 324, International Union of Operating Engineers — were out on strike after last-minute mediation talks broke down Monday.

Main issues are the hours of work and wages said union representative Phil Gauthier. However, Mr. Gauthier, busy this morning moving between pickets at various county sites did not have time to be immediately more specific.

Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator, was at a meeting this morning and not available for comment.

The local, organized as bargaining unit for roadworkers four years ago, went into contract talks with the county last February, before its contract ran out the end of March.

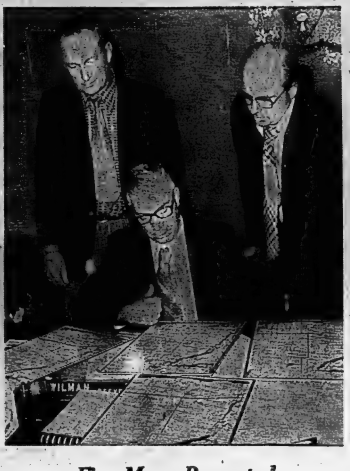
Conciliation talks two weeks ago produced a no-action report — giving the workers the right to legally go strike.

Mr. Gauthier said mediation talks were held Monday — the day the workers were entitled to walk out.

But "negotiations broke down completely," he said. "All offers were withdrawn from both sides — We're just in the dark on how much time and wages."

Membership in the local varies from 35 to a seasonal high of about 50 when county road projects are in full swing, estimated the local's steward, John Doyle.

One point — hedge project directly affected by the strike, he said, was reconstruction at County Road 14 and Highway 62 along Thurlow Township's second concession road from Tweed-ville to the Shannonville Gravel Road.



Fire Maps Presented

Sidney Township Fire Department t — represented here by Chief Douglas Scott; and commissioner John Cormack — presented maps to Reeve Gord Wilman Monday showing emergency routes around the township used by fire vehicles. The maps will be placed in the fire halls to aid staff in locating particular farms and the fastest route to take.

District Potter President

Peter Coviello, co-owner with Liz Coviello of the Brents Pottery, in Plainfield, has been elected president of the Canadian Craft Federation. The Guild, which has a nationwide membership of 600 professional potters, has its headquarters and pottery shop on Avenue Road in Toronto.

Mr. Coviello's work has been seen at Belleville's Door in the Wall boutique, as well as being sold in stores in Montreal and Toronto. His most recent show, with partner Fitzgerald of St. Lawrence College in Kingston.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today.

Monday, May 3, 6:38 p.m. — Short in wiring at Pete's Lunch on East Dundas St., damage confined to wiring.

Monday, May 3, 8:42 p.m. — pot boiled over at 1 Forin St., no fire, smoke ejector used.

Uncovers Old Bottles

Excavator Robert Tracey uncovered these old bottles and crocks at the site of the new $5 million Century Place. Some of the bottles are seamless which dates them back to the early 1900s. The one crock (foreground) was made by an old Belleville company Wallbridge and Clarke, Crockeries and Winemakers. Except for one crock all of the seven bottles are in good condition. Excavation at the site is nearing the half-way mark as construction crews begin to set up facilities.

Red Shield $10,000 Richer

The opening day of Belleville's Salvation Army 1975 Red Shield campaign closed with $10,000 in contributions.

About $7,000 of the total came in during a door-to-door blitz of the city Monday night.

Goal of the week-long campaign this year is $140,000 up $1,000 from 1974.

Capt. Robert Sloss, in charge of the Army's Belleville corps, said the total reached by the end of the first day made organizers "optimistic" the goal would be reached.

Still to be included in the canvass count is the city's business sector and special donors.

Property Standards Law Nearly Ready for Public

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The draft of Belleville's property standards bylaw has been meticulously honed clean to a working document, for public presentation.

Such a presentation could be ready by early summer, estimates Mayor Robbie Jeffrey.

Her prediction came Monday night after the city-hall appointed Subdivision Liaison Committee on the bylaw subjected the draft document to its final, fine-point scrutiny.

For nearly three hours the committee of city councillors and spokesmen for the property and home construction industries painstakingly pored over the suggested bylaw.

Involving residential rehabilitation — clauses by clause.

The debate didn't finish all the amendments that may be required, further meeting has been scheduled for May 27.

In fact, estimated Mayor Jeffrey, she took the draft for the week-end, "I intend to take another two meetings," to produce all the changes deemed necessary to satisfy the committee.

After that, the revised document will go to council sometime in June.

With council satisfied, the proposed ordinance then will go to public meetings before returning to city hall for final debate and approval, she said.

Fraught with controversy and criticism after it was first introduced, the draft's preliminary working — over also-controversial exceptions from committee members that the city needed some form of regulation for property maintenance standards.

Liaison surveyors came after Mayor Robbie Jeffrey stated the case: "Do we or do we not have a property standard for this city?"

Mike DeMark, Quinte Home Builders' past-president — and Phil Bennett, Quinte and District Real Estate Board spokesmen, agreed regulations were necessary.

City solicitor Arthur Keegan also confirmed his bylaw for some such ordinance already is in the simply.

But another councillor, Alderman Carr, said some measure was needed to protect residents — particularly tenants.

"The day of the dirt floor is past — And I think, it's my responsibility to pass, or bring about a law to help people," he said.

What the construction trades wanted was some kind of measure, emphasized Mr. DeMark — and it was from the home builders that take source of construction problems over for passage was produced.

The draft, prepared as a working paper by city manager Wilbur Purcell from regulations used in a larger municipality — castrix, needed different, more specific definitions in many places, indicated Mr. DeMark.

For handy reference of such definitions, home buyers produced a bylaw now in force in Kitchener — the first ever by a lengthy list of specific definitions — and widely referred to throughout the debate.

Other input came from city engineer Jim Angus as well as from private citizens. Letters from several of whom were read by city clerk Earl Dales.

A common complaint in the correspondence was the penalty clause in the draft now too severe. It proposes a maximum of $500 for any person who violates the regulations.

The case suggested the fine be $25-$50 with a three-month notice to errant property owners.

A harder line, he felt, was unnecessary since "most people do their best to keep their homes clean."

Then there was the man who felt such an ordinance was ridiculous and "a waste of time drawing up a law that can't be enforced."

The Hastings-Prince Edward Health Unit wrote that the draft's proposed regulations appeared restrictive than does Ontario health ministry guidelines. Such a bylaw would be a solution "to most of the complaints brought to our attention," it said.

The draft was first introduced to city council in February after it had been compiled by Mr. Purcell.

Its intent, he told the committee, is to give the group a document to work from rather than starting from scratch.

In March council passed provincial 1 provincial guidelines for rationalist standards of quality control in Home Renewal Program (OHRP) funds.

The guidelines — distinct from a bylaw which is an enforcement regulation — were followed last week with an allocation of $36,855 in OHRP funds.

The draft of Belleville's property maintenance standards bylaw got a close-combing Monday night as its scrutinizing Liaison Committee got down to clause-by-clause specifics. Monday night. Among the debaters were Mike DeMark, (left) Quinte Home Builders, Ald. Arthur Keegan (centre) and Phil Bennett, Belleville and District Real Estate Board.

Crossing Guard Requested

A crossing guard will be required to assure the safety of school children at the traffic-laden North Front — College St. intersection, a Belleville council was cautioned.

Mrs. Fred Miller, 16 Donald St., sent a written request Monday before Belleville's traffic committee, warning of the need.

Presence of a guard required with the transfer of Kindergarten students from nearby King George public school to other schools in the area later this year, she said.

One of the schools is Prince of Wales and Mrs. Miller said the transfer "will necessitate" needing a guard would inconvenience fathers.

Police Insp. Ralph Matchett said the King George intersection was one "we have observed and become a registration of only the students was indicated for next school year.

However, he indicated, there had not been total agreement reached with parents as yet on whether the children should go to Parkdale or Prince of Wales.

He asked — and the committee agreed — to be given time to consult further with school authorities and felt "in the next 10 days we may be able to come closer to an answer."

Shady Sailor Takes Dinghy

City police are seeking a shady sailor who stole a rubber dinghy from Zwicker's wharf Sunday at 10 p.m. and Monday at 4 p.m.

Chief Douglas Crosbie said today the dinghy and a green tarp were taken from a boathouse on South Front St. owned by Mel Abel of 67 O'Hara St. in Belleville.

The boat was being gained by forcing a hasp lock on the boathouse door. Total value of the loss was estimated at $200.

Parking on Private Property Poses Problem for Merchants

Indiscriminate parking on private business lots may be an ongoing frustration for merchants.

It's a problem becoming more complex as the number of unsupervised parking lots increase, believes Police Chief Douglas Crosbie.

But it found no immediate solution by city council's traffic committee Monday.

Before business further be waived, the committee decided to canvass opinion on the situation from the Downtown Improvement Area board — the city-appointed merchant group which managed downtown projects.

The committee's scrutiny of the problem was touched off at its chairman, Ald. Jack Ireland sought discussion on the possibility of a bylaw dealing with unauthorized parking on private property.

The problem, as it emerged during the debate: drivers have long taken advantage of lots — owned by downtown stores and private business — for free parking.

At present, owners may have such vehicles towed away. But businessmen are reluctant. It's not only a matter of public relations, that legal issue could come if the vehicles are damaged.

Only legal recourse of lot owners at present is to charge such drivers with petty trespass — if warning signs are posted.

And, if there was a special bylaw, police would be better set to enforce it because of the time and expense.

Instead suggested Chief Crosbie, council could enact a bylaw (1) Contract with the city's Parking Authority for the services of its traffic enforcement officers, or (2) appointed by-law enforcement officials owners and appointed to administer such a bylaw.

Costs prohibit the use of police officers as enforcers, agreed Mayor Robbie Jeffrey.

When you think of all the private lots around the city we'd have to look after, how could we do it? Keep our men on the beat," she said.

Chief Crosbie also warned such enforcement by police could lead to complaints from owners of apartment buildings.

"There's no doubt about it," said the chief. "As we get more and more complaints of off-street lots we're going to get more problems."

Ald. George Rogerus said if stores established attendants to supervise their lots a bylaw would not be necessary.

Chief Crosbie said the issue was raised about five years ago when a report and bylaw went to city council — but, apparently, was carried no further.

The committee decided to have the earlier measure sought out by city hall officials for study.

New Anglican Bishop Takes Up Post May 8

New Anglican Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, St. Rev. Henry G. Hill, will be enthroned in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, May 8.

The ceremony will precede the annual diocesan synod which takes place May 9 and 10.

Bishop Hill, who was born in Belgrave and graduated from Queen's University, was consecrated as Eighth Bishop of Ontario Diocese in January but chose to delay his enthronement until this time so synod delegates will be able to share the celebration.

The enthronement in the 150-year-old cathedral is being restored. will be led by the Dean, the Very Rev. Richard G. Fleming.

During synod meetings, Bishop Hill will discuss new programs for training lay men and women to break in their own communities and the need to ensure that The Anglican Church provides the best vocational training for those entering the ministry.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Robert J. Terwilliger, Director of Trinity Institute, New York, and professor at the General Theological Seminary. The institute, which Dr. Terwilliger brought into existence, acts as a centre for encounter between Theologians from Europe and North America and Episcopal clergy.

There will be approximately 220 synod delegates representing the Anglicans living in the Diocese, which covers about 7,600 square miles and is 400 miles long.

Vandals Rampant

Owners of property subjoining city parks and walkways must be vigilant for vandalism, a city councillor warned Monday.

Ald. Arthur Keegan said he had received complaints from one homeowner near a Pine, Bleecker and Rosemount playground about damage caused by youngsters.

"Children in the city can't destroy private property," said Ald. Keegan as he related the protest from the playground neighbor. "If there's going to be a playground the city has to do something about it. It's as simple as that."

His remarks to city council's traffic committee followed a request from the owner of apartment units on Sidney St. who claimed youngsters using a city walkway had brought complaints of vandalism from tenants.

Social Worker to Check School Attendance

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

A 23-year-old Trenton social worker, Alan Payton, has been hired by the Hastings County Board of Education as its new attendance counsellor, a service previously done by the Family and Children's Services.

In March the board voted to terminate the contract with the agency in favor of hiring its own attendance counsellor, and to be confined with a truancy officer, according to a board spokesman.

Truancy is a serious problem, says director of education Eric Rosecrow, who also believes it is magnified by the breakdown in the existing values systems of our society.

"We are concerned because much of the problem centres around social or family difficulties — a problem this board has decided to tackle by hiring a full-time counsellor. The board also employs a part-time counsellor in the north part of the county.

The board paid about $12,000 for the service in 1973 and about $13,000 last year. The cost of hiring a full-time counsellor will exceed $15,000, including salary. Board officials feel the program could be expanded next year with the hiring of school-home liaison officers in social the counsellor.

The attendance officer today is considered by educators to be a resource person in the schools and in the family. He is supposed to protect the rights of students as well as assist teachers with students who have attendance problems.

The counsellor does not chase the students who are skipping school, says Mr. Rosecrow, "they tackle chronic and more severe cases."

Educators also believe the counsellor should foster improved relationships between the school and the home as well as assisting parents and students to solve their interpersonal problems. The counsellor may also refer children to the agencies for assistance.

A task force, looking into the hiring of a counsellor, concluded that in south Hastings about 400 cases are handled each year, and out of this number about 15 and 15 are sent to court with little accomplished.

The task force concluded the board should hire its own attendance counsellor. Mr. Payton, currently employed with the Hastings-Prince Edward Family and Children's Services, will begin his work with the board mid-May.

Councillors Wary of Over-zealous Enforcement

Any bylaw regulating property maintenance standards for Belleville homeowners will be "over my dead body" if council appointed heavy-handed or ill-tempered bylaw enforcers, the assurance was given Monday night as a draft bylaw — the working paper aimed at spoiling property standards — was debated by a committee of city councillors and home-industry representatives assigned to work out a bylaw acceptable to measure tailored to Belleville's needs.

Ald. Keegan, spokesman for the Quinte and District Real Estate Board, said his group supports "anything that improves" the city, but shares were concerns over implementation of such a bylaw.

Mike DeMark, past president of the Quinte Home Builders' Association, said the consequences of such an ordinance could be enforced by the "wrong enforcing officer" who "could be a Hitler."

City manager Wilbur Purcell said any such bylaw likely would be the charge of the city's building inspection department.

But, appeal procedures also would be written into the regulations. The current draft, today the machine is owned by Robbie's Employees Benefit Fund, Belleville, and is rented to Tripp Construction Co., which is working on Catherine St.

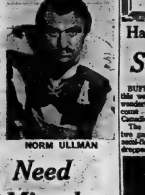
Keon and Ullman to Oilers?

DAVE KEON



NORM ULLMAN

TORONTO (CP) — Centre Norm Ullman of Toronto Maple Leafs denied reports Monday night he has signed a contract with Edmonton Oilers of the World Hockey Association.

Radio station CFCW of Camrose, Alta., said both Ullman and centre Dave Keon are not included in the Leafs' future plans and had left the National Hockey League club for the Oilers.

Oiler general manager Bill Hunter denied the reports and said he did not know which WHA club held Keon's playing rights.

Ullman said Edmonton holds his WHA rights and Hunter had called him several weeks ago to say he was interested and would call again later.

He has not called back and no firm offer was made in the initial call and no money was discussed, Ullman said.

The 39-year-old veteran, who becomes a free agent June 1, said he is interested in playing for the Oilers, "but I've heard that several other teams—including one in the NHL—are interested in me. I'm just waiting to hear."

As for his position with the Leafs, "I'd like to stay with them, but it doesn't look like they want me."

Ullman said he believes Keon, 35, to be in the same situation.

"The last time he signed with the Leafs was when I signed, so I guess he'll be a free agent June 1, too."

Keon was not available for comment.

System Drilled Home

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (CP) — Fred Shero says he took a page from the Soviet hockey textbook to turn the present edition of Philadelphia Flyers into the most disciplined club he has ever coached.

"Every drill we do on the ice is a Russian drill or a European drill," Shero said in his relative Monday. "It is designed to make you react agile and a team to athletes under game conditions."

Shero doesn't believe in

scrimmaging unless it's controlled. "We hardly scrimmage. I want more two-on-two, briefly."

Like the Russians, the Flyers' system manages to get a piece of the puck and then make a pass.

The Flyers' system has rendered New York Islanders for almost eight of the nine periods the two clubs have played. Philadelphia leads their best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final playoff series, 3-2.

Philadelphia took a 2-0 lead in the series Sunday with a 1-0 victory and then the Islanders rallied for a series low of 14 shots.

Coach Al Arbour of the Islanders blamed the Flyers for the best team in hockey.

"They take the best out of the play. They don't play the game. They run it. They run it and put in your way. They make it very difficult for you to play," developing the Philadelphia pattern, Arbour said. Same number of Russian plays.

"But I don't think the players really realize that. I don't talk about the Russians but I talk about the European. Or anybody.

"I try to take the best of the Russian game and apply it to our system. And there are a lot of things they could do or could learn from us. I'm sure of that.

But discipline is not really accepted.

"It's not easy to convince an athlete that what you say is right instead of morally through the years athletes have played with absolutely without a system.

"They could do anything they want. And now (in the NHL) they have to be disciplined. Nobody ever taught them. They fight it all the time. But now they've had fifty years behind them where they pretty well accept discipline."

The 54-year-old Winnipeg-born coach brought the expansion Flyers to the Stanley Cup last season in his third year to Philadelphia.

In the current playoffs, the Flyers have allowed 16 goals in seven games. Goalie Bernie Parent received three bruises and Wayne Stephenson one.

In the hockey, Shero said, discipline is a prerequisite to success.

"Even though the checks are successful, sixty at times, you've got to accept it and discipline yourself. You get to look at the check. How wheel you're in a state. It takes courage to do this."

But, as Shero noted, it's easy for a player to believe in a system when the team is winning. And the Flyers are on a 25-game unbeaten streak going back into the regular season.

Spruce Grove Squares Final

EDMONTON (CP) — Rookie Barry Brown collected three goals and an assist Monday night as Spruce Grove Mets trampled 7-2 over Sherwood Chiefs to even their best-of-seven Commercial League hockey final at one game apiece.

Brown, a brilliant 18-year-old prospect, who managed only 12 goals during regular season play in the Alberta Junior Hockey League, scored Spruce Grove's first three goals and added another in the last one.

He also engaged Mike Hamill of the Bulldozers in a first-period fight. Hamill, who had already been sent to the penalty bench, was given a 10-minute misconduct.

Brown didn't think there is any doubt that the Canadian player was sent from the bench to get Hamill, and an end to the "bad goals."

Hamill, meanwhile, said, "I knew I would be in bad trouble if I started fighting."

Mike Rostoum, Dan Barwuik of Calgary roiled Byrnik in the first period with a pair of goals on a power play.

Rostoum then Barwuik of Calgary roiled Byrnik in the first period with a pair of goals on a power play.

Islanders Need Another Miracle

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The story is familiar: New York Islanders are one loss from playoff elimination, Philadelphia Flyers are victory from moving on to Stanley Cup conference finals.

The Islanders went into the last game of their National Hockey League preliminary round tied 1-1 with New York Rangers, then won the best-of-three series in overtime. They went into the fourth game 1-2 and their opponents were the Pittsburgh Penguins with three consecutive victories. They went on to win four and advance to the semi-finals against the Flyers.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, took a week off with a first-round win over Toronto with two shutouts in a four-game series, and have whitewashed their opponents in the semi-finals with unbeaten streak to 21 games.

Can New York repeat its four-game miracle against the Stanley Cup champions? The answer is provided by the holes on the Islanders' faces.

"Real, one thing you should know by now, Islanders are going to fight until the very last second. It's not over," said Coach Al Arbour.

"The odds are against us," added right winger Billy Harris, "but we have to try. But Philadelphia is a different type of team than Pittsburgh was."

Indeed. Flyers Coach Fred Shero has his players at their defensive best, with checking has never been defense more alingy.

The New York can-perform a second miracle, the fi-nals will open in Philadelphia but nobody is writing off the Islanders—least of all the Flyers.

"You can't lay back against a team like that," says Flyers goaltender Bernie Parent. "Every shift we've got to be back on because they were lucky. They're a good hockey team."

Nordiques Given The Runaround

HOUSTON (AP) — If Houston Aeros defeat Quebec Nordiques in their World Hockey Association final playoff series, the Aeros' president-coach-owner Bill Dineen will be awarded to the Offshore Technology Conference.

The 48,000 conference delegates journeying virtually every available flight to Houston for the dispose have made more room-reservations than the WHA champions.

"The action's sixth largest convention in the city and we're going to stay," said Nordiques coach Jean-Guy Gendron, who's team has been involved in several incredible since arriving here last Friday. "It's a big deal for us to prepare to play."

Even Gendron Coliseum officially will be available to the Nordiques Saturday when they resume the best-of-seven series with Houston tied-1-0 after a 6-2 victory in the opener here Saturday.

After Saturday night's last,

Quebec was forced to check out of a downtown hotel to make room for conference delegates who were arriving for Sunday.

The Houston Aeros opened the 1-0 lead Saturday night with a 6-2 victory in the opener here Saturday.

Tax on Teams A New Proposal

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is proposed a heavily tax professional hockey leagues which do not have a pro-am relationship with the CAHA.

Roland Mercier, vice-president of the CAHA, said the proposed—which would, effect by the federal government to tax the leagues for playing on Canadian soil—would be used as a "last resort."

"We're going to all we can to work out an agreement with the leagues," Mercier said. "We want to do down with them, but right now they're refusing to meet us."

Mercier was referring to the World Hockey Association, which already has stated it would not have any part in setup enter into a pro-am —agreement with the CAHA to which Canadian amateur hockey players it drafts from the CAHA.

The WHA currently owes the CAHA $750,000 in development fees for players the amateur Hockey League is debt free.

Mercier said he made the proposal to Robert Giroux, deputy health minister, at a meeting in Toronto last Monday.

He said the CAHA could charge a team $50,000 for each annual permit to play on Canadian ice.

Mercier also said the proposal might not answer because associated with the pro league. He used as an example an amateur player who is an Ontario Hydro employee was considering expanding to the pro league. Under the proposal, the amateur league would have to pay the price of playing on Canadian ice.

Sabres Looking to Bounce Back

BUFFALO (CP) — Fans in this western New York city are wondering if Buffalo Sabres can come back against Montreal Canadiens.

The Sabres who won the first two games of their Stanley Cup semi-final against Montreal, dropped the next two in Montreal and were outscored 13-5 in the process.

"You have got to figure both teams will be going," Montreal coach Scotty Bowman said—but tonight's fifth game. "You can't say they won't be going because they've been there. You can't say the Canadiens won't be going because they're on the road.

"I expect Buffalo will try and forecheck us and try and swarm all over us. I don't think we can shut out the two games in Montreal and we'll be tryin' a bag of new combos.

"How we stay the game will be important. We have the momentum, but their crowd will help them."

The Canadiens may have one lineup change for tonight's game. Left winger Bob Gainey suffered a hip injury in Saturday's 8-3 victory, but Bowman hopes he will be able to play.

"I hope he'll be ready," Bowman said. "Playing and bodychecking is his game. I think he'll be all right. He's been playing against Rene Robert and Robert Sabol so all year."

For the last two games, Gainey has been on a line with centre Jacques Lemaire and right winger Roberts and the trio has managed to do an effective checking job against Robert and his linemates Gil Perreault and Jim Schoenfeld.

Buffalo coach Floyd Smith said he has been "real pleased" with the performance of Montreal's checking line.

The home coach has the last change on the defensive matchups. Smith could put another line into action each time Bowman sends his checkers on ice.

"It's up to Perreault to go out and beat his defensive," Smith said. "If Gil can't do the job, then I'll have no matter who I put out there, he's our best.

"It's just a matter of who's hungry enough to score more goals. The only difference is

Sherbrooke Can't Hold Lead

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — For New Westminster Bruins, it was another notch in their hockey-mad history of ups and downs. For Sherbrooke Beavers, it was another heartbreak in the Memorial Cup round-robin tournament brought back haunting memories.

The Bruins, champions of the Western Canada Hockey League, scored five unanswered goals in the second period, then hung on for a 7-5 win over the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League winners.

It was the second loss for the Beavers in the first round of the tournament to decide the Canadian major junior hockey champion.

In Saturday night's first game, Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series came from behind to beat the Beavers 5-4 in overtime.

In that game, Sherbrooke took a 3-0 lead then collapsed before the Toronto power play and gave up three goals in a third goals.

In Monday's game, the Beavers led 3-0 at the end of the first period on goals by Jean Gagnon, Bob Gainey and Gerry Meehan and added a fourth in the second, and gave New Westminster more than enough chances to score five goals.

New Westminster player Barry Tarnoski in the third game of the series, scored Monday's winner.

The loser will play Sherbrooke Friday to determine the other town in the final to be televised at 1:30 p.m. EDT on the CTV network.

The Bruins are getting used to coming from behind. They trailed Victoria Cougars 4-1 in the third period of a semi-final game, and came back to win it the WCHL final series with Saskatoon Blades, they trailed second period.

3-0 an d 4-2 in a best-of-seven set, but came back with two straight victories to represent the league in the Memorial Cup.

Fred Berry, Barry Smith, Richard Mulhern, Kelly Secord, Brian Shmyr, Steve Clipsdale and Clayton Pachal scored the New Westminster goals. Robert Simpson and Claude Larose had two each for Sherbrooke and Richard Mulhern had the other.

The Beavers played before a crowd of 2,126 Kitchener memorial Auditorium—are not allowed—spectators, including 14 fighting majors.

Brian Mulhern and Brian McLaut said Sherbrooke was "not intimidated" by the crowd, but didn't succeed when New Westminster started skating in the

No Delay In Final

OTTAWA (CP) — The fourth game of the best-of-seven Allan Cup hockey final will be played tonight despite a report that a bus carrying one of the teams to have play delayed, a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (CAHA) spokesman said Monday.

Barrie, Ont., Flyers were reported to have asked Monday night's game be postponed because of a bus breakdown.

Barrie will play Thunder Bay tonight in Thunder Bay tonight as planned, the spokesman said. The series finish the series for the Canadian senior hockey championship 5-1.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, organizer of the eight-day tournament, had harsh news for Thunder Bay fans who may wish to pay development fees for junior players they draft from the CAHA.

Roland Mercier, CHHA vice-president, said he has proposed that the federal government tax all professional leagues for the right to play on Canadian ice if an agreement can be reached.

Mercier stressed the tax would only be used as a last resort. He was referring to the World Hockey Association — which has already said it will not, under the present circumstances, enter into a pro-am agreement with the CAHA to pay for development of junior players it drafts from the CAHA.

You Cant Help But Get Your Money's Worth

The Tom O'Hanlon Hockey School is on the ropes. Either the citizens of Belleville and the surrounding area support it or else it goodbye.

By supporting the school all you have to do is send Isabel to it. The cost to you is a mere $95 and Isabel gets more professional instruction than he'll likely be able to handle.

There's Jim Tarbiewicz, of the Toronto Toros, Jim Lorentz of the Vancouver Canucks, Ed Campbell of Pittsburgh Penguins, and Jack Valiquette of the Toronto Maple Leaf organization.

"We want to have at least 100 different students this year," said Gary Green of the positive direction of the Tom O'Hanlon organization. "So next year we move the school to another city."

And, who cares?

Then it. If you want to send Mike Johnny to a hockey school you can send him to one of the operations in Toronto or Peterborough or somewhere away from home. Just don't put $200 a week. Most of those out of town schools will give four, maybe five, hours of ice time a week and he'll have two instructors for that time and that's about it or 30 other kids at the same time. The best bet Tom can do is let on-ice instruction at all times — Gerstler offering Johnny more coaching than that at a personal level.

So what, I mean, what's another $95 anyway?

Boys while commenting distance of Tom O'Hanlon Hockey School, say 90% are frustrated three hours of solid instruction a day, two hours of pre-practice lectures, instructional movies, video tapes and hockey courses between and two hours of coaching, coaching of weight training, coaching of agility training, coaching of speed and special Russian training techniques.

I heard enough reasons why you should take advantage of the Tom O'Hanlon School while it's still in Belleville! Enough reasons to fear summer pool rosters — and for $95 you should already have heard enough.

Included in the registration fee is Johnny's bus fare from the Trenton Community Gardens to and from the Trenton Community Gardens where the ice instruction takes place. Once you drop him at Albert College in the morning all you have to worry about is picking him up at night.

What about meals?

That $95 also includes a couple of meals a day. And they are properly prepared meals, erected by a dietician and based on necessary amounts of nutrition for hockey players.

On top of everything else, the $95 includes a hockey sweater, worth about $15, which Johnny hopes never be leaves the school.

Oh yes. And if you support the school by sending your youngster, you are also supporting the Belleville Minor Hockey Association. For every dentition enrolled (those within commuting distance) Belleville Minor Hockey system gets $5 right off the top of the registration fee.

And if all that ain't enough for $95, maybe you ought to send Johnny to one of those 1980 a week camps and take your chances.

SLICES — If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. And you've got to give Doug Adams credit for trying.

Adams, who is the Belleville McDonald's had their Ontario Football League exhibition quarterback scheduled for Sunday, he hopped on the phone to Tony Proctor of the Ottawa Tony's for Wednesday night, but Tony's Broadcast of the Belleville and District Ladies Softball League got the better field. It was all set. The Mac could have Alemite Park from 7:30 on, but got lost in the rain and the weathermen. The weather for tonight is warmer temperatures and sunny skies.

This morning, after Adams had scrambled Sunday to make all the arrangements, Proctor called Adams again and told him they couldn't make it.

"They have a game tonight and a game Thursday night," said a disgusted Adams. "The only six or seven guys would be able to look off work. Have eight of your guys that wouldn't be able to come tonight?

"I don't know why he didn't say "no" in the first place," said the gangly quarterback.

Adams is trying to reschedule the Ottawa visit for another weekend, but while he's at it hopes that McDonald's are preparing for Sunday's doubleheader against last year's OFL champs, Newmarket.

That doubleheader is also scheduled for 2 p.m. at Alemite Park.

Lions Major Midget manager, Gerry Murphy, presents Tony Bennett with the team's Most Improved Player award for the 1974-75 season. Bennett came to the team at the first of the year as a fringe player and developed into one of the club's more steady performers.

Contest Serves Double Purpose

The Big Fish Contest, conducted annually for the past 13 years by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, is now open and will run until November 16.

The cash awards total $2,300 and range from $300 for the biggest fish in each of the eight eligible species in it for the 12th prize.

In addition, all fish that meet the minimum weight requirements for the species, qualify for a special angler's certificate. The contest is run in co-operation with Molson's Brewery (Ontario) Limited.

The prize fish eligible for entry in the contest are Muskellunge Trout, Speckled (Brook) Trout, Lake Trout or Splake, Walleye (Pickerel) Northern Pike, Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass and Muskellunge.

Entry forms must be accompanied by a clear side view photograph of the fish. Scale samples are requested, if possible, and there are rules to the Ministry of Natural Resources for study.

Entries submitted over the past years have provided the Fisheries Department with valuable information on our sport fish.

Entry forms are available at convenient locations throughout the Province and may also be obtained by writing to the Big Fish Contest, Box 1288, Campbellford, Ontario.

Girls Enter 28th Annual Run

A First for Colling Road Race

John Sheppard, a 17-year-old student at Quinte Secondary School, is the favorite to win this year's Kin Colling Memorial Road Race scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

The local marathoner won the run last year finishing 10 yards ahead of his closest rival, also from Quinte.

In 1974 Sheppard completed the course in 29:30.3 and had to run against strong winds. This year's weather conditions are favorable he could smash the four-mile run's record of 21:46.5, set by Pieter's Foot Cory in 1970.

This year John will get some competition he didn't plan on. For the first time in the 28-year history of the event it has opened its doors to females.

In the field of 70 runners registered so far, there are six girls. One from Nicholson Catholic High, one from Centennial Secondary School and five from Bayside Secondary School.

The top 30 runners in the event receive crests and the girls are expected to give the top 26 finishers a run for their money.

Quinte runners are favored, while competitors from East Northumberland in Brighton, led by Dave Peckham, are also rated strong contenders. If strength comes in numbers, Belleville Collegiate Institute (BCI) should have a good shot since there are nine entered from that school.

The event starts and finishes at BCI. Starting time is 1:30 p.m.

Yanks Learn Orioles Are Mudders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For seven innings in Baltimore Monday night, Baltimore Orioles failed even at Jim (Catfish) Hunter's pitches. In all that time, as they came to the plate against the New York Yankees were four hits and one run.

It was clearly a time for a little strategy.

"We talked about it in the locker room before the game," said Bobby Grich, whose eighth-inning double finally drove in the first of two Baltimore runs in a 3-1 victory over the Orioles in Baltimore baseball victory.

"Earl Weaver told his coaches reminded us that it had rained here all night Friday and again on Saturday night—that the field was very wet and to take advantage of it by laying down some bunts."

Paul Blair led off the eighth with a perfect bunt down the third base line. It was so well placed that Hunter couldn't get to it. Grich then laid down a bunt in almost the same spot. Hunter got to the ball like first—and served it into right field. By the time it returned to the infield, Blair had crossed the plate with the go-ahead run and Grich was sliding into third.

"I came in and picked up the ball and thought Grich would be past first," Hunter explained. "When I looked up, I saw he was about 30 feet away.

"I had a good grip on the ball but my foot was sliding all the time. I've never seen an infield that wet in all my life."

Monday night's other American League games, Texas Rangers 4, California Angels 3; Boston Red Sox 7, Cleveland Indians 5.

In the National League, Montreal Expos beat Chicago Cubs 5-1, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia Phillies 11-3, and Los Angeles Dodgers beat Houston Astros 3-0.

Hunter, 3-4, lost despite giving up only six hits. Jim Palmer, 4-2, was with a five-hitter. He fanned seven Yanks and didn't walk any of them.

Cesar Tovar's two-run single capped Texas' three-run burst in the eighth inning that beat the Angels and gave Ferguson Jenkins his fourth consecutive victory. Mike Hargrove's walk and singles by Jim Spencer and Jerry Kindall brought in the Rangers' first run, they worked a double steal and Tovar singled to centre.

Luis Melendez and Mike Tyson hit two-run triples in a six-run first inning and Tyson, Reggie Smith and Ted Simmons added homers as the Cardinals, with Bob Gibson notching his first victory of the year, cruised past Philadelphia.

Doug Rau checked Houston on two hits as the Dodgers widened their National League West lead over idle Cincinnati to 3½ games. Los Angeles' runs came on a first-inning sacrifice fly by Rusty Cey and Joe Ferguson's third-inning single.

Blair a Wild Winner

MONTREAL (CP) — Right-hander Dennis Blair had trouble finding the plate but stumbled across a winning combination Monday night as Montreal Expos held on to defeat Chicago Cubs 5-3 in National League baseball action.

Blair, new 1-3, issued seven walks but gave up only four hits in his 4 2-3 innings and became the Expos' first right-handed winner of the season. Lefties Dave McNally and Woodie Fryman have three wins apiece.

Pepe Mangual's two-run home run in the third inning off Cubs' starter Rick Reuschel was also in the sixth stained the Expos to a 3-2 lead, but Jose Cardenal's RBI double in the first five innings were hitless. Blair left the game with two out in the fifth inning after walking Jose Cardenal to load the bases.

Tim Foli greeted reliever Steve Renko with a run-scoring single and Ellis Valentine followed with a sacrifice fly to make it 5-2.

Renko walked Gene Clines to open the sixth inning before retiring the next three batters.

Mike Marshall pitched the last two innings for his second save of the season.

Reuschel (1-2) was charged with only a single in his 5 2-3 innings. The first batter he faced, Cardenal, was safe on Grich's error at second and the play scored Bad Theurons at third.

The closest the Cubs came to the tying run after that was a long fly to right-centre field by Lacock to lead off the ninth. Cary Carter banked it down on the warning track and Taylor struck out Manny Trillo and Dan Kennings to end the game.

Cubs starter Ray Burris, 3-1, took the loss.

Meanwhile, the Expos announced that outfielder Rich Coggins received specialized therapy from the club physician for nausea worsens following treatment in California for a thyroid problem. Coggins, acquired from Baltimore Orioles of the American League in the winter, arrived here Sunday but remained on the disabled list.

Quebec Tops Philadelphia

QUEBEC (CP) — Pat Differ and Dave Durnin scored three goals each to pace Quebec Citchens to an 18-13 win over Philadelphia Wings in the only National Lacrosse League game Monday night.

The win was the second in five games for the Caribous and prevented Philadelphia from climbing into a first-place tie with Maryland Arrows and Montreal Quebecois. The Wings have a 4-3 won-lost record for eight points.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Wednesday, May 7

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be better off today if you don't rely too heavily upon the opinions of others. Your ideas will be good. Have busy try to direct them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Follow your hunches as to how business matters involving you should be handled. Don't let another's pressure you to do it his way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't let a minor setback throw you off-track or something you've started. Stick with it, work out very well for you today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Now is the time to play those ace-in-the-hole cards you've been holding for gain to advantages you've wanted careerwise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Most people will see the merits of your ideas. Don't let a director throw cold water on your plans.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your greatest advantages today today will come from joint ventures. If you want to make a profit, prepare to share fairly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Yes, better than most, understand that harmony is maintained through a willingness to give and take. Be prepared to compromise today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Consider the best ways to increase financial return from how you work or career. Today you'll be inspired on how to do this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Lady Luck will do all she can to help you today, if she sees you've sensibly evaluated all the risks.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Things in general will work out to your satisfaction today, provided you don't take unreasonable demands that can't be met.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Share your plans only with those you feel will fully understand and appreciate them. Avoid those who'll be nonconstructive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're better a handling tricky matters that don't take in the day than you are in the early period. Delay them till then.

Many Old People Have Diverticula

By G. C. MORTISON, MD

Dear Dr. Thatcher: I have just had an x-ray that showed I have diverticulum on my left side.

It wasn't explained to me what diverticulum is, but I have some ideas from reading notes around. Is this in your colon? I was told not to eat anything with seeds, and to avoid rough foods. I am not sure what I should eat. Do you happen to have a booklet on this subject?—Mrs. H. J. D.

Does the condition change? Dr. I've met with the rest of my life?—Mrs. H. J. D.

To refresh your knowledge, a diverticulum (diverticula is the plural) is an out-pocketing from the wall of any hollow (tubular) organ. It's caused by a localized weakness in the wall. The most common site is the lower third of the colon (the large intestine) which is the left-hand side. The condition is found in roughly a third of all persons over 45 years old.

It need not ever cause you any trouble or require any treatment, but knowing that there is important to you. You should take the preventive precautions suggested by your doctor to boot. Otherwise, it is possible the condition could develop into diverticulitis, a more serious condition in which the pouches become inflamed.

You should avoid food with large, tough seeds such as tomatoes, figs and berry jams. These can irritate the diverticula and lead to infection. A small, softer seed food such as a strawberry is not necessary and shouldn't bother them. And a certain amount of roughage is required by your system. In fact, it can be helpful in diverticulosis.

For that roughage I recommend shorts, spoonfuls fruits and vegetables and bran cereals (other than those with seeds). Don't let your problem. Your diet should mean a soft bland (or bland) stool, ideal in diverticulosis.

You should also report any bleeding or pain to your doctor. He can be the guardian of diverticulosis for which treatment would be required.

Dear Dr. Thatcher: I have heard that the breathing is (exclusively) of mineral oil into the lungs is a dangerous practice. Is the use of this substance as a lubricant safe for him. Please comment.—G. H.

Yes, this is true. This is why mineral oil is not recommended for youngsters. It can, as you say, be breathed into the lungs, especially if the child is at prayer. The oil droplets can cause pneumonia-like reaction in the lung tissue. The condition is called lipid pneumonia.

Dear Dr. Thatcher: I thought I would pass this along to you. Several years ago a relative of mine had had breach. He had it for years until it was discovered he had a bleeding ulcer.

Once that was brought under control, no more bad breath. I think this helps someone.—Mrs. D. D.

Amen. People are not born with bad breath. A change in the body odor can be a symptom of such a disorder. I have made this point in answering readers' letters on the subject of bad breath. I am glad to hear from you your relative's experience.

Bad breath can be a problem and should be investigated. Whether it is poor oral hygiene or a disorder of the digestive tract, bathing this, it is discouraging to readers to have letters from people complaining about bad breath and not to hear from them when it should be considered a success that you've something more serious than that.

Computer Pumps Gas

TORONTO (CP)—Personal service has reached the peak at the Shell service station where it's only the customer and the pump.

At Shell Canada's experimental credit-card gasoline pump at Lawrence and DuDavis Drive, motorists simply insert their credit card into a special device on top of the pump and then pump their own gas. The story of a mini-computer.

The device checks on the spot by the motorist giving the card's number to see if he has the grade.

The person who wish to pay cash, Shell also provides cash pumps. Motorists put in the money, get change and receipts, or buy by words of gas, then put the card in instead into the pump, sign down the lever.

The pump is the first of its kind in Canada and a Shell spokesman says the experiment will continue for another six months before the company evaluates public acceptance. A similar experiment here is being carried out in California by Atlantic-Richfield.

"It depends whether the public wants it or not," said the spokesman. "But it doesn't look like it does."

Credit-card gasoline costs about the same as at regular self-service stations.

Meanwhile, the United Co-Operatives of Ontario, owned by members keep-controlled makes no gasoline pumps.

All members have to do is buy $100 worth of shares for $1 and sign on the gas. Anywhere from $10 to $20 per person can use the pump.

This means members can get gas at any time of the day. The co-operative is computerized and members receive monthly statements.

A Co-op spokesman said the price is about a cent lower than average price charged at self-service stations.

BY OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South took a long time to bid his hand. When he finally bid six notrump he felt that he might be making a grand slam but, that anyone should be happy about collecting the rubber and small slam bonus.

He also took a long time to play the hand. At least he wasted a lot of time worrying about it and after he had checked the whole thing at trick two.

Trick one was easy. He won in dummy. Then he led a low club and went up with the king when East followed with the five spot. West showed out and there was no way for South to win 13 tricks.

A careful player would have once his thinking before playing to the second trick. He would have seen that four club tricks would have been enough for the slam since there were eight top tricks in the other suits. He would also have seen that he would have no problem if the clubs broke 3-2 or 3-1.

After this preliminary thought he would have led the seven low club from dummy. East would have followed with the seven, five spot and carefully South would have put on the eight, not the king. This would be quite likely to be the winning play. If the clubs broke 3-2 or 3-1, what is in games against about 1,000?

What do you do now?

A — Your lead is worth a bid beyond game. Remember your partner considered that game worthwhile. Therefore, first your try when he bid four diamonds. He has diamonds to show your second round control.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid five diamonds and your partner bids five spades. What do you do next?

Bancroft Animal Pound Getting to be Expensive Operation

By MAY HUTSAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — The financial situation of the North Hastings Municipal Pound, a joint project of Bancroft and five surrounding townships, received the attention of council Monday night.

The pound is in its third month of operation and was constructed through the co-operative efforts of Bancroft, Faraday township, Hershel township, Wollaston township, Cardiff township and the improvement district of Birchcliff.

Bancroft has assumed the major responsibility for the pound and village bylaw enforcement officer David Talbot looks after the animals and at the moment is maintaining the building.

During April the pound's expenditures were $280 while revenues totalled only $22. According to Mr. Talbot the expenditure figure is incurred through his hours of work, feed, disinfectant and other supplies.

"This pound certainly looks like a losing proposition," said Rae Carswell.

"We're going to have to have an agreement with the rest of the councils for the month-ly costs of operation," said Bancroft reeve Russell Hawley. "There is no way Bancroft alone is going to pay $3,000 a year to run that pound."

Mr. Talbot told the council that not all of the other municipalities are using the pound even though they participated in its construction.

He also said that some of the other councils regard him as the only official operator of the pound. "I've been called away from home many evenings to release dogs for residents of townships," he said. "I'm also supposed to collect the impounding fee and the money for the tag and return it to the township."

Of the five townships four of them have animal control officers who also have access to the pound.

Bancroft reeve Hawley and council instructed Mr. Talbot "split up the cost of the operation of the pound and bill each township on a per capital basis."

According to Mr. Talbot based on a five cent per resident levy Bancroft will pay $186, Faraday township, $60 Hershel, $28, Wollaston, $30, Cardiff, $22, and Birchcliff, $20.

The pound is located on Monck Rd. in Faraday township and will be finally approved and completed this summer.

Water and improved ventilation are still necessary according to provincial meatory of agriculture.

"It's compulsory to have air-conditioning in the pound," said reeve Hawley, "but we don't have to have it in the hospital."

Going Down Slow

Miss, a 350-pound orangutan at Toronto's Metro Zoo, appears to be doing a little jig. Though the 13-year-old ape looks fierce, orangutans are really peaceful apes. The new zoo has four orangutans in its Indo-Malaysia pavilion and each day two are put on display for the benefit of visitors to the zoo. (CP Photo).

Picton Council Considers Provincial Policing

PICTON — With the taxpayer's dollar in mind town council Monday voted to request the Picton Police Commission to obtain cost figures for protection by the Ontario Provincial Police.

The decision followed indications from town clerk Andrew Jarvis and Picton mayor Donald King that the 1975 police budget may be $170,000.

Mr. Jarvis said the budget, which has not yet been approved by the commission through a resolution, apparently allows for a 20 per cent salary increase.

Mayor King, a member of the police commission, told council the commission is now negotiating with the Picton Police Association and "a considerable per centage increase on top of their present salary" is being sought.

He added that four per cent separates the committee and the association in their negotiations.

A pension adjustment also has been requested and payment of past and present OMERS (Ontario Municipal Employmnet Retirement Service).

"This means a sizable amount to the town," said mayor King.

He added that the police commission did not consider this request but did agree to present OMERS payment and "a certain per centage increase" in salaries.

"They turned it down and said they would go to arbitration," noted the mayor.

"I would hate to see us lose the police force; we would be losing a certain identity," he observed.

The mayor added, however, that he shares council's concern for ratepayers.

Picton councillor Norman Mirch commented it is council's responsibility to the taxpayer to investigate all possible ways to cut expenses. He moved that the police commission should be asked to obtain the cost of provincial police protection and was supported by reeve Larry Richardson.

"There is no harm in looking into things. The police commission could give a cost comparison for a report to council next month," he said.

Picton deputy — reeve Richard Byers opposed the decision and suggested council "is jumping in with ten feet at an inappropriate time."

He said negotiations between the police commission and the police association should be conducted without any outside influence. When the negotiations are complete council can evaluate the results.

Deputy — reeve Byers said if council takes action now a public or indirect effect on negotiations may result.

"It might stir a bomb and cause a further delay but council's views must be considered," said councillor Norman Mirch.

"We are out to save a dollar and they want a dollar and a big one," he added.

Deputy — reeve Byers said the implication of the motion is that council is dissatisfied with the police budget.

"How can we be until we know what it is?" he asked.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson pointed out if the negotiating parties had wanted complete privacy they would have held in camera sessions. Since this was not done they are open to public comment.

"Negotiations often include the public sector," he noted. He termed $170,000 for police "a lot of money" and supported investigation of protection through the Ontario Provincial Police.

707 Heads for Guam

TRENTON — An armed forces Boeing 707 from CFB Trenton is flying to Guam today to remove a possible 146 South Vietnamese relatives of Canadian citizens from the Pacific island and bring them to Canada.

The 437 Squadron aircraft left Trenton for Ottawa late Monday to pick up a nine-man medical team and a portable X-ray laboratory. Additional medical supplies were also placed aboard before the aircraft left for the Pacific.

An immigration department spokesman said from Ottawa today the aircraft has 146 seats available for the return flight to Canada, but it is not clear yet how many people the plane will be bringing back.

He said if children are included in the flight, because of their smaller size, more people could be placed aboard the return flight. For the moment, said the co-ordinator, all those coming to Canada will be South Vietnamese refugees who have been sponsored by relatives in Canada.

"Our first priority is to deal with relatives," he said. So far 146 people have been identified as related to Canadian citizens by a three-man Immigration team on Guam.

Around Prince Edward

Wants Cleanup

PICTON — Picton mayor Donald King wants a clean town and with this in mind he has approached the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce to encourage merchants in street improvements.

Mayor King said he has spoken with Picton police chief Charles Fletcher concerning littering and also has asked the merchants' co-operation in sweeping the walks in front of their stores.

"The Chamber of Commerce welcomed the idea and one of the service clubs may enlarge on it," he observed.

Ask for Tenders

PICTON — Picton's animal control officer, Donald Tucker of Stirling will be given three months notice of termination of his contract with the town to permit new tenders to be called for the job.

Dissatisfaction with animal control here was brought to a head during Monday's council meeting when Picton Reeve Larry Richardson referred to numerous complaints he has received recently.

Reeve Richardson said many persons feel the job could be handled more efficiently by a Prince Edward resident who would be closer to calls of complaint.

Speeders Warned

PICTON — Picton mayor Donald King says he will not tolerate tire squealing hot rodders on town streets and has called for a crackdown.

He said Picton police chief Charles Fletcher has assured him that if license numbers are provided his force will take action to stop the hot-rodders.

Stelco Plant Built with Algoma Steel, Has Trouble Buying Its Own Fencing

JARVIS, Ont. (CP) — A spokesman Ronald J. (Stan) Tipler sometimes sets himself to why so many Canadians don't seem to know about the huge industrial developments taking place in the Lake Erie area of Haldimand-Norfolk.

"I guess it got the feeling everybody out there knows about us because I take as many speaking dates as I can every day," he said.

He manages one of his dads' best for April showing almost daily assignments in Hamilton-area beers, ranging from schools and church groups to engineers and politicians from around the world. They all want to see the biggest development of them all, the four-plant steel and heavy industrial part project of Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco).

Mr. Tipler is Stelco's community relations supervisor which means he works with local people, keeping them informed on what the company is doing and smoothing the way for the day when borders of workers move in to take the jobs.

If all goes well, the lafter will be completed in about 10 years, adding a quarter of a million new residents to the area and two new cities to house them.

So, why all the apparent labourers about development that will create a population of 1.5 million people and changes forward Haldimand-Norfolk into another Ruhr or Pittsburgh?

Certainly, the townsfolk of Jarvis, Stinson, Caledonia and Nanticoke, to mention only a few centres, are aware of it. They see it in the trucks that seem never to stop moving—2,000 truckloads of supplies a month delivered to construction sites.

They read and hear about land speculation—$2,100 an acre—and see surveyors and engineers going to work.

Notice had to pay a reported $60,000 for a plain cottage at the way of dock construction when he never held more by a high price.

"How big it the Stelco development?

In terms of the world, not too big, said Alex Fisher, a Stelco vice-president.

By late next year, the new mill will be pouring 1.3 million tons a year, not in the same league as the Japanese who think in terms of five to six million tons in a single plant, Fisher published in the United States, has a capacity of eight to 10 million.

But Stelco's Lake Erie project is the largest ever attempted by any steel company in Canada. It will cost Stelco $one million by the first of four phases and $2 billion as construction.

As now planned, when the four phases are finished in 2000, the Lake Erie mill will be producing 5.5 million tons a year. Add this to the company's 62-million-ton capacity at its Hamilton operations and Stelco will rank close to the world's top steel makers in production.

Stelco, with a payroll of more than 32,000 and $5 per cent Canadian-owned, is also about 49 per cent of all the iron and steel produced in Canada. Sixty per cent of it is sold in Ontario, and 25 per cent of Stelco products are absorbed by the Canadian market.

Ironically, Stelco doesn't produce structural steel and had to buy it from Algoma Steel Corp., also in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. for its mill construction here.

The first phase, well under way, involves erection of a 4,-500-foot ore dock, a blast furnace, coke ovens, two basic oxygen converters and a hot strip mill.

Phases 2, 3 and 4 will expand this capacity, as well as adding a cold-rolling plant, a plate mill and a continuous galvanizing line.

Mr. Tipler bounces around the construction site in a small car, from the south of here near Nanticoke on Lake Erie, to his own car, which is dented and dust-coated.

"Your car sounds like a Model A truck and rides like a truck," a visitor remarked as Mr. Tipler skirted the huge excavation for the new mill.

Helmeted workers were erecting support columns, clutching at reinforcement rods, and directed cement from a conveyer into forms.

Off in the distance, but still on the site, four large boom trailers, attached together, act as temporary construction offices—open-top, air-conditioned, and coffee costs only five cents a cup.

Stelco realized more than a decade ago that steel capacity at its Hamilton Hilton works was not enough to meet domestic demand that year demand grew 12 per cent over 1971.

The need for a major flat rolled mill was evident and equally obvious was the impossibility of trying to expand Hilton which already crowded Hamilton's skyline.

After five years of study, they chose the Nanticoke site, near a new hydro development and on one of the best harbor fronts in Lake Erie.

The area's thick, clay soil was ideal to support heavy construction and the lake provided cheap water access to Stelco's coal and iron ore sources in Minnesota, Michigan, northwestern Ontario, Quebec and Labrador.

In addition, the Ontario markets were close—$5 miles to Toronto, 40 to Hamilton, 65 to London, and less than 30 to the burgeoning industrial centres of Stratford, Kitchener and Waterloo.

"Penny piling," remarked Mr. Tipler as he slowed down for a large earth-mover tossing up a cloud of dust. "We've been pretty sensitive about our public image in this project in trying to make sure the people know what we're trying to do and in working with them."

But in our own company it sometimes doesn't work that way.

"You know, we make Frost fences and, of course, we require a lot of fencing on the site for security reasons. But when we put in our initial order to our Frost division, it was denied.

"Want to know why? They told us we were not preferred customers."

Big Development

Work has begun on the first phase of a massive $2-billion steelmaking facility and industrial park by Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco), covering an area larger than 10 square miles southwest of Hamilton. Stelco now has about 300 construction orders on the site and the total will rise to about 2,000 by the end of this year. (CP Newsmap)

Not So Stimulating

ILFORD, England (CP) — Sez shop owner John McGill has been fined $750 for selling a purported aphrodisiac that proved duced lumps instead of passions. Customers complained about the reduced-priced potion, costing $1.30. Chemical analysis revealed the potion consisted of caffeine, citric acid and bicarbonate of soda. "It was about as stimulating as cup of coffee," said the analyst.

Son of A. A. Milne Tells of Childhood

By JOE MA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

For a small boy growing up in a world where his name is a household word, life can be difficult. Such was the lot of Christopher Colbert Perry Milne, son of A. A. Milne whose books, including Winnie The Were Very Young and The House at Pooh Corner, had the boy as the central character.

He was the Christopher Robin of his father's stories and he had to live with the fame thrust upon him as an adult. Another problem was that his mother wanted a girl and even had chosen a name for the child born on Aug. 21, 1920—Rosemary.

But Christopher Milne's account of his childhood, The Enchanted Places, is that of a happy if lonely child. Perhaps he was a typical English middle-class child growing up in the 1920s and early 1930s in the countryside, observing the activities of animals and birds in the family's home, Cotchford Farm in Sussex.

He was good at mathematics, a bad boy at carpentry. And he had his pet animals—Bear, Rabbit, Kanga, Tigger and the rest. And there were the cherished places—Pooh Bridge, Owl's Tree and Owl's House among them.

But the book looks back at it all with mixed feelings but important pleasure, in the choice of an occupation—being a bookshop in Dartmouth with his wife.

The Enchanted Places, by Christopher Milne ... 159 pages; $7.95 ; McClelland and Stewart.

Gas Search in Arctic Theme of New Novel

By JOE MA
The Canadian Press

John Ballem says The Dirty Scenario, his second book, is fiction.

But in the late 1970s, it revolves around desperate United States attempts to obtain natural gas from the Canadian Arctic.

Mr. Ballem spins out a cloak-and-dagger web of intrigue, centred on Central Intelligence Agency efforts to influence blackmail and kill Fred Ortin, a psychopath who has just been appointed Canada's energy minister and whose emotional problems make his decisions difficult to predict.

Mr. Ballem, a Calgary lawyer and counsel for the Canadian Petroleum Association, said the novel reveals what he fears could happen to Canada, though he emphasized that the sequence of the book and everything happening at the moment time.

"But it's fiction and should be treated as fiction."

Mr. Ballem's first novel, The Devil's Pigeon, was on the Canadian best-seller list for 13 weeks.

In The Dirty Scenario he provides an insider's view of Canadian politics and a dash of sex, but also comes up with some fault—stiff dialogue and newspaper excerpts that lack journalistic style.

Mr. Ballem's novel follows in the footsteps of Exposition by Richard Rohmer, ... in which the energy-starved United States attempts military force to obtain Canada's petroleum resources. The energy situation will obviously provide story ideal for more Canadian authors.

The Dirty Scenario, by John Ballem; 338 pages; General Publishing Co.; $.95.

Robb Tries to Get Harbor Charge Quashed

HAMILTON (CP) — A complicated legal argument marked the opening day of the Hamilton harbor trial Monday.

Malcolm Robb of Toronto, lawyer for former harbor commissioner Kenneth Ronald Elliot, spent most of the day arguing that the charges against his client be quashed.

Elliot, 61, is charged with 11 offences in connection with illegal dredging kickbacks. A Hamilton businessman, Archibald Fisher, 61, on trial with Elliot, is charged with 10 offences.

Mr. Robb argued about the wording of the 19-page indictment handed down by a grand jury April 1; Mr. Justice Thomas Callon of the Ontario Supreme Court will rule on the motions following the Crown's argument.

No pleas were entered. As each charge was read, Mr. Robb and Reg Harris, Fisher's lawyer, entered motions to quash.

A panel of 75 prospective jurors summoned for selection of a jury, was dismissed when Mr. Robb said the arguments would be lengthy.

Elliot and Fisher are charged with six counts of conspiracy, three of uttering forged documents and one of fraud in connection with alleged kickbacks on dredging contracts in Hamilton harbor. Elliot also is charged with breach of trust.

The charges arose from a lengthy RCMP investigation.

Elliot was the local appointee on the three-man harbor commission.

Specifically, the indictment charges Elliot and Fisher with:

Conspiracy with others to defraud the commission of $288,000; conspiracy to obtain benefits from a dredging company of 15 cents per cubic yard of silt lifted plus 10 per cent for expenses; conspiracy to procure a false invoice for $158,175 in U.S. funds;

Conspiracy to obtain $13,999 in benefits for Elliot from a dredging company "as consideration for co-operation, assistance and the exercise of influence;" conspiracy to produce a false invoice for $13,999 uttering a forged cheque for $13,999; using deceit to defraud the commission of $29,187.40; conspiracy to obtain $29,187.40 for Elliot in return for influence; uttering a forged cheque worth $29,999; uttering a forged cheque worth $8,383.45.

Grain Stabilization Bill Stalled in House

OTTAWA (CP) — With the Progressive Conservatives calling Otto Lang stubborn and the wheat board minister argued that they are stupid, hopes for fast passage of the western grain stabilization bill dwindled Monday.

The Opposition and the Liberals have been arguing the bill for more than three debating days, the former doing most of the talking in a series of repetitive speeches criticizing the bill they basically support.

The proposed western grains stabilization act basically would establish a joint farmer-government fund, to which farmers could contribute up to $200 a year. Ottawa would match the producers' dollars two-for-one and the farmers would be compensated in poor years, payment being based on the previous five-year average net income.

The Conservatives argue that the no-stop reaction can be provided under existing crop insurance legislation, which would leave them readily against the vagaries of weather, Mr. Lang has countered with the argument that his bill is designed to offset the effect of depressed markets and raises slumps.

"Farmers would be willing to step up if they used a little imagination," Conservative Gordon Towers said in an interview Monday night. "We hope they'll be open to suggestions."

Mr. Towers (Red Deer) said Canada, the long string of Conservative speakers, broken only by Mr. Lang, Rabb Goodale (L—Assiniboia) and three New Democratic Party members, is trying to make sure Mr. Lang does not repeat previous mistakes.

"What really concerns the fellows is that Lang's record has not really been that good."

For example, he said, the government's Lower Inventory For Tomorrow (LIFT) program of 1970, which encouraged farmers to reduce wheat production because of drastically-reduced demand, resulted in "many farmers being caught up in a calamity."

Alvin Hamilton, the chief Conservative agriculture spokesman, said in the Commons that LIFT was "the most damaging mistake ever made" in the history of Canadian agriculture.

Mr. Hamilton (Qu'Appelle-Moose Mountain) said Mr. Lang based the program on erroneous reports from Statistics Canada.

No Best Or Worst Line Route

TORONTO (CP) — There is no best or worst solution for a hydro transmission line between the Lennox generating station and Oshawa, says a report tabled in the legislature Monday.

"The choice of routes is in large and the pros and cons are so varied that there is no single selection that stands out as the best or even the worst," Dr. Ormond Solandt said.

The Solandt Committee, the report recommended as a modified form of a route proposed by Ontario Hydro and by Consumers Cooperative Association Inc., Dr. Solandt said he was prepared to say the route he believes best.

The recommended route proceeds north from the Lennox generating station to Highway 33, Prinsted Junction, near Highway 401, which a right-of-way already acquired by Ontario Hydro. It then follows the route described in the Ontario Hydro-Consumers Assoc. Inc. report which, after about [illegible] way 401, turns west across the Moira River just north of Carlow Mills and the Trent River just south of Batawa and continues to a point near Osaca in Hope Township.

The report also supports Hydro recommendation for location of an Oshawa area transformer station at the western boundary of Darlington Township and purchase of right-of-way for lines to incorporate second generating station at Lennox, Wesleyville and Darlington.

Landowners along the route should have offices which would provide "speedy action" on difficulties, the report says, suggesting Hydro set up organizations for such offices.

It also recommends Hydro follow its own guidelines for "improved appearance" of lines by using single-sided steel poles rather than lattice towers for about 35 miles along the route.

Allen Grossman, 1 provincial resources secretary, who tabled the report, said he was inviting public comment on recommendations within 60 days. Copies would be delivered to those who made submissions and summary reports would be available in municipal offices between Lennox and Oshawa.

Bernier Fears Fuss At Kenora

TORONTO (CP) — Residents of Kenora, Ont., would not stand for a repetition of past Indian disturbances in their community this year, Len Bernier, member of the legislature for the area, said Monday.

The minister of natural resources told the house while speaking as MPP for Kenora, he would suggest that "law and order come to immediately" in event of any major disturbance.

He said the residents of Kenora had "gone through a lot" through occupation of the post office a year ago and the foundation of an area park last summer.

"I'm sure a third occurrence—I don't think the people of Kenora would stand for it, really I don't," he said.

He said he heard there would not be further disturbances this summer but publication of a book, Bended Elbow, has "further tended to divide the community."

He said the government had given approval in principle to a suggestion last week from Indian leaders for setting up a structure for resolving disturbances with the Indian groups.

One another matter raised by the Indian leaders had week. Mr. Bernier said the government would continue to preserve harvest of wild rice in 18 specific areas for the Indians. But he said the question of the harvest has been under review.

Textile Firms Said Healthy

OTTAWA (CP) — The president of the Canadian Textiles Institute Monday denied the Ontario industry is "on its knees", as provincial Industry Minister Claude Bennett claimed late last week.

J. I. Armstrong, commenting in a telephone interview from Montreal, said the textiles industry in Ontario is healthy and viable, and prepared to compete with any industrialized country.

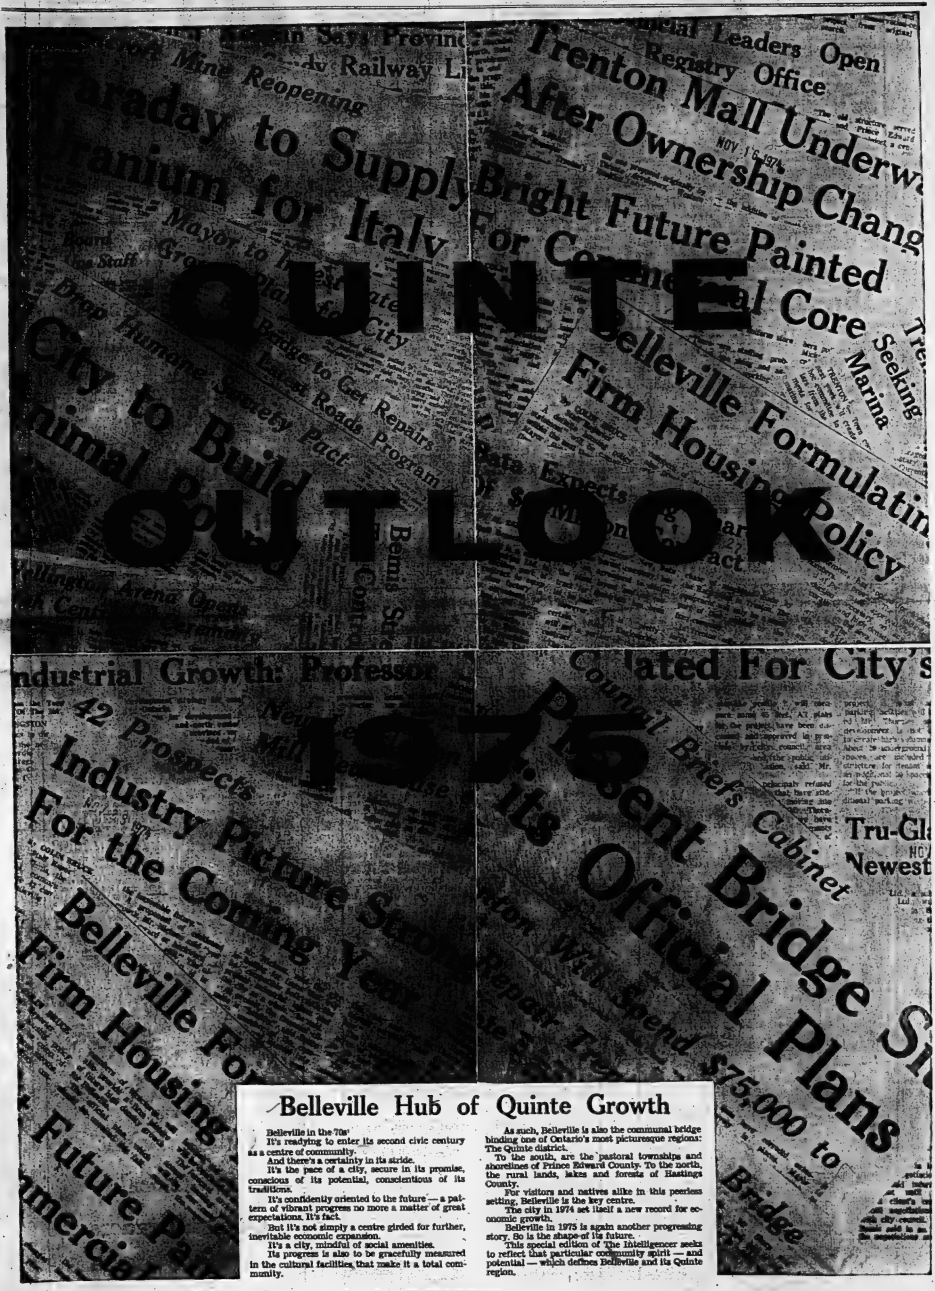
The Intelligencer

Special Edition

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1975



Congratulations to The Intelligencer for putting to press the 1975 Progress Edition that tells through pictures and words an up-to-date story of Belleville and the Quinte area.

Important to the citizens of this city and the Quinte area this year will be the development and approval of the official plan for the village of Frankford and the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow. The land-use plan that is finally approved will indicate where suburban development will take place in our two neighbouring townships. The decision will have a major effect on what Belleville and the area surrounding the present city limits will look like for the next 20 years.

The official plan of Belleville is now on the desk of the minister of housing at Queen's Park. We hope its implementing zoning map will be ready for public input this spring. Public meetings similar to those held for the official plan will be scheduled throughout the city of Belleville.

The acquisition of property for the two ice control dams should be completed in 1975 with the College and Lott dams constructed in 1976. Prior to 1939, discussions began on the construction of ice control dams in Belleville and some 25 years later the dams will be built.

The Moira River Conservation Authority with consultants is in the process of developing a watershed plan for Thurlow, Belleville and Sidney. The final adopted document will make it possible for our municipalities to have a long-term plan that can be used to acquire, protect and develop the waterfront sites along the Bay of Quinte.

The reconstruction of Dundas Street East and Sidney Street between College and Tracey will be completed in 1975. This reconstruction sees us move a step closer to the reality and final consideration of council, the reconstruction of major city road arteries.

With the purchase of the necessary properties in 1975, the new Pinnacle Street bridge should be built in 1976 along with the connecting road links provided MTC will allocate the necessary provincial funding in the one year. This will complete the reconstruction of North Front Street from the 401 south to Dundas Street.

Functional plans for the Canniffton and Harbour have been approved and council has authorized the entering into an agreement with the consultants for the final design. Hopefully, 1976 will see this project under way provided the necessary properties can be purchased in 1975.

With the faith shown in our city by private enterprise — the extension of the Quinte Mall — Century Place development in downtown Belleville — the Quinte Sports Centre by the Belleville Yardmen, Benefit Fund — the future of Belleville remains positive and exciting.

ROBIN JEFFREY
MAYOR

Having been involved in public life for almost 20 years in the Quinte area, having watched the area grow, and without intending to sound boastful, having played a small part in its growth, I am always prepared and pleased to contribute to any publication which promotes the area. Growth or growth talk is not necessarily good. Belleville and the surrounding area, known as the Quinte district, has been fortunate over the years in having excellent local governments that have fairly promoted sound growth and, as important, have provided services concomitant with that growth.

As industrial and commercial enterprises have chosen Belleville, its environs, or have grown, all the municipal services such as water, roads, etc., have been provided when and as important, the social amenities have been provided, such as parks and harbor facilities. Schools are as good as any in the province of Ontario. Public transit is a valuable service which stands out. Things that people in Belleville take for granted, such as street lighting, I find, in travelling across Canada, that we in fact, have excellent standards. I am also strongly enough the need for all people in the area to select and support strong local governments in their ward. In this, I include Boards of Education, Utilities Commissions, and other elected, and appointed bodies. People who are dedicated to their community, whether Belleville, County of Hastings, or rural township, are the most ultimately responsible for the decision in the area.

For my part, I would not want the area to grow so fast that services would be strained or beyond their limit. This always results in deficit budgeting and the taxpayers is the end paying the bill. I would also want to encourage the ongoing meetings between the various local governments on such matters as servicing new areas and zoning regulations. Any new commercial or industrial enterprise in the area benefits the whole area.

The sports complex proposed by the sponsors of the Yardmen Benefit Fund will be one of the most significant assets to be added to the stock of existing attractions already in the area. To this must be added the expansion at the Belleville Place, the Quinte Mall and particularly, the exciting growth in downtown Belleville.

Finally, the most important aspect of the entire Quinte community is the attitude of the people. Nothing, and I say this most emphatically and categorically, retains or attracts more to promote any area than the genuine wish of the people here to have it happen. The obvious ones like the industrial commission, retail service, councils, etc., can do little without the help of every salesperson, clerk, man, policeman, waiter, waitress; in fact every single individual in the community. Each one of us acts like an ambassador for our area, in terms of its benefits. Those few who regularly try to run down the fabric of the community cannot, of course, be silenced, but they certainly deserve to be ignored. We are no longer the "small town" and I think every new person is welcomed by the whole neighborhood but there is no reason why we cannot extend this same hospitality to anyone we happen to encounter. The end result will be far greater than we could ever imagine.

That the whole Quinte area has grown is inevitable. The rate for growth will be laid down by the electorate themselves. Progress and growth is dependent on each one of us.

MP HASTINGS

Directing New Growth Major Task Facing Area Officials

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Wilbur Purcell is approachably self-spoken. And you'll usually find his office door open.

He carries the same impression when he enters the other door into his office and enters an adjacent political arena — city hall's council chamber.

But he's the man who must ultimately have the answers for politicians and public — on how Belleville's most crucial enterprise is faring — the city itself.

His role will become even more involved next time.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey indicates agreement of that when she talks of the inevitability of Belleville's growth — both economically and as a habitat aware of community amenities.

Wilbur Purcell is Belleville's city manager — its top business executive.

The analogy is unavoidable. Belleville is big business — and not only financially — despite the fact its population of 38,000 make it the largest urban centre in Ontario.

Its budget last year was $8-million. It employs close to 300 workers from department heads to part-time school-crossing guards. Its capital works budget year runs around $2.5-million a year.

But it's an operation much more involved than strict business enterprise.

"It's all done through public funds and the task of administering to ratepayers becomes more complicated — increasing each year with the growth of public-service programs.

"It all comes down to the business of people, their needs, hopes, demands with the local government the most immediately involved.

Which should make the top local civil servant's talks that more exacting.

But Mr. Purcell has an administrative formula.

He believes in recruiting city hall's various department heads with maximum responsibility and views himself as the integrator of their pooled or individual assignments involving council's policies.

"What I'm really trying to say is that it's a team effort," he says.

If he has an administrative style that just about explains it, indicates Mr. Purcell has been putting it to work since he was appointed city manager last May. His appointment was the latest promotion in a career in civic government that dates back to 1952, when he became assistant city engineer at St. Thomas. He came to Belleville as city engineer in 1958.

Executive assignments at city hall will continue to grow, he indicates.

City hall in the last six years has been "mutually" directive itself to what he terms "premeditated" parallel development of community amenities — transportation, greenbelt — by councils in the local area.

Mayor Jeffrey calls Belleville's potential "very positive" for the kind of growth that creates a community that can take advantage of living amenities.

Its location on major highways and railroads and the provincial government viewing it as a growth area, are among reasons for inevitable economic expansion. The past five years have brought 14 new industries.

But such growth is not without problems, admits the mayor: How to control growth without losing the character of the community — "the good things that brought us here", she talks particularly of the Moira River and Bay of Quinte greenbelt potential now being realized.

"It's a very difficult thing that has to be, manoeuvered, but it has to be done — and it has to be done as successfully as possible."

She is irked about another — attendant and still locally contentious — issue. Restructuring of area government that has leak beyond its present boundaries".

"I detest these (municipal boundary) lines that were drawn up years ago and as a result have become barriers to what should bbe done for the future. And I see this as a big issue that community has to face with its neighbors."

But there are moves under way to overcome some. Belleville, along with neighboring Sidney Township and the area Moira River Conservation Authority are involved in acquiring a recreation site — the Potter property — stretching more than 300 acres back from the Bay of Quinte, east of the city. The conservation authority has considered a study of recreation and land use possibilities along the Bay waterfront involving the city, Sidney and Thurlow townships.

Such are hopeful signs of municipal neighbors co-operating for future common good, believes the mayor.

"These are efforts that we're making in order to become united in certain projects. That had gradually given into a stronger union that may evolve into the right type of government for the Quinte area."

To now, there's been another attraction about Belleville, she says.

The city's millrate on which taxes are based — is 1974 $120 on a $10,000 assessed home — "we know is lower than other centres of similar size".

Two years from now Belleville — a centennial celebration in the late 1990 — will halt its centennial as a city. Whether Robin Jeffrey may be mayor then is for the future to show.

But what of Belleville 100 years hence?

"It's still going to retain many of its attractive features, because I think we've set a pattern now," says the mayor. "Like the need to retain some of the historic buildings in the area — the mouth of our river development. We can't turn our backs on it now.

"It'll be a different sized community, says its present mayor. "But I still think you're going to have people saying 100 years from now: 'Isn't Belleville a great place to live and bring up our children in?'"

FRED BEMIS

Today we hear so much about development: industrial — commercial — the new industry that has just come to town — or the new commercial development with new office facilities; but what do these things really mean to our community?

Why do we need growth? Why can't we keep our town or city just like it is now?

These are all very valid questions and have very valid answers, both for and against, which for the most part depend solely upon the individual. Collectively, the majority of people are earnestly striving to make not only a comfortable living for themselves and their families, but are also trying to earn sufficient money to afford some of the luxuries our modern society has to offer.

In order to accomplish this almost impossible task of earning more dollars, we inevitably arrive at the point of no-job. This is where it all begins. A demand has been created. If there are no jobs available then that's where the demand hits a lull of doing. The demand is still there but it can't be met at, this time.

At about this same time a manufacturer has received a new order he has contracted and his business must expand, in order for the business to expand he must have more staff and now you are beginning to get the picture.

Without the staff the business must face a decision:

1. forget about expansion in the present location, or

2. find a location where there are sufficient people.

This is a very simplified way of showing a possible development path, but it does point out one of the basic reasons for needing industry — to provide jobs for our existing labor pool. Each year we have hundreds of students graduating from our area schools. These young people have learned basic skills and are in need of employment, and without the new growth and expansion of industry, there would be no employment for these people.

There is general recognition for the need to create jobs and new tax revenues for the community, but a more important task lies in the creation of an atmosphere within the community that is conducive to expansion and growth. The community must plan the future wisely. The establishment of guidelines in planning are important in the overall protection of our unique life style. The growth and diversification of our present industrial base will offer more challenging and diverse employment for our ever-increasing populace. The guidelines must, however, insure that with this development the life style so precious to us is not affected negatively but is enriched.

1974 was a great year in our history with new industry and expansion of existing companies, our growth was greater than in any other year in a recent history. Part of the impact on employment is, yet to be felt but it will help in easing the jobless rate in the area which is due to slowdowns in other economic sectors.

The value of new industrial building permits issued in 1974 was over $7 million. This figure is greater that the total of the last five years.

1975 is an optimistic year for development, with new projects planned and new industries looking for sites. We may not duplicate our 1974 records, but with a general upturn in economic conditions forecast, it should be another year of steady growth.

GEORGE THOMPSON

Belleville is the sort of community which looks at itself and criticizes itself — and then improves as a result. With intelligent city managers and concerned input by its citizens Belleville is acknowledged to be just about the ideal place to live.

But the subject of the day is how will Belleville grow? What will it become? How can we make it better? And how can we prevent it becoming something less?

Belleville will grow in spite of anything we may do to prevent it. It is free enterprise economy people can live where they like and business people locate where they chose within limits. Although shortages of housing and locations seems to be the exception rather than the rule. Most applications are outweighed by other advantages and growth will result.

What will Belleville become? — it is the way we want it to become if we have the courage and foresight to make it so.

First we must have a clear idea as to what our target is. To me, the ideal process for this is that undertaken by the City of Belleville in the development of their official plan. A proposal submitted at public meetings for comment, and local committees were encouraged to study it and make recommendations.

The Chamber of Commerce has an important role here too. With the resources available for research and the opportunity to involve its members, the Chamber should have strong recommendations to make regarding the development of the City. No other organization has a membership of such diversity from which to draw.

Belleville is not an island of development and planning for its growth cannot be accomplished without the co-operation of all the municipalities involved. "Belleville" has expanded to the point where not much more than half its inhabitants live within the city limits, and this trend will continue.

This co-operation among municipalities is a difficult thing to accomplish because of the diverse interests and objectives involved. To co-operate involves compromise and these have had to be hammered out in long-drawn-out sessions point by point. The results are worth the cost though, as the Quinte Sewage Plan and Hastings County School Board illustrate.

We would not benefit from regional government in my view because we have the means of accomplishing the benefits without the horrendous costs and problems involved.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to offer itself as a means of gathering public opinion, or in any other way we might be useful.

By city growth, Belleville can grow slowly, in a well planned organized manner. We can provide good jobs for our people in quality industries and hence can offer good employee situations, and corporate citizenship that makes only positive contributions to the environment.

We can have a quality of life we would like to see, good educational facilities, housing, recreational activities and opportunities for citizen contribution to the planning and organizing of the community's life style.

And we can have a strong, active Chamber of Commerce deep in the middle of all this activity, focusing the interest of the community in Belleville objective.

GEORGE THOMPSON

RICHARD POTTER

The past year has been one of some uncertainty in the economy, but I see no reason why we should not be confident about the future.

My confidence stems not from any "hidden" information I might have about the direction in which the economy is moving, but from a basic faith in the ability, strength of character and determination of the average Canadian. And in the Quinte area, I believe we are proud to think of ourselves as average Canadians" which, to me, implies the kind of people who are the backbone of this country and this province.

We in the Quinte region have been fortunate. We have enjoyed a steady expansion of industry. We have seen the development in our community of facilities for senior citizens and family housing. And we have seen steps taken to improve our environment by reducing pollution and by expanding recreation areas. In other words, the Quinte region has enjoyed a steady, controlled growth, planning aimed at improving the quality of life of its citizens.

I hope this trend continues. I believe that if governments at all levels are prepared to plan carefully and wisely, and if they will recognize the importance of our community's resources and the need to protect and safeguard them, then we will.

It is my hope for the future of the Quinte area that this co-operation and spirit of working together on behalf of this region will grow and prosper in the years ahead.

Easing Pain One Goal Of Deloro Stellite

It's a co-operative effort. Belleville's Deloro Stellite, the Canadian and Ontario research foundations and two Toronto doctors are helping take the pain out of arthritis.

Since 1972, the Belleville plant has been actively engaged in developing a shoulder joint and improvements over available joints that make its application more attractive to the surgeon.

Deloro Stellite in Belleville is hoping these improvements will stand up to current clinical analysis — and give the local firm a head start on the North American market.

With peculiar bashfulness, the project was nearly lost before it began.

Len Shacklock, plant administrator, noticed an order for a peculiar part for a Toronto doctor. With a background knowledge of medical rules, Mr. Shacklock investigated the order and — after a meeting with top company officials — ushered Deloro Stellite into full partnership in the project.

"One of the first recipients was derelict drunk," said Mr. Shacklock. His progress with the new joint was "terrific," he said.

Dave Karsikas, manager of engineering and responsible for the initial exploratories of the Belleville plant, said during an interview, "It's costing thousands of dollars to make just one joint right now but hopefully this cost will be minimized.

At the moment, all work on the joints is custom designed and built individually by skilled technicians.

"If all goes well, we'll be expanding the small laboratory facility to employ up to 10 people working on an assembly line of sorts," said Mr. Shacklock.

Mr. Karsikas said it will be another two years before the shoulder joint can be fully marketed — and by that time we'll be capable of constructing hip, knee, elbow and finger joints.

In the meantime, the project is talked about in general terms and plant visitors may be escorted through the laboratory. But, some questions won't be answered and some equipment cannot be photographed.

"It's a highly competitive business and not without the risk of industrial espionage," said Mr. Shacklock.

Because the implant rests in a human body, exacting care in construction is needed — eradicating the possibility of having to remove it later because of a malfunction.

The ball joint is first welded together and then turned and polished perfectly round — a process the manufacturers are reluctant to elaborate on.

Shanks must be hammered into the bone marrow to anchor the ball and corresponding socket parts in place.

A problem in the past has been securing this shank will not move — remedied currently with screws and cement.

The Ontario Research Foundation developed a porous coating to be applied to the shank that would allow bone tissue to "grow into the metal."

Only 14 days before an United States firm was to take over the process, the Belleville firm tendered to the foundation and received the contract to work on the material.

The Belleville plant now is the worldwide distributors of the product and once porous coating is a proven product, Deloro Stellite will retain sole rights for one year to capture the market.

Mechanical joints are not perfect but "perfection is our ultimate goal," said Mr. Karsikas.

"We'll come pretty damn close," he adds.

Council Confident Area On 'Threshold' of Boom

Belleville is a service hub for some of the most diverse tourist regions in Ontario.

To the south lie the beaches, bays and provincial parks of Prince Edward County — a peninsula gently jutting into Lake Ontario, and lined with sheltered coves and waterways.

To the north lies the rugged wilderness of Hastings County with its lakes and streams and mineral deposits that draw collectors of mineral gems from around North America.

But it is the headland itself where potential as a year-round recreation area that has recently been tapped, says Vera McMurray, president of the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council.

The Hastings outdoors has 430 lakes — "all with fish" — an environment for an area that is "only on the threshold" of tourist expansion, says Mr. McMurray.

One problem, he admits, is that private investment has been slow in developing the area's possibilities.

"But there's certainly a terrific future for it," he adds.

With the neighboring Land O'Lakes tourist group in Lanark and Addington county, his council has come up with one ambitious proposal.

They've presented the Ontario cabinet with plans for creating a 300,000-acre recreation area on Crown land, running across the central townships of both counties.

Gerry O'Shaughnessy and Doug Rowe debate downtown area plans

Merchants Work Together To Improve City's Core

Belleville's downtown can look forward in a year of change, expansion and improvement, says Gerry O'Shaughnessy, president of the downtown association.

Among the immediate changes are the development of Century Place and the pasting of a sign bylaw which will rid the downtown of overhanging signs both welcomed by the downtown executive.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy has urged downtown members to act as quickly as possible to remove the overhanging signs though the bylaw provides merchants with five years to complete renovations.

Once the signs are replaced with "flat-to-the-wall" signs, the downtown will have a neater appearance and will be relieved of the cluttered look, he says.

Century Place will be a major development for the shopping core boasting five floors of commercial and office space.

The downtown association is more enthused than ever to work towards re-vitalization of the downtown core," says association vice-president Doug Row.

"This will be our biggest year ever towards re-building the downtown as the prime shopping area" said Mr. Row.

The association this year will work towards re-combining of downtown sidewalks, improved clean up of the shopping area; modernization of lighting and renewed investigation into provision of more downtown parking.

For the last two years, every business in the downtown area has paid a special tax levy — over and above normal taxes — with this extra money placed in a downtown redevelopment fund.

This year, the downtown merchants association will have a $15,000 budget to work towards its goals. This budget is drawn from the $25,000 in special taxes collected each year.

A Community's Health: Belleville General Hospital

Education Now Important Task of General Hospital

A hospital is not just cure and a comfortable bed when you're ill.

At least, not with Belleville General Hospital. Not anymore.

Founded on charitable funds 90 years ago, BGH in 1975 is perhaps as most visible investment in how Belleville has developed.

From that founding tiny venture in community philanthropy — needing only three nurses when it opened in 1885 — the hospital today is a multi-phase health care delivery centre for an area of 120,000.

The 302-bed structure which today is a landmark on the Bay of Quinte skyline, is the hub of medical activity that reaches far beyond its wards, sophisticated clinics and laboratories.

The community is represented by involved in preventive medicine through an ongoing educational programme.

These are among projects by which the hospital seeks to reconcile increasing social demand for health care with inevitable, mounting cost.

Objective of such a thrust in services is what Philip Richard, BGH executive director, identifies under the collective title of "community outreach."

"What we're doing is placing a lot of emphasis on services that are not in-hospital anymore, but right out in the community."

The hospital itself is a centre that provides a multiplicity of health care services that range from psychiatry to speech therapy, even diet counselling.

But it also is the originator and administrator of programs that include:

(1) Home care. A patient can be treated at home receiving regular housekeeping, therapy, nursing and physician attention. In 1974 the caseload was nearly 1,300 in Hastings, Prince Edward and part of Northumberland counties.

(2) A preschool nursery for youngsters with emotional or other personal problems.

(3) A clinic for emotionally disturbed youths at Trenton.

(4) Continuing educational seminars with public panel discussions involving experts in various health problem areas.

But in-hospital functions also keep BGH cover a wide area of referral for special treatment or diagnoses.

Statistics define the demands on what now is an operation budgeting around an annual $12,000,000 — operating costs went up 30 per cent for 1975.

(Owned by the city and County of Hastings, its daily operation probably Belleville's biggest employer with a staff of about 1,000 and a payroll that runs close to $8.5 million).

In 1974 BGH admitted nearly 10,000 patients who spent a total of 101,000 days in hospital — compared to 88,700 in 1974. Some 7,100 babies were delivered; more than 5,000 operation performed. Its laboratories run more than 2,000,000 tests, an in-patient alone.

The mounting demand is not being pressured by in-patients alone. In 1974, the hospital's emergency unit served 67,000. In 1966 the total was 30,400 when he arrived as administrator, noted Mr. Rickard.

Out-patient treatments by the psychiatric clinic totalled 2,700—up more than 700 from the previous year.

The upswing is dramatically demonstrated by the hospital's nuclear medicine department. Last year it was involved with 4,400 cases. When the service was first organized in 1967 its caseload totalled 222.

Such relentless pressure has brought reactions. The latest included a space study commissioned from international consultants Gordon A. Friesen, of Washington D.C., who designed the present BGH complex in the mid-1960s. Among recommendations was the addition of an eighth-level, costing $1.3 million. The administration still is thinking that one over, while probing alternatives.

The hospital's significance has been noted in other quarters.

Four years ago, the provincial health ministry chose BGH to administer experimental project where ambulatory patients could be cared for at less cost than in actual hospital beds. The results of the Queen's Self-Care Unit are still being evaluated, although a recent ministry study suggested it should be reduced in size.

Hundreds Enjoy City's Minor Sports Leagues

By DOUG WALSH
Sports Editor

DON SMITH

Hundreds of city youngsters are involved in minor sports programs each year. Thanks to dozens of interested persons who volunteer their time and energy, the city's youth has a varied menu to select from when it comes time to decide on a sport.

Belleville Minor Sports Association (BMSA) serves as a liaison between city council and the executive of each minor sport.

Each sport is represented on a BMSA executive council.

Heading up the BMSA is president Floyd Armstrong. Don Smith is vice-president; Sy Bochnek, secretary; Tom Neill, treasurer, and Carolyn Moynes, treasurer.

Armstrong, Bochnek and Smith are also involved in separate divisions of minor sports.

Floyd is president of the Belleville Archery Club. Sy heads the Belleville Minor Baseball Association and Don is president of Belleville Minors Softball Association.

Other members of the archery club executive are past president, Nora Kearney; secretary, Brian Turner; treasurer, Jean Maitland. Armstrong also serves as target chairman and Turner is responsible for publicity. John Widdicks is field chairman and Howard Adamson handles Junior Olympic Archery Program details for the club.

Working with Bochnek on the baseball executive, are first vice-president, Vi Christopher; second vice-president, Bill Anderson; third vice president Debbie Christopher; secretary, Theresa Hounslow; referee in chief, Bob Davenport; sponsorship convener, Gord Miller; equipment convener, Mac MacLeod, and director of public relations, Mary Culloden.

Glen Hamilton is convener for BMHA Ontario Minor Hockey Association representative teams. His assistant is Jim Robertson.

Conveners of BMHA house league divisions are: novice, Les Rankin; atom minor Randy Wickell; atom major, Bob Laing; peewee minor, Norm Roberts; peewee major, Howard Shugg; bantam minor, Jim Phillips; bantam major, Jim Stephenson; midget, John Berbrusse and juvenile, John LaBarge.

Dr. T.I. Woodley heads up the Belleville Minor Soccer Association. Vice-president is Bruno DiGenova, Tilton Beaumont is the statistician.

SY BOCHNEK

Elizabeth Willman, secretary, Gus Christopher, public relations, Larry Woodley, equipment manager and Joe Iasenza, referee in chief.

President of the Belleville Minor Lacrosse Association is Don Runciman, with Owen Riddle serving as vice-president; Doreen Ware, secretary; Jack Donald, past president and Don White, Ontario Minor Lacrosse representative.

Directors are Bob Bromley (house league), Roy Payne (referee) and Joe Weymark, (statistics and schedules).

Ken Carr-Brain's active Apollo Barbell Club offers a junior weight-lifting program for the youngsters.

Quinte Marine History on Display

SOUTH MARYSBURG — Progress of the fishing and sailing industries in Prince Edward County has been reconstructed at the Marine Museum at South Bay, three miles south of Milford.

An unusual museum it is duplicated only in a few centres in Ontario and annually attracts hundreds of tourists and local residents.

So popular has the museum become and so generous the donations of artifacts that plans are now in progress for an addition to permit additional displays, especially those relating to the fishing industry says Philip Dodds, Marine Society chairman.

For a number of years a marine museum has been the goal of Prince Edward marine historian Willis Metcalfe and a number of others interested in the county's seafaring men. The Marine Society has received full backing from South Marysburg township council since its establishment ten years ago.

In the autumn of 1965 when the lamps of False Duck Island lighthouse went out after 138 successive years and demolition began, plans for a marine museum unfolded.

The Prince Edward Historical Society secured the upper part of the light and it was transported to the mainland of Prince Edward where it was presented to South Marysburg council for use as a reconstructed lighthouse in a park near South Bay Church.

Stone from surrounding fields was used in construction of the tower and the project began in October, 1968, was completed in time for an official opening in September, 1967.

The lighthouse was Canada's Centennial project by South Marysburg and Athol townships.

A building to house small marine artifacts was officially opened in 1970 during the annual Mariners' Service at the park.

The Mariners' Service is held each summer in South Bay church adjacent to the park.

It is unique in Ontario and attracts hundreds of persons each year.

This service originated at Cherry Valley Church in 1927 and was continued there for 10 years.

After a lapse, it was again started at South Bay in 1970 and has been re-established as an annual event.

The Marine Society is interested in receiving any artifacts relating to the fishing industry or sailing, past or present.

"This is an ideal place to assure that such items will be preserved for posterity," said Mr. Dodds.

He noted the museum and park reflect the progress of two important industries for more than a century.

23,000 Students Attend 54 Public Schools in Hastings County

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education has a total of 54 elementary and secondary schools providing a learning environment for 23,966 students in the county.

The board has 43 elementary schools, eight secondary schools and three schools for trainable retarded children. These schools represent a total of 815 classrooms with about 45 portable classrooms in operation during the school year.

The total academic staff supporting the 54 schools amounts to about 1,133 teachers and principals as well as other para-educational staff.

The board hires an additional 365 personnel involved with administrative, business and special education staff. There are five superintendents of education who are responsible for families of schools.

Completing the academic administrative staff is education director Eric Ramacres and deputy education director Les Reid.

Under the special education section of the board, there are three psychologists, one home instruction teacher and 20 special education support class group assists school staffs in working out classroom or behavioral problems.

Under the business staff section the Hastings County Board of Education employees 148 secretaries, both full and part-time. The business section also employs about 191 custodians and maintenance personnel.

Concerning the board's transportation problems there are 370 bus routes that operate on a daily basis in the county. There are about 9,500 students bused daily within the county system.

County board bus drivers log over two million miles during the school year. They use 199 vehicles — station wagons to 84-passenger buses.

The Hastings County Board of Education has 70 buildings within its responsibilities. These buildings sit on 45 parcels of land throughout the entire county.

The cost of operating these buildings is about $1.77 a square foot with the equalized assessment of the school buildings and property at $65-million.

Concerning budget information the Hastings county board of education struck a budget of $38,980,000 in 1974. This compared with a 1973 budget of $34,482,000.

The board meetings are held on the second and fourth Monday of every month at the Education Centre, 156 Ann St., Belleville.

It is the school board's policy to make school facilities available to responsible organizations when the facilities are not required for school use. For regulations and to reserve facilities interested groups can phone the education centre.

James Sory, Ralph Swan, the business administration committee, while Mr. Hawley heads the bylaw and policy

Economic Climate Now Means Proper Crop Selection Vital

One of the richest and most diversified farming areas in the province surrounds Belleville, with a wide variety of farming operations being carried out in the district.

A prosperous farm community is important to the city, the retail hub of the area and supplier of much of the domestic needs and farm supplies for the district.

In 1975, farmers in the Quinte area will face the hardest decisions they have had to make for many years, says Lyle Vanclief, area farm spokesman.

Mr. Vanclief's Willowlee Farms at Ameliasburg in Prince Edward county produce strawberries, apples, potatoes, pork, beef and feed crops. He is president of the city's Quinte Exhibition and Raceway, the Hastings-Prince Edward Pork Producers' Association, chairman of the Ameliasburg Planning Board, member of the Prince Edward County Board of Education, vice-president of the Prince Edward Soil and Crop Improvement Association and one of three producers on the federal Committee for Food Systems Canada studying the pork industry.

In Mr. Vanclief's opinion, farming in the Quinte district has stabilized over the last few years. Prior to then many older farmers were retiring and their properties were being sold to younger operators, real estate developers or hobby farmers from larger centres.

Now, he says, the majority of [illegible] will continue to operate as long as economic conditions permit.

With farming being the high-risk, cyclical business it is, Mr. Vanclief says a strong grain crop, the ruinous and decisions made on the basis of today's conditions may look ridiculous when the crop is in or the animal is ready for slaughter.

For instance, he said, pig farmers who cut back on production because of high feed costs, now are in the position of not having enough stock on hand or bred when the price of feed came down. The same applies to cattle breeders, only they have a longer gestation period to wait through.

Many Adults Returning To College Classrooms

The popularity and success of the extension division at Loyalist Community College has can be measured in the annual increase in the number of students.

The extension division handles continuing education for all interests of all kinds for all interested residents in the four-county area served by Loyalist.

Since 1971 - 72, extension officials have seen an increase of 2,000 students per year. At that time, there were 1,800 registered students. This year, the number is approaching 6,600.

They have a choice of 51 courses ranging from college credit to hobby and leisure courses at 52 locations in 27 municipalities taught by over 300 instructors administered by 22 night school supervisors.

The extension program is offered through the co-operation of the county boards of education in the affected areas. Both offer continuing education courses, designed to ensure no overlapping or duplication which maintains the least possible cost of operation but realizes the highest efficiency.

Camping Boom Providing Jobs

STIRLING — Business is snapping good for Centenary Manufacturing Co. Ltd. in Stirling, three minutes north of Belleville. Business is so good, it means 4 workers too, since fiberglass truck tops build up a tremendous charge of static electricity when they are removed from the mold.

The molds are gingerly wiped out and immediately sprayed with a colour coat before dust particles are attracted to the highly charged mold.

"We started out making 20 truck tops a month but we are upped now to 80 per month," says company president Hugh Heslip.

There are eight of us working through the winter, and the rest of the year there are 13 employed full time."

Mr. Heslip has a solid background for the business. After completing a tool design apprenticeship and serving a stint as a naval petty officer, he returned to Canadian General Electric in Peterborough as a tool designer.

During his 13 years with CGE he progressed through various positions of responsibility, including tool design checker, group leader of various projects, and was selected for a company course in manufacturing management, but had to leave this to assume other responsibilities due to the illness of a government head.

He resigned from CGE as supervisor — standards, motor and generator division. He was also chairman of the cost reduction committee and department suggestion committee.

Mr. Heslip joined Delore Skellie, which he felt offered more personal interest across a wider range of company activities. During his 13 years with the company he was, in succession, supervisor — engineering, drafting and estimating; supervisor — production scheduling; manufacturing manager; supervisor — engineering services; and finally, manager of foundry operations.

In 1971 Mr. Heslip left Delore Skellie to form Centenary Manufacturing Co. Ltd. Mr. B. C. MacKenzie, former sales manager, Delore Skellie, joined Mr. Heslip in the enterprise.

"The first year in business, my wife Theresa and I earned $4,234.31." Mr. Heslip recalled. In 1974 Centenary's payroll was in excess of $75,000.

At the moment, Centenary is under two roofs. Molding is completed at the premises on Frankford Rd., and finishing and hardware installation is carried out on North St.

"At some point manufacturing has to be put back together under one roof" Mr. Heslip said. "We are making about 10 to 12 tops a month. It depends upon the product mix. If we were producing 30 units a day it would be silly to be detached like this."

Centenary wasn't always located in Stirling. It started out in the spring of 1970 in a basement manufacturing snowmobile safety lights. Then in fall of the same year Centenary moved to Frankford.

In 1971, during visit to California, a chance meeting with a custom fiberglass manufacturer made Mr. Heslip realize the sales potential for fiberglas truck tops manufactured in Canada. To accomplish this move to a different type of manufacturing, part of a garage was rented in Frankford.

Bob Hagerman, an experienced fiberglas technician joined Centenary, and the first truck top tooled was for a Datsun.

Now tops for many types of trucks are sold throughout Canada to authorized automobile dealers only.

Early this year Mr. MacKenzie formed his own marketing company, Stirling R.P. Products, and is the sole distributor for Centenary. Mr. MacKenzie handles other compatible lines.

"You don't get paid but the rewards are great."

Ruth Barrows sums up what might be called her philosophy of life as director of Belleville's Central Volunteer Bureau.

Giving four hours a day, five days a week, plus attending local meeting and out-of-town conferences in the natural course of events for Mrs. Barrows, who began the Volunteer Bureau about nine years ago.

At the time she was asked to organize a sewing and crafts club for low-income women. She did and as a result, the United Community Services director asked her to begin a volunteer bureau.

"He said I was good at getting volunteers and that a couple of hours a week would take care of organizing a central registry of volunteers," she says.

As it turned out, he was both right and wrong; it's taking a lot more than two hours a week but she is, in fact, very good at it.

In the years the Volunteer Bureau has existed, there has been a steady registry of 300 to 400 active volunteers, giving time in any one of a dozen or more Volunteer Bureau run and co-inspired projects.

Currently Mrs. Barrows is involved at a more than local level: She's Ontario regional representative to the new Canada Committee on Volunteerism — she recently attended an Ottawa formation conference — and a great influence in the new Ontario volunteerism organization.

These administrative duties are just part of a complex job: Ruth Barrows admits that when she began the bureau she spent months studying the way in which like organizations operated in other cities.

In other words, there's a lot more to it than finding someone to tutor a child or bring books to the elderly.

There's the necessity to be tuned in to government programs, for example, which make funds available to charitable or community service endeavors. And there's the need to match volunteers and their jobs properly so that everyone — including the volunteer — is satisfied.

In spite of the weight of her job, Ruth Barrows stresses that throughout she's tried to be sure that she is not indispensible to the Bureau.

Her systems of key volunteers — persons who are in charge of specific programs — is one example; the bureau's functioning and knowledgeable board of directors is another.

What are the rewards for her efforts?

Besides the obvious gratification of seeing community needs filled, Mrs. Barrows says she's thrilled at the consistently good response from Belleville's citizens.

"Early retirement and other economic factors are bringing an increasing number of talented people into the volunteer community," she says.

Recently, an enquiry for office assistance at the bureau resulted in a record-breaking 32 replies.

"Business is really brisk," she says happily.

County Sponsors Education Week

Hastings County sponsored the annual Education Week this year with Ontario's education minister Thomas Wells opening the activities April 29 at Centennial Secondary School.

Each year a particular county in Ontario is selected as the focal point for the Education Week. Last year it was held in Brant County with Brantford as the centre of activities.

The 1975 Education Week was jointly sponsored by Hastings County Board of Education, The Hastings Prince Edward County Roman Catholic School Board, Loyalist College, Sir James Whitney (OSD) and Ontario Business College. Many other community organizations took part in the celebrations.

The theme of the 1975 Education Week was "Learning, a co-operative community enterprise". During preliminary stages Ontario's premier William Davis said the week should stress that schools are a community resource which need not be limited to school hours.

"Since school boards consolidated in 1969 they have demonstrated a willingness, indeed and eagerness, to encourage community involvement in the schools. It is hoped these programs and services will help establish a strong community identity, bringing people of all ages together for a wide variety of cultural and educational activities," said the minister.

To advertise the activities and the Education Week three students from Nicholson Catholic College wrote a theme song entitled Learning is. The was song was recorded by the ministry of education and played on Ontario radio stations during the week of April 29 to 26.

The official party met Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at Albert College for a special non-denominational service. Radio CJBQ broadcasted the service live. The group, later attended a luncheon at Loyalist College.

- It is wealth . . . that cannot be stolen.
- It is fortune . . . that cannot be bought.
- It is honor and character, impossible to imitate, impossible to cheapen.
- It is integrity.
- A man feels it when he labours with his hands, and offers his products for sale. His name is on some products. His good name is born and sustained with these products.
- A store is no different from a man.
- If it has a good name . . . it has wealth untold.
- It has pride . . in itself, in its products . . in its good name.
- Let no one tell you that there is ever an excuse for the loss of a good name.
- Neither cost nor the lure of temporary profit.

Glenora Fisheries Studying Changes in Quinte Water

By CASH MAHAFFY
Staff Reporter

GLENORA — The future of the Bay of Quinte as a prime recreational body of water and source of sport and commercial fish is bright, but there is an acoustic evidence to this effect yet, according to Dr. Donald A. Hurley, research scientist with the provincial ministry of natural resources fisheries research station here.

Dr. Hurley's hopeful prediction is based on experience in other areas when the input of phosphorous — mainly from detergents — was stopped or drastically reduced in sewage effluent.

As Glenora anchor man for Project Quinte, Dr. Hurley is working with a team of scientists to evaluate changes in water quality in the Bay that result from phosphorous reductions. Involved are the Ontario resources ministry, ministry of the environment, Queen's and Guelph universities and the federal Canada Centre for Inland Waters at Burlington.

Project Quinte began in the spring of 1972 and has continued as a monitoring program to determine the effect on water quality and aquatic life of the reduction in phosphorous levels in an otherwise unchanged situation.

Although phosphorous levels in the Bay have been reduced somewhat in recent years as detergent manufacturers cut phosphorous levels "in their products, the big move will come at the end of this year. At that time, sewage treatment plants will begin a program of phosphorous removal that will result in only about 30 per cent of phosphorous going into a municipal sewage system coming out the other end and into the Bay and other Ontario waters.

Phosphorous is believed to be the villain in what has happened to the Bay—over the years. Because it acts as a fertilizer in fresh water, phosphorous promotes the growth of algae, the floating green scum often found washed up on shore.

Algae has a relatively short life, says Dr. Hurley, and when it dies, it sinks to the bottom. This is where the trouble begins. As the algae rots, it consumes oxygen. The result is eutrophication — a body of water whose oxygen supply is sufficient only to support low levels of plant and aquatic life.

With the elimination of concentrated inputs of phosphorous from municipal sewage, it is hoped water clarity and oxygen levels will be improved in the pelat where higher life forms will return to the Bay.

Although sport fishermen and boaters generally agree the situation in the Bay is improving, Dr. Hurley says the Project Quinte team has no evidence based on chemical tests that Bay water quality is improved. Tests are taken on a regular basis at 13 points in the Bay and samples analyzed.

Dr. Hurley is optimistic, though. At Lake Washington, near Seattle, sewage effluent was completely diverted from the lake and within two years a dramatic improvement in water quality was recorded.

Project Quinte will continue until 1980. Until then scientists urge that no new elements — such as fish stocking — be introduced into the Bay. This, Dr. Hurley says, will enable scientists to evaluate, in a controlled situation, what happens when phosphorous levels are reduced.

One fly in the ointment that concerns the researcher is the new Lemnox generating station. They'll turn the operation it will discharge large quantities of hot water right at the narrows where the Bay of Quinte joins Lake Ontario. What effect this will have on fish travelling between the Lake and the Bay is unknown.

With the anticipated upgrading in water quality, Dr. Hurley sees a number of things happening. One of the first would be a return of desirable aquatic plants. These would provide shelter for higher level insects that would provide food for better quality fish and spawning cover for bass species.

As Dr. Hurley points out, the problem in the Bay is not lack of fish. "There are lots of fish in the Bay. The quantity is there but the quality is missing."

With an improvement in Bay water quality, it is hoped that nature, with help from man as required, will restore the Bay of Quinte to its former status as one of the most productive freshwater fisheries in the world.

"What we are trying to do is rehabilitate an important resource," Dr. Hurley concludes.

Village Schools Serve Thousands

BANCROFT — Since 1969 the education of North Hastings children and the administration of area schools has been the responsibility of the Hastings County Board of Education.

Prior to that time, the area schools system was operated by a local board of trustees. North Hastings is comprised of a number of small communities, most of which have an elementary school, which fills the position of focal point of the community.

In Cox Hill, the reasonably new school sits near a small red's room school which has been adapted for the community use.

In the "Little White School House," facilities are available for crafts, pottery, woodworking and a preschool play area.

The new school in Herman is an open concept building that draws its students from the Fort Stewart, Mcarthur's Mills and Bonnier areas.

The community use of the Herman school includes a public library, a gala New Years Eve Party for area residents and other community events.

The village of Maynooth is home to both the Maynooth Public School and to St. Ignatius Separate School.

The Hastings Prince Edward Roman Catholic Separate School Board operates St. Ignatius and Our Lady of Mercy School in Bancroft.

Both Bird's Creek, four miles north of Bancroft and Faraladi, five miles south, have their own Kindergarten to Grade 8 schools.

Bancroft is the hub of the North Hastings Associated School group and students from across the area are bussed to the village to attend the Senior Elementary School for Grade 7 and 8, and to the North Hastings High School for a full Grade 9 to 13 program.

The Northern area office for the Hastings Board is also in Bancroft.

The area office and the northern satellite of the instructional media centre are located in Bancroft School.

Bancroft School is also a kindergarten to Grade Six school and has an active volunteer parent program in operation.

The hamlet of L'Amable has an active public school which was housed in two buildings until 1971. At that time, the school was closed for general use because of a fall in enrollment. However the buildings are being actively used now as a school for retarded children and a community centre run by the Kinsmen for the use of the North Hastings ARC industries workshop and the Bancroft parent's Nursery.

Elementary students from Gilmour, Cooter and Weskeneden are served by the three-room school at Gilmour, Cardiff, which is nine miles south west of Bancroft has a public school which is administered by the Haliburton County Board of Education, however students from that community also attend the North Hastings High School in Bancroft.

Sport Fishing

Sports fishing prospects in the Quinte area look brightening as water quality in the area improves, according to spokesmen for the ministry of natural resources authorities.

In the Bay of Quinte itself, once known as one of the best all-round freshwater fisheries on the continent, fishermen say the bass are back, pickerel are being taken more frequently and pike are bigger and better.

Elsewhere in the southern area, bigger and better catches are reported in the Moira, Trent, Napanee and Salmon rivers and, farther north, Cold Creek remains one of the best trout streams in the province.

Shocking plans in the Quinte area call for a new generation of muskies in Hay Bay, the Trent and upper Moira. If available, spikes will go into Lake Ontario and rainbow, speckles and lake trout will be added to suitable waters in the district.

Workers Ready Trent Canal

Trent Canal System Gets Major Facelift

TRENTON — When the boating season's first pleasure craft owner points his bow up the waters of the Trent-Severn Canal this year, he will be greeted by a new look, a distant promise, and a fee schedule.

Most immediate and most startling of course, will be the newly-instituted rates for use of the canal, the biggest tourist attraction in the eastern part of central Ontario.

The fee structure, still to be approved by Ottawa, breaks boat owners into two groups — those who own vessels under 18 feet in length and those above the 18-foot length.

The first group will be paying $3 daily, $25 monthly and $70 a season for canal use. Boaters in the second group will dish out $4, $40 and $80, respectively.

According to Parks Canada, which operates the 240-mile 45-lock canal, the fees will partly offset a capital development program the federal government will undertake to improve the canal. It's expected about $30-million will be spend along the system over the next five years.

However, the program is still in the future and changes now are being made in locks and dams on the system. In Trenton itself, $250,000 is being spent along the system over 1975-76 federal fiscal years to restore the concrete walls of the lock and the entrance to Lock One.

Restoration at Trenton is only one of two major jobs undertaken by Parks Canada during the current off-season. At Young's Pt., 13 miles north of Peterborough, work is being completed on the mechanization of the lock. It was closed 76 days before the rest of the system closed for the season.

Early closure of that one lock did not affect the drop in the number of boaters that used the canal last year, according to Parks Canada officials.

Boat traffic was down in 1974 by about 1,500 from 1973's 214,484. However, the number of different vessels increased by a small 135 boats from 1973 when 23,430 craft used the canal.

Officials blamed the drop in traffic, when a five per cent increase had been expected, on a three-week delay in the opening of the canal, higher gasoline prices, and unsettled summer weather.

Whatever the drop in boat traffic is over the short haul, over an extended number of years, boat traffic and other recreational use of the canal should increase.

Parks Canada's Al Kaiser says from Cornwall the Trent-Severn, as opposed to the Rideau Canal, is Canada's major recreational canal and is being, and will likely continue to be developed with recreational use in mind.

"The Trent Canal is being treated as a recreational canal while the Rideau Canal will be developed as a historic canal." he says. Part of the explanation for such emphasis is simple. Except for the Peterborough Lift Locks, the Trent-Severn is not so deeply interwoven in the history of Ontario.

An attempt to gain a historical perspective of this canal is "like trying to grab hold of molasses" he says, then adds that he has 30 different pieces of the Trent Canal's history from 30 different sources.

The Trent Canal, as opposed to the Rideau, has more of its development aimed at the pleasure boater — gas stations, restaurants, marinas — many if not most, have been developed by private enterprise.

Mr. Kaiser foresees development of the canal picking up in coming years through the Canada — Ontario Rideau-Trent- Severn (CORTS) agreement. Through CORTS, he expects co-ordination of development plans.

Already, CORTS, has revived plans in Trenton for establishment of a marina at Centennial Park. The town wants it desire of many years to bear fruit under funding through CORTS, whose officials have indicated a marina should be a priority for the town waterfront.

A marina here would prove an asset to both the town and the canal, which is already laden with recreational attractions.

Stretching across central Ontario between Trenton and Port Severn on Georgian Bay, the system has 17 lakes and four main rivers — the Trent, Talbot, Otonabee, and the Severn. Along the canal are nine provincial parks.

Glanmore House Keeps Alive County's Past

What has 13-foot ceilings and a 1793 musical box? How about school books from the 1800s or the chair Queen Victoria used at the Dublin Exhibition in 1853?

The only answer — Glanmore House, the Hastings County Museum, located at 257 Bridge St. East.

Opened in July, 1972, the museum is a long-time Belleville landmark. It's a building dedicated of national importance for reasons of architectural design and is funded by the municipal and county governments. It is operated by the Hastings County Historical Society, curator is Marion Lewis.

The building is a pleasing mixture of Second Empire and Italianate architectural style and was the home of John Philpot Curran Phillips who commissioned its construction in the late 1870s.

Jewel of the Victorian mansion is the Phillips Dining Room, which, probably more than any other room in the mansion, has its original flavor preserved. Other main floor rooms include the drawing room, which retains some original furnishing, the card or music room with its 300-year-old Harpe Harmonique Piccolo, a musical box, the billiard room with its Seth Thomas clock and the pleasant breakfast room which catches the morning sun.

On the lower floor is the Victorian Room with Mrs. Simpson's Kitchen, a re-creation of an early local kitchen. It houses a display of farm and building implements.

Upstairs, the Susannah Moodie Library with its early local books and growing collection of material about the Belleville author.

The second floor also boasts the MacDonald Gallery with its paintings by Manly MacDonald and his easel, table, brushes and the like.

The master bedroom houses the Paul Collection of Lighting devices collected by Dr. W. A. Paul, Tweed, which includes everything from fire-making devices to stone lamps.

The museum is open from June 1 to August 31, Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. During the remaining months it is open Tuesday to Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Drum Corps

The Belleville Yeomen Drum and Bugle Corps has a new administration setup for a more efficient operation.

"We've added a number of positions as well as a constitution we've adopted," says director Hugh Bondy.

The new offices of secretarial and public relations managed by Dorothy Kidd of Belleville, business manager held by Tony Street of Trenton and publicity conducted by Evelyn Monkley of Trenton.

The corps instruction staff includes drill instructors Steve Burns and Bob Peters of Kingston, who played with the Rochester, N.Y., Crusaders, ranked eighth in the world out of 30 senior drum corps. Mr. Peters doubles as corps manager.

Other instructors are Mrs. Monkley for marching and manoeuvering, Paul Capobianco of Belleville for bugles and Greg Runions of Kingston, for percussion.

Trent Greenbelt One Step Closer

TRENTON — A start on the long-awaited "greening" of the west bank of the Trent River might begin as early as 1976 if needed land purchases and part of the reconstruction of Front St. are completed this year.

Conversion of the now built-up west bank into a strip of open parkland has been in the works for over two years. Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority plans call for development to occur between the Dundas St. bridge and Le Cas Island along the river's bank at an estimated cost of $1.5-million.

The "greening" project will likely be pulled out of its holding pattern by developments this year. Of prime concern is the completion of the town's rebuilding of Front St.

Authority officials cannot move on redevelopment of Phase I of their own plans until the street has been rebuilt and its precise boundaries are known.

Front St. reconstruction in the town's 1975 work picture calls for completion of a section between the MacDonald Bridge and Nicholas St. Work on Water St. will not be done until 1976.

The town's 1975 plans dovetail with the authority's Phase I plans for development, as the section co-incides almost exactly.

Only the purchase of several properties in the strip remains as a stumbling block to a development start. In total, the authority must still purchase 19 pieces of land before the entire project lands are free for full development, at the section co-incides almost exactly.

Once the project gets underway, it is expected that it will be complete in 10 years.

Plans call for passive parkland — walking, jogging and bicycling trails — and active parkland — a series of picnic area, children's playgrounds, sports facilities grouped at Le Cas Island.

Project funding will come from the provincial government, which will pay half the cost and the town. Supplementary funding, some 20 per-cent, can not be anticipated from Queen's Park.

Deer, Pheasant, Grouse Abound in Hastings Area

Shotguns and rifles are part of the furnishings of many Quinte homes. The reason is the ready availability of game in the area.

The November deer hunt sees a northward exodus to camps in north Hastings and neighboring counties. Earlier in the fall, duck hunters fan out in all directions to set up blinds on the district's many lakes, river and marshes.

Upland game hunting is within easy reach of the city, too. Pheasant, ruffed grouse and rabbit are plentiful in the Brighton Provincial Wildlife area. Woodcock can be found in the district and abovyalled grouse have been established by the ministry of natural resources at Point Petre in Prince Edward County.

For those who prefer to hunt with a camera, Presqu'ile Provincial park, south of Brighton, is a favorite migration crossover point for small birds, including waders and warblers. Lake in the fall the area offers a good opportunity to view diving and dabbling ducks.

Lake Ontario Cement Plant Under Expansion

Lake Ontario Cement Plant In Midst of Major Expansion

PICTON — One of Prince Edward's major industries, Lake Ontario Cement Co. Ltd. (LOCL) provides employment for approximately 235 workers.

In addition, about 120 contractor workers are on the job in an expansion program at the plant, located three miles north-east of Picton.

When a four-stage, suspension pre-heated kiln system begins operation at the Picton plant this far, LOCL expects to have the lowest cost cement manufacturing plant in Canada.

Company president William Bateman has stated the $50,000 ton-per-year kiln system will achieve a one-third reduction in normal fuel requirements.

The pre-heater kiln and auxiliary equipment represents the second phase of a major expansion program begun in 1973.

Stage one involved installation of a new coarse roller mill system costing $5 million. This new system went into operation about one year ago and offers substantial fuel savings.

The pre-heater kiln system planned for the plant will cost approximately $14.3 million.

Location of the Picton plant of LOCL on a bay of Lake Ontario offers the company a larger marketing area on a competitive basis than would be possible if it were restricted to overland transportation.

Lake ships provide easy access to Canadian markets adjacent to the entire Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River system and the U.S. markets in upper New York State.

When the pre-heater kiln is completed clinker manufacturing capacity of the Picton plant will double.

The plant's three existing kilns can be phased in and out of production as needed after the new system is placed in operation.

The Picton cement plant now has enough grinding capacity to process clinker into 1.1 million tons of cement per year. Sales over this level would require greater grinding capacity and plans for this are in preparation for the third stage of expansion at the plant.

Addition of a second line of heat exchanger vessels in the suspension tower and construction of a calcining chamber at the base of the tower will be the eventual fourth stage.

Bruce Price, vice-president of operation at the Picton plant, says the calciner is primarily an efficiency tool that would increase production of the orginal pre-heater kiln by 50 per cent. This would give the plant a capacity of two million tons of clinker per year, making it one of the largest plants in North America.

William Bateman, president of LOCL, told shareholders at the 1975 annual meeting in February that the most important part of the completion timing of expansions is that "we should be ready for a revitalized 1976 economy with a revitalized cement plant."

Fuel economies achieved through the introduction of the pre-heater technology will be especially important.

Mr. Bateman predicted the fuel squeeze in North America will be a chronic situation. Costs will rise higher and any saving that can be made in the traditionally high volume of energy needed to make each ton of cement will be significant to a company's competitive position.

Basic fuel source for the Picton plant is coal or natural gas. Mr. Bateman said he believes gas soon will equate with oil in terms of energy cost in Canada and oil will be set at the world price in the near future.

If this occurs, coal will become the plant's basic fuel and will be shipped from the United States. The ship, on its return trip will carry a load of clinker. Clinker, unlike cement, can be carried in vessels used for other cargoes.

Development of pilot project using garbage as a fuel source is one of the next steps for the Picton plant of LOCL.

Mr. Bateman has stated that to use garbage as a fuel in the cement manufacturing process where the ash becomes part of the cement product is a true recycling and a viable one.

Phil Bennett, president of the Quinte District Real Estate Board goes over the business with board secretary Sheryn Carter. Mr. Bennett said the market is filled with houses for sale with 30 new listing on in the last three weeks. The main function of the board is to administrate the multiple listing service — a service which offers the widest exposure of salesmen home to the customer.

Marmora Enjoys 'Dormitory' Image

MARMORA — This is a residential community which is modernizing. Thirty miles northwest of Belleville, this Hastings County village of 1,400 people straddles Highway 7. Sewage lines worth $1½ million and a treatment plant costing $800,000 are in the final stages of completion to improve the services for the residents. The majority of homes on both sides of the Crowe River are already serviced with water.

The nearby Marmoration Iron Mine is described by Reeve Jack Reynolds as being a significant economic contributor to the community, Municipal Clerk William Shannon adds that the surrounding area has many good farms situated in pockets of good land despite the presence of the precambrian shield. The heavy summer population of nearby cottages is a major economic factor.

"We are a summer town, in effect," the reeve points out. "There are many cottages on Crowe Lake, Beaver Creek, some smaller lakes, and Crowe River."

"Marmora is a nice 'in a dormitory town,'" Mr. Reynolds adds. "I work in Belleville. Many go to Peterborough. If enough of that is going on it is almost as good as having a bunch of industry."

That about the quality of life? Reeve Reynolds says it is good, with "people getting the comfort and benefits of the suburbs without the disadvantages of a city."

Many residents own snowmobiles and virtually have the north country at their doorsteps. And then they have ready access to flatling in the summer.

"There is no problem selling new houses built in Marmora," the reeve declares.

One landowner wants to build 36 houses just outside the village, and he has asked to have his land annexed so this can be done. In the north end of town, one individual owns land which could some day be zoned for residential development, and at least a hundred homes could be located there, the reeve explains.

The Ontario Housing Corporation has advised the town fathers that a 36-unit senior citizens housing complex will be built. "Once that is built, a lot of older type homes will be available for others to live in," Mr. Reynolds notes. "A lot of people from Toronto have been buying houses to retire in here."

Plotting New Routes On Quinte - Hastings Trail

Hastings Trail Spans 250 Miles of Province

Totally urban Belleville is a considerable starting point for one of Ontario's most ambitious outdoors projects.

It's the Quinte—Hastings Recreation Trail (QHRT), designed to run from Lake Ontario to close to Algonquin Park.

At the outset it may have seemed like an outsized idea ahead of its time, QHRT president Jim Staveley says now. But its concept has been proven.

Rooted across a 250-mile landscape of contrasts — from shore Canadian Shield wilderness to pastoral countryside — it had a built-in major added attraction from its start three years ago.

The QHRT was designed as a multi-purpose corridor.

This means the scheme was not restricted to a single outdoors pursuit.

Hiking, trail-biking, horseriding, and snowmobiling were all conceived into the initial project first launched in 1971-72 as a big winter make-work project, with a $111,000 Local Initiatives Improvement (LIP) grant.

It's had its inhibi troubles. Official participation expired when the LIP project was completed.

It's initiators mostly community-oriented hurriedly formed the QHRT as a volunteer organization to find ways of perpetuating the project.

The crucial need was to keep the facility maintained — to groom back the wilderness, survey directional marking and continue improvements.

But public response, despite use of the trail, was lacklustre in the ensuing two years. At one point, despite some support from municipalities and tourist groups, the QHRT treasury was down to a handful of dollars.

At various meetings, trail volunteers emphasized they should hold on to what they believed was a recreation resource which would be a future boon.

Late last year, a refreshing breeze of optimism blew over the QHRT. In November, the provincial government announced plans for developing outdoors recreation facilities. An advisory committee was to be established to assist development of a complete trails system in the province.

Then, the QHRT was given a $37,000 LIP grant for renewal work along a 90 mile stretch of the trail north of Belleville to Bancroft.

Early this year, the provincial natural resources ministry designated 100 miles of trail for official upkeep as a snowmobile route.

This led Jim Staveley, QHRT president, to cheerfully speculate on the implications of senior government interest in the facility.

By that time, too, the trail had more than doubled the outdoors routes under its jurisdiction. In January it took over 776 miles of snowmobile trails developed through south-central Hastings County by the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region.

The arrival of cross-country skiing also was added in the list of recreations suited to the QHRT this year.

School groups now also have formed clubs to use the trail for outdoor education.

Such developments leave Mr. Staveley even more buoyant.

"The Quinte area is a heartland for recreation in Ontario," he says. "And the demand for outdoor recreation facilities will grow with the spread of urban living, costlier transportation. Now we're right in its forefront."

The trail might have been an idea ahead of its time. But its potential will be proven — in economic, social and educational value," he says.

Marking the Long, Long, Trail

Apple Crop May Rise 40 Per Cent by 1977

Belleville is right on the edge of one of Ontario's prime apple-growing areas and a boom in apple production is expected in the next few years.

A number of large orchards to the west and south of the city have young trees on the verge of coming into production and the area apple crop is expected to jump by as much as 40 per cent by 1977.

Most popular varieties in the area are McIntosh and Northern Spy, in that order, but local growers predict an increase in Red Delicious production as young trees begin bearing.

At the Smithfield federal experimental farm, a number of new apple varieties have been developed in recent years. The emphasis is now strains has been on early and uniform ripening and resistance to disease.

One of the most promising new varieties is MacFree, a scab-resistant, heavy-bearing strain with good commercial potential.

We're Growing With Belleville

NOW . . . a Compete One-stop Building and Hardware Supply Headquarters

Another PROGRESSIVE EDITION by the Intelligencer covering PROGRESS IN BELLEVILLE finds CASH & CARRY PLYWOOD AND LUMBER expanding and growing.

CASH & CARRY within the last year has made many changes including what we trust will be additional service to our many and varied customers. We still carry the largest inventory of builder's supplies in Belleville such as lumber, nails, roofing, hardware, paints, plywoods of many kinds, panelling, floor tile and linoleums, rugs, kitchens, plumbing and electrical supplies, cement, gypsum products and many other items that are classified as "building supplies".

During the past two years CASH & CARRY has had the PRO HARDWARE franchise. This vastly expands the householder items such as glassware, small appliances, vacuum cleaners, lawnmowers, bicycles and many other items too numerous to mention, yes - right down to the mousetrap.

Also we have expanded our merchandising policy to include the CASH & CARRY aspect which has worked out very well for many of our customers with the savings that we are able to pass on.

We would like to thank our many customers for bearing with us while our sales floors were being remerchandised and express our appreciation to our old and regular customers for their continued business. Also we extend a warm invitation to our new customers who will be attracted to our many new lines under our PRO HARDWARE franchise.

Loyalist One of Province's Fastest Growing Colleges

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Loyalist Community College, one of 22 such post-secondary institutions in Ontario, is one of the fastest-growing colleges in the province.

Sprawling over about 160 acres at its campus a few miles west of Belleville, Loyalist boasts a student population, both full-and-part-time, of about 8,000, an increase of almost 3,000 from 1973-74.

First established here in 1967, it was one of two campus locations of Sir Sanford Fleming-Loyalist College of Applied Arts and Technology.

They were designated to serve Area 3, one of 19 areas into which the province was divided at that time under legislation by which Ontario's new system of such colleges was established.

It was latently evident the size of the area dictated a split in two separate colleges. There was no previous basis of community interest in a region extending from Haliburton and Lindsay in Victoria County on the north west to Prince Edward and Lennox-Addington counties on the southwest.

Two natural focal points of the region were the Belleville — Trenton area adjacent to Prince Edward County in the southern area and Lindsay-Peterborough, the major population centre of the north-westerly part of the region.

At first, a joint board of governors was appointed for the two campus locations, Loyalist here, servicing the Quinte area and Sir Sanford Fleming in Peterborough, with each campus being operated administratively as an independent institution by a president and a committee of the joint board.

Each college became a separate institution of higher learning in May, 1968, with the passage of orders-in-council to serve the four-county Quinte area.

This area comprises Lennox and Addington, Hastings and Prince Edward counties and that part of Northumberland County other than the townships of Hamilton, South Monaghan and Cobourg.

J. E. Bradford was president from June 1, 1967 until September, 1970. Herbert Young took office Sept. 1, 1970.

Three years ago, the college accepted administrative responsibility for an apprenticeship program in automotive trades as well as the operation of the local manpower retraining program which now is the retraining division of the college.

Adult and continuing education is considered an important responsibility of the college. In addition to providing an opportunity for evening study whereby mature students are able to add to their educational qualifications while they are regularly employed, the programs offered by the extension division have another significance.

In many instances, they are parallel to those offered in the day program. Thus, credits can be acquired toward an eventual two or three-year diploma in applied arts or technology.

When the college first opened its doors, it offered 16 basic programs. In September, 1971, some 30 programs were offered.

While the range and number of programs is not expected to expand greatly in the immediate future, the size of the student body is. Three new programs of considerable popularity have recently been authorized.

They are a training course for counsellors of the mentally retarded, a program for training nurses' assistants and a concentrated bringing-up program for accounting, business administration and certain technical students.

The college's first structure, the Pioneer Building, was constructed in August, 1968. From 1970-73, the large Keeta Building was built in three wings: Lennox-Addington, Hastings, and Northumberland.

They comprise 347,433 square feet built at a cost of $37.01 per square foot.

Total full and part-time faculty and support staff numbered 642 last November, an increase of 140 from the previous year.

Sidney Township Draws Many New Residents

Working with a $1.5 million budget and taking care of the needs and wants of 11,000 resident, Sidney Township council occupies a strong position in the development of the Belleville area.

With continuing pressures applied to city dwellers, urban residents are beginning to flee to the comparative openess of the township.

Land shortages in the city are forcing developers to urbanize the rural area.

Sidney council sits in a position of controlling this growth and at the same time bolstering township services to meet the needs of the new population.

While roads and related services have been re-enacted as a council priority for the coming year, the fire department and parks and recreation department have stepped into the municipal limelight.

This year, parks and recreation has been recognized as a full-time board with its own budget, while major expansion is hitting the fire hall.

Both of these services have been diagnosed as necessities by council.

The fire department recently announced it will take on a full time fire chief — the first full time fire fighter to work in the municipality. It has only been since the late 1960s that the township had a complete fire hall.

As building boomed in the township, population dictated fire department expansion.

Currently the township runs two fire halls, one at the township office and the other at Bayside.

Equipment — including a new fire truck — has already been purchased for the third fire hall to be located at Bayside.

Dafoe Watchdog Of City's Affairs

Earl Dafoe is secretary to 35,000 people.

As city clerk he is the man ultimately responsible for all the paper work which originates with city council decisions.

That kind of work has expanded massively over the years as government involvement with social demands becomes increasingly diverse and complex, says Mr. Dafoe, who has been a municipal official 27-years.

But his assignment is no paper role.

In fact, at the occasion should ever arise, he could be the most powerful official in the city.

A municipal clerk is the community's chief legal officer and among legislation he administers is the all-powerful Ontario Municipal Act, which lays down the rules of local government.

If a council decided on a policy contrary to the act, it's the clerk's responsibility to point out the discrepancy. If the council persists, "the clerk does not have a leg to stand on" — between two masters. But he would have to abide by the statute."

Such a situation has not arisen in Belleville — at last, if it has, no one recollects.

However, small municipalities when a local council becomes flagrantly determined, such conflicts were not unknown in the past, says Mr. Dafoe.

Mr. Dafoe also is the city's electoral officer — organizer and supervisor of the mechanism or city elections held each two years.

He also issues 8s marriage certificates, records 8s births and marriages, and is the keeper of all council records.

Lakes Abound in Quinte and North Hastings Area

Tourism Big Business for Quinte Area

PICTON — Tourism is possibly Prince Edward County's biggest industry says Glynn James owner of Picton Bay Motel and president of the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Association.

"I don't think the average person realizes what tourism brings in here," he added.

"It is our second largest industry, if not the largest," commented Mr. James.

The motel owner noted figures from the ministry of industry and tourism show a total of $18 million was spent in the Quinte area in 1974.

A breakdown indicates $5,940,000. was spent for food and beverages, including liquor.

Accommodation at hotels, motels, tourist resort cabins and cottages totalled an expenditure of $5,400,000.

A total of $3,240,000 was spent for transportation, including gas, oil and fuel taxes.

Minor retail purchases, accounted for an expenditure of $1,980,000. and major retail purchases, such as boats, totalled $540,000.

Entertainment expenditures totalled $900,000.

Mr. James said tourist spending in Prince Edward County last year represented direct employment for 900 persons.

Tourism in Prince Edward is promoted through the Quinte's Isle Tourist Association and the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Association. The latter raises funds for the Q.I.T.A.

Mr. James observed re-organization in the ministry of industry and tourism has prompted a certain amount of local change.

Originally, there were 22 regional tourist committees in Ontario; today there are only nine.

New proposals from the ministry suggested a manager, an office and two field representatives.

Mr. James said it was felt by some that such a set-up could become top heavy with administration costs with little money left for area promotion.

Several tourist groups in this area united to form the Central Ontario Tourist Association. Among these are Highlands of Hastings, Simcoe, Land O' Lakes, Kawartha tourist association, Great Pine Ridge, Haliburton Highlands and Lake Simcoe.

"Financially, we won't be quite as well off as the backing of the local areas is received but possibly the publicity will be much better," said Mr. James.

He said all other tourist areas in the group promote special events in Prince Edward, such as the Gold Cup Races and the county fair.

Prince Edward County does not offer the summer visitor bright lights, night life and shopping centres but it can provide a guaranteed antidote for the rate race.

Dubbed as "sleepy Prince Edward" in several tourist brochures, the county claims miles of sand beach at Outlet-Sandbanks provincial parks and at North Beach Park.

Lake-On-The Mountain provincial park offers talk lore and breath-taking scenery. The "bottomless lake" fed by an unknown source still intrigues hundreds of summer visitors annually.

The government-operated free ferry at Glenora is a perennial attraction among holidayers who can enjoy a boat ride on the Bay of Quinte from the deck of the Quinte or her sistership the Quinte Loyalist.

For the tourist interested in learning about the county he is visiting there are five museums.

In North Marysburg the historic Rose House recaptures pioneer days as do the Wellington and Ameliasburg museums.

For old salts there is the Mariners Park Museum in South Marysburg, filled with nautical displays.

In Picton the Prince Edward County Museum is a showcase for the county as it was a century ago.

For holidayers eager to discover souvenirs there are dozens of craft shops dotted throughout the townships.

The Quinte's Isle Tourist Association staffs an office on Main St. in Picton to direct summer visitors to Prince Edward land marks.

Residents Play Role In New Radio Station

BANCROFT — A group of working in a mutual exthe management of the Quinte Broadcasting Company are working in a mutual expertinent in community involvement in a commercial radio venture.

CJNH, Radio North Hastings was officially launched March 1, 1975. However, the idea of a Bancroft station had been in the minds of the community for a long time before that.

Quinte Broadcasting with the support of the local citizen's group, applied to the Canadian Radio — Television Commission for a licence to put a satellite station in Bancroft. The licence was granted with the CRTC stating that "it would be acting with interest the involvement of the community".

Once CJNH was on the air the community group of volunteers accepted the challenge of providing 24-hours weekly of strictly community programming.

The programs, which run Monday to Friday from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. feature amateur sports results, weather conditions, notices of meetings, interviews with local residents, original radio drama and a showcase for local talent.

Madawaska Cup Now Popular Race

BANCROFT — The roar of the motors and the pulse of the crowd and pit crews sent drivers on their way roaring around the track at our annual local Madawaska Cup snowmobile races this year.

The Madawaska Cup snowmobile races are organized yearly by the Bancroft-Cardiff Klansmen Club and are sanctioned by the Ontario Snowmobile Racing Federation (OSRF).

The "B" sanctioned event brings drivers from all parts of Ontario and Quebec to compete for the $5,300 in cash prize money.

Bill Vermilliyea, of the OSRF, says the Madawaska Cup could easily be an "A" event, because the calibre of the drivers and the track are excellent.

The races are operated by volunteers and say Klansmen more than 100 local people are needed for the operation.

The rules that the OSFR associates are carefully followed at the Madawaska Cup — stringent safety regulations for machines and drivers as well as effective crowd control.

The traditions third weekend in February is a date to set aside for the enjoyment of the Bancroft Madawaska Cup.

Library Has More Than Just Books

By ISABEL HUGGAN
Staff Reporter

Lively centre of culture in this city is the Corby Public Library on Pinnacle Street.

Not a stuffy old whispering library, but a building chockfull of people, paintings, films, books, and a feeling that "something's happening".

Since September, 1961, when the new wing was opened the library has had a gallery that offers its space to artists, poets, musicians and organizations who meet there.

"I think the addition is responsible for a whole new dimension in library activities," says Olive Delaney, head librarian in the main branch for more than 25 years.

In fact, the increased public awareness of the library — through attendance at various meetings and functions in the gallery — has resulted in a flurry of activity at the East Branch Library on Victoria Avenue as well.

Both libraries still have loading of books on their oiled bosoms, and quite a booming business, too. In 1974 the main branch processed 178,187 adult books, and 37,914 children's books for lenders. The east branch lent 39,885 books to adults and 23,955 books to children in the same year.

The main branch saw 10,387 films borrowed from its film library, and 1,811 cliplogs borrowed from the vertical files in the reference room.

The depletion of material for the archives of the Canadiana Room by the Hastings County Historical Society brought this part of the library public recognition in recent months. Material here and in the reference room is used by researchers, who have access also to microfilmed periodicals and taped information.

The reference librarians received 5,339 inquiries last year, 417 of them by phone.

There are 11 full-time librarians included in the staffs at both branches, and 13 part-time employees. There are also 13 student assistants, who work after school and on weekends.

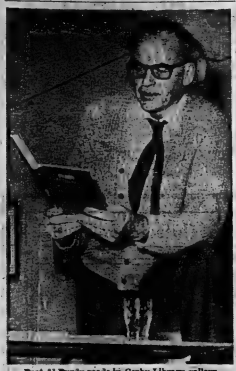
Some of the activities that keep the staff busy are: The shut-in service that takes books to people confined to their homes; the movers' morning group at which women attend a weekly program of speakers and films while their pre-school children are entertained; the children's Saturday story hour, film program, and a summer session of creative drama.

Children benefit from library activities in many ways. A six week series of classes in papier mache took place this winter for youngsters, who have also been exposed to puppet shows and theatrical productions, and have attended poetry readings by poets such as Dennis Lee.

Both libraries feature reading groups, one in the evening at the main branch and one in the morning at the east branch.

Adults have had the advantage of the gallery as a place for meetings — there were 113 held last year in the Corby Public Library. The Belleville Art Association, the University Women's Club, the Quinte Naturalists and the Community Concerts Association are among those who find the pleasant art-lined walls of the gallery ideal for meetings.

At some of those occasions poets and artists such as Al Purdy and Kim Ondaatje have met the public during tete-veal coffee hours following their presentations.



Poet Al Purdy reads in Corby Library gallery.

Librarian Elisabeth Mitchell looks over Canadiana materials.

Trenton Plaza Taking Shape

Work Well Under Way On New Trenton Plaza

TRENTON — By mid October, construction of the $3.75-million shopping centre in Trenton's east end should be complete and cash registers should be ringing up their first sales.

The day it officially opens will mark a first in Trenton retailing history. The plaza is the largest to be built in this town of 19,200 people.

Building plans call for 15 small shops and the location here of K-Mart, a chain store general merchandise outlet, and the expansion of Loblaw's to double its present size. In the first phase, the project will cover some 100,000 square feet.

Phase two construction will mean the addition of another 15 to 20 small stores. The second phase construction program depends on economic conditions and could be as far as five years away.

Dr. Murray Frum, president of Group R, a private Toronto company developing the open-air plaza, has estimated between seven and eight million in shoppers' dollars will be drawn by the centre. The money now is going to larger cities.

For many months, what will now undoubtedly be classed as the crown of Trenton's retail community, experienced a series of set backs that delayed a building start. The day it opens to the public will therefore be accompanied by a sense of relief and satisfaction among town councillors who were involved with its location here.

The centre, first proposed as a covered mall, encountered financing difficulties on top of the need for two property acquisitions from Sidney township and the national defence department. Once the needed land was assembled along Dundas St. East, the developers, Toronto's Western Realties Ltd. having by then merged with Abbey Glen, ran headlong into high interest rates and a tight mortgage market.

Group R stepped in and rescued the shopping centre from oblivion.

The Toronto firm revamped the building program by placing it in two stages, thereby making the project financially viable.

Group R reduced the originally planned 130,000-square-foot mall by 30 per cent, thus moving back construction of half the smaller stores, to be stimulated by the roof.

Once the entire project is complete, plans call for the shopping centre to be slightly bigger than first proposed.

Official Plan Will Guide County in Future Growth

By HARRY HULBALL
Staff Reporter

It doesn't hang its economic hat on it.

But far-trading — Canada's oldest business — still is alive in Hastings County.

Lumbering, also an age-old trade, is still in business.

Then there's one of the newest resources — uranium — ready for production again.

The contrasts are typical of the heritage for which Hastings County council makes itself the co-ordinating local government.

Hastings is Ontario's second largest county — 2,333 square miles — and the second largest, reaching almost 100 miles north from Belleville.

Its population of 44,000 live in 37 separate municipalities — well-to-do townships and villages centred on good farmland; communities of scattered settlements throughout rugged Canadian Shield country, at least rich in pioneer history with recreation a growing consideration.

Giving them a common identity is the county council to which the member municipalities send 20 representatives, meeting at least in six annual sessions in Belleville — the county town through history, but in fact, now a separate city in its own right.

Now binding them ever closer is the county's official plan, at present up for provincial government approval which will give the county a common blueprint of development based on local diversity.

Planning is only one of the modern public services which has given stepped-up, current significance to a county government that dates from 1850.

Roads, welfare, health, housing inspections, homes for the elderly are among services in which county government is an operator or participant. Total county government expenditures in 1974 were $5.7 million.

Despite the changes, officials are vocal when the most major of all municipal changeovers is discussed — regional government. Hastings councillors are adamant on retention of their own county boundaries as a viable modern municipal institution.

Reeve William McCrea of Hungerford, county warden for the year, says Hastings was a fore-runner in adopting county - wide services.

"The county provides the services its people require and can afford. As far as council is concerned the county system works well," he says.

Like a number of his fellow councillors, Warden McCrea also represents one of the county's industries. He's a beef farmer.

Then, there are councillors like Ross Drakeford, reeve of Tudor and Cashel townships, the operator of a lumber business dating back three generations.

But farming and lumbering are only a few of the county's industries, still active from the days of settlement.

The resources of the Canadian Shield that runs north of Highway 7, has been a traditional source of industrial hopes for all its wild ruggedness.

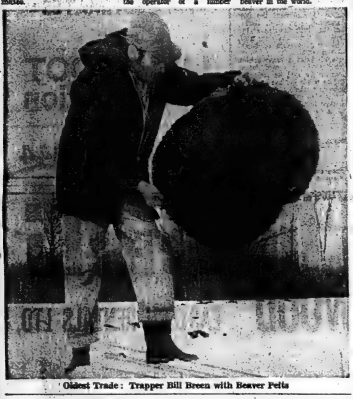
It spurred Ontario's first gold rush at Eldorado, north of Madoc, in the 1860s. In 1930, the province's first iron works went into operation at Marmora. It failed, but the potential remained — to be tapped in the 1950s by Bethlehem Steel's Marmoraton Mining Co. and its big open-pit operation.

The latest mine is close to Bancroft, where a joint Canadian-U.S. venture now is readying uranium deposits for export to Italy.

A still-growing industry in the Canadian Shield area is recreation. The husband with his multitude of fresh lakes and clean air is increasingly being explored. The accessible Wilderness now has become a year-round playground.

Such are its possibilities that now there's a proposal from local tourist councils to the Ontario cabinet to create a recreation area of dramatic dimension across central Hastings into neighboring Lennox and Addington County — 300,000 acres of Crown land to be set aside for tourism.

It's also a wilderness area in which trappers still ply the oldest of Canadian trades. There may be richer trapping in silver, more northerly parts of the province, but the bushland fastness of Grimsthorpe township says provincial resources officials, can claim a record for the highest concentration of beaver in the world.



Oldest Trade: Trapper Bill Breen with Beaver Pelts

Hastings Lumbering: Reeve Russell Sprackett at Gilmour Yards

Plan Special Housing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction of two apartment buildings for low-income single women with no dependents, between the ages of 40 and 65, will start here this spring. The project which is largely funded by the federal and provincial governments will contain bachelor and one-bedroom suites to house 48 women. The apartments are being planned by the Single Women's Housing Committee.

Queen's Gift

NORFOLK, England (CP) — ...ingham estate have. West Norfolk district council is to grant 100 per cent loans to the charity for young couples, the elderly and disabled on her Sandringham estate.

Coles Jewellers Ltd.

DOWNTOWN AND IN THE BELLEVILLE PLAZA

The past year was indeed one of progress for Coles Jewellers Limited, with our downtown store expanding to nearly twice its previous size. Getting bigger to serve you better was the idea behind the expansion and this idea is now a reality. We were able to increase our selection in many lines to offer you one of the largest jewellery and giftware collections in Belleville. But through it all, we continued to strive to provide old-fashioned friendly service.

An independent jewellery business such as Coles Jewellers Limited must rely on the loyalty of its customers to operate successfully. That is why we offer only consistently high quality merchandise, honest value in every sale, and friendly service to make dealing here a pleasure. Both of our stores are staffed with people who know the business and like to serve you. Coles Jewellers Limited will continue to progress and grow with Belleville, but we promise to never lose sight of the reason for our success . . . YOU the customer.

WHEN QUALITY, VALUE AND SERVICE ARE IMPORTANT TO YOU — WE ARE HERE TO SERVE YOU BETTER!

Canadian Forces Base Trenton, nerve centre for Air Transport Command, is also base for Search and Rescue unit.

Thunder of Aircraft Means Jobs for Many

TRENTON — Except for days of heavy fog or driving snow, the presence of CFB Trenton in the Quinte area is felt daily in the unmistakable thunder of large aircraft overhead.

And despite recurring rumors to the contrary, say Canadian military sources that daily roar of planes is unlikely to change drastically, if at all, in the near future.

Talk about changes at the base, says CFB Trenton information officer Capt. Bob Burke, is just that, talk.

"It's all in the air. It's all speculation at the moment," he says.

Fears over a possible withdrawal of parts of the base have been sparked by an ongoing study of Canadian armed forces supply units and the recent announcement by defence ministry James Richardson that a new Air Command will be created this summer.

Any fears of drastic changes at the base are justified, according to Trenton Mayor Bob Patrick. He recently worried over a potentially damaging economic impact on the Quinte area if only one small base component, Air Maintenance Development Unit, were pulled out.

Besides that roar of aircraft, its presence is felt economically. In dollars and cents, the base pumps millions into the Quinte area. In payroll alone, estimated at $3-million a month after staff tax deductions, it represents a guaranteed demand on goods and services in Trenton, Belleville as well as in smaller Quinte centres.

About 3,300 people work at the base, on the estimate of Trenton. Of this number, 750, are civilians.

But it doesn't end there. Figures provided by CFB Trenton indicate about $60,000 a month, close to a $1,000,000 a month after staff tax deductions, it represents a guaranteed demand on goods and services in Trenton, Belleville as well as in smaller Quinte centres.

A base supply officer estimates that a third of CFB Trenton's monthly requirements are met locally. In procuring supplies and services, the base first attempts to meet its needs locally before going farther afield — from California to London, England.

As the Quinte area's largest employer, CFB Trenton's impact on the local economy is substantial.

As an example, Canada Manpower figures show that 261 fewer jobs were filled at the base in fiscal year 1974-75 than in the previous year when the defence department did not face an inflation ravaged budget that forced spending cuts.

Last year, when fuel costs more than tripled and thus forced fewer flights, also devoid of some as-yet unknown changes in the role of Air Transport Command (ATC) for this year.

"Very definitely," said Capt. Burke. "There is going to be a change in the structure of ATC. As an identity it will cease, but as a role, it won't change."

ATC — the Canadian armed forces administrative headquarters for air transport based here — will fit under the wing of a new Air Command that will locate somewhere in western Canada. The change in forces' structure will also mean the departure of present ATC commander Maj.-Gen. Kenneth Lewis to a post as deputy commander of the new command.

Some other officers may move to supplement the new command, says Capt. Burke, but the airlift function at the base — "you call, we haul, whether passengers or tanks" — will remain.

He discounts a mass exodus from ATC, an armed forces function he said he feels the Quinte public confides with the base as a whole.

"People get confused and assume that we will move the whole base," he says, and add that only 238 people work at ATC, as compared with 3,300 who work on the base as a whole.

Speculation now, he insists, is pointless since what changes will be made are are being discussed around tables in Ottawa.

Hercules aircraft based at CFB Trenton fly worldwide relief missions and ferry troops for peacekeeping duties.

Mohawks Looking to Future As Well as Guarding Past

As older, contrasting culture not only survives but thrives is the rapidly-developing Belleville area.

The city has for a nearby neighbor the Tyendinaga Reserve, home of the Quinte Mohawks — the first community settlers to arrive in the Quinte district.

That was back in1784.

They came by canoe. Today the Mohawks have their own finished airfield, one of the best private landing strips in the Belleville district.

It's one of the most progressive reserves in Canada — some years ago it ranked seventh in economic prosperity in a government survey — and was one of the first to become self-governing.

A diversity of local-government services run by the reserve's own elected council, accounts for a budget now running around $600,000 a year, estimates Elton Bread.

Mr. Bread, as reserve administrator heads a staff responsible for running the daily operations — everything from social services to roads. It's own fire services now are being organized.

The Mohawks were granted their reserve lands for loyalty to the British cause after being forced to flee their ancient grounds after the American War of Independence.

They were the first settlers to arrive in the district, now rich in United Empire Loyalist tradition.

Their arrival is marked annually by a re-enactment of that first landing — an event that attracts crowds from wide areas. At that time, their neighbors can see one of the most valued of local historical treasures, for which the reserve is the repository — the silver commission service personally presented the Mohawks by Queen Anne in the early 1700s.

Today's reserve is smaller than the original. Early land surrenders — the major one taken by colonial administrators to create reduced reserve territory, and in recent years the Mohawks have made known their consciousness of any infringement.

Such a spirit has been part of a new awareness of identity — and potential.

Culturally, traditional crafts were restricted on the reserve.

The teaching of Mohawk was revived.

Community facilities today are a distinguishing mark of reserve progress. After their long-time reserve council house burned down, the Mohawks went to work to create a modern building. Recently, its scattered schoolhouses were centralized in a new structure housing all its public school and kindergarten students. The reserve council took over and refurbished the blazed of the former schools for its administrative offices.

A wartime airfield, complete with hangars, also was brought up to standard for licensing.

An industry, run by a group of Mohawks now produces shoe parts for Bata Industries. Its introduction under corporate regulations has sparked disputes on the reserve, but it now employs about 30 Mohawks.

Running the reserve is the jurisdiction of a four-man council and chief, now elected every two years. They meet twice a month.

Each councillor keeps contact with a specific area of community.

But such are the demands of reserve growth, one council meeting is devoted to reports on community affairs, the other to reserve general business, says the present chief, William Brant.

Women's Groups Offer Wide Variety of Activities

Poetry readings, fashion shows, art displays, bazaars.

Selling used clothes, serving invalids' meals, minding children, making quilts, holding worship services.

Working, enjoying and contributing to the community, Belleville women lead satisfying and busy lives. In addition to their work at home or at outside jobs, by joining any of a multitude of clubs and organizations.

Although membership has dropped in some of the more traditional and conservative groups, women continue to organize themselves for a variety of social, fraternal, political and religious reasons.

By far the largest number of groups in the city are associated with churches. Some of these are formed to raise money for congregational needs, others have as their focus missionary fields, and still others function as auxiliaries for men's groups within the church.

The charitable aspect of these women's groups also shows itself in the many services they perform for shut-ins and needy families in the area. Meals on Wheels, for example, is indebted to the voluntary work of church women, who both make and deliver hot meals to invalids.

The church bazaar is still a lively part of Belleville social life, and the pre-Christmas and spring seasons are always crowded with these events that feature homemade baking, clothes, ornaments and handicrafts. Fashion shows and teas are also extremely popular, and bring out large numbers of women at both afternoon and evening occasions.

Women who wish to join church groups that have religious growth as their aim will find these too in Belleville. From one such group of women interested in contemplation and stimulating discussion grew the Women's Study Guild, which now is a non-denominational group taking a look at all aspects of life. Another still religious in aim is the Belleville Christian Women's Club.

Women with a particular enthusiasm for art join the Belleville Art Association, and those who are interested in handicrafts become members of the Weavers' Guild or the Rug-hookers' Guild. All these groups have annual exhibits of their work, and throughout the year hold meetings which guest artists speak.

Beta Sigma Phi sorority has eight chapters in the Belleville area, its aim as their aim the appreciation of all branches of fine art. These women also take part in a number of cultural activities.

The Alpha Delta Kappa sorority has women educators as its members, who promote educational and charitable projects in the area.

Education is a major concern for the Argyll Chapter of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire, who provide bursaries and awards to area schools. The St. Julien Chapter of the IODE also is interested in education, and in all aspects of family and community life. The two chapters raise money for a number of projects by teas, dinners, dances and rummage sales, and are especially active as volunteers at blood donor clinics, and in all matters pertaining to citizenship.

The Canadian Federation of University Women has an active chapter in Belleville, meeting monthly to hear guest speakers as well as dividing into several smaller interest groups. These women provide annual scholarships to Belleville students, and encourage high standards of higher education. Although membership is restricted to university graduates, meetings at which guest speakers range from poets to politicians are open to the public.

Several men's groups in the city have women's auxiliaries that have become active and important clubs in their own right. Among these are the Kinettes and the Y'a'Moottas, and the Legion and ANAF women's auxiliaries.

The Belleville General Hospital Auxiliary has within the last year opened its membership to men, but it is still primarily a women's organization. Its members staff the hospital gift and snack shop, and the Opportunity Shop where sales of used clothes provide the auxiliary with funds to assist in purchase of hospital equipment.

Hastings Manor has an auxiliary as well. These women operate a tuck shop at the home for senior citizens, and provide transportation and friendship for elderly residents.

Women who work as secretaries most often become members of the National Secretaries Association, an active organization that sponsors an annual fashion show, and a spring seminar at which they choose the (male) boss of the year.

Quinte Medical Secretaries are similarly active and involved in the community, and have an ongoing educational program for members. Belleville Business and Professional Women are also a busy group, part of an international membership that encourages the appointment of qualified women to administrative positions in business.

The Belleville Women's Sales and Ad Club has a membership made up of women who work in public relations, sales and advertising. Like the other business clubs, this one assists with specific community projects. Their annual activity is the kick-off for the Cancer Society fund-raising campaign.

Homemakers in the Belleville area can choose to belong to any of several Women's Institutes. Largely rural in its emphasis, the WI is nevertheless of value to all women who seek to increase the dimensions of their lives. Current events, information about improved homemaking techniques and charitable concerns are part of the monthly meetings that take place often in members' homes.

There are a number of lodges for women here, among them the Rebekah Lodge, the Order of the Eastern Star, and the Loyal Orange Benevolent Association. These groups are part of larger international organizations, but also have immediate concerns in the community for which they raise funds by a variety of bazaars, raffles, catering and teas.

Newcomers to town may find themselves bewildered by the wide array of clubs to join. The Newcomers' Club, which meets monthly at Bridge Street United Church, is one means of getting to know other women with similar ideas and interests.

In June, The Intelligencer publishes a Quinte Women's Directory, in which all local groups are listed, with the names of officers who may be contacted for membership.

Christian School Has Many Faiths

The Belleville District Christian School, built and opened in 1964, is just like any other school, except it attempts to integrate Christian teaching into the entire curriculum.

The four-room school, located at RR 5, Belleville, about four miles north of the city, is one of two Christian Schools in the Quinte area. The second school is located in Trenton where about 200 students attend. About 65 students attend the Belleville Christian School.

Across Ontario there are 42 elementary Christian schools and seven Christian high Schools. Almost 9,000 students are enrolled in these schools with about 350 teachers from all denominations.

Henry Schaly, principal of the school, said the school operates as a non-denominational institution but it teaches the scriptures according to the life of Christ. "The school is founded on the belief that God requires a place of learning . . . that he has a part to play in the learning process," said Mr. Schaly.

The teaching staff at the Christian school comes from all denominations. This school is as public as any other school system, explained Mr. Schaly.

Mr. Schaly said that to date the school attracts mainly ethnic families mostly from the Netherlands. However, he said this is by no means a prerequisite. A family pays $600 a year for one or more children to attend. Next year the tuition fee will be increased to $1,100. The school operates on an annual budget of about $42,000. Next year it is expected to increase to about $58,000.

Additional funds are obtained through donations from former students or the families of former students who have since graduated from the school. Mr. Schaly said families with young children who will attend the school in future years also contribute financially.

The White Chapel, One of Many Historic Buildings in the Quinte Area

Quinte Area Dotted with Historic Buildings

PICTON — Advertised in tourist brochures as "scenic" and "sleepy" Prince Edward County offers summer visitors more than post card pretty views.

The county is dotted with historic buildings that tell the story of a by-gone era in eloquent silence.

One of the most impressive of these buildings is the old Prince Edward Court House in Picton where two convicted murderers lie buried in the jail yard in unmarked graves.

In June, 1884, Joseph Tompsett and Uberid Loveder were hanged back-to-back for the murder of Peter Lazier.

The men protested their guilt until death but were sent to the gallows which still remains at the court house.

The court house was constructed in Picton on land donated to Prince Edward by Rev. William Macaulay.

Construction began in 1832 but the court house and jail were not completed until the early 1840s.

Stone for the building was brought by ship from Kingston after being quarried by convicts.

The court house and lock-up were constructed at a cost of $12,000.

Another of Prince Edward's historic buildings is the West Lake Boarding School on Bloomfield Road.

Today a private residence, this stately brick house was opened as a Quaker school in 1842 — the first Quaker seminary in Canada.

Initially, only Quaker youngsters were accepted as students but food shortages soon changed the policy and other children were admitted.

Students were instructed in English, reading, writing, geography, grammar, and other approved subjects. All shared with the farm work connected with the school.

An historical plaque today marks the site of the old boarding school which has been maintained in good condition.

The old Church of St. Mary Magdalene, erected between 1825 and 1827, has become a landmark in Prince Edward.

It is the town's oldest church and the first Anglican church constructed in the district. Also, it is one of the oldest in Upper Canada.

In 1973, the old church was dedicated as a county museum with the Rt. Reverend J.S. Creeggan, Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario in attendance.

The museum has drawn hundreds of visitors and features a wide variety of displays depicting early life in rural Prince Edward.

The chancel area has been preserved and a stained-glass window, donated by Picton's late mayor H.J. McFarland, is the focal point.

Historic Prince Edward is dotted with country churches, among them the White Chapel constructed in 1858.

One of the oldest Methodist churches in Upper Canada, the White Chapel is located off Highway 49 about two miles north of Picton.

Land for the two-storey white building was donated by Stephen Cosgar, a Loyalist from New Jersey.

This "church in the wild-wood", has been maintained as a place of worship longer than any other church of Methodist origin in Ontario.

Each year, on the first Sunday in June, an anniversary service is held in the pioneer chapel. This is the only time that the church is opened for public worship.

The event is popular among county residents and the White Chapel annually is filled to capacity.

Game Management Means Abundance of Wildlife

Belleville-based hunting and fishing enthusiasts can get all the action they want within easy driving range of the city. And their families can enjoy all aspects of Ontario's outdoors in the immediate area.

Waterfowl hunting is a major fall sport with Prince Edward County's Lake Ontario shoreline, the Bay of Quinte and provincial wildlife management areas the most popular spots in the north.

Presqu'ile Provincial Park south of Brighton is a favorite spot for both hunters and bird-watchers. The 3,170-acre point jutting out into Lake Ontario is a crossing-over spot for small birds, including waders and warblers. The warbler migration in May and the wader migration in late August and September attract thousands of visitors.

Late in the fall the park offers an opportunity to limit and view diving and dabbling ducks. Waterfowl hunting is limited to 25 positioned blinds that will accommodate up to two hunters each. The blinds are rented at the park office on a first-come, first-served basis on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

A few miles north, lying north of Highway 401 between Brighton and Trenton, the Brighton Provincial Wildlife Area offers 894 acres of open fields, orchards, wooded bottomland and beaver ponds. The varied landscape provides ideal habitat for ruffed grouse, woodcock, doves, cottontails and European hare. Pheasants from the ministry of natural resources Codrington bird farm — a few miles to the west — are stocked periodically during the hunting season.

There are no restrictions on the number of hunters that can use the area at any time. Hunting is permitted Monday through Saturday and no fee is charged.

Wildlife management officer Terry Humberstone, of the ministry's Napanee district office, emphasized the ministry's concern with attracting non-hunters to the areas it administers. For example, he said, the Brighton area had a 1600 - foot range that can be used for sighting in rifles or shooting clay pigeons. Hiking trails are located throughout the area and it is widely used by cadet and boy Scout groups for orienteering and for retriever training and trials.

Northeast of Napanee, but still an easy drive, the Camden Lake wildlife management area has a resident flock of free-flying Canada geese which cannot be hunted. Waterfowl can be observed from a tower.

For hunters, duck hunting is allowed in season, within 25 feet of approximately 40 blinds free of charge. Blind sites are accessible only by boat.

The Napanee office is also working to establish a sharp-tailed grouse population at Point Petre, the southernmost point of Prince Edward County on a former artillery range. The grouse are being introduced to a couple of other upland game species native to the area, which provides good duck hunting in the fall.

Another ministry project in the area is work on the Murray Marsh section of Percy Reach on the Trent River. The wooded marsh area of about 2,000 acres has "great waterfowl potential," according to Terry Humberstone and the is a substantial deer population.

Farther north, but easy to get to, the country is dotted with lakes and crisscrossed by rivers and streams for the fisherman and marshes and beaver ponds for duck and deer hunters.

While intensive management is not practised by the ministry of natural resources in the northern area, improvement to habitat, stocking and enforcement of hunting and fishing regulations is a year-round job.

Industrial Growth Key to City's Prosperity

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville experienced record-breaking industrial growth during 1974 with the city's industrial commission ushering eight new industries into the city.

In terms of direct benefits, these eight industries will provide approximately 300 new manufacturing jobs and generate an annual payroll of something in excess of $3 million.

Construction of these new plants, which began last winter, was completed by late summer in the majority of cases. Some companies have gone "on stream" and now are into their manufacturing operations with the remainder expecting production to commence within the next few months.

While industrial growth provides undoubtedly benefits to the community, rapid growth can be a double-edged sword.

Record expansion, as experienced in Belleville, places unusual demands on available land and services and carries the danger of being unco-ordinated or merely growth.

Both of these pitfalls are cautiously considered by industrial commissioner Fred Bemis and commission chairman Bruce Nickson of Corby Distilleries.

Last summer Mr. Nickson predicted, "Belleville must have more land if its industrial community is to continue growing in an orderly fashion."

He said the question of supply of industrial land is in the hands of city council but that the predicament could be to town, Belleville's philosophy is not to take whatever it can get.

Commissioner Bemis stresses the need for new industries to be compatible with neighbor industries and also be compatible with the rest of the community.

We want a good mix of industry with broad diversification so that the city will not be dependent on one company as a major employer, Mr. Bemis said. The priority to date has been light manufacturing.

Fred Bemis, Guiding Industry Growth

"We have to have land to show to prospective buyers," said Mr. Nickson.

Reluctant to guess whether 1974's bristling rate of growth could be matched this year, Mr. Nickson hinted that the commission now has 42 "prospects," a figure roughly similar to last year.

Of these 42, "four are exceptionally strong possibilities," said the chairman.

Based on provincial statistics, Belleville is the fastest growing community between Toronto and Montreal, Mr. Bemis said the city has still not felt the complete impact of the eight new industries. He said the impact would not be felt until later this year when all the firms are on full manpower working at peak efficiency.

While commission enthusiasm is high in the competitive field of enticing industries

Park-like Setting Attracts Industry

Industrial parks for small industries proved a major development in the city's overall growth picture during 1974.

Industrial commissioner Fred Bemis explained not all industries need large amounts of land for their operations.

At the industrial commission's request, city council granted 26 acres of serviced industrial park land as an experimental cul-de-sac.

Bemis said the project request last winter. It has been completely sold out to seven new industries.

These are E. A. Armstrong Ltd., Signet Foods Ltd., H. Ryder, Mohawk Foods Ltd., Dixie Lee Foods Ltd., Olivetti Canada Ltd. and Rod Botch Ind. Ltd.

The successful was the concept of small parcels of land for intermediate and small industry that a second cul-de-sac has been in the works that is expected to open this spring.

It is important to note that cost of the industrial parks is not borne by the taxpayer — though the seven annual installments threw $140,000 into tax coffers.

Mr. Bemis said "there is no tax burden on the general ratepayer for either the provision of land or services in the park".

"The entire cost is recovered when the site is sold to the company," he said.

In the most recent sale, land was sold to J. H. Ryder at $6,250 an acre.

A big consideration in creation of a park-like setting, "Where possible even the trees are left in place and the company builds around them," said Mr. Bemis. "The commission also asks that new companies construct their buildings so as to be harmonious with both the landscaping and their neighbors."

The cul-de-sac idea turned out to be a terrific one . . . the commission is very pleased," said Mr. Bemis.

Apricots Are Fewer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The 1974 pack of canned apricots in cases of 24 cans, No. 2½ size, dropped 30 per cent from last year says the Canners League of California. The pack consisted of 1,632,216 cases of halves; 173,055 cases of whole peeled and 171,855 cases of whole unpeeled. The 1973 overall total was 4,963,381 cases. Unseasonably wet weather during bloom accounted for the reduced crop.

Downtown Core Gets Commission Scrutiny

Belleville's industrial commission in 1974 emerged not only as major contributor to city development but as an innovator and advocate of downtown re-development.

While the commission is commonly considered as having industrial only in the historical field, commissioner Fred Bemis says the group is concerned with the overall development of the entire city.

Proving the commission's point, Mr. Bemis approached council for the naming of a group to control all development in the downtown core.

The commission, consisted a year-long confidence study into the downtown core and came up with recommendations for "more efficient use of available space and expanded hotel and restaurant facilities."

The commission also asked permission to be designated the body that would administer the central bylaw.

The bylaw would not be designed to affect existing business but would have commission controls on new development. A prime example would be that new business would have to locate further back from the street thereby allowing more sidewalk space.

The concept is in keeping with the correct municipal priority of taking care that the downtown business section is not forgotten in an age of shopping malls and plazas on municipal perimeters.

During council discussions, the plan was viewed as a positive step towards re-vitalizing the downtown section.

The concept has been referred to the Quinte Planning Board staff for recommendations.

In tegrating Policement

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — The city's traffic police plan to use Africans for traffic duty in certain white residential areas for the first time on an experimental basis. The African will do the same work as their white colleagues and if trouble arises a white policeman will take control to resolve difficulties.

Authority Turning to Development Of Its Many Conservation Sites

FRANKFORD — In 1970 and in years to come, Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority officials will be concentrating their efforts and their dollars on developing the 13 conservation areas in its 760-square-mile watershed.

Such development, initially prompted by pressure from the public and member municipalities, is new to the rural-based authority. It makes a distinct change in the policies it has followed since its inception in 1968.

In previous years, authority concentrated on land purchases, for which a major chunk of its money allotted annually. Now, no longer is the emphasis placed as heavily on buying.

Indicative of the shift in policy is a 76 per cent jump, to $338,750 in the authority's budget this year. Purchase of equipment and an increase of staff from two in mid-1974 to five today added to the budget total. Such expenditures are indicative of the commitment the authority has made to development.

Today, says authority chairman William Carter of Campbellford, about 12,000 acres in 13 conservation areas is owned by the Lower Trent in various parts of its watershed.

Three areas are to be developed this year: Proctor near Brighton, Seymour near Campbellford, and King's Mill near Stirling. Each will be developed differently: the first as a high day-use area with picnic areas, the second laced throughout with hiking trails, and the third as a wildlife area complete with wildlife enclosures for Canada Geese.

Each is in a different part of the authority's area of jurisdiction. Roughly, it extends 30 miles along Lake Ontario and stretches to Rice Lake on the northwest and to parts of Huntingdon township, northeast of Stirling.

The area, though large, ranks the Lower Trent only in the middle ranges in size and density of population among Ontario's 37 conservation authorities. Compared to other authorities, it is practically devoid of recreational opportunities.

As Mr. Carter noted recently, there is no record of visitors to authority conservation areas because there is nothing for them to see. Many sites do not have entrance gates to record visits.

But with development plans underway, this should change. The plans fit into other projects, both now underway and in the experimental stage, that the authority expects to work on this year.

One of the authority's biggest current projects is the creation of Trenton's greenbelt, a $1.5-million project that will transform the lower bank of the Trent River into a strip park of trails, playgrounds, and sporting facilities.

In the west end of the watershed, two later-related project are in the offing.

Mr. Carter says, "In cooperation with the fisheries department we hope to maintain and change the fishing capabilities along Shelter Valley."

In Haldimand Township creek fishing, which has "generally been pretty good" has been deteriorating because of the number of small dams being built across it. Water is thus backed up, becomes heated, and fish die.

Land in the valley is also falling into private hands, thus restricting access points to the creek. Trees are being cut and further damaging the valley.

To battle the problem, the authority plans to undertake a tree-planting program in Cramahe Township, where a number of feeder creeks are located. Plans call for planting of up to 62,000 trees.

Chairman Carter said the planting will take place in "a lot of sandy soils so land that otherwise wouldn't be productive." As a result, the soil will retain moisture, allow formation of ponds, and cut down on erosion.

Involvement with fix members should also increase this year. Both Trenton and Stirling have requested the authority to map the flood plains of Mayhew and Reeden Creeks respectively. Once complete, the maps will give the authority and the municipalities teeth to control building on land potentially susceptible to flooding.

In an interview recently Mr. Carter indicated his satisfaction in the area of earlier authority-member dealings. For the first time this year, three dinner meetings were held to discuss the authorities budget with its members. All three Mr. Carter termed successful in that both sides took away a better understanding of each others aims.

Loch Sloy Home for Many Industries in County

PICTON — Loch Sloy industrial park, a 400-acre site adjacent to Prince Edward Heights, today employs approximately 15 per cent of Prince Edward County's full-time industrial work force.

William Duggan Prince Edward director of industrial development, says about 125 persons are employed by the industries located in the park and an additional 30 workers have received jobs related to renovations and alterations there.

Formerly part of the department of national defence's Camp Picton, the industrial park site was purchased about four years ago by Picton's late mayor Harvey J. McFarland. It includes the hangers at the military camp phased out five years ago.

The industrial park now is operating at almost full capacity within its existing building but only 36 acres of the site has been developed.

Mr. Duggan noted that a further 400 acres of land can be incorporated in a few years.

"We are particularly lucky here," he observed, adding that in many other areas industrial parks lack space for enlargement.

Mr. Duggan observed Loch Sloy industrial park recently has begun to reduce some of the slack left by decreased activity in Quinte-area industries. He referred to lay-offs at Procter-Lewyt in Picton and the forthcoming closing of Ideal Vendors in Deseronto as examples.

He said originally it was planned that Loch Sloy industrial park would employ 300 persons by this date but Canada's general economic climate has not been conducive to a rapid general advance at this time.

Mr. Duggan predicted the park will employ about 750 persons by the end of this summer, including the 150 now at work there.

Already the park offers manufacturing facilities to a wide range of industries. One of its first tenants was Hoffmaster Boats Ltd., still in production in hangar one.

Another industry, Visador Canada Ltd., a company that manufactures door and window moldings and sections, is in production in a building in the park.

Manco Home Systems Ltd., manufacturers of mobile homes, occupies two hangars in the park and expect to begin operations later this year. The company did not locate here until October, 1974.

Marble Veneer Co. of Canada Ltd. also has rented space at the park for more than a year but has not yet entered production.

Mr. Duggan said the firm is still awaiting finalization of equipment to be shipped from Europe.

Also a dormant industry at the park is Skylight Homes Ltd., a company that has proposed to manufacture plastic dome houses for shipment to development countries.

Quinte Skyways, a charter air service operated by former Toronto pilot, Hal Bell, now sub-leases a hangar originally rented by Marble Veneer Co. of Canada Ltd.

Gemboree Attracts Thousands Each Year

BANCROFT — Each August for the last 10 years, 10,000-15,000 tourists and rockhounds arrive in Bancroft to enjoy the local Rockhound-Gemboree.

The mineral show, which is held at Birch Creek, three miles north of Bancroft, is organized by Carl Bostack a former owner of the Princess Sodalite Mine.

In addition to being a showcase for local, unusual and rare minerals, the Gemboree is also a gathering place for people from all locales and all walks of life who have the collecting of rocks and minerals in common.

Not only the laureats of rockhounds, who come in all shapes, sizes and ages, are met. There are also extensive displays of local crafts and businesses.

A traditional figure at the Bancroft Rockhound Gemboree is Dr. Donald Gorman of the University of Toronto geology department.

Dr. Gorman has been a help for more than 10 years to rockhounds who want to have samples identified before they are purchased or traded.

Rock Swapping is another big drawing card at the Gemboree. Families set up their displays and prepare to trade off rocks and mineral samples for items that they have not been able to get any other way.

Evenings as the Gemboree grounds are devoted to core rounds and country and western entertainment.

And, of course, the children are not forgotten with a big tidbtwy and half-price tickets waiting for them on Kids' Day at the Gemboree.

In 1975, the Gemboree will be held, at the beginning of August and more information is available by contacting Carl Bostack at the Bancroft Gemboree Grounds or the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce.

Rock collecting, swapping, and buying are not confined only to the week of the Bancroft Gemboree, for as soon as the snow is off the ground, the collectors are back in full force looking for those unusual little gems.

In the future, the quest of the rock hound will be a little easier if a proposed scheme of the provincial government is successful.

The government through the expertise of Dr. Gorman will be placing markers at historical and classic mineral sites in the area.

New Homes Under Construction Familiar Site in Trenton

Trenton Has Adequate Supply Of Residential Building Lots

TRENTON — Trenton has more than a three-year supply of land available for residential construction, says Quinte Planning Board deputy director Frank Stakosus.

His assessment of the land-availability picture came during a review of a number of subdivisions in Trenton in various stages of approval by both council and the provincial housing subsidiary.

Seven subdivisions, varying in size from 104 to seven lots, are a formal agreement away from becoming almost immediate sources for home building. In total, 313 lots in seven subdivisions have received approval in draft form from Queen's Park.

As such, said Mr. Stakosus, their future hinges only on final agreement with the town council, the town utilities commission, and approval by the provincial government.

Trenton, he said, is "well supplied" with building lots and the outlook over the next three years is good.

The three-year estimate is based on the 1954 rate of construction of single family homes, the prevailing form of residential building in Trenton.

Town figures show that ten single family dwellings were built in Trenton last year. Under-way, at 154 units, there were more multiple family buildings put up, but their estimated value was $320,700 less than that for single family homes.

Not available for immediate construction are another 307 lots for homes. These plans, including 32 apartment buildings units, are still in the early stages of processing through various levels of government.

But a "revision" in the picture is expected, warned Mr. Stakosus. What happens after that is open to question. I don't think there is much land to be developed after that."

He said few large areas remain that can be developed under plans of subdivision.

Most of the lots to become available quickly are located in the west and north sections of Trenton.

The majority (four draft plans) are available near the town limits in the west end and are concentrated in areas south and southwest of Trenton High School. Two others are still under way in Trenton's northeast end. A 174 lot subdivision is in the works in an area, roughly bounded by Meade, Dufferin, Bell and Bellevue.

Additional lots, lacking anything but a building permit, are also available according to town officials. In all, 61 lots are serviced and under-registered subdivision plans and wait only the builder's earthmoving machinery.

Modern Clean Furniture Vans at Your Service Providing Moving and Storage Needs to Quinte Residents with Confidence . . .

Planning: the secret of successful moving.

Planning is the most important part of your move. It's the best time-saving, money-saving step you can take.

Your moving plan should spell out

(1) what you'll move;
(2) when you'll move;
(3) Who will move you;
(4) how much the move will cost; and
(5) what you'll do about charge accounts, bank accounts, home delivery services and so forth.

Scheduling your move wisely can make a lot of difference in the outcome. The months of June, July, and August are hectic. That's when most people try to move. That's why vans are difficult to schedule during this period.

Some days of the month are better. Especially any day between the 3rd and 13th, or the 18th and 27th. The other days are clogged with people trying to avoid paying an extra month's rent.

Try to give your movers at least two to three week's notice. They have a complicated job balancing incoming loads with outgoing loads.

To repeat: planning is the most important part of your move. Get all the help you can from your agent. You'll need it.

Quinte Area Attracts Growing Number of Artists

Potter Audrey Davies, demonstrating her skill, throwing a pot

The Quinte area is home to a large number of accomplished artists and craftsmen.

In the last few years many painters, painters, weavers and sculptors from other cities have joined the already Mighty-recorded artists in Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

This influx has spurred the growth of small galleries and boutiques in Belleville and the surrounding countryside, where art and handicrafts can be purchased, often from the artists themselves.

The Cameron Gallery, at RR1, Carrying Place, is one of these places where artists are invited to discuss their drawings, oils and watercolors.

Allan and Donnah Cameron and their daughter, Brenda Cameron Finnegan, show their work here. The gallery is open by appointment or by chance, that is, when the Cameron family is home.

Marion Cannon's Showroom in her home is also at RR1, Carrying Place. Mrs. Cannon's distinctive woven hangings and pottery can be viewed by appointment.

A little north of Belleville just outside Plainfield, Peter and Liz Orvisllo have a showroom in their old white house near the Moira River bridge. Both potters, with highly individual styles, the Orvisllos' work is labelled "Bronte Pottery," a name they've kept since they moved from Bronte three years ago.

Another potter with her own studio, showroom and boutique, is Jeanne Cunningham. At the Old Schoolhouse Pottery outside Bloomfield, Mrs. Cunningham displays her own award-winning work along with weaving made by her daughter Diana Francisa, and other art and handicraft from the area. The boutique is open seven days a week in July and August and by appointment during the rest of the year.

Fine porcelain by Harlan House and paintings and sculpture by Al Wilson are for sale at the Clay Association, in the village of Lonsdale northeast of Belleville, either by appointment or by chance.

Pearl Rose has her pottery studio on Front Street in Stirling, and Pearl Thrasa, whose paintings take as their subject familiar Quinte scenes, has a showroom in his home at RR2, Tweed.

The Norcombe's Weaving Studio, in the little village of Cherry Valley south of Belleville, is open daily. Visitors can view Ellie and Harvey Norcombe working at their looms.

The variety of showrooms and studios outside the city provides day-trippers with an almost endless supply of places to visit. But within Belleville itself there are galleries and shops where artists and artisans exhibit a wide array of items.

Perhaps the most successful of these is the Door in the Wall, located on the Bestwicke lane, Bloom Rd opening in 1971. The shop has doubled its size and increased the number of suppliers to more than 30 local artists and craftsmen, and 15 from outside the area.

Jeanne and Peter Antoncourt own the Door in the Wall, which has built much of its reputation on a wide and varied array of pottery. Audrey and Gordon Davies, two of Belleville's most renowned potters show their work in the shop along with such respected and talented potters as Katherine and John Cody, Tracy Fleming, Rose Lenard, Cathy Hallick and Vera Trainor.

Mrs. Antoncourt, who is an artist in her own right, tries to keep a balance between the kinds of work she exhibits in the Door in the Wall.

There are woven wall hangings, leather work, jewellery, paintings, handmade children's toys, glassware, batik and macrame hangings, displayed in two rooms where shoppers can browse and drink coffee supplied by Mrs. Antoncourt.

Cushions stoles and other fine woven work by the weaver Alice Gesenhuk draw many visitors to the shop, which is open Tuesday to Saturday all year round.

One of the most useful additions to the cultural life of Belleville has been the art gallery in Carley Library on Pinnacle St. There have been a series of one-man and group shows in the gallery since it opened in 1973.

Encouraged by the Quinte Arts Council (QAC), the arts are flourishing in Belleville to the advantage of the entire community. Artists are teaching in the schools under provincial grants, and are achieving acclaim for displays of their work in the city hall and Belleville General Hospital.

The Visual Arts show, one of the spring-time activities presented by the QAC is the main opportunity for artists and craftsmen to show their work.

New Club House

Here's what the Roy of Quinte Country Club's new clubhouse, now taking shape at the 18-hole layout, will look like when completed. Designed by E.A. Crossarty and Associates, Kingston architects, the $184,000 building is being constructed by Miriea Contracting, Ltd. of Trenton. Completion date is late July.

Costs Major Factor Regarding One-tier Regional Government

PICTON — Prince Edward warden and South Marysburg reeve Clifford Walker says he is cautioned in a one-tier or county government system would prove efficient here if the identities of all ten county municipalities were safeguarded.

"I can see it coming before too long," remarked the warden referring to a one-tier system.

Under county government, Prince Edward's ten municipal councils would be replaced by a single council to administer county business.

Warden Walker observed "things have sort of quieted down" concerning a one-tier system for Prince Edward and the provincial government apparently has slackened pace in introducing regional governments.

"I think though we changed from regional governments to restructured county governments," he observed.

Warden Walker says Prince Edward County council has retained its interest in a one-tier system and its county government committee is awaiting estimated operation cost figures from Ottawa.

He noted cost of a single-tier system has been a major question but it is difficult to estimate this important factor.

The warden added under the present system county council finds it a problem to predict costs.

"I certainly don't think anything will happen this year," he remarked, discussing the possibility of a change to the one-tier system.

Last May a series of public meetings was held in all Prince Edward municipalities to examine the concept of single-tier government and discover public opinion.

The majority of ratepayers attended they did not favor a change to the one-tier system, principally because cost figures seemed too vague and information was lacking.

Prince Edward County council voted against taking any action to introduce a one-tier system until more facts and figures had been obtained and made public.

Warden Walker emphasized council did not reject the concept of a county government but did agree any action in the Spring of 1974 would have been premature.

If a proposal for a county government in Prince Edward were to have been initiated it would have been necessary to pass it during last spring's session of the provincial government. For this reason, public meetings regarding the single-tier system were held early in May, 1974, with little time for public discussion.

Warden Walker feels the proposal was pushed forward too quickly to gain general support among county residents. More information was needed to answer the ratepayers' questions.

The warden observed each municipality in Prince Edward has a strong feeling of pride and residents are not prepared to support any proposals that will by-pass this community spirit.

He commended Ameliasburg township has slowly built up a well-equipped and well-organized fire department and, this municipality was concerned that a county government might cripple its fire-fighting equipment to other areas of Prince Edward.

Similarly, other townships that had invested in recreational equipment were reluctant to consider any proposals that might redistribute it to other areas.

There were also questions regarding the county's five museums, all developed through community spirit and participation.

Special events, such as the one-day Milford fair, provided assembly in South Marysburg township, are important to county residents and there is an eagerness to retain them traditional programs.

Warden Walker says a one-tier system of government must protect community spirit if it is to succeed here.

He said he feels a county government could eliminate duplication of services in the roads and fire departments in Prince Edward.

The Bloomfield-Hallowell fire department often must drive through Picton to answer an alarm just as township roads vehicles must cross county roads when on the go.

Warden Walker says when the county government committee receives additional facts and figures on county government the information will be published.

"As long as no drastic changes are attempted I can see why it would not be objectionable," he remarks, referring to a one-tier system.

Bancroft Haven for Mineral Collectors

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Reporter

BANCROFT — North Hastings mineral and rock collectors are justly proud of the fact that there are more than 30 identifiable minerals and rock samples found in the local area.

Some of these samples however, are not accessible to the amateur collector since they can only be found in the shafts of local mines or on mountainside properties.

However, the star of the Bancroft mineral display is the deep blue Princess Sodalite stone which is found only at the Princess mine, about two miles east of the village on Highway 500. According to the members of the Bancroft Mineral Society and the local Chamber of Commerce there is no doubt that the Princess Sodalite stone is the official mineral emblem of Ontario, even though the spoke from the north shore of Lake Superior is also in the running for that title.

As long ago as 1964, the Lapidary Journal, an American publication and rockhounds and mineral collectors alerted that sodalite is the official stone for southern Ontario and again is that for the north.

The mineral magazine continues that, "Bancroft has provided Ontario with its mineral emblem, sodalite, one of the most popular collector's items."

The dark blue stone, with distinctive red markings is found only at the Princess mine in North Hastings, and although there are other deposits in Africa and Brazil, there are not actively being mined.

The local mine, which has been in operation since the late nineteenth century, was visited in 1986 by Princess Patricia of the British Royal House who was so enthralled by the azure blue of the stone that she had the face of it shipped to England for use in the decoration of Marlborough House.

Accordint to H.E. Futch, a well-known local mineral collector, approaches have been made to the provincial government to have sodalite declared the official emblem of the province and "although has never been confirmed by the legislature, local residents were given to understand that it would be accepted."

The Princess Sodalite mine has had an interesting succession of ownership. In 1905, a Dr. Allen from England was the first known owner. In 1934 the British Crown took it over and retained the mine until 1946 when it was sold to a private buyer, Mr. Frost. From 1958 to 1959, the mine was owned by the Ontario department of mines who then sold it to a local person.

Carl Smisek, now of the Bancroft Gemboree, had possession of the mine from 1960 to 1970, when it was sold to its present owner Fred Rasmussen.

The mine is open to the public and any sodalite found in the pit quarry can be purchased.

The sodalite quarry is not the only popular collecting spot in the Bancroft area.

A rock call on Highway 62 north appears to be alive with collectors armed with picks and hammers during the summer season.

The Wollaston mine at Quadville also attracts many tourists for the rubee beats and the collection of the beautiful rose quartz that is found there.

In preparation for the thousands of rock hounds who come to the Bancroft area every year, the local Intermediate South has a rock collectors map of the North Hastings area. The map, indicates good collecting spots which may be on private or Crown property.

At the moment, the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce and the provincial government are working on a project to refurbish and mark about thirty collecting sites in the area.

These new and freshened sites would be maintained and guarded by the province. Each August approximately ten to fifteen thousand "mineral enthusiasts arrive in Bancroft to enjoy the Bancroft Gemboree mineral show.

The show, which attracts buyers, sellers, collectors and traders also features mineral displays, craft and guide exhibits, a midway for the kids and an active grandstand show.

Frank McConnachie Welds Fireplace Frame Together

Demand for Fireplaces Boosts Plant's Output

TWEED — Fireplace sales are so hot that Tweed Steel Heaters Ltd. is planning a 25 per cent increase in production.

The all-Canadian owned concern in Tweed, 25 miles north-east of Belleville, is accustomed to production increases, says G. W. Laird Morton, sales, research and development manager, already having tripled production during the last five years.

"We have gone into a steady process of production increases," Laird said in an interview. "Wages have gone in step quite readily, but we feel they are not inflationary, since production has matched any wage increases."

Management is young at Tweed Steel. Laird Morton is 32. His brother, Dave is 25 and owner of the steel products company which employs 35 workers.

But the company is old. It started out as a cast iron foundry in Madoc about 100 years ago. Some 80 years ago it moved to Tweed, where a steel fabrication section sprung up. About 1930, the foundry closed as did a number throughout Canada.

"At one time the steel fabricating end made everything from soup to nuts," Laird said. "Steel bathtubs, pressure vessels, tanks of all descriptions for oil and water were some of the items. About 60 years ago the company got into steel fireplaces. As a process of elimination we tended to specialize in fireplaces. We still do custom work to a degree."

"The last six years we have started a research area. One tiffle we made seven models, but we now make 18 stock designs and a wide variety of custom designs," Laird continued.

"We have captured a large portion of an expanding market. Upon the disappearance of the traditional brick mason, people are turning to steel. These steel fireplaces produce about four times the amount of heat that a brick one does," Laird noted.

"We are an all-Canadian company," Laird said proudly. "We are faced with three large U.S.-controlled companies. We are pleased to think we are taking the bids off them. We have been urged to set up a U.S. subsidiary. If we had the time we would do it."

Tweed Steel has spent several hundred thousand dollars on automated and semi-automated equipment recently, but despite a decline in housing starts and increased production, Laird maintains the company still will not produce enough fireplaces to satisfy the market.

In another field, Tweed Steel has been making steel pressure tanks for homesteads. Laird said that federal and provincial health departments have been urging the company to make septic service barges to serve cottage areas. They made one such unit almost 40 feet long and it rides high on the water and slowly settles down as it fills up with sewage and is taken to a disposal site. This removes the danger of contaminating water through seepage in rocky areas of cottage country.

Employees stay with the company for a long time. Bill Beatty retired three years ago as a foreman after having worked with Tweed Steel for 41 years. Russell Rogers is still with the firm after 35 years. Many have at least 20 years service.

When it was called the W. S. Gordon Steel Works, the company bought beans for employees, but didn't charge for lawyer's fees and things like that and the payments were easy, Mr. Rogers said.

Wesley Rogers started with the company about 1921 and says "They have brought wages up wonderful." When he started it was a 10 - hour day for 15 cents an hour. It now is a profit-sharing bonus plant. "We are all in the same boat together," Laird pointed out.

Another Metric Move

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1975 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia gives both the customary English and metric measurements. "In most cases," explained Dr. William N. Saile, editorial head, "World Book gives the customary English measurement with the metric equivalent in parentheses. Typical was the conversion of more than 30,000 measurements and an outlay of more than $1 million."

WHAT'S IN A STORE?

The Red Shark. What's in a name?

Well, the word "Red" conjures up, pay attention, take notice. It indicates colorful, warmth, excitement. The word "Shark" conjures swift, sleek, never the same twice personality. Now let's apply this to you and your wardrobe. Most of us think of ourselves as exciting. We like people to take notice of us. We want the things we wear to reflect our personality, and look sleek.

Where did we get our reputation? We earned it, 25 years of experience in sorting out many of our suppliers' lines for men's wear that we think puts us "a cut above all the rest", for quality, styling and selection. We want you to shop in our stores. We want your business. Yes, we need your business to help us grow. We invite you to browse, and compare. All in the Family

The first Ontario Hiking Day brought crowds out along the Quinte-Hastings Recreational Trail Sunday morning, for some, like Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Enright, RR 3 Belleville, a walk along the trail near Moira Lake was a family affair. Mr. Enright toted 20-month-old daughter Michel, while Lisa, 6, and Paula, 3, hiked it on foot.

Official Plan Outlines City Growth Priorities

Belleville in future will benefit from a document which contents are so complex a city councillor once warned one person could know all its contents.

The document: Belleville's official plan, more than two years in the drafting — which sets down guidelines for the community's future development. It could also make the city more eligible for senior government programs.

The plan had its ups and downs with the public. But eventually city council approved the final amendments to the bulky volume in early January and packed it off to Queen's Park to Ontario government approval.

The official plan is not an intimate document. Its contents are not the last word on the future pattern of city life.

"An official plan is a fluid document," believes Alf. Jeffcox, chairman of the Subordinate Planning Advisory Board, the committee which administers city issues in the district Quinte Planning Area.

"It's nothing hard and fast. I don't think you can have that in this day and age."

Talked about for years by various councils, the plan finally moved toward reality more than two years ago. Consultants Totten, Sims Hubicki, were contracted for the project.

They experts finally presented the finished document in late summer of 1974.

After scrutiny and debate between planners and city hall, city council moved for its approval in October. But delegations swarmed into the meeting, demanding — and winning — a delay. The plan, they claimed, had not been given sufficient public exposure.

Council bought 50 copies for availability in public places, then called a public meeting.

The official plan with its last amending finishing touches, is slated on its way to Queen's Park by early this year. When the province gives approval, council then will pass the regulatory bylaws needed to enforce the plan.

The plan is more than a guidebook for future development trends.

It also increases the community's credibility that much more with the provincial government.

Official Plan Take 3

Because of what is something akin to a higher credit rating the city can participate in more provincial government projects.

There are so many programs assisted by the government that you need an official plan in order to qualify, says Ald. Cox.

Bancroft Museum Historic Itself

BANCROFT — The old log buildings that were used for the construction of the Bancroft museum trundled through the village in 1966 in time to be situated on the finished concrete foundation and prepared for the Centennial year celebrations in the village.

A project of the volunteers of the Bancroft Historical Society and the community at large, the museum, as it now appears, to the public is the result of many weeks and months of devoted labor by the local group.

The museum now sits proudly and realistically in the parkland on Station St. in the village and within the reconstructed walls and rooms carries a true insight into the lives and historical heritage of the North hastings area.

The two original buildings that form the present museum were initially the headquarters of the Bronson Weston Lumber Co. and were located 10 miles from the village on Highway 506 east.

One building was constructed in 1857 and the other in 1867.

The attractive museum is comprised of a two-storey main house with a single-storey wing attached.

The house with a main living room, dining room, parlor, front room and four bedrooms has been furnished as identically as possible with artifacts and antiques from the local area.

In the wing, a kitchen complete with pioneer tools and interesting appliances waits to fascinate the visitors.

If you have a yen to see what those great aunts and grandmothers wore in their heyday, the Bancroft Museum is just the place to satisfy your curiosity.

Each of the upstairs bedrooms displays the clothes that the original inhabitants of the house might have worn before the turn of the century.

A page from an 1894 edition of a fashion magazine shows that the feather hat, jet bead reticule and woollen cape that are in the downstairs clothespress were very stylish.

An infantry uniform from wars long past hangs smartly on the wall in the master bedroom.

Further evidence that the man of the house is in residence is found in the eye glasses, military brushes and the set of high fashion "tails" with a fancy top hat.

Dolls clothing that has been so fastidiously made as that of the owner is hung on a line near the child's cradle.

And for the plea sant occasions when the grown-ups walked on a Sunday afternoon, with mother in her long skirt, a pair of ladies spats and her button hook will by the front door just beside the umbrella stand where her parasol awaits, waiting to be carried along.

The Bancroft museum is open during the summer months for the many tourists and local residents who enjoy a trip into the past.

Fitness Sadly Lacking

CALGARY (CP) — Albertans are in "bloody awful shape" and something must be done to improve the situation, says a medical consultant at University of Calgary, Jack Bullar says too many Albertans "eat too much and over-smoke."

Trenton Home for 14 Major Industrial Plants

Trenton, a community of 14,500 that sits in the centre of a circle 20 miles in diameter called home by 61,000 people, has more than its share of major manufacturers.

Excluding Belleville, but including Brighton and Frankford, the town has 14 industries that Canada Manpower classes as major manufacturers, those employing 50 or more workers.

In total, 22 such companies are located within a 10-mile radius of Trenton. Some, such as F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd. and Canadian Tire Corp, Ltd. are retailers.

Trenton's industrial work force forms a fair percentage (16.5) of the entire area's 25,100-member labor pool. As far as the major employers are concerned, a 1972 Manpower survey of the area work force revealed that they jointly employ 4,200 people.

In Trenton, the Big 14 are among 24 manufacturing plants and employ an approximate 2,000 people. By comparison, a town prepared mid-1974 profile of industries reveals that the 24 plants within town limits employ just over 2,400 people, approximately 16.5 per cent of the town's 14,500 population.

The 21 other plants, ranging in staff size from two to 41, provide work for the remainder of the town's 2 411 industrial labor force. The town figures do not include staff sizes in retail, commercial or professional businesses.

The town's industrial picture will change later this year with the addition of another new plant—Canvas and Fiber Canada Ltd. Now being built off Dundas Rd. in Trenton's northeast industrial park, it is a non-woven textile manufacturer that expects to employ 50 people when it opens in November.

It's work force is expected to increase to 130 within five years, thereby placing it high in what will then be the Big 15.

Eric Technological Products of Canada Ltd., a maker of electronic components, will likely to remain at the head of the big employer list. Today, it employs about 430 people.

New Season Launched

Bay of Quinte Yacht Club has launched 1971 boating season as craft were taken out from under winter wraps and hoisted in Belleville harbor. About 25 pleasure-craft of various displacements — the biggest was the 19-ton Dolma, above — were gently lowered in the water by mobile crane.

Drum Corps Looking for New Members

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The Belleville Yardmen Drum and Bugle Corps, on a membership drive, has reduced its enlistment age limit to 13 from 16 years.

Director Hugh Bondy explains the corps requires a new base of potential talented youngsters to be competitive in future years.

"If you can get the right people, especially when they're younger . . . over a period of a few years we'll have a large senior corps of experienced and interested people," he says.

The recent decision to drop the age limit for all sections of the corps was made to both attract new members and widen its base, explains Mr. Bondy.

The lower age limit will mean players will be with the corps longer and ensure it of more years of top quality musicians, he adds.

He notes the corps has a current membership of just over 30 but "we'd like to have around 100-120".

No experience is necessary, points out Mr. Bondy. "We take people in and train them from scratch — anyone who shows an interest in learning," he says.

"Interest is first and foremost, he comments, "From your interest, you develop an enthusiasm and a desire to learn," he says. "That's the most important thing."

Regular attendance is required and one must have a "desire to practice at home and improve oneself" Mr. Bondy emphasizes.

And if one has played in a brass or concert band, it is not difficult to change to a bugle corps, he says. "It's almost a natural. Anyone . . . can learn almost immediately. It's an easy switch."

Fourteen Local Agencies Benefit from United Way

For nearly a decade, United Community Services has studied and acted on the needs of the Quinte area in the fields of education, recreation and community health and welfare.

United Community Services has two main arms: First, the co-ordination of the annual United Way campaign, which this year raised more than $300,000 for 14 area agencies; second, the initiation of community services.

The agencies funded by the United Way campaign include the Belleville Family YMCA, the Canadian Red Cross, the Victorian Order of Nurses, St. John's Ambulance, Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Belleville Minor Sports Association, Navy League of Canada, the Central Volunteer Bureau, Civic Action Committee, the Quinte Easy Riders and the Citizens' Bureau.

The Social Planning Committee, which is composed of interested and involved citizens, has initiated several projects.

An ad hoc committee was formed to investigate the need for a health council in the Belleville area. As one business service, the Citizens' Bureau, was supported. The Social Planning Committee also called a meeting of interested persons to discuss the need for a marriage and family counselling service. A volunteer training course was held during the year to assist volunteers who serve in agencies. A seminar on mental retardation, held at Loyalist College was presented in January. The Social Planning Committee also publishes a full directory of services in Belleville.

In her final report as president of United Community Services, Virginia O'Rourke said that while the UCS has achieved many goals in 1970, only a first step had been taken.

"Our goals are far from being achieved . . . 1971 was only a first step. Until voluntary agencies can look to the United Way for total funding for their relevant, needed programs and the Social Planning Committee can represent the co-operative voice of the community with the means to implement its findings, the United Community Services has much ground to cover."

Procter and Gamble Construction Getting Ready for Baby Diaper Production

Procter and Gamble Plant To Employ 150 Area Workers

Since its humble beginnings in 1837 as a two-room operation in Cincinnati, Ohio, Procter and Gamble has become a global enterprise, employing 46,000 people with fiscal sales in 1974 topping $4.9 billion.

Procter and Gamble in 1974, chose to locate one of its plants in Belleville — the first company plant in Canada to produce Pampers, the disposable baby diaper. Initially, the plant will employ 150 people.

The Belleville plant will be the only Canadian location to manufacture Pampers.

In keeping with the company's philosophy of development and growth, Procter and Gamble purchased 139 acres in the city's north east industrial park. The plant and parking area covers approximately 25 of those acres — the remainder left idle until company growth demands expansion.

Procter and Gamble was the largest industry to begin construction of a new plant in Belleville during 1974.

A company spokesman said that while growth has been considered, there are no immediate plans to alter the size of the plant, or to produce anything other than the disposable diaper.

Dave Miller, public relations officer for the company, said a number of factors lead to the choice of Belleville for the plant location.

"The company needs a variety of basic services at reasonable costs to manufacture its products economically and remain fully competitive," he said. "The Belleville area provides transportation, utilities and services necessary."

"Another major good natter fied in the Belleville area is th local availability of good people to work at the plant," said Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller said the bulk of plant staff will be hired from the local labor force.

Plant construction is nearing completion stages and hiring is already being considered.

For the first three months, employees won't likely produce a single diaper for the marketplace.

In these first 12 weeks, the employee is given a thorough back grounding in company history, total operation of the plant and not just his own station.

The new employee will also receive classroom instruction concerning how to best co-operate with other people and fellow workers.

"We're looking for long-term employees . . . people who are prepared to stay with us for long periods," said Mr. Miller.

Plant production is expected to being later this year.

Fatherless Boys Aided By Local Big Brothers Chapter

The Big Brothers organization in Belleville, one of the city's newest groups, attempts to match fatherless boys with caring adults.

Since the movement got off the ground in September of 1974, there have been 14 matches of big and little brothers, as of April 16.

And right now the group is undertaking a campaign to raise money for organization and increase public awareness of the group and its work.

The Big Brothers in Belleville have no permanent office at present, says president of the group, Rudy Thomas, adding, "ninety per cent of our business is conducted on the road.

Mr. Thomas says there is potential of about 200 boys ranging in age from six to 16-years-old in the Quinte area who could use a big brother.

"So far only about 15 have been brought to our attention," says Mr. Thomas.

He adds that most of the problems that most any organization have been cleared up. "The important issue of staffing has been corrected," he said. There are at present two staff board members, Leigh Tracey and Zoff Bernicoli.

Mr. Thomas said right now the organization needs about 14 or 15 big brothers to pair up with little ones. The normal time from when the application is received to the time some word is heard about acceptance or refusal, is about one or two months, says Mr. Thomas.

Mr. Thomas says little brothers are referred to the organization by various "agencies; social" service agencies, schools, nurses, clergymen, and mothers who want their son to have a big brother.

Applicants are carefully screened and must submit to thorough investigation before being accepted. Even after acceptance, follow up procedures are done on their progress.

Big Brother applicants should be over 18 and the amount of time spent with the child is an individual one although at least one day a week is recommended.

Mr. Thomas says he is happy with the response to Big Brothers in the city. "Although we started out with four matches and now have only six, I am extremely optimistic with the way things have gone.

"Everything has gone satisfactory," he said, "when we get the problem of staffing solved."

The campaign for the Big Brothers will take the form of work sessions, generate public information and exposure, says Mr. Thomas.

The group has come a long way since research on starting the organization began on August 21, 1973. Anyone wishing to apply or requesting further information should call 962-3886.

Local Publisher Preserving History

Nick Mika is preparing another publication.

That's not exactly anything new.

He already counts 136 different titles under his company publishing banner.

But what is significant is the apparent acceptance of the role his small Belleville-based enterprise has been winning Canada-wide.

One gauge: Currently Mika Publishing has not one, but four books, ready for the presses.

It's indicative, believes Mr. Mika, of the success of his initial inspiration — a unique publishing idea that gives a vocational touch to what also now is a flourishing business enterprise.

He has deliberately cast himself in the role of a small independent publisher to market books big, corporative operations wouldn't consider sound business.

Mr. Mika aims for the local touch — books on local events written by local people. In the main, they are heavy on history.

He also republishes rare Canadian books, now long out of print, therefore costly to buy in the original.

His distribution — from a small premises on Stanley and Station streets — is becreasingly national. It's to localities he selects for his histories and reprints are as far-ranging as the availability of material.

The overall result is to put Canadiana back in print and make it available to those interested.

And demand has been consistent, even if slightly by big business standards.

But the Mika operation is geared to small-volume publication, meeting demand as it comes — and also what Mr. Mika believes is a need in Canada.

For instance: A woman submitted a history of Wooler, the hamlet northwest of Trenton. Mika Publishing had 700 initial copies printed. It sold out in a few weeks and a second issue had to be ordered.

Then there are the reprints of the old county atlases — crammed with local information — a popular, if costly, feature of 19th century publication.

The Hastings County atlas reprint had a first run of 1,500 copies. Now it's in its fourth issue, says Mr. Mika.

These may not be dramatic business totals, but it meets his objectives.

Such an approach sometimes has aroused doubts among fellow publishers, says Mr. Mika. But:

"Many people are hungry to know what their ancestors did, all about the localities they came from and their family history."

It also gives authors an outlet denied them by major publishing houses who must market on a national scale.

"By publishing a small amount of books on small localities you can make a living. We're fairly prosperous," he says.

His publishing endeavors date to his native Germany where he was a journalist. In 1948, as an immigrant he arrived in Belleville, and worked as an orderly in the Hastings County Home for the Aged. Later came a job in a local factory.

Then in 1966 Mika Publishing was launched — as an industrial silk-screening venture in the basement of the Mika home, with his wife Helma as partner.

The operation still works that way, although there's no more silk-screening and the books are contracted to local printers.

For many of his publications Mr. Mika does the research in newspaper files, government archives, University libraries.

Helma does the writing.

Mr. Mika admits his is not the only operation engaged in recollecting Canada in print but "we're concentrating on local history. And we're encouraging people to read about their local backgrounds."

Picton Gets New Registry

PICTON — Prince Edward County's new registry office, constructed at the site of the old District Court House and Jail, opened March 24, 1975, replacing the small brick offices used for more than a century.

When the county registry office was built in 1873 it was considered one of Ontario's most impressive.

Before a registry office was constructed in Picton, records from Upper Canada were stored in the town of Kingston.

As the years passed, the Prince Edward registry office became too cramped for the volume of records it held.

Lawyers, law clerks, registry staff and researchers worked without elbow room in the small brick offices until the new modern facilities were opened.

Several Shops Feature Area-made Handicrafts

PICTON — In Prince Edward, just add summer and stir, for dozens of county crafts, ranging from weaving to handmade bread.

With the arrival of the season of chick-of-Bontempo opens throughout the county in a cascade of crafts and craftsmen.

Often, the very location of these shops makes its own appeal for the curious visitor.

Nationally recognized potter Jim Bontempo's studio overlooks his craft from the Schoolhouse Pottery near Bloomfield.

Tourists can enjoy "one of the last Prince Edward's little red school houses" while viewing the distinctive display of bowls, mugs, pitchers and other pieces. Several antique pieces are included in the shop, completed with stone fireplace and hand-hewn beams.

In Milford, Anne Nonos has her studio at The Village Pottery, a former country store.

Mrs. Nonos' shop features area-fresh loaves baked bread and distinctive pottery, clothing items, as well as colourful pottery pieces.

The tranquil setting through Cherry Valley can also be had at The Nurseries, a unique studio where classes are set up for demonstrations.

West of Picton, on Highway 33 "Edifice Wrecks" offers a wide selection of antiques, old books and "Paraphernalia".

David Grandstaff, who opened the shop about a year ago, says he never says anything, but that he would not personally like to own.

The wares of Edifice Wrecks are displayed from a century-old house, featuring a large brick fireplace to treat customers to atmosphere.

In Bloomfield village, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Jackson operate a craft centre featuring articles hooked by Mrs. Jackson and framed by her husband. The couple also offers a display of antiques.

For the art buff visiting the county a trip to the Bridgewater gallery of Allan and Dorothy Cameron offers enjoyment. For the Cameron, painting is a family affair with art work for sale by Mr. and Mrs. Cameron and their Daughter.

Mrs. Ewen Smith of R.R.1, Picton, also offers pieces for sale. Much of her work, however, is commissioned.

Tourists interested in tasting and rush work can visit the Loyalist Trail studio of Mrs. Grace Hawkins in Picton.

Mrs. Hawkins' gallery-factory of fun invites guests to her craft from Prince Edward County visitors.

Her work is recognized throughout the Quinte area and she is involved in teaching programs at Loyalist College.

In Rednersville, Marion Cuisine offers pottery for sale.

Also in Ameliasburg Township, Belleville artist Tom Thomson's Wheelin Inn operates an old school house as a centre for summer instruction in sculpture, Batik work and other handicrafts.

The Paradox Boutique, operated by Marty Reynard and Judy Humble is one of Prince Edward's newest craft shops.

Opened in Picton last fall, the attractive little store is stocked with items consigned by 24 Quinte area craftspeople and fabricators. Six others sell goods directly to the boutique.

In addition to these local crafts, there is a varied selection of shirts and blouses stitched by Judy Humble and a stock of smock tops imported from India and Afghanistan.

Judy, who holds a teacher's degree from MacArthur College in Kingston, and Marty, who recently earned his PhD in clinical psychology from Queen's University, discovered their shop as the ideal escape from the nine-to-five blahs.

Marty, a talented metal sculptor, also plays the guitar and several other musical instruments and offers lessons to Quinte area residents.

Judy enjoys sewing embroidery and buying trips for the boutique.

"I would like to see Picton become a really interesting cultural area. The Paradox is one of the few places open now — I'd like to see more," says Marty.

"I would like to see an evolution — there isn't even a theatre in Picton," he adds.

Marty sales contributors to the boutique are encouraged when their crafts sell and this feedback rests their talents.

The shop is still seeking consignments of pottery, weaving and quilting.

The Paradox Boutique in Picton's only craft shop to remain open all year round.

Crafts in Prince Edward are promoted through the Prince Edward Arts and Crafts Association, organized in November, 1968.

The purpose of this group is to promote interest, guidance and instruction in arts and crafts as a means of relaxation and as an enjoyable, creative, productive use of leisure time.

In recent years classes have been provided in rug hooking, chair caning, leathercraft, wood carving, papier mache and pottery.

Also, an arts and crafts fair, an auction and annual displays at the Prince Edward County fair have been introduced among the organization's activities.

President of the crafts' association Mrs. Ezra Smith, says the group has approximately 30 members. New classes this year include crochet lessons given by Thelma Cuisine of Picton.

Membership is open to all interested persons and suggestions for the improvement of community service are encouraged, says Mrs. Smith.

Some of Belleville's Many Service Clubs

Community Spirit Shown in Service Club Work

One way to measure community involvement and spirit in any city is to look at the existence and activity of its service clubs. In Belleville, were it not for such clubs many projects geared towards helping those in need of help would be left undone.

With it not for service clubs in Belleville, there would be no swimming programs for underprivileged children, in fact there would be no push at all were it not for the Kinsmen and the Quinte Kiwanis Clubs.

Also there would be no science fairs, music competitions or other events set up to help students and/or senior citizens.

As the name implies, the city's many service clubs, Kinsmen, Rotary, two Kiwanis clubs, Lions, T's Men and Shriners, provide a service to the community whether through financial support or physical support provided by members willing to lend a hand.

Other clubs in the city such as Toastmasters strive for self-improvement of its members. Toastmasters, three years old in Belleville seeks to make confident and polished speakers out of its members.

Other clubs such as Jaycees and Sales and Ad offer a common professional background for its members to meet. Some service work such as the Jaycee-ettes and circus is done in the club.

Women too are not left out as new members such clubs as the Kinettes and Business and Professional Women.

Of course to list all the clubs that exist in Belleville would be quite lengthy and involved but an attempt is made to deal with the larger or more familiar ones.

The city's newest club just chartered in early April, the K-40 for Kinsmen members over the age of 40, joins the list of service clubs including the three oldest ones, the Rotary, T's Men and Belleville Kiwanis both in the community for over 50 years.

The clubs hold their meetings usually in the early part of the week at various sites throughout the city.

While members have fun at the meetings, especially during initiation night of other social nights, much of the camaraderie and friendship shown by its members comes about through hard and hard working together on a community project and seeing it realized.

Over the years, clubs have realized such ideals as the Cheshire Home for Handicapped Adults (Kinsmen), the Rotary Club Scale campaign for crippled children (Rotary), and work with retarded children (T's Men).

Other interesting community projects in the past have included restoring a cemetery over a 100 years old that was lost in disrepair (Quinte Kiwanis), to helping with the Cancer Society's Daffodil drive (Kinsmen), to having its record torn work at making a flower bed for the resident of Hastings Manor (Kinsmen).

Membership in service clubs is selective and requires being recommended to join by a member. Once being accepted in the club, regular attendance at meetings is usually encouraged.

The meetings are made interesting often by having outside speakers talk to members on various subjects. In the past year, clubs have been addressed by such people as Mayor Robin Jeffery, provincial Minister of Transportation, John Rhodes and many representatives of local industry and business.

Many of the service clubs are known throughout the city by the regular annual events they bring to the community such as the Rotary Music Festival, the Rotary Science Fair, the Kinsmen Candy Cane in the Santa Claus parade, the Kinsmen Highland Weekend, and of visits interchanged between the Belleville Kiwanis Club and the sister club from Lake Delta, N.Y.

All in all, the role of the service clubs in Belleville can be best explained by the name, a club for members to work with one another and with the community to provide a worthwhile service.

Work Begins on Expansion Of Quinte Shopping Centre

The preliminary layout work for a 50-per cent expansion of the Quinte Mall has begun.

Engineering studies have been completed on the north Front Street sight and stakes and grid layouts now mark the guidelines for workmen to follow in the spring.

Fred Smith, manager of the Cambridge Lansdale shopping mall, said this week "construction will definitely begin this spring or early summer — but the weather conditions it is difficult to give an exact starting date."

He said completion of the $13-million expansion is expected in the fall of 1976.

Though original plans called for maximum utilization of the development's 46.3 acres, Mr. Smith said because of drainage problems the project has been scaled down to including construction of a number of industrial sites and a motel in the year of the mall."

"It would cost us a million dollars to adequately drain the area that would have beyond the industrial and motel sites . . . making the project financially impractical," said Mr. Smith.

The retail extension will provide another 125,000 square feet and will house 30 small retail and service outlets and an enhanced "mall area" of the same size as Simpsons.

In 1974, Quinte area shoppers dished out $25 million for consumer products in mall stores.

In addition to mall expansion, Cambridge Lansdale will construct two, 13-storey apartment buildings which will house 300 units.

City Engineer, Joe Angelo, at work

Engineer's Job Keeps City Traffic Moving

Joe Angelo is the man who gives Belleville the works of public works that is.

As city engineer he's the city hall professional responsible for providing the city with its basic community services — roads, storm and sanitary sewers.

Both on-site and from his city hall offices he supervises construction projects that annually run into millions of dollars.

He holds his assignment at a time when the city is in the midst major upgrading and expansion of such services.

City council launched the major program about five years after it decided to concentrate on widening of its main traffic arteries and completing its network of major sewer installations. In fact, an emphasis in this year's capital works budget totalling $3.3 million is to facilitate industrial development in the city's north end, with spinoff benefits for neighboring residential areas.

The program has seen bridge building and road-widening — with more to come in the upcoming years.

The entire program will take at least another five years to complete, estimates the city engineer.

But, the engineer is accustomed with every phase of it.

He was deputy city engineer for seven years before taking Shotgun and rifles are part more than a year ago.

But it's only part of the operation of Mr. Angelo's department, which counts an office staff of more than 25 and works crews totalling 38.

It's at his city hall offices from which all the year-round paper work emanates — planning, drafting, surveys. At the works yards, the end of construction weather brings no slackness either. They're also responsible for storm control during the winter months.

PERCA Manages Seven Conservation Sites

PRINCE — The Prince Edward - Napier Conservation Authority formed in 1946 today supervises seven conservation areas and negotiations are in progress for an eighth property.

Largest and best known of the conservation areas is the 62-acre Macaulay Mountain site where a recreational and educational shelter was officially opened in 1970.

Here nature trails have been constructed and in the winter months a ski club is operated by a group of Prince Edward sports enthusiasts.

The Beaver Meadow site on East Lake Rd., includes 218 acres for forestry and wildlife management purposes.

This spring, Prince Edward County Boy Scouts will plant 2,000 trees there as part of the "Trees Canada" project.

The Little Bluff conservation area is a day-use site located on County Rd. 9 near Point Traverse. Highlights of this property is a scenic shoreline.

The Massassaga Point site, primarily for day use, includes 46 acres.

The Bloomfield Mill Pond site now is being improved for water control and provision of water for firefighting purposes.

At Demorestville, a temporary dam has been built at the site for water management purposes. If the temporary structure proves successful a permanent dam will be built.

PERCA has constructed a dam at Crossover for water control and creation of a water supply for firefighting.

Negotiations for acquisition of the Milford mill pond are in progress and when purchased this site will be used for recreation as water management.

The Conservation Authority has 13 members, one from each Prince Edward municipality and three government appointees.

Of the seven properties owned by the PERCA only the Macaulay Mountain site has been developed significantly. Other sites have been acquired and will be developed to potential in future.

Newcomers Soon Get Use to Local Terminolgy

By CASH MAHAFFY
Staff Reporter

A newcomer to Belleville can be forgiven if at first he's a bit confused by some of the unique local terminology.

For instance, the longtime natives of the city go downtown to shop. They go down street. And, when they arrive at the intersection of Front and Bridge streets, they are at the Four Corners.

The bridge that crosses the Moira River on Front Street is The Upper Bridge. The one that crosses the river on Bridge Street is The Lower Bridge. The Dundas Street span is too new to have a nickname.

It's confusing enough to have a river running north and south and east and west through the city, but even the river's name can be a trap.

The newcomer might expect the river's name to be pronounced Moy-ra. It's not so. Locally, it's a three-syllable name — Moe-ira-ee.

Then there's the problem with long-established landmarks in the city. You have to know the vernacular.

The Bakelite, for example, is really Union Carbide Canada Limited, Plastics and Chemicals — known locally as The Bakelite after an early plastic-type compound that isn't made there any more.

The Alecita, on the other hand, stands for two things: Stewart-Warner Corporation of Canada Limited, manufacturers of automotive coolers, and the asphalt diamond across the street from the plant that is the scene of the best brand of ball seen in the city.

Curtis Lock is another. The company's official name is now International Hardware Company of Canada Limited, but it's now Lobster — it still The Curtis Lock.

When travelling from Belleville, it's important to use the correct phraseology. One goes UP to Toronto and DOWN to Montreal, although Toronto is actually south and Montreal north of The Friendly City. Perhaps it has something to do with the Great Lakes current or the prevailing westerly wind.

Also, there are areas in the city that have their own distinctive names. The pre-teen-aged Hillcrest area, for instance, is popularly called "The Stoney Lonesome."

One example of a linguistic twist peculiar to the area is the use of "anymore."

The newcomer will hear sentences like, "Anymore it's hard to find good veal in town." Anymore is in connection takes the place of "now" or "nowadays."

However, the newcomer needn't despair. With a little patience and a few discreet questions he can soon be talking like a native.

STEPHENS-ADAMSON

CANADA'S LEADING SUPPLIER OF BULK MATERIAL HANDLING EQUIPMENT & ENGINEERED SYSTEMS.

And One of Belleville's Largest Industries

If you were to ask us which of the above achievements we were proudest of, it would be difficult for us to answer. Being the leader in our field is a gratifying achievement, but we cannot and do not forget that it is Belleville and her people who have helped us reach & remain in that position. It is for that reason that we have taken pleasure in the past, and will continue in the future, to support the recreational, cultural, educational and business development of Belleville and district.

Some facts about Stephens-Adamson and its Belleville connection..

-Established in Belleville since 1927, almost 50 years of continuous operations.

-Over $3-million in wages to 340 Belleville-and-district employees annually.

-Supporting many community activities, including the Belleville Theatre Guild, Boy Scouts, United Appeal, and various minor sports.

-Active in civic organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, etc.

-Co-operating in educational programs for high school and advisory committees of Loyalist College.

Marine Division's unique Loop Belt self-unloading system

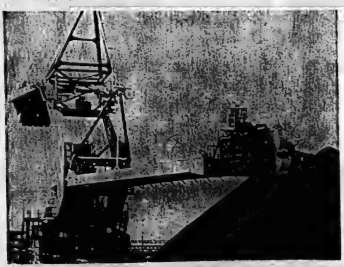
-Heavily involved in export work that brings needed foreign currency to Canada; equipment has been built in Belleville and supplied to customers in Africa, Trinidad, Japan, U.S.A., Brazil and other South American countries.

-Stephens-Adamson Belleville is the headquarters for four Sales and Engineering Offices in Canada and one in Santiago, Chile, offering interesting careers in sales, engineering, accounting, etc.

-Stephens-Adamson is known throughout the world for its: Engineered and Standard Products.

Engineered Systems Division's custom-designed equipment.

TWO EXAMPLES OF STEPHENS-ADAMSON AND BELLEVILLE AT WORK



The largest coal stacker-reclaimer ever built in Canada, the huge piece of equipment (above) was made by Stephens-Adamson, Belleville to move mountains of coal through the Westshore Terminals facility at the Roberts Bank deep-water port near Vancouver, B.C. The 117-foot-high machine has a 200-foot-long boom and a 28-foot-diameter bucket wheel that slews 345 degrees. Operated by only one man, it can feed and reclaim 4,000 tons of coal per hour on both sides of a 1,500-foot-long integrated belt conveyor linking the rail line to the dockside.

Key equipment at the oil-rich Athabasca tar sands mine site of Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd., near Fort McMurray, Alberta, is a 1,745-foot-long belt conveyor designed, built and installed by Stephens-Adamson, Belleville. The 84-inch-wide conveyor elevates 14,000 tons of tar sands hourly from bucket-wheel excavators and connecting field belt conveyors to a 125-foot-high processing plant. The unit is designed to operate in temperatures from 60°F below zero to 90°F above. It is the second such conveyor to be supplied by Stephens-Adamson for the site.

Greenbelt Development Major Priority Among City Officials

"If a person likes to dream you can see — someday — coming down that river and linking up with all those acres of waterfront parkland."

So muses Lloyd Syer.

As Belleville's parks director he is a professional who must deal with daily realities more than dreams.

But he also is the cage at the centre of an operation which has been adding some dramatic notches to the city's greenbelt system.

The city, in recent years, has been exploiting and exploring a potential for parkland that presents one of the most sparkling opportunities in its region, local authorities agree.

Belleville has two prime assets that could make its greenbelt a gem.

The Bay of Quinte, which the city flanks for nearly three miles, with some waterfront ups already parkland.

— The Moira River flowing almost dead-centre through the city into the Bay. Once considered a downtown development drawback, and flood hazard, its esthetic potential has now been long accepted, even partially developed.

If brought to reality as a parkway, or linked by access strips, both waterfrontages would be an outstanding civic asset, says Mr. Syer.

The presence of such potential now puts the city in a "very enviable position" among Ontario's growing communities, he adds.

But such a linkage of facilities would only be the centrepiece to the city's parks system, in fact-already its big Bayfront Park's Centennial Park to neighborhood flowerbeds and greenspace on the department has 230 acres under its supervision.

Last year its maintenance budget was $430,000 and its year-round staff of 18 expanded to 45 with summer help.

Inevitably, the parks people work closely with the city's recreation department, helping maintain ballfields and other summer leisure-time facilities.

Co-operation extends in another direction — which has benefited city parks. This involves the Moira River Conservation Authority (MRCA). The MRCA Essex is already highly visible.

The authority — with its provincial government grants — has bought land on both sides of the Moira in northeast Belleville, where the department helps maintain two of the city's most attractive park-beach areas.

A conceptual plan — introduced in June, 1973 — calls for gradual development of a wide tract of the river's west bank, that includes natural walkways, picnic area, a ski-hill, gardener and even an ice pond in winter. Work already is under way.

In years to come there may be less demand for what he calls "manicured" greenbelt. Instead, the emphasis may be on leaving more of it in its natural state, says Mr. Syer.

The future also indicates seven more — central-beautification moves with the MRCA.

Already, a major study of the Bay of Quinte waterfront is under way by the MRCA.

When it's completed it will be "much easier" to ascertain development direction and with the needed public acceptance.

Ownership of the waterfront is now multiple — the city has some, so have public agencies like the city's harbor commission, the province's environment ministry — which operates Belleville's sewage disposal. Other acreage is held privately.

The waterfront and river is such a tremendous asset, says Mr. Syer.

"Senior governments now are beginning to realize it should be reserved."

Proper Band Makeup Key to Group's Sound

There is more than meets the eye in the makeup of a drum and bugle corps.

Hugh Hardy, director of the Belleville Yeomen Corps, has outlined the composition of his outfit, which includes a percussion section, a horn section and a color party.

The percussion group has three players apiece on snare drums, triple timp-tones, tuned bass drums, tympanis and cymbalists.

In the horn section are first-through-third soprenos, first, second and bass baritones, first and second mellophones and contrabass. The baritones give a trombone voice, the mellophones a French horn voice and the contrabass is in the tuba range.

Douglas Filters Already Gearing Up For Turnaround in Canada's Economy

TRENTON — The Douglas Filter Corporation Ltd. plant in Trenton's northeast industrial park — owned by a Detroit concern, but it does draw/ the four regular employees of one of the town's largest industries.

Space abounds. Empty corners echo what little noise the plant machinery emits. However, the abundance of unused space does not indicate that business is slow.

Quite the contrary, says plant manager Harry Willetton. Mr. Dealers indicate sales are picking up. The firm is also starting a new production line to manufacture air filters for the export market.

When the plant was completed in early 1974, it was built to eventually house up to 50 employees. Over the company's present four workers, three of which are women.

It's designed capacity, says Mr. Willetton, is $1.5-million in sales annually, far above the $380-$390,000 projected for its first fiscal year.

In a recent interview, Mr. Willetton painted a guardedly optimistic picture of the company's future prospects.

He projects that the plant, now valued at $250,000 will soon employ some 25 people whenever the economy turns around. But prior to that, he expects some new workers will be hired to staff a new production line that is gearing up for export sales.

He expects green sales between $150,000 — $125,000 a year in Norway, Sweden, possibly Britain. But, "it could go higher."

At present, the company sells across Canada through dealer outlets in Winnipeg, Toronto, Vancouver and Montreal. Halifax will likely be come its next marketing arena.

The firm is supplying the new Ontario Hydro headquarters in Toronto with its filters — medium and high efficiency disposable air filters that are used in heating, ventilation, and air conditioning machinery.

Mr. Willetton said the Trenton subsidiary of Sir Vedyne Corp. of Santa Rose, Calif. a city 45 miles from San Francisco, currently has a small share of the Canadian Market. It's aim, one that he said he'd be happy with, is to capture three or four percent of the market.

Despite current economic conditions, he sees the ambition as feasible. As a new plant, which started production as recently as September 1974, any increase in sales is a step forward.

Douglas Filter had another point in its favor. Most of the equipment used to manufacture its filters is unique, he says. Its competitors, five in Canada, have systems that complicate the job and then make the finished product costlier.

As manufacturers of the Fluid Line, it uses soft, cotton-like, fibreglass, and heat-and non-heat-sealable synthetic fibres to produce its filters.

The materials are slipped either into rectangular frames or frames and expandable wire forms shaped into bags or socks. Most of the work is done on equipment designed by Douglas Engineering Ltd. in Toronto.

The equipment, says Mr. Willetton, is far simpler than that used by Douglas Filter's competitors. He hesitated to explain the process extensively for fear that the competition would snatch the firm's ideas.

Now Douglas Filter produces some 2,500 filters monthly, rated at four basic degrees of ability to stop air borne dust particles.

The plant is one of Trenton's cleanest, because "when you make filters to clean the air, it has to be clean." says Mr. Willetton.

"If you don't do that, the customer will start with a handicap already," he concluded.

Military Active

Military and veterans' organizations remain active year-round in Belleville.

The city is headquarters for B Company of the storied Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and, with its proximity to CFB Trenton, airforce residents are well represented. Naval interest is represented by a thriving Sea Cadet corps whose band is much in demand for parades and military functions in the district.

There are three active veterans' organizations in the city: ANAF Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 62 and RCAF Association 428 Wing.

All take an active part in community affairs, with particular emphasis on minor sports and youth development.

In addition to the Sea Cadets, there is an Air Cadet corps, sponsored by the ANAF and Army Cadets headquartered at the Armory.

All veterans' groups in the city work together through the Veterans of Belleville Council in organizing such annual events as Remembrance Day and the Vimy Banquet.

Trenton Taking Steps to Solve Industrial Land Shortage

TRENTON — Fears that Trenton may become trapped within its own boundaries and growth may then be stifled have multiplied here over the past year to the point where council is again looking past its borders for land.

A key ingredient in such fears that is repeatedly being called a near exhaustion of land which is home to new industry, a prime factor in town growth. Various area officials forecast a bleak future if more land is not acquired.

But for now, Trenton has enough, says Mayor Robert Pfenich. Until the town runs out of the immediate land servicable, the lack of land "is not a limiting factor".

But it is a concern. As recently as mid-February, the town again made its worries known to the province during the regular ministers-with-cabinet session in Belleville.

At that time, Mayor Patrick decried a lack of land that he said could only be remedied by the expansion of the town's boundaries. In a brief filed with the ministers, he said: "within the town we have become almost exhausted and there is nowhere to go ... until consideration is given to expanding the town's boundaries."

Steps are now being discussed to help alleviate the land shortage.

Talks with Murray Township have been suggested by councillor Ron Price, chairman of the town's industrial committee, all at the semi-official level, they would be geared to exploring what the town could acquire to meet its needs for industrial land sites.

Murray is seen as the most logical and perhaps only, direction for expansion. The town is encompassed by rolling country to the north, CFB Trenton on the east, and the waters of the Bay of Quinte to the south.

Co-operation, although not financial can be expected from Murray Township. Its reeve Harry Lafferty indicated earlier this year that the township has, and will continue to co-operate with the town.

However, the picture is clouded by subsequent statements made by the reeve in which he indicated that it would be unlikely his township would look easterly towards Trenton.

In mid-February, he said informal discussions have taken place over several years with Brighton and Brighton Township over possible amalgamation with his township under one governing body. Further, the government restructuring study now under way in Northumberland County will likely affect Murray and its subsequent relation with the town.

Where Trenton will fit into the overall area picture, and what hopes it can hold of acquiring additional land, is therefore still unknown.

For the moment, says Mayor Patrick, he is maintaining an optimistic outlook. The town has enough land to be able to offer locations for those smaller industries that he feels will be actively sought after by the town's industrial committee.

In that respect, several points already stand in Trenton's favor, he indicated.

Today, as opposed to a year ago, land slated for industry north of Highway 401, now is in the process of being serviced by sewer and water lines, to be complete in mid-1976, the mains will end just north of the highway, ready for an industrial hookup.

What can be considered a minor coup for the town — the location and current construction of the $2.3 million Stearns and Foster Canada Ltd. plant here — may provide an additional benefit.

Trenton, which was chosen over 13 other municipalities in Ontario for the company's third Canadian plant, will become known as a town that treated the company well. The word will spread, says the mayor, and it can't hurt us."

Stearns and Foster is the biggest plant of four to locate in Trenton over the past two years. In 1974, R.E. Sheppard Sales and Service Ltd. built a $30,000 building that now employs about nine workers.

Last year, two industries expanded, with the largest such move being taken by Erie Technological Products of Canada Ltd.

The $140,000 expansion, according to company spokesman Lois Norton, has not been put to use and no additional workers were added to the plant's 430-member labor force.

"For all practical purposes, it's still empty," said Mr Norton. He blamed a downturn in the economy of the United States, the major market for the firm's electronic components, as the reason behind non-occupancy of the addition.

The addition was to give the existing plant "show room" as well as house some operations moved here from the U.S., he said.

In 1975, two newcomers to the industrial community were recorded — Douglas Fiber Corporation Ltd. and Domtech Co. Ltd. The former built a $175,000 plant on Douglas Road, that is now valued, including machinery, at $250,000. The Domtech plant, built for $30,000, is now valued between $130,000 and $150,000 and employs 12 people.

The same year, six additions to existing plants were built. The largest was a $1-million expansion of office and warehousing space at Quaker Oats Co. Enlargement of plant facilities did not correspond with an increase in staff size.

Industrial activity noted does not include that in the suburban areas of Trenton.

Board of Education One of Area's Largest Spenders and Employers

Since the formation of the larger boards in 1969 the Hastings County Board of Education has become one of the country's largest employers with a 1974 budget of $36.8 million.

While education is no doubt one of the biggest businesses in Hastings County it is also one which is people-oriented.

In fact about 70 per cent of the total education budget for 1974 was spent on payroll. Ken Wormald, superintendent of business for the Hastings County Board of Education, said that almost $19 million was spent on salaries last year.

Some businesses, like the oil refinery industries, hire relatively few people in their production. The Hastings County Board a staff of 1,379 spread across the county.

Mr. Wormald said out of this figure about 1,133 are teachers and are classified as academic staff. The remainder are staff alone, which includes administration, purchasing, transportation, plant and maintenance as well as secretaries reaches 363.

The Hastings Board of Education is one of the few businesses in the county which operates a portion of the year without a budget. In fact, it is usually handed down early April.

Most businesses determine their projected sales volume and then strike a budget according to these figures. The board relies heavily on expenditures to set a budget.

The board is regulated by local tax structures as well as the grants and education ceilings placed on them by the provincial ministry of education.

From 1973 to 1974 the board increased its budget by about 8.5 per cent.

Most businesses this size utilize computers and the board is no exception, Mr. Wormald said the board does not own or lease computers but rather it buys the services. Last year, such services cost the board about $185,000. Mr. Wormald said it would virtually impossible to operate the business end of the board without the computer service.

The computer also works out class schedules as well as aids for student enrolments. It also is used for the payroll system.

Obviously the board does not manufacture products but their prime concern is the education of the county's almost 23,000 elementary and secondary school students.

Mr. Wormald pointed out that unlike other businesses the board can not always predict the quality of its educational efforts.

The operation and maintenance of plants and schools amounted to almost $2.4 million in 1974. The board maintains 70 buildings located on 85 school sites. It also owns 41 portable classrooms.

The equalized assess value of the buildings is about $60 million. The cost to operate the board's plant operations is $1.77 a square foot.

Mr. Wormald pointed out that the board spends about $143,000 a year to borrow money. This is due to the fact that the board receives its funds only three time a year.

With the larger boards taking in a greater geographical area the cost of transportation is staggering. In 1974, the board spent a total of $1.3 million in this area.

The board also operates a fleet of 84 passenger buses and 180 station wagons. They cover 276 routes on a daily basis. There are 9,000 students bused daily within the county.

Mr. Wormald pointed out that the shareholders in the business of education are the 13,000 paying public, who are represented by a board of directors known as trustees.

The trustees, in the form of a board, meet twice a month to deal with business matters and policy setting decisions.

Book Store Planned

PICTON — An undercover story headlined by a cast of hundreds is expected to break here this Spring.

Key figures are Beverley Skidmore of Picton and her mother, Ada Wilkinson of Wellington, who plan to open the County Book N' Craft Shop, a retail outlet for a wide range of paper backs.

Mrs. Skidmore noted in 1970 there were two book stores in the town but today there is no retail outlet carrying books as its main stock.

The County Book N' Craft Shop will introduce a complete line of paper backs and a wide range of children's books, hard and soft cover.

Also, craft kits will be sold in addition to craft items made by Quinte area residents.

Mrs. Skidmore explained the shop will represent a community showcase where local artist, authors and craftsmen can display their works.

Periodically, local authors will be invited to visit the shop to sign copies of their books.

Mrs. Skidmore looks forward to her first business venture adding she is convinced that it is based on a strong local need.

The County Book N' Craft Shop is scheduled to open about May 1 in the Armory Mall.

This is the most advanced business communications system in the world.

And it's made right here in Belleville.

The system we're talking about is the brand new Northern Electric SL-1. A unique business telephone system which combines sophisticated computer technology with communications know-how.

And know-how is why it's being made in Belleville. Because when it comes to making the jump from drawing board to assembly line, Belleville's done it before. To the applause of telephone companies all over Canada and the U.S.

It's that kind of work that's made Belleville a vital part of one of the fastest growing telecommunications manufacturers in North America.

This city has provided us with the people we needed to come up with a breakthrough product like the SL-1. Which makes it only right that we're installing the first working system right here in Belleville.

Treasurer Helps Chart City's Financial Course

Frank Morrell is the man who pulls the most important strings at city hall — the purse strings.

As city treasurer — a post he has held for the last six years — Mr. Morrell is the man responsible for keeping track of where the money goes and comes from to run a city of 36,000 residents.

These days it takes about $13 million — if the $3 million slated education is included.

As the city's chief financial administrator, Mr. Morrell keeps the complex of finances — taxes, grants, loans — flowing in and out with a treasury staff of 14.

Its efficiency is the core factor in operating the community. There are at least two pointers to the fact the treasury mechanism works smoothly:

(1) Its tax collections rates about tenth among Ontario cities — running at 92 per cent of all taxes due. That's a rating that's still improving, says Mr. Morrell.

(2) The city's credit rating is "good", says the treasurer.

In fact, recent national bidders for assignment of financial agent in debenture issues, had city council Belleville's credit in the money markets in mind. At the end of 1974, the city had debenture issues totaling $14,307,000.

"The city is faced with ever-increasing responsibilities — and accompanying expenditures — and we're in genuine need of additional provincial (government) assistance.

Quinte Area Provincial Parks Offer Variety of Activities

Vacationers in the Quinte area have no difficulty finding camping accomodation — with the exception of some summer holiday weekends, when campsites are fully booked.

There are four major provincial parks with campsites within 30 miles of Belleville, as well as the Ontario Travelcentre park off Highway 37, near Tweedsmuir operated by the Moira Rivers Conservation Authority.

If there is a lack in the area, it is for vacationers with trailers who wish to park overnight or for a few days with facilities for electricity, water hookup and other conveniences. This deficiency, however, may soon be corrected with a proposed trailer park and recreation area on the recently-acquired Potter Property just west of the city by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

For campers, there are more than 1,500 campsites in provincial parks within an hour's drive of the city. In addition to fully-serviced camping facilities, visitors to and unmatchable scenery on the Lake Ontario shoreline are readily accessible.

Most of the campsites are on the Lake Ontario shoreline of Prince Edward County, or at Presqu'ile Park, south of Brighton and west of Belleville.

The Outlet — Sandbanks provincial park, a combination of two park areas, is located about 25 miles south of Belleville on highway 14.

The Sandbanks is a 1,918 - acre provincial natural environment park that preserves areas of natural, scenic, and historic significance. Visitors can enjoy five miles of sandy beach, ideal for swimming and picnicking and shoreline hiking. The Lake Ontario beach, however, is dangerous for non-swimmers because the beach slopes steeply underwater.

A park pamphlet states "Originally submerged, the Sandbanks was formed by sand collecting across the mouth of the bay. Eventually, shallow ipools with vegetation and a tree cover emerged to create the park as it is today.

"Most of the park area has been reforested because of the previous landowners' tree-felling program which together with wind, caused soil erosion."

Many thousands of trees now have been planted as sand prepared with hay and straw mulching and protected by wind barriers.

The sand movement now is under control but it remains necessary to protect the vegetation and tree cover vital in sand dune stabilization.

Facilities at Sandbanks park include bicycle rentals, canoes, a beach and change houses. Overnight camping is not permitted except in emergency situations.

Outlet Beach Park is a 675-acre provincial natural environment park preserving areas of natural, scenic and historical significance. Facilities include 482 tent and trailer sites, comfort stations, toilets, a sand beach, and picnic areas. There are no hydro facilities for trailers, however.

There are 164 separate campgrounds with some overlooking wide sandy beaches and several miles of the Lake Ontario shoreline. The park, opened in 1958, originally was [illegible] water, forming part of the bay in Lake Ontario. After many years a sand bar has formed across the mouth of the bay, creating an inland lake.

Wellington Beach Provincial Park lies about 1½-miles west of Highway 33, approximately 13 miles from Trenton.

This 71-acre provincial recreation park has been specially developed for day-time use and contains fully serviced facilities. The park is on a sandbar between Lake Ontario and the North Bay, a small lake near the western edge of Prince Edward County.

"Visitors to the park can see The Carrying Place, a site used by Indians as a portage between Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte," states a park pamphlet.

One of Prince Edward's most talked about views can be enjoyed from Lake on the Mountain provincial recreation park. This 259-acre site has been developed for daytime use and will be extended.

The park is situated between "bottomless" Lake on the Mountain and a 178-foot escarpment that falls steeply to the Bay of Quinte. Park brochures note that the absence of a visible inlet to the lake and its indeterminate depth toward the middle led early settlers to believe that it was bottomless and connected by an underground river to Lake Erie.

Also within easy driving range of the city are extensive parks and campsites to the north — Algonquin Park, Bon Echo on Mazinaw Lake, Black Lake, Sharbot Lake and Lake St. Peter, near Bancroft, with more than 1,200 additional campsites and thousands of acres of scenic woods and waters available for enjoyment.

Cars line up to get into the popular Outlet Provincial Park.

Swimmers and sun-seekers alike are attracted to the spacious beaches at the Sandbanks Provincial Park

Orderly Building Association Goal

Home building is big business for a community and Belleville's Quinte Home Builders Association has set itself to the task of keeping the wrinkles ironed out and making sure the machinery runs smoothly.

Bob Marcotte, president of the association, said the group provides a forum for builders to discuss problems with their peers and to find solutions using a national resource — the Housing and Urban Development Association of Canada, of which the local home builders are members.

The local chapter has more than 30 members representing not only the builder but the sub-trades that are vital to home construction. The association also has associate members drawn from the related field of financing.

"The main functions we try to perform cover protection of both the consumer and the supplier and dispersion of information to keep members up to date," said Mr. Marcotte.

A new role which has emerged for the Quinte Home Builders in the past year has been civic affairs.

"Getting the builder vocal concerning municipal legislation that affects him has always been a major problem of ours," said the president. But, "now the association has taken a new look at this area and we have been making strides" he said.

In recent months, the association has been active in two major pieces of city legislation including the sign control bylaw and the minimum maintenance bylaw.

Both have broad applications on the building industry.

During the past year, co-operation between city council and the association has lead to the formation of the sub-divider's Liaison committee.

"The committee serves as a resource to council providing professional insight into proposed legislation before it takes affect," said Mr. Marcotte.

"If there is something inherently wrong with proposed law, it is much easier to modify it before it is passed than wait for later non-occurring amendments," he said.

"The industry must be vocal and must be aware of ever-changing social needs and it's own social responsibilities," he said.

THE TROJAN POOL IS NOT JUST 7 WAYS DIFFERENT . . .

It's 7 ways better.

Here's how it could pay off for you

1. The 2-inch sandwich. The only pool with 2-inch thick walls of polystyrene bonded between layers of aluminum. Lighter, stronger than steel, wood — even 12" of concrete. Keeps water at uniform temperatures.
2. New Anchor System. Unique anchor "A" brace and extra wide anchored bottom channel gives extraordinary strength. Engineered to resist ground heave. Won't warp, bow or burst. And you can backfill before filling with water.
3. Lightweight. Two-thirds lighter than conventional pool packages. Cuts shipping and handling costs up to 60%.
4. Exclusive coping. Attractive, fade-proof snap-on coping eliminates painting, peeling and chipping. Safer, cooler.
5. Tailor-made. Our pools are completely engineered and packaged in any size for commercial and residential use. We even make our own superior safety lane line. Gives complete flexibility of design and shape.
6. Completely packaged. All sections are completely wrapped and protected. Eliminates damage.
7. All Aluminum. Trojan Pools are all-aluminum. Even the nuts and bolts. Can't crack like concrete, warp like wood, or rust like steel.

Heather Wilson with Part of Her Doll Collection

Dolls Not Child's Play

'LAKE - ON - THE - MOUNTAIN — For legal researcher Heather Wilson dolls are not child's play but an informative legacy of the past.

Miss Wilson, a former Toronto resident now living in Prince Edward County spends her spare time collecting and repairing old dolls to create an display for exhibition in the Quinte area.

"I look for anything different," she says referring to the antique and old dolls she collects through newspaper advertisements and auction sales.

Miss Wilson explains the dolls, through their dress, reveal a great deal about the periods of history in which they were made.

The oldest doll in her collection dates to 1880 while another was made in 1970.

Prices of the dolls may vary from $25 to $700 for a Jumeau doll in perfect condition. The latter is usually sought by a collector and its discovery would be "like finding a diamond in the street" says Miss Wilson.

In addition to her doll collection, she is planning construction of a 36 room 19th century Tudor Elizabethan house — doll size, of course.

The furnishings for this miniature have been collected by Miss Wilson over a period of 15 years.

Citizens Bureau Has New Home

It's now official — the former Citizens Bureau in Trenton has returned to Belleville to continue its operation as the new Quinte Information and Assistance Centre at 223A Coleman St.

Located in a former "cold" room of an old dairy, the centre is not exactly in plush surroundings but further renovations will be made to upgrade the inside appearance and increase comfort, says Bill Hockley, centre representative.

"We didn't want something too costly but we wanted something where there were no stairs for older people," he pointed out Monday.

Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and the new telephone numbers are 962-9218 and 962-9219. Services to the public are free.

Mr. Hockley said the centre will also attempt to incorporate its name and has applied to the provincial government to have centre member Peggy Gemmell authorized as a commissioner of affidavits.

Mr. Hockley said the centre has noticed a change in the scope of its duties. He explained in the past three or four weeks, whether because more people in the area are being laid off from work or due to changing economic conditions, there has been an increase in social problems.

300 Jobs Proposed

Mine Re-opening Boom to Bancroft

BANCROFT — The proposed re-opening of the Uranium mine in Faraday Township, four miles south east of Bancroft is being regarded as an economic boost to the North Hastings area.

During the boom time in the 1950s, there were four uranium mines operating in the Bancroft area.

When the mines closed down in 1964, the impact was felt severely by a community which since, has achieved a growth in population and in the tourist business.

Now in 1975, Bancroft is regarded, in the proposed official plan for Hastings County, as "the only area south of Highway 7 that is still experiencing growth and which is expected to continue growing."

The Madawaska mine will fill a continuing order with an Italian agency for the delivery of most of the mine's projected production for a six-year period.

According to mine manager Del Wilcox, uranium is in such great demand on the international market at the moment that the production of Madawaska is a necessity to the Italian government.

Support industries and trades will be needed when the Madawaska site re-opens in the next year.

At the moment additional housing is already under discussion for Bancroft and the Faraday Township area, in preparation for the proposed influx of population.

When the mine is in operation, up to 300 people will be employed there.

Following the announcement of the mine's re-opening by Hastings MP Jack Ellis in February, provincial approval was given to the project.

According to Hastings MPP Clarke Rollins, as much local labor as possible will be used at the mine.

Local politicians are approaching the mine re-opening with optimism and with caution.

Reeve Jack MacKenzie of Faraday Township and Reeve Russell Hawley of Bancroft are calling for co-operation between the municipalities and the mines management.

The president of the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce, Peter Macleod is pleased with the announcement and said he feels that it will be an extra boost for the local economy.

"New tourists can come to Bancroft for two reasons," he said.

"To visit the tourist delights of the area and to see one of the main uranium centres of Canada."

Computer In Class

GLASGOW (CP) — Computers are to be used to help teach children at 10 primary schools here. The computer-aided instruction program, said by the city to be the most advanced in Europe, will supplement normal teaching techniques in reading, arithmetic and grammar.

Battle Won

GLASGOW (CP) — A 'do decapicing an overflowing garbage bin and a rat—the latter "public enemy" of the Royal Highland Fusiliers—have been pronounced to the lord provost, or mayor, of the city, William Gray. In return, the city pronounced such soldier with a miniature bottle of whisky—"A clean drink from a clean city." It marked the army's job in collective form of garbage-during a recent garbage dispute.

Theatre Guild Productions Place Well in Competition

By JIM SMELLIE
Staff Reporter

It's possible that when Belleville celebrates its centennial in 1978 that the Belleville Theatre Guild could be performing its plays in a brand new arts centre which, besides theatre, would accommodate other branches of the arts.

It's just talk now, and a few possible sites have been mentioned, but no matter what happens the Guild, founded here in 1951, can't go much further to match the enthusiasm and dedication its members have given with a theatre that only seats about 200.

The theatre is the Pinnacle Playhouse the attic of the D.I. Storey Building opposite the county court house. The guild performs most of its plays there relying on larger auditoriums such as at Belleville Collegiate Institute or Centennial for its musicals.

The guild recently presented its latest presentation, the bawdy Jacobean two-act farce, The Knight of the Burning Pestle at the Eastern Ontario Drama League competition in Peterborough.

This isn't the first time a guild play has been entered in competition. In 1969, The Lark was presented while in 1971, The Lion in Winter was entered.

In the 1950s a one act-play Voice of the People was entered in the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival and won best play award and was invited to the Dominion Drama Festival. In the early 1960s, Dust and Cue was entered in the one-act festival and it won best play award.

As of March, there was 180 working members in the guild and a theatre guild subscriber list of 550. Theatre guild president is Verna Patterson.

The Guild has presented musicals as well as straight dramas. Last year, Oliver was presented while this year in May the Music Man will be the musical offering.

There are usually four presentations each year. This year besides The Knight of the Burning Pestle, directed by professional director, Daniel Walsh, and The Music Man, the other two productions were Irish playwright's Brian Friel's Lovers and the mystery comedy A Shot in the Dark.

A standard stock company of volunteer contributes immensely to the success of guild productions. Each acted and actresses as Diane Coyne, Ted Bairstow, Flo Yanover, Peter Kitchen and Marsha Sykes to name a few have given fine performances in this year and in past presentations.

Looking back at the guild's presence in Belleville, an amusing situation occurred during the performance of Bamber Carnival some years back. The cast of ten, after playing all night to an audience of five people, turned the tables at the end and applauded the audience.

Previous guild presentations have included, Mother Courage, Seven Year Itch, The Anniversary and Teahouse of the August Moon.

Boats Love City's Attractive Waterfront in the Summer

Latest Waterfront Study To Determine Harbor Needs

One of Belleville's biggest assets in terms of scenery and potential tourist attraction is its harbor and waterfront, politicians have agreed for years.

Finally, in late 1974, through city council by way of the Moira Conservation Authority and the province, it was agreed that steps should be taken to enhance this asset and determine what should be done to make the most of it for the people of the city and visitors.

A firm of consulting engineers, Cryslee and Lathem, of Toronto, was retained by the conservation authority in the fall to prepare a study and recommendations on the waterfront between about two miles west of the city and the boundary between Thurlow and Tyendinaga Townships, including the harbor and rivermouth.

Impetus for the planning study came from city council's Harbor Improvements Committee, set up last year under Chairman Alderman Stu Meeks.

Since the 1850s the harbor and some adjoining lands, more than the area of land and water under the current city — has been under the jurisdiction of the federal government. Locally it is represented by the Belleville Harbor Commissioners.

This situation has, in the past, led to some difficulty in getting locally-initiated improvement schemes off the ground.

Under its constitution, the harbor commission is concerned with navigation and commercial shipping rather than pleasure boating. Also, it is custodian of shoreline property.

Harbor commission chairman Don Barrett welcomed the nearly-completed study of the waterfront. "This will let us do some long-range work on the harbor and it will give Ottawa a chance to plan ahead. This should make it a lot easier to deal with them than it has been with spot requests."

CN Plays Vital Role In Belleville's Economy

In terms of industrial and economic expansion, Canadian National Railway plays a vital role in Belleville's growth.

Belleville is the headquarters for CN's Bideast area — which covers most of eastern Ontario. Located here are company administration and operation offices, telecommunications facilities, a rail yard containing repair shops for diesel locomotives and rolling stock, a timber yard and scrap metal reclamation yard and a repair shop for track switches.

Being one of Belleville's largest employers with more than 1,000 on staff, the company payroll annually injects approximately $13 million into the area's economy. CN's municipal tax contribution in 1974 was $46,000.

Transportation serves as a major selling card for the city's industrial commission in attracting industry into the city. Rail service is of particular importance to industry which markets to a broad area. It was the rail service that played a major part in bringing Procter and Gamble and Peti Tyres to the city during last year.

CN freight operations from Belleville terminal amounted to more than 27,000 car loads or, more than 2.5 million tons last year.

CN in Belleville also plays a major passenger transportation link between the centres of Toronto and Montreal via one of the busiest sections of CN passenger line.

Young Dancers Go Through Their Paces at the Quinte Dance Centre

Theatre, Music, Art Among Many Culture Groups

The art scene in Belleville. What condition is it in? Is it alive and thriving or is there much more that can be done to revitalize it in the city.

While many local artists and craftsmen are doing well working on their own there are certain organizations that strive to promote the arts and artists in Belleville.

One of the most visible bodies in the city especially during Artsfest in the spring is the Quinte Arts Council. Under president, Manfred Koechlin, the QAC consists of members from the various arts in Belleville such as performing, visual, theatre and dance.

The group holds regular meetings and every spring the fruits of their labor are most visible to the public during the month-long Artsfest which includes everything from art exhibitions to a musical and/or dance presentation to a production from the Belleville Theatre Guild (staging things up usually with a musical such as Oliver or The Music Man, this year's presentation.

And while the Quinte Arts Council (QAC) takes care of this area, acting as liaison between that council and the Ontario Arts Council is Diane Aitken, appointed last fall by the Ontario Arts Council as its regional correspondent in the Quinte area.

As correspondent, Mrs. Aitken facilitates the flow of information from the OAC concerning services and programs available and promotes communication between individuals and groups from this area interested in the arts and the OAC in Toronto.

Another visible proof of the arts in the city is the Belleville Arts Association, which holds regular meetings under president, Barbara Wiebe, herself a local artist.

The association has had many of its members' works on display in Belleville as well as various exhibitions in other parts of Eastern Ontario. Throughout the year, juried exhibitions are held and members here are given a chance to have an adjudicator judge their strengths and weaknesses.

Another active group in the city is the Belleville Theatre Guild which each year presents four productions. This year, one of the productions, The Knight of the Burning Pestle was one of five community plays accepted for entry in the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival held in Peterborough.

Guild president, Verna Paterson said the Guild has an active membership list at the beginning of this year of about 200 and a paid-up subscription list of 385. The Guild was formed in 1951 and plays are presented at the Pinnacle Playhouse.

A more recent group is the Quinte Dance Centre now entering its third year of operations under director Brian Scott, himself a professional dancer first in England and then in Canada. At present, the centre has 145 regular students and five professional students (three studying to be professional dancers and two to be teachers.

The centre aims to teach young people, some as young as four-years-old, the basics of ballet and dance. One student, Andrew Pape, 11, is currently attending the National Ballet Company School in Toronto and this past Christmas season participated in The Nutcracker Suite at the O'Neill Centre.

Another student, Laura Sayen was one of the first students in this area to pass her professional exams in dance and theory. She now becomes eligible to be considered for entry into the Royal Ballet School in London.

With these various organized groups as well as such individual artists in this area as Jerry Stapley with his pen and ink drawings, Audrey Davies with her distinctive mark on pottery and Paul Thrune who had his water colors and oil paintings exhibited in a two - man show in Toronto in April, all signs lead to a healthy art scene in Belleville.

Lock One Lockmaster Jim Howard (left) and canalman Jim Watt repair the damage of winter on stop logs at one of many dams along the Trent Canal in preparation for the May 14 opening of the boating season. The stop logs, roughly 27 foot long and a foot wide, were pulled out of dams over the winter but will be replaced to bring the water in the river up to navigable depth. Once logs are in, the water level will rise about four feet.

Lighthouse Performs at The Four Seasons

City Has Entertainment To Please Every Taste

By JIM SMILLIE
Staff Reporter

So you've just arrived in Belleville and are joining the ranks of the 35,000 or so friendly inhabitants calling this place home.

You've found a place to live, have met your neighbors and their 150-lb. St. Bernard, are nicely settled in your job and are looking for a night out on the town.

One impressive place for dining and dancing is the Four Seasons Hotel. You can start with a meal in the dining room and finish with dancing and drinking in the Terrace Bar.

If you're tastes are for a bender, Brother brand of music you might try the Mad Mechanic but come early for a good seat for a serious down-to-earth discussion with the person seated next to you, unless you feel like shouting.

Along the same vein of uptempo music for dancing, you could try the Sun Valley, conveniently situated off Highway 401.

There is no cover charge at either the Four Seasons or Sun Valley but you must wear something other than blue jeans to get in. If you feel more comfortable in denims the best places to go for less formal entertainment is the Green Air at the Quinte Hotel, the Belvedere of the Canadian.

For those wanting to provide their own entertainment you might try the Chart Room, the City or the Doctors, since all have only a joke bar. For quiet conversation with your drink try the Quencel Lounge downtown with its relaxed atmosphere.

If you don't feel like drinking well there's always the Queens of which there are three in Belleville along with a drive-in. Cinemas 1 and 2 at the Quinte Mall play first-run features while the Park Theatre down town offers the occasional first-run movie but mostly has double-bills of films coming their second or third trip to the city.

As for restaurants besides the already mentioned Four Seasons, there's Sue Valley, the Fiesta Room at the Quinte Hotel and for a meal, there's Peter's Roast House on Highway 2 and Rainoldi on Highway 37.

Throughout the year, visiting entertainers and performers are stopped off in Belleville, coming here through the efforts of the Quinte Arts Council and local industry. In the past year, the Canadian Touring Opera Company's version of La Boheme, the Toronto Workshop Production of The Last Years and Les Feux Follets have all played here.

On a different level, also performing here in the past year have been Ian and Sylvia, Lighthouse, Stompin Tom Connors and The Grease ball Boogie Band.

Move To Improve

TORONTO (CP) — The Quebec government has opened an office here. Its purpose is to improve relations with Ontario. The move was taken after the Quebec government took a survey on the province's image in surrounding areas, and found it was worst of all in Ontario.

The conservation area is one the authority is developing as a wildlife, and possible education, centre.

Bancroft Attracting New Industry

BANCROFT — The hills and woods of North Hastings do not lack, to the uninitiated eye like a promising location for any light industry other than lumber or lumbering but there are a number of small concerns in the Bancroft area which does just that.

For Carl and Helen Pitts of the Hiniginal Handicrafts leatherwork plant in Bancroft, the North Hastings area has proven to be advantageous for their operation.

The new Hiniginal plant, on Hastings St., North, is the source for the crafted of leather jewellery, purses, belts and novelties that are distributed throughout North America.

"We have sales people in all parts of Canada and the United States," said Carl Pitts. "Last year we were approached by five European agencies who want to handle our product but we don't have the capacity for that yet."

The majority of the Hiniginal work is done by North Hastings women in their homes.

The jewellery making is a very specialized form of piece work and even is effectively done in the private home.

The women come to the plant, at their convenience to pick up the leather for the jewellery.

Boxing, shipping, and tagging the leather are done by the permanent fulltime staff at the plant.

Several other light industries have located in the Bancroft area in the last several years.

The proximity to rail and road shipping make this an attractive area.

The chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce, Doug Meech, said he feels the area would be conducive to almost any sort of clean, non-polluting light industry.

"There are three highway carriers in the area and any industrial land can be made accessible by rail also," he said.

Mr. Meeks operates Bancroft Block which specializes in the manufacture of cement blocks and decorative blocks, for construction.

Bancroft now is being serviced by a large new municipal water system and treatment plant that is designed to accommodate growth in the area.

In addition to the light industry of the area, there are also several major government installations in Bancroft. The ministry of transportation and communications, maintains roads and depots from Bartlett Falls to Cambermere, in Cox Hill and is one of the areas major employers. The Ministry of natural resources and Ontario Hydro also have office buildings in Bancroft.

Tweed Business, Service Hub for 15,000 Area Residents

TWEED — This community has always been progressive and vigorous Reeve Barbara Allen said recently in an interview.

A little over 20 miles northeast of Belleville, one major attraction is Stoco Lake, which nudges the south end of the main street.

Tweed's progress started back in the 30s when village council decided that if the community was to grow it should be serviced by water mains and sewers, long before many similar-sized corporations, the reeve said.

Stoco Lake is noted for its smallmouth bass. There is camping situated right in town by the lake. Tourism is big in Tweed, Mrs. Allen noted.

Tweed also has some solid industry. There is I. Tweed Steel, which primarily manufactures fireplaces. Sawyer Stull Lumber Co. serves the shipping industry by making pallets.

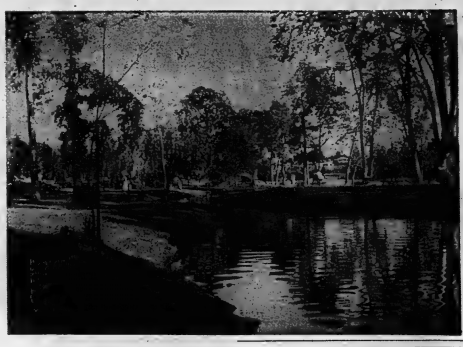
Tweed Veneers Ltd. and Wood-Mosaic Canada Veneers round out the industry predicated on the lumber industry. Then there is the Rathnite planing mill which turns out furniture for cottages and rec rooms.

To maintain Tweed's progress, the present council is engaged in assembling an industrial park. There is some land in the northwest and the east side of Tweed which is suitable for residential development, reeve Allen suggested.

"Tweed is a service town," the village head said. "It serves an area which encompasses 15,000 people. We provide professional services and banking.

"The ministry of natural resources employs a lot of people here. They contribute a lot to community life. They keep the community vigorous. They are moved around to different appointments, and this new blood keeps the community from becoming insular and parochial. It keeps the place exciting," Mrs. Allen explained. "Similarly, we have the regional home office and the bank."

"Then we get the other side of the coin too," the reeve said. "We have a nice, stable community of established families. We get the best of both worlds. We are made up of people who have solid historical roots and people who bring a breath of fresh air in. They come with their families and new ideas."



Riverside Park

This view of Riverside Park on Canniffon Road N. picks the tranquility of a summer's day along the Moira River. Many Belleville families spend hours at the park during the summer months.

Hearing Handicapped Get Care at Sir James Whitney

The Ontario School for the Deaf was renamed last year as the Sir James Whitney School in honor of a former conservative premier of Ontario.

Known as OSD for 69 years the school has changed its name according a new ministry of education policy of not having the handicapped identified in the names of the institution for their care. The school also comes under the government's embracing of regional centre for the hearing handicapped.

Sir James Whitney was a conservative premier of Ontario from 1905 to 1914, shortly before he came premier of the province the OSD was called institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

After he became premier, responsibility for the school was moved from the department of the provincial secretary to the department of education which later became the ministry of education.

Also in 1974 the Ontario Association of the Deaf held its annual convention in Belleville. Dr. Robert Rumball was the keynote speaker at the convention.

The Sir James Whitney School currently has an enrolment of 373 students of which 99 are day students and the rest live in residence. The school is staffed by 300 which includes teachers, professionals, doctors and resident counsellors. The school also employs seven home visiting teachers for work with pre-schoolers.

Sir James Whitney was founded in October of 1870 and established the first school for the deaf in Ontario. Today the school counts students from all far away as Kenora, Hearst and Rainy Lake.

The school itself sits on 26 acres of land in the west portion of Belleville. There are about 13 buildings located on the site, including classrooms and residences.

Deaf Awareness Week

Mayor Robin Jeffrey gives the city's official approval to Deaf Awareness Week (May 4 to 10) while Ken Roberts, a member of the Speech and Hearing Month committee looks on. May is Speech and Hearing month and the local committee is planning a three-day exhibition May 8, 9 and 10 at the Quinte Mall. Mr. Roberts is a counsellor at Picton Heights School for the Retarded in Picton.

Board Launches Study On Education Views

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education is launching an 18-month study on how county employers view education and what art the institutions private business can make to education.

"The project is designed to research and validate resources in the community and then make this information available to educators," explained Dave Smith, co-ordinator of community education with the board.

The program, which is being funded by a ministry of education grant for community studies, is expected to be completed by the fall of 1976. The bulk of the interviews are being conducted by a board resource assistant Mary Shipton.

"During the initial interviews I'm getting a good response from employers," said Mrs. Shipton, who hopes to meet managers from all segments of business in Hastings County. The study is expected to include manufacturing business and services as well as skilled occupations.

"We also hope to compile a list of occasional resources such as people in the community who are experts in certain hobbies," said Mrs. Shipton. The basis of the information will be obtained through personal interviews.

Mrs. Shipton said the interviews are also designed to obtain the feelings of employers about the quality of education and what they think education should be doing for the graduates.

"An essential part of this exercise will be to determine the kinds of input employers would like to have in education programs," said Mr. Smith, who has been with the board since 1974. Employers will also be asked if they want to participate in a co-operative program with the schools. Many secondary schools now offer field work experience for students.

Mr. Smith said program developed through the belief that there is a great amount of untapped resources in the community which schools could be utilizing. "We just need a way of organizing them in a way useful to the schools," he added.

Last year the ministry of education offered about $500,000 for research grants in the area of community resources. The Hastings Board of Education was granted $9,000 this year with an option to apply for further grants next year.

"Because of the long period of time involved in this study we hope to have interim reports as the study progresses," said Mrs. Shipton. It is hoped the final report from the study can be used in various areas of education.

Restoration of Historic Road Would Re-create Pioneer Days

By HARRY HULHALL
Staff Reporter

It's called The Road.

An imaginative project, it would top Hastings County historical heritage for culture — and spinoff commercial development.

The scheme — the inspiration of the Hastings County Historical Society and its museum's curator Marion Lewis — is blazed on an historic route in the county's north-central townships. It's the Old Hastings Road.

The Road was pushed north through the county in the mid-1880s as a colonization route for settlement. High hopes for its success were never totally realized, Much pioneer optimism perished on the rocks of the north country bush.

Today The Road, flanking Highway 62, still is in use in varying degrees, where it hasn't been abandoned.

What Mr. Lewis proposes is to:

— Restore sections of the road to its settler environment. Road with rougher aggregate, split rail fences, log cabins to enclose roads.

— Have local residents encouraged, or taught, to practice the skills of the original inhabitants.

— Have visitors, not just as passing tourists, but to stay one or two weeks, totally immersing themselves in his revived way of life.

It would include period

Heritage Project

Marion Lewis, Hastings County Museum curator, outlines proposal to county council Tuesday for heritage development along Old Hastings Road. The long-range project, approved in principle by council, is aimed at recreating pioneer environment on old colonization route.

Bell Expert Outlines Area Telephone Service

PROGRESS — POTS Is Proof to Peter

Paul Lecourt of Bell Canada's marketing division addressed members of the Quinte Chapter of the Society of Industrial Accountants at their recent meeting on the subject of POTS and PANS.

He explained POTS stands for Plain Old Telephone Service and PANS means Peculiar And Novel Services.

Mr. Lecourt commented through technological innovations special services have been made available to Bell customers as well as improved service by use of integrated circuits made by uniting devices of the transistor family, ed contact with a way of life that is integral in the pioneer tradition, said Mr. Lewis.

It's a novel concept — there's nothing quite like it anywhere in Ontario, he said.

Of necessity it's a long-range project, taking perhaps 15 years, requiring much preliminary work.

Although not specifically a profit-making venture, it could become so. It it didn't prove financially viable it should be cancelled, he admitted.

This would be very unlike the scheme would be played in stages. One suggested time frame is to (1) develop Crown land between L'Amable and Umfreyville, south of Bancroft, or Ormsby, in Limerick Township, and Umfreyville; (2) develop the remainder of the route between L'Amable and Ramschburn in Madoc Township.

Reeve Jack McKenzie of Faraday Township warned that such an undertaking could be too costly. He said a walking trail in the area — without naming it — has turned out to be a "white elephant."

However, county council voted 18-7 to approve the project in principle.

The above all indented

Way Now Clear for Start On Downtown Centre

Belleville's biggest downtown redevelopment project of modern times is "poised to get under way," one of its legal officials told city council recently.

The intimation came from Ian Brady, Lawyer for Belleville Development Ltd., developer of the multi-million-dollar Cattany Plaza at Bridge and Front streets.

Demolition of the site is now complete and council moved to clear legal grounds for further progress.

Council's involvement included legal agreements and supporting bylaws to define land titles and transferals since a change in public laneway accesses is called for.

Mr. Brady was present to answer questions as council scrutinized the technicalities of the agreement involving the city, developer and adjoining property owners.

One major change was made in the document and several given subject to the alteration. In effect, it was a legal housecleaning in terms of ownership in case one of the properties — the Army Navy and Air Force Veterans Association building — should ever change hands.

Mr. Brady asked council to expedite its approval, with the change. Otherwise to re-draft the document without causing many problems at this stage would be a "Herculean task."

He was certain that consultation with the city's solicitors immediately would clarify the required technical change.

Ice Control Dams to End Flooding of Moira River

The Moira River Conservation Authority, in business since 1967, is in the midst of two major projects this year — both of which have been on the books for a long time.

They are two ice control dams on the river in Belleville and a study of the Bay of Quinte watershed within the authority's jurisdiction.

While work continues on other programs and projects, most public attention has been focussed on these two endeavors in recent months.

The ice control dams, both of which will be located in the city at College St. and Reid St., have been in the design stage for a number of years. Their purpose will be alleviate ice buildup at the mouth of the river to prevent backup of river flow and prevent flooding in the downtown area such as was experienced in 1936 and threatened in later years.

A side benefit of the dams will be their ability to regulate water flow and provide additional recreational and esthetic benefits in the city and upriver.

Almost all the riverside properties required for the dams have been acquired — at a cost of close to $1 million — and construction work is scheduled to start in 1976, with completion the same year.

The watershed study, expected to be complete by early summer, will serve as a guide to the development of Bay of Quinte shorelines from about two miles west of the city east to the boundary between Thurlow and Tyendinaga townships.

The consultants retained to do the study have stressed public participation and solicit suggestions about uses to which the waterfront can be put.

Also expected to be included in the report are recommendations for additional boating facilities in the harbor and perhaps suggestions for rehabilitating spawning beds for various species of sport fish at the mouth of the Moira.

In its 30-year life the Moira authority has completed a number of projects, notably the development of Vanderwater Park, east of Highway 37 north of the city and the reconstruction of the O'Hara Mill property northwest of Madoc.

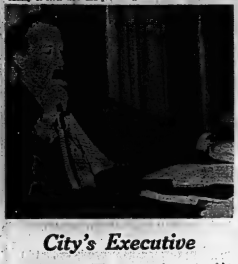
The 620-acre Colonel Rance Vanderwater Conservation Area is named after the first chairman of the Moira authority and includes riverside facilities for picnicking swimming, camping, fishing and boating. In addition, an area has been set aside for area Boy Scout's Camp Sagamonka.

At O'Hara Mill a major attraction is a mulay sawmill, believed to be the only of its type in Ontario, also on display are many items of early Canadiana in the O'Hara Memorial Museum, an early log schoolhouse, antique farm machinery and pioneer artifacts.

The authority continues to acquire and develop properties for educational and recreational purposes. A recent acquisition was the Potter Property east of the city on Highway 2. This farm, located on a creek feeding into the Bay of Quinte, will be developed as a picnicking and trailer park area with nature trails within easy access of city residents.

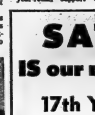
Another of the authority's projects over the years has been an extensive tree-planting program involving close to three million trees.

City's Executive



As city manager Wilbur Purcell heads the team that administers local government in Belleville. He's the man who must advise council and put its instructions to work.

Summer Brings Dollars



Marmora does not have any local manufacturing industry and relies upon a solid farming community for year-round support of its business community as well as local residents. Summer is when business swells and the economy is boosted. Jack Reynolds, pictured here looking over the downtown area, has been reeve for five years and on council since 1947.

Active Organization

Sales boosters in the city are members of the Belleville Sales and Ad Club. At their recent election night the following directors took office: front — George Taylor, Jim Malcolm, Jack Dickens, Ron Walmsley, Russ McBride; back — Dick Simon, Roy Taylor, Doug Bannon, Rick Mohan and George Ward. President is Jim Malcolm; first vice-president, George Ward and second vice-president, Rick Mohan.

Ex Poster Made By Local Student

When people read the advertising being published this year, Quinte Exhibition, they can expect it not to be drawn by an established advertising artist but by an 11-year-old grade 6 student at Queen Elizabeth Elementary School in Trenton.

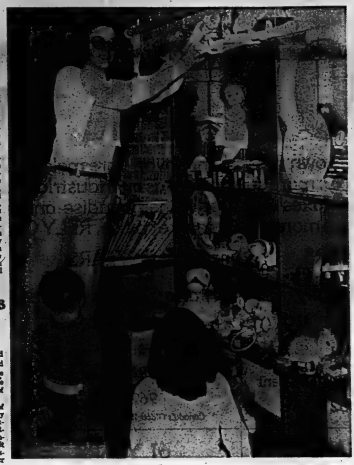
Kim LaFleur, daughter of Lois and Ross LaFleur of 441 West St. in Trenton, won a $25 first prize recently when her poster was selected as the pick of over a dozen others in a poster contest sponsored by the Quinte Exhibition and organized by the above advertising class at Loyalist College.

The contest was devised to enable area elementary school students to display their artistic talents and draw a suitable poster which could be used in exhibition advertising.

Co-ordinator and manager of the project was Dave Bell, a Loyalist data processing student.

Second prize winner was Jennifer Pile of Picton, a Grade 7 student at Ailed Central and the third place finisher was Karen Muir, a Grade 8 student at Prince Charles in Trenton.

Receiving honorable mention were Barb Perry, Grade 7, Ailed Central; Sandra Macdonald, Grade 7, Prince Charles in Trenton; Dave Hill, Grade 7, Sir Mackenzie Bowell in Belleville; Karen Harris, Grade 2, Prince Charles in Trenton; Kenneth Wilson, Grade 7, Sir Mackenzie Bowell; Kimberley Avery, Grade 3, Queen Elizabeth in Trenton; Rusty Quinn, Grade 4, Kente; Dana Hamilton, Grade 4, Prince Charles in Trenton; and Lynn Ann Wilkinson, Ailed Central in Cherry Valley.



Belleville Gets $26,000 For Home Improvements

Belleville has received $26,000 in its first application for funds under the Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP).

The availability of OHRP funds for qualifying homeowners through city hall now will be advertised.

City council earlier this year made its first formal application for OHRP funds to which it was entitled during the 1974 provincial fiscal year. The request was for the full allotment of $106,000.

However, the request apparently came too late for the city to benefit from the full amount.

City manager Wilbur Purcell explained the reason in a memo to council recently: "I understand the full amount is not being approved as the fiscal year was ending and the full amount would not likely be utilized."

However, in the present 1975 fiscal year council may apply for more OHRP funds as "the need ... becomes apparent."

Mayor Robbie Jeffery said after Monday's meeting the city would be seeking more OHRP funding.

The prime objective of the program, reported Mr. Purcell, is to assist with repairs of faulty structural and sanitary conditions, and upgrade plumbing, heating and electrical systems in homes. Details will be available from city hall.

City council will approve the loans after processing through city hall administrators.

Hastings Warden Speaks On County's Future

Hastings County of course has many unique characteristics, differing from communities in Ontario. When we think of our County being over 100 miles in length, ranging from the shores of Lake Ontario to north of Marmora, we realize that we have a considerable variation in climatic conditions alone.

Most people understand that when the fields are bare in the south part of Hastings, there is often plenty of snow in the north to support snowmobiles and all types of winter sports. Coupled with our variation in climate, we have of course extreme variations in topography. The southern townships are mainly suited to agriculture, with industrial development around Belleville and Trenton.

The further north we go the land changes to gravel rock with thick wooded areas and beautiful lakes and streams. The area is naturally suited to lumbering, mining and tourism.

I feel that the County of Hastings has a great potential for growth. Situated as we are, midway between the proposed Pickering airport and the proposed industrial park at Prescott, we are bound to feel the full effect of these two huge developments. It would appear that secondary industry should be interested in locating in this area.

In connection with these two large developments, there will no doubt be a large influx of people into these areas. These people must have adequate places for recreation and where would there be a better place for them to enjoy themselves than beautiful Hastings County where we have so much to offer. The Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council is a very active group and recently presented a plan for a 300,000 acres provincial park to our area (Marmora Cabinet ministers at a meeting in Belleville. This brief was well received by the Cabinet ministers, and it pointed out that there were an estimated 46 million people within an easy day's drive of the area.

The recent announcement of the re-opening of Faraday uranium mine is a prime example of the potential of Hastings. With fossil fuels becoming scarce in the world it may make uranium a valuable asset. Mr. Del Wilson, manager of Faraday mine recently announced that 300 employees would be needed at the mine by 1976 and also predicted that other mines would be opened as we are on the eve of a uranium boom.

Agriculture is the main industry in seven of the southern townships with other areas of good farmland scattered throughout the county. Dairying continues to be the backbone of the industry, and Hastings is famous for it's Holstein cattle which is very popular with tourists. Beef cattle numbers have increased dramatically in the past several years, due mainly to more strict regulations and the lack of adequate help in the dairy industry. Future will continue to grow in size mainly from consolidation, and as world food supplies become more scarce, agriculture will play an even more important role than it has in the past.

In closing, I feel sure that this area will continue to grow and prosper, and hopefully we can direct that growth to the benefit of the citizens of the County of Hastings...

William S. McCrea,
Warden,
County of Hastings.

IN ORBIT 20 YEARS

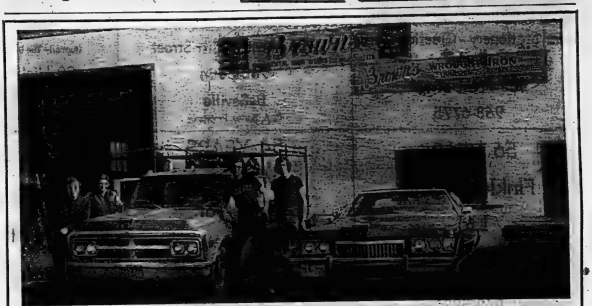
Toy Lending Library



Susan McConnell, project supervisor, is seen here labeling up the shelves in the basement room at Queen Mary Public School where the Toy Lending Library opened its doors in January, sponsored by a Local Initiatives Project grant. The library is stocked with toys, dolls, games and books that appeal to its pre-school clientele, who may become members simply by coming along with an adult or two in tow.

Placement Record Good

If the student placement record at Loyalist College is any indication, Ontario community colleges are far outstripping universities in finding related employment for graduates.

Charley Benson of Loyalist's student service department says the colleges are 80 per cent successful across the province in that facet. "The universities can't come near that," he notes.

Of 37 student who continued to higher studies, 36 returned to Loyalist.

Brown's Ornamental Iron Works... Progressing with the Times

Vivian and Dean Brown started Brown's Ornamental Iron Works in the garage of their Moira Street West home some 14 years ago.

Since that time, they have never looked back.

The Brown's are a very ambitious couple; they worked together developing only the very highest standard in the manufacturing and production of wrought iron works and miscellaneous steel.

The industry at that time was just branching out into a very lucrative field with the construction of new housing developments and industrial expansions in the Belleville area.

Wrought iron railings for homes and steel stair structures being in demand at the time, it afforded the Brown's an opportunity of expanding their garage to a co-operate company in 1970 and purchased the building at 39 College Street West.

Dean Brown is a highly-skilled craftsman in the iron works trade, and this skill is certainly very evident in his creations.

The trade demands imagination and excellence in creating unique wrought iron designs for Commercial, Industrial and Residential contracts.

Dean not only designs very unusual and complicated orders, but he also manufacturers them and installs them with the assistance of his very capable staff.

Skilled men are difficult to find in this trade very few young men are willing to devote the necessary time and energies learning this very demanding trade.

Long hours and patience must be exercised at times to truly achieve the goal as a wrought iron and steel craftsman. Speed is not very essential contracts must be filled promptly so that the entire project isn't held up and the construction company is kept satisfied and happy.

Dean Brown is very optimistic toward the staff of young men he employs today He feels they are really contributing a great deal to the success of the business and is very hopeful they will continue to be part of his operation and develop into expert craftsmen thus relieving him from the task of the operation's workload.

Brown's Ornamental Iron Works is a smoothly run operation. Mrs. Brown supervises the plant when Dean is out on the job and works right along with the men in the plant.

Since she started in the business from square one, she knows exactly what has to be produced during the day and knows every phase of the operation, having performed every one of them herself at one time or another. Knowing the importance of dependability in a company, Mrs. Brown organizes her staff to perform their tasks in a rigid and precision like fashion.

Her favorite phase of the operation is in the painting room; a separate room from the plant which contains the paint vats vats which Mr. Dean designed and constructed himself.

The vats stretch 16 feet long and are five feet deep and will hold some 300 gallons of paint at one time.

A modern and unique arrangement is in operation and Mrs. Brown exercises this tedious and time consuming operation with the utmost care and a high degree of skill.

A great deal of satisfaction is experienced by her face after she has completed a piece of work, and here again, speed is of great importance.

It is difficult to train a person in the painting operation, according to Mrs. Brown, to accomplish the degree of workmanship Brown's Ornamental Iron Works has attained in their finished products.

Knowing the job is the key if one is to be successful.

Brown's Ornamental Iron Works is the most modernly equipped plant in Eastern Ontario. The Brown's have been through many operations in Ontario to gain new ideas and inspect the equipment of other companies in the trade. They are satisfied that every operation is second to none, compared to others in the industry.

Large investments have been continuously made to upgrade the standards of their operation. A unique welding machine was just recently purchased, making the job less time consuming and aiding in the efficient operation.

A large tractor trailer has just been constructed to move the iron steel structures and balconies from the plant to the construction sites.

During the steel crisis of last year, Dean Brown had to investigate every possible source of supply to maintain the steady flow of steel to meet the growing demands of the construction industry. Over 30,000 tons of steel is used in the company's yearly production, and a steady run to an amazingly high percentage in cost over the past year.

Brown's Ornamental Iron Works have contracted many Commercial and Industrial jobs during the past year: The Applewood Building by Harwood Developments where they installed the steel stair casing and iron work; Lanlaw Shoe Store; Belmont Restaurant; O'Brien's Funeral Home and the wrought iron design at Modern Cafe.

Most of their operation involves the Commercial and Industrial trade and Brown's are sub-contractors for Bolton Construction and Lambert Construction for new industrial and commercial buildings.

The company is active in custom fabricating from drawings in the finished job. This includes railings, steel stairs, fire escapes, balconies, access metals and sliding factory partitions.

This leaves very little limit to fill the constant stream of private residence orders which flow into their plant day after day. Reluctantly, Mr. Brown is forced to turn down some of the increased demands with the industrial contracts, but Brown's still don't have the time to fill them.

Brown's Ornamental Iron works has come a long way since 1961. A success story in itself . . . from humble beginnings, a company developed their company through untiring efforts and demand for precision and high quality workmanship.

Brown's Ornamental Iron Works are noted for their excellent craftsmanship . . . after all, that's what they built their business on!

OFFER YOU A SOLUTION TO THE "ENERGY CRISIS"

ONE SYSTEM THAT HEATS AND COOLS YOUR HOME AUTOMATICALLY FOR TOTAL HOME COMFORT.

The Hi/Re/Li Heat Pump

If you are building a new home, or planning on putting in a new furnace with a central air conditioning system it might be a good idea to consider a unit called a heat pump.

This is essentially a central air conditioner with added features to reverse itself automatically to heating. This means, that in winter, you use the outside air to heat your home, the same as you cool your home in summer, by removing the warm inside air. These units now are efficient to an outside temperature of -20 degrees F. Although auxiliary heat is required at low temperatures this is provided by electric heating elements incorporated in the heat pump. Even when the temperature drops to -20 degrees a certain amount of low cost heat is still supplied by the heat pump and the total fuel saving for the year is substantial.

Because a heat pump only moves heat and does not have to produce it, it operates with remarkable efficiency, you actually get more heat energy out of it than you put into it, as high as 3 to 1 compared to something like .7 to 1 for oil or gas and 1 to 1 for electricity.

OUR SERVICE AND PARTS DEPARTMENT

Service should be a prime consideration of anyone purchasing a new or used car. An automobile is, after all only a machine, and all machines require proper, regular maintenance to assure a long uninterrupted life. As an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure to a customer's health, the same applies to a car. Our service department is well staffed with experts in automotive service and repair, our shop is equipped with the latest and best of equipment and our technicians have a genuine interest in your automobile.

Police To Take Pulpits

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Two of Belleville's finest will take to the pulpits next week in two city churches to preach on law and order as part of celebrations marking Law Enforcement Week (May 11-17).

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie will talk on "Law and order in society today" to the congregation of St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday in the parish hall on East Bridge St.

Chief Crosbie is a member of St. Thomas'. The Sunday 11 a.m. services are being held in the parish hall on an interim basis, following last week's church fire.

Inspector Ralph Blatchford of city police will speak at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on May 18. He says he will decide on his subject later.

Both speeches will take the place of the regular sermons by the church ministers.

Boy Slain, Suspect Hit by Car

TORONTO (CP) — Ronald Steven Ryan, 20, of Toronto was under guard in hospital today after being shot in a shopping mall parking lot Tuesday night by police investigating the slaying of a 15-year-old boy.

Police said Ryan has been charged with murder pending the results of investigation in the death of Michael Hisbish of Toronto.

Ryan was struck by three or four police bullets during a gun battle at the Scarborough Town Centre about an hour after Hisbish was shot to death at the Fairview Mall parking lot, about five miles away.

A witness to the first shooting said a man got out of a car and started walking away when an unmarked police cruiser approached and struck him.

The man got up and started to run and two police officers chased him and a number of shots were fired, the witness said.

Silicosis Sufferers Assisted

TORONTO (CP) — Uranium miners in Ontario suffering job-caused silicosis will be paid 75 per cent of lost wages to encourage them to seek less hazardous work, Labor Minister John MacBeth said Tuesday.

The announcement followed release of a health ministry report which showed 107 workers at the Elliot Lake and Bancroft mines had developed permanent scarring of the lungs which might lead to tuberculosis and another 158 with exposure to uranium mining conditions had developed pre-silicotic conditions.

Mr. MacBeth said miners with silicosis will be encouraged to find work elsewhere through job-retraining and compensation for moving expenses, where necessary. In addition, they will be paid 75 per cent of the difference in lost earnings to a maximum level of $15,000.

Bell Cuts Number Of New Directories

HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Bell Canada will distribute fewer telephone directories this year.

The number of copies is down more than 8,000 in the Belleville exchange area.

The move, says the company, is "in the interests of conservation" and will see only one directory delivered to each household.

However, says George Thompson, Bell's Belleville manager, subscribers wishing a second directory need only phone the company to obtain one.

The new conservation policy does not apply to business offices.

"We've taken surveys which show that most residential subscribers want only one directory," said Mr. Thompson.

As a result, 82,650 copies of the new directory will be delivered — 8,178 fewer than in 1974.

"Bell's change in policy reflects the company's concern for cutting down on pollution and for the need to conserve our natural resources," said Mr. Thompson.

Business offices have been canvassed to identify as closely as possible their specific requirements".

Bell plans to start distributing the 1975 directory in the Belleville area in June, and distribution should be completed in 10 days. Telephone number for householders to call for a second directory is 968-5708.

The new directory has some changes.

Its introductory information pages have a new format.

"A new type face and new arrangement of the information makes these pages easier to read . . . it's easier to pick out the information you want," said Mr. Thompson.

The directory is enclosed in cover with a futuristic blue-green pattern depicting the "dynamics of telecommunications" in Canada. Color scheme of the 1974 directory covers was brown and yellow.

Other details: The Belleville-area directories consumed 125 gallons of ink and 911 of special paper which disintegrates when recycled or disposed of as garbage.

Cliche Reports

Criminals Found In Labor Unions

QUEBEC (CP)—Opposition cries for the resignation of Labor Minister Jean Cournoyer greeted tabling in the national assembly Tuesday of the Cliche Commission report urging a major clean-up of the Quebec construction industry.

Employers, union leaders and government personnel share of the blame for crime, racketeerism and confusion in the industry, the 493-page report said.

The commission declined to rule on the role played by Mr. Cournoyer in the industry's deterioration. The report suggested it will be up to the electorate to pass judgment on

Northern And NDP Chief Spar

OTTAWA (CP) — Ed Broadbent, parliamentary leader of the New Democratic Party, said today he intends to press for more information about the movement of equipment from Microsystems International Ltd., despite company complaints that earlier questions cast "an aspersion against the management. . . ."

Microsystems, 88-per-cent owned by Northern Electric Ltd., was given almost $30 million in federal grants and $2 million in federal loans, before Sir Otaro plant closed March 4, putting 602 employees out of work.

Mr. Broadbent asked in the Commons Monday whether industry Minister Alastair Gillespie had been informed "that a substantial amount of the capital equipment, originally financed by the federal government to a substantial extent, is being moved." The commission said he had no such information.

In a letter to Mr. Broadbent dated Tuesday, Northern Electric President W. F. Light said the NDP parliamentary leader must have been "misinformed and misled or misquoted".

"I say categorically there is no truth to these . . . and there never has been,

charges of employers and unions that the labor minister failed to demand respect for the law and gave preferential treatment to the Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL) over Quebec's two other labor groups.

Among the main changes proposed in the report by commission chairman Judge Robert Cliche and his two fellow commissioners are:

—Imposition of three-year trusteeships on the Montreal locals of electricians', plumbers' and heavy equipment operators' unions affiliated to the QFL, also on the Montreal-based Local 29 of the International Union of Elevator Constructors.

—Creation of a regulatory "construction agency to replace the corruption-riddled Construction Industry Commission (CIC) in administering wages and working conditions in the industry.

—Abolition of union hiring halls and putting responsibility for job placement in all construction workers in the hands of the proposed construction agency.

—Institution of five year plans for construction projects, aimed at stabilizing the industry, and the introduction of job security and guaranteed income for construction workers.

— Licensing by the department of financial institutions of all contractors to guarantee their solvency and competence.

Site Razeacked

The three man inquiry was established by the Liberal government in March, 1974, after the main job site of the James Bay hydroelectric power project in northwestern Quebec was razeacked.

Many of the industry's problems stemmed from the infiltration of leadership positions of three QFL affiliated construction unions by criminal elements during the past 10 years, the report says.

These unions: Local 791 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 144 of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Trades of the United States and Canada and Local 1027 of the Interprovincial Brotherhood of Electrical Workers — should be placed in the hands of three man boards of trustees, the commission urged.

The report says trusteeship is the only way to eliminate corrupt elements from the unions and to prevent the recurrence of Andre Desjardins, former leader of the QFL's 23 man construction wing.

Yet the report describes Desjardins, as an unscrupulous powergrabber who tolerated criminal activities in the unions and who opened the door to underworld infiltration.

To guard against abuses by employers and government officers, the report recommends a tighter government and rank-and-file scrutiny of union affairs. It also urges codification of all construction laws with stiffer penalties for employers and workers who offer, give or receive payoffs.

Those with criminal records would be barred from holding union office for five years following their admission to the union.

A special section of the justice department would look after charges for industry violations before a proposed construction tribunal.

Unions should be incorporated and be required to submit yearly financial statements to the department of companies and elections.

To prevent dictatorship by union hierarchies, union elections and collective agreement would have to be ratified by a secret ballot among the general membership.

For negotiating purposes, employers would have to be represented by a single association established specifically to handle labor relations.

On the union side, only a union or unions grouping at least 75 per cent of workers would have the right to sign a collective agreement.

The report was submitted to the government last week by Judge Cliche and fellow commissioners Brian Mulroney, a Montreal management lawyer, and Guy Chevrette of Joliette, Que., a former president of the Quebec Teachers' Corporation.

CLC Says Curbs Must Cover All

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Labor Congress leaders said today they will only agree to a federal government call for voluntary wage restraint if the government introduces a program to provide more equitable distribution of income and constraints on rents, dividends, profits, professional fees, land speculation and interest.

Leaders of the 1.9 million-member labor organization made a statement on wage restraint proposals, advanced by Finance Minister John Turner, after a marathon meeting of the boards of 80 unions.

The labor movement is willing to do its part in the fight against inflation, but "we will never consent to discriminatory treatment against wage earners, pensioners and those who have no means to protect themselves," the congress political paper said.

Labor officials at the executive council meeting are said to have pounded out their oil prices and increasing food prices—factors in which labor has little say—have been major contributors to inflation.

Curbs Said Too Late

By BUD JORGENSEN
The Canadian Press

Businessmen, union leaders and opposition political party leaders said Tuesday the government has little chance of selling a new voluntary wage and price controls.

"It's very late in the game" for the controls to be effective and this kind of dialogue," Henri de Puyrpin, president of the Ontario-based Canadian Construction Association, said.

"With the developments of the last few days that may not be possible," a spokesman for the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said in Toronto.

Viet Cong Promises Leniency To Opponents at Saigon Rally

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sea of people gathered at South Vietnam's former presidential palace today and heard the commanding general of the Saigon area promise leniency for former opponents of the Viet Cong, Saigon radio reported.

The mass rally, to introduce the new administration for the Saigon region, marked the regime's first week in power.

Gen. Tran Van-Tra, who led the attack on the capital city in the 1968 Tet offensive and later commanded the Viet Cong in the Joint Military Commission, promised severe punishment for any who "serve as henchmen for foreign countries."

But he offered leniency and understanding for soldiers and officials of the old government and respect for the lives and property of foreign residents "providing they earn an honest living through clean business" and obey laws and orders.

Meanwhile, the refugees jammed with about 15,000 refugees decided at Guam after more than a week's voyage. Among the passengers were 19 prominent Vietnamese, including Tran Van Huong, former president of the South Vietnamese Senate.

The captain of one vessel said at least 50,000 persons had been left behind in 100 boats off Saigon.

The Singapore government said 7,112 refugees had arrived there in 48 vessels as of last week. Most were expected to move on, probably to Guam.

Ford Plans New Links

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford said Tuesday night at a news conference that he intends to tighten U.S. links with Pacific countries following the loss of South Vietnam and Cambodia.

"It is my aim to tie more closely together South Korea with the United States, to reaffirm our commitments to Taiwan, to work more closely with Indonesia, with the Philippines, with other Pacific nations.

"We want our friends to know we will stand by them and we want our potential enemies to know that we will stand up to them."

Global Ethic Of Sharing Enhanced

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — "The ethic of sharing has made a very significant step forward," Prime Minister Trudeau said at the end of the Commonwealth meeting Tuesday night.

He spoke as the leaders of 33 Commonwealth countries expressed satisfaction with their nine days of deliberations.

The leaders in a 36-paragraph communique announced the formation of a committee of 19 to make recommendations on the world economic order. Officials considered this the main achievement of the conference.

Trenton Not Exempt From Share Of Budget

By AL ZABAR
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A resolution passed by Trenton this week may signal an end to land purchases along the southern stretch of the town greenbelt project, but it is unlikely to exempt Trenton from paying $36,389 as its share of 1975 greenbelt costs.

This assurance came Tuesday in interviews with officials in town hall and Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority offices.

Authority secretary-treasurer Bill Lawson said Tuesday Trenton is obligated by law to pay its share of the $137,000 set aside for the greenbelt in the authority's 1975 budget.

He interpreted council's action as a signal to the authority for a reassessment of the greenbelt project in light of two major factors.

Firstly, council's resolution asked the authority to indefinitely curtail further land purchases south along Front St. from roughly opposite the KOA supermarket.

Inside that southern stretch are four properties council feels are priced too high. The land has been valued at a total of $600,000 by its owners, $52,000 above its value as appraised by the authority.

Mr. Lawson said his information leads him to believe council would prefer to leave their purchases in the future when today's inflation-influenced costs fall.

Also behind the resolution, said Mayor Bob Patrick, is the town's desire to review the future of the project in light of possible involvement in land purchases by the CORTH committee.

CORTH (Canada Ontario Rideau Trent-Severn) has indicated it will become more deeply involved in development of the Trent River valley, but Mr. Lawson reported the town to consider a review of its own purchases of land through the authority for the greenbelt project.

"It is unlikely that any major purchases will be made this year."

Aubrey Sharp, town clerk, said Tuesday council's intention was to prevent land acquisitions in favor of possible development of land already owned by the authority. He said it is not the intent of council to ask for a capacity budget in 1976 cut by the province.

Such a possibility exists should Trenton decide not to withhold its 1975 greenbelt levy for the greenbelt project.

Mr. Lawson said such withdrawal of payment would in 1976 see the province cut the authority's supplementary budget of 50 per cent in half. As a result, the $39,000 levy would have the effect of raising levies in all 77 member municipalities next year to make up the deficit.

It happened in 1974 he said. In 1975, the authority's request its budget and the province cut back on the supplementary grant it gave the authority.

Provincial supplementary grants are geared to spending of the authority — the higher the spending, the higher the grant.

Both Mr. Lawson and Mr. Sharp agreed council's resolution cannot effectively prohibit the authority from spending money on the greenbelt.

A bylaw approving the town to spend $35,389 for the project in 1975 would have to be rescinded before the Conservation's intent could be fulfilled.

However, the bylaw has already been invalidated by the Ontario Municipal Board which killed the greenbelt expenditure as part of an unprecedented half-million-dollar cut in Trenton's capital budget.

Mr. Sharp said Tuesday the $35,389 expenditure will likely be among the items in the current budget, still to be struck by council. He said it was not approved by the OMB because it was included in a $87,000 sum, part of which was spent without OMB approval in the past two years.

Two Taro Properties Ltd. workers almost lost themselves in rows of formwork used to create the underground walls of the lift-unit Ontario Housing Corp. senior citizens' apartment building on Creswell Dr. The two St. Catharines company men directed the large cement bucket over the forms Tuesday, a week after construction started.

Lock Fees Stem from Safety Needs

From The Ottawa Bureau of The Intelligencer.

OTTAWA — A Dominion Commissioner's report requiring installation of costly life-saving equipment at all locks on the Federal government's Rideau and Trent-Severn waterways preceded by three months the announcement of lockage tolls.

Tom Cassit (PC-Leeds) charged Tuesday that the federal parks department under Indian and Northern Affairs Minister Judd Buchanan has conceded since Oct. 2, 1974, a report containing four specific recommendations to overcome hazards in the lockage systems of the two waterways.

The report, the result of an investigation into a July, 1974, boat explosion at Chaffey's locks on the Rideau Canal, was prepared by dominion fire commissioner R. A. Dodson. It was given to a senior parks Canada official last Oct. 2 but has not yet been released publicly, Mr. Cassit said.

The Leeds MP claims the commissioner recommends the installation of a spray extinguisher system to dampen hazi fires in the locks; the provision of nylon rope ladders in pivotal locations to scale the sheer stone walls of the locks, a direct telephone link between each lock and its nearest fire department, and boiters to enable each lockmaster to control boaters in the area of a fire.

Mr. Switzer said that some of his recommendations are actually requirements.

Parks Canada property management division chief J. C. Christmas said that some of the requirements of the accident report have already been acted on. The department, he said, has started to supply ladders and hallers at locks and has installed regular telephone lines at some.

The first water sprinkler system is being installed at a lock in Smiths Falls at a cost of $50,000.

When asked if the fire commissioner's demand for more equipment was a factor in the government's decision to institute a lockage toll for boaters, a senior official in Mr. Buchanan's office said it could have been. However, he said, the dominant reason for the toll was the government's conclusion that boaters should be required to shoulder a portion of the costs of canal operation without placing the entire burden on the taxpayer.

Mr. Cassit contends that charging fees will increase the governments liability in the case of accidents occurring within the locks.

Discuss Fired Principal

Trustees Meet Ameliasburg Parents

BLOOMFIELD — The Prince Edward Board of Education will meet Friday night with representatives of a committee of concerned Ameliasburgh parents to review the board's decision to transfer Keene school principal Eugene Bright.

David Shoots, RR1, Carrying Place, chairman of the committee said Wednesday Mr. Bright is also expected to attend the meeting.

"We are not grinding axes or worshipping Eugene Bright," he said.

"We represent ourselves . . . we are hoping Mr. Bright only becomes so happen to be the principal being transferred on the basis of very inaccurate information, largely because it's so incomplete," he added.

Mr. Shoots said the report on Mr. Bright submitted to trustees by education director John McNeil inflamed the principal lacked community support.

The parents have researched community backing for the principal and Mr. Shoots said a conservative estimate of about 90 per cent are generally satisfied with him.

He said Mr. McNeil's report stating reasons for the principals transfer is "generally a very poorly founded document."

"There is so much it leaves out," he added.

Mr. Shoots said the committee does not want to fight with trustees.

"We want no heads to roll . . . we want the board to look at all the information at all sides and reach a reasonable decision," he said.

"We want to bring this information to the board. They have relied on a very carefully opinion-gathering by the director," he said.

He said Mr. Bright has not been able to give trustees additional first hand information and Friday's meeting should provide this opportunity.

No Shortage Of Vets

PICTON — Prince Edward County residents can rest assured there shall never be a shortage of veterinarians in the county.

Registration in this year's 4-H Veterinary Club has jumped almost 40 per cent from last year's enrolment of 28, say leaders Doctor David Grier and Dr. John Hancock of Picton's Animal Hospital.

Purpose of the club, says Dr. Hancock, is to give the member insight into disease prevention and how to recognize normal and abnormal behavior in animals.

The increase in interest has resulted in the club dividing into a Junior and Senior section.

Prince Won Friends

Prince Charles has come and gone, but he has left behind an unlikely enough champion in The Globe and Mail.

Still, if The Globe has been very much on the side of liberalism, and against the status quo in a variety of spheres, these past few years, it does seem to retain a soft spot for Royalty. Indeed, it would be a matter of concern if Canada's "national newspaper" were to side with the likes of Scots MP William Hamilton who has written a book that is highly critical of the Monarchy as an institution.

The Globe and Mail says Canadians "have discovered a new national resource: their Prince of Wales. . ."

Certainly we have seen an older, more mature prince this time around, and The Globe, noting his good humor and the rapport he established with the Arc-

Fire at Church Raises Questions

The evidence of arson as a possible cause of the disastrous fire at St. Thomas Anglican church is alarming indeed.

Yet it is an element, given the intensity of the blaze at its height, and the white-hot degree of flame issuing from amid the red, that must have given rise to suspicion among even non-professional observers.

Missing articles from the church compounds the tragedy.

Society as a whole must help shoulder this responsibility, as well as help find remedies in situations such as this where there is evidence of anti-social behavior.

Specifically, there will have to be remedies from the churches themselves, as well as from such organizations as the Salvation Army, the Children's services, Service Clubs, Big Brother groups, and Scouts and Guides, as well as from municipalities.

tic folk, suggested the North too, "has been showing itself to the Prince — in effect, because all that the Prince sees is watched and recorded . . . showing itself to the rest of us. . ."

The Prince, incidentally, had shown he could be as gauche as the next man, but his essential good breeding too by apologizing for a remark in Ottawa at the start of the tour. "I suppose it was a bad joke, a bad cliche," he said of a remark in jest, that he would be careful with whom he rubbed noses in the north. This had drawn a protest from the Inuit people.

The Globe and Mail itself had come in for earlier criticism too, from a reader who said a footnote to a letter naming all the titles of the Prince of Wales smacks of deliberate rudeness. . .

The reader noted that almost half a century ago, the eldest son of King George V was invariably called by "his proper title," the Prince Wales, in the newspaper of that day.

"But in those days," said S. G. Myrans of Oakville, in words that sum up much of the change in our society, "people in this country had manners, and that included Toronto's morning newspaper."

The period, a lot has happened in half a century of conflict and social upheaval. Behavior patterns have changed with events, and the world itself is having to adapt to an altogether new processes of evolution. And yet, don't they say, there is nothing new under the sun?

Township Recreation

In the rural parts the young — and adults too — have the benefit of spaciousness and the outdoors. There is an opportunity for a variety of activities from horseback riding in summer to the many facets of winter sport.

At the same time there can be a vacuum in country life for the young; it is not every village or township, for example, that has a ballpark or the kind of facilities found in a Zwick's Island-style setting.

Ameliasburg township is better off than many. For some time it has been working quietly toward establishing a good recreational base for its citizens. The results are documented in a circular from the township office.

It details facilities available at a three-acre park and athletic field in Rossmore. At Carrying Place nine acres are available and in addition to a ball field and other provisions, tennis courts are planned this year.

At Ameliasburg itself there are the beach and bathing facilities at Roblin Lake, senior and junior softball during the summer, and a tennis court. In addition the township museum affords a cultural dimension to complete the attractions of the township seat.

This is a good effort by the township and given this initiative it will not be surprising if further facilities are added as time passes making the program known to township residents is also commendable.

A Peaceful Majority

One of the cliches of our day is the phrase, "the vast majority." Indeed, the word "vast" is superfluous' as is the word, "completely," in reference to a building being " 'completely' destroyed."

Nevertheless, it is the majority, "silent" for the most part, which is seldom heard from. By the same token, the media would have to acknowledge that it' is the "bad news" that makes the greater impact, while the public for its part is receptive to it.

Probably everyone has had his full of bad news from Northern Ireland where Protestant hardliners reportedly have won the latest vote as to what should constitute the form of Government over there. Yet it is true to say that this is one place where the majority of people of all persuasions live at peace and in relative harmony.

The majority of Catholics and Protestants there are not gunning after each other and want nothing but that for the country to be at peace.

Again, some social and industrial developments in Australia while given a rather different picture of events, as reported in Ulster Commentary: a five-year public works program involving 250 building projects at a cost of £720 million; participation in a campaign to preserve the character of old towns and villages as part of European Heritage Year; record tonnage of ships — more than 500,000 tons — from the shipyards of Harland and Wolff Ltd., in 1974; Portaferry firm wins contract to build yachts for club in Hong Kong; a £1.75 million contract to a Carrydiff firm to carry out oil exploration work in the Shetland Islands.

But who ever hears of news such as this in the ordinary way?

Contrasting Memories of War That Ended 30 Years Ago

By JOHN D. HARBRON

The Soviet Union, the really big loser in terms of human life and property destruction in the World War Two, is in the remembrance phase of that event the same as her former allies in the West.

This month of May when spring comes back to the land and Canada warms up again to remind us we live in a pleasant as well as an environmentally harsh land, is the 30th anniversary month of that May in 1945 when the guns stopped and Nazism was shattered.

Circus Day Coming

The members of the Kawartha Shrine are sponsoring The Ringling Brothers Circus in Peterborough Friday, May 9. Bancroft Shriner Frank Sparling is busy arranging to have several hundred North Hastings children attend the circus.

Shriner Organizes Circus Trip

BANCROFT — The thrill of seeing all the delights under the Big Top will belong to several hundred North Hastings children who will attend the Shriner's Circus in Peterborough May 9.

The Circus, will be in Peterborough for one day only and the local school children will be bussed down in time to see the noon hour performance.

The trip of the local youngsters is being organized by Frank Sparling, who was voted Shriner of the year in the Kawartha Shrine.

Mr. Sparling, who lives in Bancroft has been active in Shrine work for a number of years.

"We operate the circus as one of the means we have to raise funds for the Shriners Orthopedic and Burn hospital for children," said Mr. Sparling.

Tickets for the circus are available to any other groups and interested persons.

There are three performances during the day and tickets are available from most local shriners.

Letter from McKeough

Bancroft Told 'Tighten Belt'

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — As with other small Ontario Municipalities, Bancroft council has learned that new belt-tightening measures are being effounded by various provincial agencies for 1975, despite the rapidly increasing costs facing municipal governments.

In a form letter to the local council, provincial treasurer Darcy McKeough urged that "you practice extreme caution in the spending of municipal funds and re-evaluate staffing requirements and capital expenditures."

Mr. McKeough also said the ministry of treasury, economics and inter-governmental affairs which is responsible for the conditional and unconditional grants to municipalities would be stepping up its grant program by two months by 1976.

However, because of the longevity of the tax sharing program with the federal government the grants would not be as large as the province would like," he added.

The Ontario Municipal Board (OMB) also got into the belt tightening act by informing the council that care must be taken with capital expenditures by Ontario municipalities.

According to the OMB, because of heavy taxation burdens and debt charges, only high priority projects such as sewers, water, hydro and transportation systems should be presented to the OMB.

If other projects are submitted to the OMB during 1975 they must be accompanied by information showing methods of repayment which would not increase the present taxation level.

Following the discussion of the two cautionary letters from the provincial agencies Bancroft council learned that the village's levy from the Hastings County Board of Education will be to $135,000 in 1975 from $130,500 in 1974.

Toll-free Zone Outlined

TWEED — George Thompson, Regional Manager of Bell Canada, has outlined for village council details of a proposed toll-free calling zone between the Northbrook and Tweed exchanges.

Earlier, this year, the council and 5 local service club had explored the possibility a toll-free zone.

Mr. Thompson said Bell Canada will be sending out letters in May outlining the proposed project, including the increased costs that would be applicable.

Mr. Thompson told council that the costs of instituting such a program would be reflected in an increase of 25 cents per month for each private line; 19 cents per month for each party line; and approximately $1.80 per month for each business subscriber.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tugnette

Tugnette — Crain

St. Mark's United Church was the scene of the April wedding of Cheryle Etienne Lorraine Crain and Eric Thomas Tugnette.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Robert J. Crain, Belleville; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tugnette, Belleville.

Rev. Jack Morrison officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown with gulpere lace and long sleeves. Her train was accented with lace appliques and her two tiered lace edged veil was caught in a headpiece of lace and seed pearls.

Maid of honor Sharlene Pulver was assisted by the groom's sister, Cindy Tugnette the bride's sisters Lori Ann Crain and Paula Crain, Debbie Wood all in nylon sheer over taffeta gowns in blue, yellow, green, mauve and pink.

Wendy Wood, flower girl, wore a flowered pink and white gown: Dale Woodcock was ring bearer.

Kenneth R. Vox was best man assisted by Tim Tugnette, the groom's brother and the bride's brothers Robert, Gary and Brian Crain.

A reception was held at the Elk's Lodge.

ROBERT SHERATON WRIGHT B.A. graduated with the Master of Divinity degree from Huron College, University of Western Ontario in London and the recent convocation. After the Ball, the Buffet

The Artillery Ball, sponsored by the Quinte Artillery Association took place Friday, May 2 at Branch 99 of the Royal Canadian Legion in Belleville. Association president Bob Patrick was among those welcoming members to the dance, which featured a large buffet meal late in the evening.

WI President Warns Members To Beware Women's Year Costs

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — The president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada said recently reaction in International Women's Year is mixed and warned "there is a danger that thousands of taxpayers' dollars could be literally going down the drain."

Mrs. John A. McLean told an Ontario Women's Institute conference at the University of Waterloo "we could wind up with an International Women's Year that is purely a public relations job with Why Not slogans and extensive advertising through the media."

Mrs. McLean said every year is women's year "or if it's not it should be."

She said while institute members have been urged to be conscious of their responsibilities as wives and mothers, they need also broaden their interests and involvements, move outside their homes, develop their capacities and take advantage of opportunities.

She said in its 79-year existence, women's institute has encouraged such participation but has not been successful.

"If we had there would be no need for International Women's Year.

Provincial agriculture Minister William Stewart asked institute members to submit their views of violence depicted on television programs, and its effect on society.

He told delegates that the recently formed royal commission to study violence in the communications industry seeks to find whether there is any connection to the incidence of crime.

Mrs. Herbert Malcolm, of Comley, Ont., the new Ontario institute president, said the organization must continue to voice strong united opinions against men's inhumanity to man.

She cited the increasing use of profanity in the media and the display of violence and obscenity, alcoholism, drugs, abortion and rape on television.

Walking Best Exercise

A physical fitness expert tells me that walking is one of the best exercises. It can keep muscles in good tone and blood circulating the way it ought to be.

Carry your head up, chest in, back flat, tummy in and swing your legs from the hips to develop a free stride.

Of course, if you have the time and interest to join a swimming or dancing class, you can. Jackets fits and particularly while getting your baby in good shape.

Gradually our muscles become less elastic and we tend to skimp on good posture all the time by first relaxing your shoulders completely and then lifting your head until your ears is level. Pull outward on the back of the back, at the same time allowing the back of the knees to give slightly. Then tuck your hips under.

When all this gets to feeling natural you'll be reaching for things the right way — like, on the markings of a cake or anything that calls for reaching.

Dear Doris: You often get letters from lonely people. I'd like to tell my experience about being lonely.

Our family was very close. My sister and I did things together. Then she died at 18. My mother and dad were killed three years later.

I thought the world had fallen out from under me. I cried a lot, sat alone, didn't eat properly. I experienced loneliness at its worst. Then it dawned on me that I should be doing something for myself, and I got into things again. Doings at the church and in our community. And I conquered loneliness.

Several years later I got married. But that wasn't meant to last either because my husband died after four years.

Well, I had coped with loneliness before, and knew how to take myself in hand. So I sought out people and projects which needed what I had to give.

Now I am adjusted. I get out a lot, and when I am home alone I enjoy my own company. I think the happiest person is the one who not only likes others but also likes herself. What do you think?

No Longer Lonely.

Dear No Longer: Right. Before we can really warm up to others we need a measure of self-liking. Thank you for your story.

Dear Doris: J. E. M. asked about the old Royal Readers. I am not sure but this information will be of any assistance but thought I would pass it along.

Approximately 30 years ago, my mother, who has since passed away, obtained over copies of the Readers which she gave to her grandchildren. I have three in my home: numbers 2, 4 and 5.

Since the copies are new, I presume she obtained them from the publisher, Thomas Nelson and Sons (Canada) Ltd., 91-93 Wellington Street West, Toronto 1, Ont., or Thomas Nelson and Sons, Ltd., 3 Henrietta St., London W.C.2, England. These addresses are taken from the books and may no longer be correct.

Enjoy Your Column.

Dear Enjoy: Thank you for the news and for the compliment. Readers will be grateful.

Ann Landers

Second Wife Worried About Brazen Women

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for nearly two years. He is four years my junior but no one would know it unless somebody told. I have a good figure and keep myself in shape. This is second marriage for both of us.

The problem is that Jack is extremely handsome and has a way of attracting every female in the place—no matter where we are. It's amazing how brazen some women can be. Time after time I have stood at his side (or within hearing distance) and listened to some such over Jack and tell him how good looking he is, how charming he is, etc. You wouldn't believe some of the dumb things that come out of their mouths. (Most of these women are married.)

What should I say to them?—At A Loss For Words

Dear Loss: Nothing. They aren't talking to you.

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently you plead for compassion for the lonely people in the world. I realize you are trying to generate sympathy and understanding, Ann, but there's a reason for everything. I wonder if you will have the courage to print this letter, which may do a lot more good than your sympathy.
